SS Tillie Lykes To Be Christened

SS TILLIE LYKES, third of three SEABEE (Sea Barge) dry cargo ships to be built by Quincy Ship-building Division of General Dynamics, will be christened Saturday.

Sponsor of the 875-foot ship will be Mrs. Russell Long, wife of the senior Senator from Louisiana. Senator Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, will be principal speaker at the mid-morning affair.

The 36,000-horsepower TILLIE LYKES is being built for the Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., New Orleans. A sister ship, SS Doctor Lykes, was delivered last June and is now in service between U.S. and European ports. Another SEABEE, SS Almeria Lykes, was launched in January of this year and is nearing completion in the shipyard.

The 27,150-DWT Seabee uses a unique barge-handling system which features a 2,000-ton stern-mounted elevator. Cargo barges are floated into a stern well and then lifted by the elevator to one of three storage decks. The ship can transport 24,500 long tons of cargo in 1.9 million cubic feet of space.

Political observers like to pass part of their time trying to spot future mayors so they can someday say, "I told you so".

In last week's primary election tabulations, they think they may have found one: William Delahunt.

The 31-year-old Ward 5 councillor's political star certainly is rocketing. Zoom! He took the Ward 5 seat in his second try after losing his first bid to present Mayor Walter Hannon by something like 50 votes just a couple of city elections ago.

Then, last week, he topped the Democratic field for state representative in the Third Norfolk District in his first attempt—leading veteran incumbent Joseph Brett by 86 votes. [Both look like shoo-ins for November].

It's doubtful Delahunt would run against Hannon for mayor. But at 31, he can twirl his hat and bide his time.

Meanwhile, some observers watching his now spectacular career are comparing him with the young Jim McIntyre.

YOU KNOW, there must be times when Ward 6 Councillor Vincent Smyth wished he lived in some other part of the city. Not that he doesn't love Squantum.

But from a political standpoint he's never found the north end of the city a bed of roses. Whenever he has run for municipal or state office he has always run smack into tough opposition. Like, for instance, last week: Mr. Delahunt.

Some guys running wind up with "free" rides or token opposition. Smyth has never had that luxury.

Yet, he can still take defeat graciously.

***

AND, another loser, City Councillor Joseph LaRaia who failed in his bid for Norfolk County Treasurer, could find something to smile about.

"At least, because of my campaign, the county should be a lot cleaner," he mused.

He noted that he and his workers during the campaign distributed something like 40,000 plastic anti-litter bags for use by motorists.

***

AND, while we're talking politics, the Speculation Corps reports Geraldine Pleshaw of Merrymount is giving serious consideration to running for the Ward 1 council seat now occupied by Edward Graham. A former Democratic state committeewoman, she has been one of the principal organizers for the upcoming Women's Day observance in Quincy.

The City Council, incidentally, has had only one woman in the history of the city: Mrs. Edna B. Austin, who retired undefeated in the 1950's.

SOME PEOPLE like to collect stamps, tea cups, bubble gum cards, etc. You can have them, says John Milosevics of Federal Ave., South Quincy. He'll take Raquel.

Milosevics is a fan of Raquel Welch's. An apparent rabid fan. Has quite a few photos of her. "Last count, says he, he had exactly 100,816 Raquel photos. [That's what he says]

SPEAKING OF COLLECTIONS, the University of Michigan is looking for hair and has asked us to pass the word in the Quincy area.

"Samples of old hair from lockets, hair wreaths, and Bibles are needed for a study attempting to gauge the human intake of potentially harmful chemicals over the last 200 years," writes Mary S. Achenbaum for Dr. Adon A. Gordus, Professor of Chemistry.

If you can spare a few hairs or so, send them to the professor: University of Michigan, Department of Chemistry, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

FORMER Mayor-Sen. James McIntyre, now Massachusetts Senate counsel, has moved his private law office to the Adams Building in Quincy Center.

● Brezhnev May Be In Trouble

● 'Godfather' Brando Miffed At FBI

● Ted Kennedy Story KO'd

WASHINGTON— Soviet Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev may soon face serious political opposition in the Kremlin, according to a recent intelligence report.

The late Nikita Khrushchev was ousted as Soviet premier after a bad harvest and a dispute over Mideast policy. Now another bad harvest and a setback in the Mideast has shaken the authority of Brezhnev, Khrushchev's successor.

Brezhnev is counting on negotiating a highly favorable comprehensive trade agreement with the United States to revive Russia's sagging economy, which according to the CIA is in far worse shape than the U.S. press has so far reported.

Brezhnev's moves toward the United States have angered his conservative opponents in the Kremlin. Unlike Khrushchev, Brezhnev has been able to downgrade some of these critics, but he has not silenced them all.

A secret CIA report reveals that a showdown in the Kremlin could come at a meeting of the Central Committee this week.

Meanwhile, White House aides tell us President Nixon has decided to delay a second round of disarmament talks with the Russians until after the election for fear of angering big labor at home.

The President, we are told, wants to avoid reminding voters—especially in California—that the SALT talks may eventually mean more job cutbacks for defense workers.

—Sloping—

Republicans are chortling over newspaper accounts that Senators Ted Kennedy and John Tunney recently spent four days aboard a sloop with two lovely ladies who definitely were not their wives. The story appeared in the Manchester Union Leader.

Kennedy's companion was identified as Mrs. Amanda Burden, a pretty, 28-year-old New York City socialite.

In checking the story out, we talked personally to Senator Tunney who told us that Senator Kennedy was definitely not accompanied by Mrs. Burden.

Tunney, himself, admitted he brought along a lady friend, but at the time, he noted, his wife was filing for divorce. Since then, the two have been reconciled.

To prove the story was overplayed, Tunney told us the senators were also accompanied, at least on part of the trip, by their 11-year-old sons.

—Intelligence Reports—

Grateful Exit—U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has held several intense, secret talks with President Thieu. Bunker is trying to pave the way for direct negotiations between Saigon and Hanoi. President Nixon would like to turn both the war and the negotiations over to the Vietnamese. All he wants is graceful exit for the United States and the return of our prisoners.

Priestly Disguise—Leaders of the Black September terrorist group have disguised their agents as Muslim and Christian priests and sent them abroad with orders to kill top Jordanian leaders. A secret CIA report warns that Palestinian guerrillas may attempt to assassinate top Jordanian officials whenever they travel outside the country.

China Mission—No Chinese scientists have visited the United States since 1949, but we have learned that a group of Chinese scientists plan to tour the United States next month on the eve of the election. The tour has been timed to remind voters that President Nixon has improved relations with Communist China and reduced tensions in the Far East.

—Around the U.S.—

Computer Sabotage—Computer corporations are grumbling that new federal laws are needed to thwart computer sabotage. A magnet dropped into a computer can ruin tens of thousands of taped company records in minutes. Switching labels is another trick used to confuse computer operators.

FBI Rebuffed—Actor Marlon Brando has ordered his lawyer to take legal action, if necessary, to stop the FBI from snooping into his private affairs. Brando has never committed any crimes nor supported any subversive causes, but the FBI nonetheless has kept a file on him. For some unknown reason, the FBI has spent more time investigating Brando, the movie godfather, than many real-life godfathers.

POW Gimmicks—POW wives are complaining to us that rock concert promoters, door-to-door solicitors and even cemetery owners are trying to use the wives to line their own pockets. The standard gimmick is to advertise that the enterprise featuring the wives will help the POW cause although frequently the promoters keep most, if not all, the profits.

—Political Potpourri—

Former President Lyndon Johnson is helping his daughter Lynda Bird set up housekeeping in Senator Ted Kennedy's fashionable neighborhood overlooking the Potomac. Lynda Bird and her husband, Charles Robb, have signed a preliminary purchase agreement to buy a four-acre site on the Potomac. The land alone will cost over $200,000... The McGovern campaign will probably generate $13 million by the most massive direct mail appeal ever made in presidential politics.

● Youth Speaks Out

● Is there any significance in the fact that Nixon headquarters are in the former Freaque Boutique?

● There was a meeting yesterday of all those who favor study halls at Quincy High - the meeting was held in a phone booth.

● The first lunch at Quincy High is at 10:38 a.m., and some people thought we didn't have a breakfast program!

● It's going to be interesting watching who goes on strike first - the teachers over contract disputes, or the students over open campus.

● If at the beginning of the season, anyone suggested the Red Sox would be fighting for the pennant on September 28th, they would have been put in a padded cell.

● If a student at Quincy High can read his schedule, he should automatically pass math and logic.

● Bumper Sticker - President Nixon does have a secret plan to end the war, he's voting for McGovern.

QCBPA 10-Day Festival For Nov. 2 Downtown Garage Opening

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association will sponsor a 10-day festival beginning Nov. 2 to mark the opening of the Ross Parking Area Garage.

Drawings for prizes will be held at various locations in the Quincy Center area daily from Nov. 2 to Nov. 11, according to QCBPA Executive Director John E. Murray.

Murray said the association is planning a celebration "befitting the opening of the $2-million parking facility which will give renewed life to the downtown area."

"Quincy Center has always had the widest variety of quality merchandise and services in the South Shore," Murray said. "The new garage will provide ample, convenient parking to match."

Members of the association will join city officials for opening ceremonies at 10 a.m. Nov. 2 in the Ross Parking Area.

The event will start a "sale-bration" marked by fashion shows, band concerts, strolling minstrels, banjo bands, fire engine rides, clowns and the children's zoo.

Altshuler Says South Quincy Station 'Enormous Benefit'

Transportation Secretary Alan Altshuler has predicted that a South Quincy MBTA station would bring "enormous benefits to the City of Quincy."

In a letter to Ronald N. Halter of 119 Federal Ave., Altshuler said the station is "essential to achievement of the city's objective of a $10 million state expenditure to provide access from the Southeast Expressway to the new Upland Rd...."

The ramp, "essential to the economy of Quincy", cannot be justified as a priority unless it serves "the MBTA station as well as local Quincy needs," he said.

He said he could "think of few proposals that more merit implementation than the MBTA extension to South Quincy" and added that extension into Braintree is in the master plan.

South Quincy Civic Assn. Wants Hearing On New MBTA Station

The Ward 3 Civic Association has asked for a seat on the steering committee for the proposed South Quincy MBTA Station.

The decision was made at the September meeting in which members also voted to change the organization's name to the South Quincy Civic Association.

Growing concern was registered over the lack of factual information regarding a station in the Capens Circle area and rumors of a 3,000-car parking facility adjacent to it.

A letter from Secretary of Transportation Alan Altshuler to Association President Pasquale S. DiStefano indicated that "prior to any final determination, a formal public hearing will be held."

The membership directed its officers to contact Mayor

Hannon, state legislators and municipal officials to request assistance in obtaining a hearing.

In his letter, Dr. Altshuler said he could "well understand" residents' concern about "the lack of definitive information available" concerning the South Quincy Station.

"Unfortunately," he said, "no definite proposal except with respect to the station location itself has been made to this time."

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

School Days... They so often become school days when it means planning those take-along lunches for your children. Make lunch more than lunch even if it requires an extra minute or two of preparation.

While the school is educating your child's mind, you should be educating his eating habits. It's the three R's academically, and the Basic Four in eating. After a morning of reading, writing, and arithmetic, the lunch bag should give forth with Protein, Carbohydrate, Dairy and Fruits and Vegetables.

No one can ever convince a school kid that the basis of a lunch is NOT a sandwich, so don't fight it, fill it with good protein. Tunafish, salmon, cold roast, egg, or cheese in varying combinations will help build mind and muscle. A separate sandwich bag can contain celery sticks, cucumber slices, pepper rings, radishes, and carrot strips singly or in combination for a nibble food. [Save your old pill containers to fill with flavored salts - that way if they're lost, you won't mind].

Almost every school has provision for buying milk. That takes care of the dairy product. The sandwich contained not only protein but carbohydrate in the bread. Top it off with fruit. Fall is the season for apples, vary them well. MacIntosh one day, Golden Delicious, Red Delicious, Granny Smith, and Winesap-a different apple a day in this age of specialization will keep away all the different doctors.

As for you and your lunch. Relax, take it easy and use this variation on an old theme.

SOUPY EGGS

2 eggs
1 tablespoon boiling water
1 Bouillon Cube [favorite flavor]

Beat eggs well. Dissolve bouillon cube in water; add to beaten eggs and mix well. Scramble in a teflon pan or Pam sprayed skillet.

With the children off in school, dig out that book you started in June and didn't finish. Set the table nicely-for one. Sit down to your leisurely simple lunch [toast with dietetic jelly, a tossed salad, an apple and tea will balance you off nicely]. Mother and child are doing fine, even though separated. Isn't it lovely?

Carole McCole Models Open New Quarters

"Every girl has a childhood dream to become a model...and I feel that we can make this dream come true, or, maybe just give our girls and women a chance to look and feel like one." So noted Carole McCole, as she announced the opening of the new quarters of the Carole McCole Fashion Models School and Agency at 1189 Main St., South Weymouth.

The school was formerly located at 519 Columbian Road, South Weymouth.

Its courses offer modeling secrets in the art of make-up application, skin and hair care, wardrobe planning, fashion coordination, visual poise, social speech and etiquette along with fashion modeling techniques.

An hour and a half classes are held weekly in professional modeling, as well as finishing and charm courses for youngsters aged 6 to 12, teenagers, career girls and housewives.

According to Mrs. McCole, the professional course ranks with the finest available in New England. "Personalized instruction will be our strong point and is geared to bring out the best in each individual student," she said.

"Actual participation in fashion shows offer our girls the on-the-line practical experience which is available only outside the classroom.

"The teenage course and our 'Alice in Wonderland Course' has been designed as either a primer course for further professional training, or simply a subtle charm and finishing course with emphasis on poise, charm and social grace."

Classes are held in the afternoons and evenings during the week and Saturdays.

Mrs. McCole, herself a professional model, has also announced the opening of her second school in the Abington, Brockton area.

He holds a doctorate from Tulane University where he was an economic advisor to the Federal Reserve System and the Government of Chile before joining First National in 1970.

Chamber spokesmen say Howell's "brutally frank assessment of economic conditions in New England and Massachusetts have been rattling lots of cages lately and helping to begin change."

St. Ann's Church Observes 50th Anniversary

By ANN GAFFEY

Fifty years have passed by since a dozen Catholic men petitioned the late William Cardinal O'Connell for a parish in the Wollaston district of Quincy subsequently to be named St. Ann's. The year was 1922 and Rev. John J. Fitzgerald was the founder and first pastor.

The Golden Jubilee was observed this past week with a banquet at Lantana in Randolph. Rev. Edward Flaherty, pastor invoked the blessing and turned the program, after a gracious welcome and congratulations over to Edward Keohane, chairman of the church council who served as toastmaster.

He called on Thomas Fee, one of the original petitioners who traced the history of the parish telling the assemblage that Masonic Temple, since razed, was used for mass and that an altar was donated by the Foy family. The chairman presented Mrs. Frank Foy for a bow, as well as other original parishioners, including Mr. and Mrs. William McMahon, one of the first ushers, Mrs. Eileen McGillicuddy, sister of City Councilor J. Vincent Smyth, who was the first baby to be baptized in Masonic Temple, Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, one of the earliest soloists, Mrs. Jeanette Dennehy, who still teaches piano, Miss Grace Riley a member of the "first" Communion class and Mrs. Ann Gaffey who wrote the history of St. Ann's placed in the corner stone when the new basement of the church was dedicated by the late William Cardinal O'Connell.

Presented for greetings were Mayor Walter Hannon, Senator Arthur Tobin and former Mayor-Sen. James McIntyre, whose mother, also a 50-year parishioner, was present. Also City Councilor John Quinn, one of the early altar boys and Dennis Ryan, Clerk of Quincy Court and former Lt. Gov. Francis Bellotti.

There was a Seniors' mass at the Youth Center on Saturday morning for shut-ins and senior parishioners with Rev. John Foley of St. Ann's officiating assisted by Rev. Albert McMahon, son of the William McMahon's who is leaving this week for Honduras. It was sponsored by the League of

Mary, with hymns played by Miss Mary L. Shea, long time organist on a piano donated by William R. MacDonald when he was Executive Director of the Council on Aging. Following Holy Communion individually given by the pastor, Rev. Edward Flaherty refreshments were served and a beautiful gold medal of St. Ann's blessed by Pope Paul VI were presented to each senior by Fr. Flaherty, in commemoration.

The highlight of the Jubilee was the high mass commemorating the Golden Anniversary of thanksgiving, with Rev. Thomas Daly assisting Archbishop Medeiros. The Archbishop preached a stirring homily and gave his congratulations. He said he was only seven years old when the parish was started. He bestowed his blessing, and following the mass, with singing contributed by St. Ann's choir he greeted hundreds of parishioners who came to the foot of the altar to kiss his ring. The Cardinal Cushing Fourth Degree of Knights of Columbus stood guard.

A final event of the celebration will be the Children's outing which will take place Saturday at Pageant Field.

Present at both the banquet and the Golden Anniversary mass of thanksgiving were members of the clergy-of-Quincy Christian denominations and also Rabbi David Jacobs.

Jerry Lewis Raises $9.2 Million In MD Pledges

JERRY LEWIS has done it again! His recent 20-hour Labor Day Telethon on behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy Assns. of America brought in pledges of a record $9,200,754... Unlike too many show business personalities who merely go through the motions by endorsing causes with their "names" only, LEWIS gives 110% of himself with grit, determination and wholehearted love... The industry could use more of JERRY LEWIS' type. A human being who cares for others...

"THE FRIENDS OF EDDIE COYLE" begins Boston on-location shooting Oct. 2... "BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE" is causing a plus flutter at the box office, and star GOLDIE HAWN is the reason why. Her in-depth portrayal should garner her an Oscar nomination... And the same for GEORGE C. SCOTT. His "NEW CENTURIONS" gives the viewer penetrating insight into the men who wear the badge, and the abuse the police take from an all too often unappreciative public whom they serve...

Film censors in faraway Turkey placed a ban on "THE DUBIOUS PATRIOTS" [1969] being shown in that country because of the picture's tendency to "slur and belittle the Turkish character"... WOODY ALLEN's next fun masterpiece will be "ALIMONY". The motion picture is slated to begin shooting next spring under the Warner Bros. tag, and comically satires what the title implies...

QUOTABLE QUOTES: "THE GODFATHER" premiered in London with record-breaking statistics, but far from rare reviews. English critics questioned the film's glorification of killing... "It's the sort of movie that gives easy conscious to an IRA gunman, and hope to dope peddlers and bent cops." [critic FERGUS CASHIN of the London Sun]... DONALD ZEC of that city's Daily Mirror stabbed with... "what you see is a piece of gangster entertainment that glosses over, and glamorizes, a pretty squalid era of American history"...

And what of TUESDAY WELD you ask? She's developing into quite an actress and is just now starting to garner critical recognition... At the recent Venice Film Festival Miss WELD was named Best Actress for her performance in "PLAY IT AS IT LAYS"... It's taken her over a decade of conscious work to be taken as a "serious" actress. The Venice award should raise enough eyebrows stateside for producers to take note and place her in roles worthy of her ability...

BEN GAZZARA, YVETTE MIMIEUX, WALTER PIDGEON and ERNEST BORGNINE are toppled in the Canadian production "THE NEPTUNE PRODUCTION". And for WALTER PIDGEON this picture marks something of a homecoming... He's a Canadian by birth... Looking ahead to '73, two movies sure to have an impact will be "HITLER-THE LAST TEN DAYS" [ALEC GUINNESS and SIMON WARD], and "MARCO" [DESI ARNAZ JR., JACK WESTON and ZERO MOSTEL]... in the tradition [?] of the X-clamped "SWINGIN' STEWARDESSES" producer IRVING C. DIETRICH has more X-fluff on the way; "THE SWINGIN' SCHOOLGIRLS" and "THE SWINGIN' MASSEUSES"...

Picture wise, business has never been better in Tinseltown. A few years ago the community was considered an economic disaster area... No work. High unemployment... Last year at this time the nine major film companies had a combined product output of 66 motion pictures. This year the total has jumped to 75... And next year at this period? Hollywood bigwigs are crystalballing between 90-95 films...

AL PACINO has signed for the lead of "SERPICO", a picture based on the PETER MAAS book concerning corruption on the New York police force which led to the Knapp Commission... BING CROSBY productions has allocated between $4.5 million for pictures to be lensed during the 1973 semester. Topping off the lead film will be "WALKING TALL" with the up and coming box office threat JOE DON BAKER in the lead...

Newcomer JASON MILLER, a playwright of some off-Broadway significance, has the role of Damien Karras, the young, fiery Jesuit priest in the picture "THE EXORCIST"... The Karras role was originally offered STACY KEACH, but he nixed it because of "prior" commitments... Apollo 12 space mission commander CHARLES CONRAD's young son THOMAS has a supporting role in the forthcoming musical "TOM SAWYER"... My finer instincts tell me that the "VALACHI PAPERS" will make star CHARLES BRONSON a household word to American film buffs...

As reported in this column some time back, BRONSON, an American actor, is Europe's number one box office attraction. The "VALACHI PAPERS" has a theme, the mafia, and director, DINO DE LAURENTIIS, which will show the virile, tough BRONSON at his cinema best... RYAN O'NEAL's 9-year-old daughter TATUM shares star billing with puppa in the comedy-drama, "PAPER MOON". The film is under production, and scheduled for an Easter release...

GEORGE PEPPARD, new of NBC's "BANACEK" series, doesn't believe in espousing his political sentiments because "it's really no one's business". Then again PEPPARD is so wrapped up with George that he more than likely has no political views to flake.

6th Graders Henry Breen, Robert Dunn Conduct Voter Preference Poll

Step aside, Lou Harris. Move over, Gallup and Becker. Make way for the new political polling team of Breen and Dunn.

That's Henry Breen III and Robert Dunn Jr., two Merrymount School sixth graders who have just completed a random voter-preference survey for the Presidential election.

The results:

Some 58.6 percent of people polled on Putnam St., Merrymount, favored Richard M. Nixon for reelection, 28.6 percent were for George McGovern and 12.8 percent are undecided.

Henry and Robert got the idea for the poll when they passed Nixon headquarters on Hancock St. while heading home from Robert's guitar lesson.

Both self-proclaimed Democrats, the boys went in, picked up some buttons and campaign literature and headed home.

"We thought Nixon was the best man for the job," Henry said, "but we wanted to see how many votes he would get so we decided to conduct a poll."

The pollsters stood in front of Robert's house at 97 Putnam St. wearing their Nixon buttons last Saturday and stopped passersby to see how they stood in the campaign.

"Most of the people were cooperative," Robert said, "but some didn't think they should tell how they were going to vote to children."

Several McGovern voters asked the boys "why we wanted Nixon to win and we gave different reasons," Henry said.

"We changed one McGovern guy to a Nixon guy," he said.

When it was completed, the Breen-Dunn poll registered 41 votes for Nixon, 20 for McGovern and 9 undecided.

The boys say they have moved now to campaigning, handing out leaflets and shouting "Vote for Nixon" from cars.

MONEY TALKS

Survey Shows Wealthy Work Longer Hours

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-4 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

An impressive picture that emerges from a national survey is that of wealthy people as hard workers who limit their employment only by reason of available hours or physical capacity.

The survey was conducted by a Washington-based social science agency which interviewed a sampling of Americans with annual income from a minimum of $10,000 to over $300,000.

The median work-week of the high-income group was 48 hours. One of every four worked 60 hours or more.

At the $12,000 income level, only one in six worked 60 hours or more. But at the $200,000 level, more than one in three did.

Owner-managers worked the longest week. The median work week of self-employed professionals was 53 hours, for business owner-managers 55 hours.

The "work hard-play hard" impression of the wealthy is dispelled by the survey, which notes that seven of every twelve workers took only two-week vacations during the year, another three took between two and four weeks, and only two vacationed a total of more than four weeks.

Even the wives get into the working picture. Four-tenths of all wives under 60 in the $10,000-30,000 family income bracket held paid jobs. At higher income levels, less than one-tenth of the wives were gainfully employed.

It has been repeatedly claimed that high personal income taxes are a deterrent to individual initiative and that highly productive workers lose their incentive, reduce their capacity, or withdraw from the labor market because of heavy taxation of the high income they are capable of making.

The survey gives the lie to this viewpoint. The finding is even more significant when it is realized that the survey was taken when the income tax ranged from 20 to 91 percent and did not have a 70 percent ceiling.

Seven out of eight respondents said explicitly that they did not curtail work because of taxes. Moreover, the report could find no significant effect of income taxes on the participation of wives in the labor force.

In this series of articles we have selected highlights from a significant survey of financial habits of America's more affluent persons. There have been all kinds of studies on how Americans spend their money, but relatively few of any consequence that provided insights into the intelligent handling of money.

Perhaps this review of habits and motivations that influence America's wealthier sector may prove inspirational to others whose net worth has been adversely affected by poor management.

Vietnam Christmas Package Deadline Oct. 27

Christmas packages sent via surface mail to members of the Armed Forces stationed in Vietnam must be deposited in the mails no later than Oct. 27, announces Post Master George K. Walker, Boston Postal District.

The deadline also applies to servicemen stationed in other Far East countries: Thailand, Taiwan, Philippines, Okinawa, New Zealand, Korea, Japan, Indonesia, Burma, Australia and Antarctica.

All other international mail destined for civilians for above Far East countries must be mailed as follows:

Surface parcels, deadline, Oct. 14.

Surface greeting cards, deadline, Oct. 25.

Walker emphasized the need for strong packages and cushion material within the package. A duplicate copy of the addressee and the mailer should be placed inside the package. The military address must be complete in every detail including the ZIP Code, which is an integral part of the military address.

For sending packages beyond these deadlines to military personnel, consult your local post office for information on SAM and PAL services.

Temporary Overcrowding Solution

Teal Pond Building Due To Open In Mid-November

The opening of the Teal Pond building in mid-November will provide a workable temporary solution to overcrowding at North Quincy High School according to school officials.

The metal-frame structure under construction on Hunt St. will provide classroom space for 250 students.

It and the 120 seats afforded by the Little Building on Hunt St. will bring the school's capacity to 1,990, just 51 short of current enrollment.

Students are expected to move into the building around the 15th of November as community efforts to help find a permanent solution to the problem move into full swing.

The newly-formed Citizens for North Quincy High School, a group formed as community spokesman to the school committee, will hold its election of officers on Nov. 21.

More than 150 area residents attended an organizational meeting of the group last week to discuss the future of the school and adopt bylaws.

School Committeemen Daniel G. Raymondi and Frank Anselmo urged those present to bring pressure on the City Council for action on two new-school proposals submitted by the school committee.

Raymondi said the future of the school "is in [the council's] hands now and we need your help to get them to act" on proposals for construction on Hunt St. and at the WMEX site.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, said the present building affords only 75 square feet per student, just half the state standard of 150 square feet.

"The four walls at North Quincy High School are too tight," Dr. Creedon said. "We need more space."

Acting Principal Peter Chrisom hailed the citizen group as "one of the most important factors in North Quincy High School's future."

In his opening remarks, Chrisom welcomed citizen involvement to effect changes "to make the educational process at North our first priority."

Chairman Pro-Tem Robert Schaffer presided at the meeting and invited all residents of the high school district to join the organization.

The high school stage band performed before the meeting and William Shea outlined the organization's history since its inception in February.

The Citizens for North Quincy High School will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. A nominating committee will be appointed at the Oct. 17 session.

Brett Urges Control Of Aircraft Noise Over Residential Areas

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has asked the Massachusetts Port Authority to "make any steps possible to alleviate the noise level" of planes flying over residential areas.

Brett told Mass Port Executive Director Edward J. King he has received "an increasing number of complaints" from North Quincy and Wollaston residents over noise from low-flying planes.

"As you can well understand, the noise can be very discomforting to residents within the flight patterns," he said.

The representative questioned whether planes taking off from Logan Airport might fly over the ocean until they reach a sufficient height to lessen noise on the area below.

"Perhaps also those preparing to land might be able to come in from the ocean side, which would also lessen the impact on the residential areas," he said.

Brett said he is frequently approached by North Quincy and Wollaston residents "in spontaneous circumstances" who mention to him the apparent increase in the noise level of planes.

"I can understand the importance of the airport and how valuable it is to the economy and convenience of the people," he said.

"But I feel there must be a way to reduce the noise that planes make as we have reduced the noise automobiles make through the installation of mufflers."

Brett said he has "confidence in the Massachusetts Port Authority and Mr. King and I feel that in the long run they are doing the best they can to please everybody."

In the meantime, he said, "I think if enough people keep alerting them to the problem, they will take steps."

AROUND THE PLAYGROUNDS

The 1972 Quincy Recreation Department's Summer Program was climaxed with the Annual Field Day held at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon congratulated all participants and department staff members, while Theodore DeCristofaro, Vice Chairman of the Park and Recreation Board, presented trophies to the winners of the Arts and Crafts competition held at each playground.

Music was provided by a rhythm band under the direction of Music specialists Karen Walsh, Susan Moscardelli and Rose Marie O'Brien. Officiating at the Field Day were: Course Clerk Edwin Miller, Starter Barry Welch, Announcer Frank Brillo and Coordinator for the event Supervisor General Liona H. Buckley.

Boston Ballet Co. To Perform 'Peter And The Wolf'

The Boston Ballet Co. will perform Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" for 2,300 Quincy elementary school children Sept. 29 at the Vocational-Technical School gymnasium.

The company will stage two performances of the ballet which performed on national television in 1970 with the Boston Pops Orchestra.

"Peter and the Wolf" is a symphonic story for children with each character represented by an instrument or group of instruments in the orchestra.

The music carries a narration about a little boy named Peter who, with his friends Cat and Bird, captures a wolf in spite of his grandfather's warning to stay behind his own fence.

E. Virginia Williams is artistic director of the Boston Ballet Co., one of five major professional dance companies in the United States outside of New York City.

Miss Williams established the group in 1963 under a Ford Foundation grant and the company performed its first professional engagement in 1964 at the Boston Arts Festival.

The program for elementary school children has been arranged by Carl DeYeo, coordinator of language arts and social studies for Quincy Public Schools.

the Bryan and Boosters Club trophies for outstanding athletes.

The group meets on the first Tuesday of each month with William J. Schaezel as president.

Officers include Daniel S. Coughlin, vice president; Mrs. Ann Doherty, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Schaezel, recording secretary; Mrs. Dana P. Smith, corresponding secretary.

Citizens For North Quincy High Membership Swells To 150

Some 150 North Quincy area residents have organized as the official community spokesman before the school committee on matters affecting North Quincy High School.

The Citizens for North Quincy High School was born on Feb. 2 when former assistant principal Peter Chrisom stated the urgent need for an advisory board of parents and businessmen.

The primary concern of the group was helping to find temporary and permanent solutions to the overcrowding problem which has plagued the school throughout its history.

Double-sessions, portable classrooms and other possible solutions were discussed at the first meeting Feb. 9 and the group met on March 2 with School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon.

After the March school committee meeting, the group met again and registered its frustration over inaction with Dr. Creedon.

A lengthy discussion on April 2 with Creedon and Mayor Hannon led to the presentation of a proposal for a prefabricated building at the April meeting of the school committee.

At that school committee, group members asked for immediate consideration of the proposal and suggested formation of a school committee-resident liaison organization.

The Citizens for North Quincy High School were authorized by the school committee on May 24 to act as spokesman and a by-law committee was established on June 20.

School Committee approval was granted to the temporary building plan and members of the citizen group attended city council sessions to witness a $400,000 appropriation to finance construction.

The building, now under construction on Teal Pond, will house 250 students and bring capacity to within 51 seats of the present enrollment.

The association has grown to 150 members and meets on the second Tuesday of each month at the North Quincy High School auditorium.

Membership is open to any student, teacher, parent or resident of the school area.

North-Revere Game Setting For Reunions

Saturday's North Quincy-Revere football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium was a setting for reunions.

Seated in the stands were more than 200 former crew members of the USS Quincy and their guests, Navy veterans from across the nation were celebrating their 28th reunion in Quincy last week and seats were reserved for them at the game.

Also, many members of the North Quincy's Class of 1947 watched the game together as part of their 25th reunion celebration.

Last November Frank Cammarata's biggest business dealing was managing the $71 a week he received from Unemployment Compensation.

But this November, after some 10 months of work alongside the business manager of the Quincy Public Schools, Frank will be on special assignment to North Quincy High School.

His task: review the existing business procedures of the school and recommend areas where the process can be made more efficient.

Frank landed the new assignment—which is funded by the federal Emergency Employment Program—after serving as an aide to Stephen Moynihan, Administrative Assistant for Business Affairs.

During the past several months Frank, under Moynihan's direction, took on a multitude of tasks associated with the preparation and dissemination of information about the school system's $19.1 million yearly budget.

As a by-product of their budget work, Moynihan and Frank compiled research data which culminated in a state reimbursement to the city of $560,000 for school renovation projects over a three-year period.

Education from Suffolk University and is presently working on his masters degree in education at Suffolk University.

After Revenge At Weymouth

Quincy In First GBL Action At Revere

The Quincy football team is rated as one of the powers in the Greater Boston League this season.

The Presidents, fresh from an opening day non-league win at Weymouth, will begin their quest for league honors Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. game at Revere.

Hank Conroy's Quincy club, remembering last year's shocking loss to Weymouth South, scored twice in the final period to avenge that setback, 22-6, at Weymouth last week while Revere was defeated by North Quincy, 18-6, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Although pleased with the Presidents' win, Conroy admitted he was far from satisfied with the team's opening performance.

"The boys did all right for an opening game and Weymouth, which passed about 80 percent of the time, is a tough club to defense against," Hank said. "We gave up a lot of yardage by playing deep against their passing and a lot of their rushing yardage was gained by the quarterback, who was unable to pass and picked up pretty good yardage.

"The statistics are deceiving, especially their rushing yardage, and penalties hurt us a lot in the first half. Rich Silva had several good runs nullified."

Conroy praised Silva for his two-way performance. Quarterback Paul Creedon, making his first varsity start and passing for all three touchdowns; Dave Ferris, whose pass interception and 33-yard return set up the winning touchdown; John John Whitney, who blocked and ran well from his fullback slot; and Wayne Ponder who did an excellent job in the backfield.

"In the line Ron Smith, whom I consider one of the best centers in the state and a very good college prospect (220 pounds), did a great job," Conroy went on. "Bob Spillaine and Paul Riggs excelled at end, Ed Silva did a fine job at guard and our big tackles, Dave Sten and Steve Varrasso, were outstanding."

Quincy had 124 yards rushing to 190 for Weymouth but, as Conroy said, these figures are deceiving. Creedon completed seven of 13 passes for 159 yards and all three touchdowns.

Quincy had 124 yards rushing to 190 for Weymouth but, as Conroy pointed out, these figures are deceiving. The Weymouth quarterback hit on nine of 22 passes for 82 yards and the touchdown. Weymouth had 12 first downs to eight for Quincy.

Weymouth scored at 7:27 of the second period on an eight-yard pass to Mark Lindstrom.

Quincy tied it up later in the same period when it drove 77 yards in six plays and Creedon passed to Spillaine for 36 yards and the first Quincy tally.

There was no more scoring until the final period. Ferris came up with his big interception and ran it back to South's 22. Ponder went 10 yards and Creedon hit Spillaine again for 11 yards and the winning score. John Ford rushed for the points.

Quincy drove 68 yards in nine plays for the insurance touchdown, Creedon hitting Ponder for 14 yards and the score. Silva skirted end for the final two points.

North Seeks No. 2 Against Weymouth

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team opened its season last week with a Greater Boston League win over favored Revere.

The victory, also added to the success of the Class of 1947's 25th reunion celebration and provided thrills for more than 200 former crew members of the USS Quincy who were guests at the Veterans Memorial Stadium game.

The many members of the Class of 1947 and the USS Quincy crewmen and guests had plenty to cheer about as Ralph Frazier's Raiders scored twice in the final period to upset Revere, 18-6.

This week North is home again when it takes on Weymouth North in a 1:30 p.m. non-league game.

Despite Weymouth's 24-0 Suburban League defeat at the hands of Brookline, Frazier expects plenty of trouble. "You can never take anything for granted when you face a Weymouth team," Ralph pointed out.

Last week's game was much closer than the score indicates and it took an 85-yard kickoff return and a fumbled pass from center on the Revere one-yard line on an attempted punt to pull the decision out.

"I felt sorry for Sylvio [Sylvio Cella, Revere coach], because they played a fine game and only for those two plays in the last period they could well have tied us," Frazier said. "But, I'm very happy about the win, as most people picked Revere to beat us."

North was strong on pass defense despite Revere's seven for 16. Two of the completions were for losses and the Patriots gained only 48 yards. The Raiders nearly intercepted a half dozen passes but the defenders were unable to hold on to the ball.

"Our defensive ends, Steve Fransoso and Bert Bertoni, were outstanding as was Burt Bray, who knocked down at least four Revere passes," Frazier said. "The entire defense was outstanding and I thought our offense clicked well considering the inexperience of the offensive team."

"Our halfbacks, John Flynn and Paul Cunniff, ran well and Bobby Morton did an excellent job at quarterback, calling the plays well and picking up good yardage. We didn't pass much but will do more passing in the future."

Morton threw only three passes and completed two, one a pass to Billy Carroll behind the line of scrimmage which went for 27 yards.

Bob McCormick's 85-yard kickoff return for the winning touchdown was no fluke, according to Frazier. "We have worked very hard on this play and everyone did his job," he said. "Bob can run but is not our fastest man but once he broke into the clear, there was no catching him."

Frazier was pleased with blocking of the line and was also tickled that he was able to use 35 players. He used different specialty teams, kickoff, kickoff return, punting, punt return, etc.

North drove 55 yards in the second period to score the game's first touchdown. The only two pass completions, an eight-yarder to Flynn and the pass to Carroll on which he raced 27 yards, were included in this drive which was culminated by Flynn's 10-yard run from the 10.

Early in the last period Revere tied it up on a 24-yard gallop by workhorse Joe Festa.

The tie lasted only until the ensuing kickoff which McCormick took on his 15, picked up his blockers and went all the way.

A few minutes later Revere's Roy Santolucito went back to punt on his goal line but fumbled the high pass from center and was downed on his one-yard line.

On the first play Morton scored the insurance touchdown.

North gained a net of 85 yards on the ground and Flynn and Cunniff gained 66 of them. The hard running Festa picked up 90 of his team's 124 net yards rushing.

Revere had 12 first downs to nine for the Raiders.

HOME FREE - Perfect block stops three Revere defenders to spring North Quincy's Bobby McCormick for an 80-yard punt return to put North ahead 12-6 in Saturday's season opener.

ICE BREAKER - Halfback John Flynn scampers for goal line on a pitchout from quarterback Bob Morton for first score in North's victory over Revere.

Quincy, North X-Country Teams To Open Sept. 28

The Quincy and North Quincy cross country teams open their Greater Boston League season today [Thursday] at Medford, where all league meets will be run.

The Presidents hope to at least equal their 5-2 records of the last two years and the Raiders will strive to improve on their 1-6 record last fall.

While Quincy meets Somerville in its opener, North will be taking on Revere. The teams will reverse opponents in the next set of meets Oct. 5.

There is no Bobby Ciano at Quincy this year. Ciano, undefeated in three years of cross country as well as spring and winter track at Quincy, is now at the University of Kentucky and Coach Tom Hall will have a difficult time finding his equal.

"Mark MacLeod is our number one runner and Marty Swirko is number two," Hall said. "Both ran well last year and should turn in some good times this year." Both are seniors.

A junior, Garry Delorio, who did well in spring track and who last year placed eighth out of 52 in the league championship meet with only two underclassmen finishing in front of him, looks like the number three man.

Battling for the fourth and fifth spots are sophomores Steve Player and Tim Kane and juniors Fred Norkus and John Ahola.

Other hopefuls are Steve Nolan, Ron Hartikka, Tom Healey, Don Smith, Joe Bouchie and John Tucker.

Hall has several basketball players running to keep in condition and they will run for the junior varsity. They are Ken Furfari, Bill Kiggan, Mike Marvelle, John Reggiannini and Don Connors.

"We are young but are coming along," Hall said. "Each year we seem to meet the league power in our first meet and it is the same story this year. Somerville looks like one of the favorites and we face them in the first meet."

North Quincy's veteran coach, Bob Gentry, has hopes of improving on last year's record and has a veteran-studded group working out.

Newcomers are Mark Canavan, a 10th grader and Tim Dawe, a senior running for the first time who has looked good in practice.

"We have a small squad but I hope our experience will pay off," Gentry said. "Most of the boys have run a good deal and I feel we can hold our own in the league this year."

'Hey There, It's Yogi Bear'

Jimmy Fund Program Sept. 30

Three special showings of the film "Hey There, It's Yogi Bear" will be held at the South Shore Plaza Cinema I and II to benefit the Jimmy Fund Sept. 30.

Tickets for the 9 and 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. shows are available at the Braintree Town Clerk's office, Braintree Police Station or at the theatre box office.

Town Clerk Robert N. Bruynell said the "tremendous demand" for tickets to the two morning showings necessitated the addition of an afternoon screening of the feature-length cartoon.

The show is the sixth annual Jimmy Fund program sponsored by Bruynell and the police department.

Jack Donahue North's No. 1 Fan

It wouldn't be a North Quincy football game without the venerable Jack Donahue watching from the press box.

Jack, North's first and only coach until he retired in 1960, and now it's No. 1 fan, who now is enjoying his retirement from teaching, was on hand as usual for last Saturday's game with Revere.

Looking fit as a fiddle, Jack had many words of wisdom on the North team and the game in general.

Astro Toe

Ever hear of "astro-toe"? No, it's not another cartoon hero like Ultra-man or Batman. Astro-toe is a football injury associated solely with synthetic turf football surfaces.

An independent safety study has been completed recently on the injury-potential of artificial turf. And the results of this study casts some doubt on the fate of this highly touted material. Injuries occur as often on natural grass as on the new turf, notes the report. But players injuring their knees or ankles on synthetic turf require surgery or medical attention far more often.

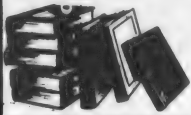

Synthetic turf also has the dubious honor of creating its own special class of injuries, such as the aforementioned "astro-toe", which a player gets when he strains his big toe while pressing forward on the skid-free turf. Medical experts blame the greater traction of the material's surface which enables the players to collide with greater force.

Veterans Services

An estimated 967,000 veterans and servicemen were training under the current GI Bill on the June 1 sixth anniversary of the bill, the Veterans Administration reports.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said the total is nearly 15 percent more than a year ago, and 53 percent above two years ago.

Johnson noted that a trend of increasing enrollments has already accounted for 3.3 million trained under the current GI Bill, compared to 2.4 million during 13 years of its predecessor, the Korean GI Bill.

The estimated 967,000 veterans and servicemen in training on the sixth anniversary of the current GI Bill include 490,000 attending colleges and universities, and 380,000 training below college level, 97,000 of them taking on-the-job training.

When final statistics are in, VA officials expect enrollments during fiscal year 1972 to reach nearly two million.

The sixth anniversary of the current GI Bill will also find an estimated 24,000 wives, widows and children training under VA's Dependents' Educational Assistance program, up seven percent from a year ago.

In addition, an estimated 17,200 service disabled veterans will be in vocational rehabilitation programs, a three percent increase from a year earlier.

VA pays veterans with no dependents $175 a month while they attend school full-time under the GI Bill. Veterans with one dependent are paid $205 monthly; with two dependents, $230 monthly; and those with more than two dependents receive an additional $13 monthly for each dependent.

To be eligible for VA education benefits, it was explained, Post Korean veterans [service after Jan. 31, 1955] and servicemen on active duty must serve at least 181 days, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955. Veterans separated for service-connected disabilities are eligible, regardless of length of service.

Information on benefits is available at all VA offices and from representatives of local service organizations.

Four 'Good Neighbors' To Be Honored In HN Oct. 17

Four "Good Neighbors" will be honored Oct. 17 at the Annual Honor Awards Banquet of the Houghs Neck Community Council at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Receiving plaques for their work with young people will be Joseph Amyouny of 801 Sea St., Miss Helen G. Boyajian of 20 Fenno St., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Little of 4 Littlefield St.

Mr. Amyouny, president of both the Atherton Hough PTA and the Grenham Youth Center, has helped organize 12 boys' and girls' basketball teams at the Center and has been head coach of the Manets Youth Football team for four years, in addition to assisting with hockey and other sports. Houghs Neck residents for 15 years, he and his wife have four daughters, Janet, Mary Ann, Karen and Linda.

Miss Boyajian, entering her seventh year as librarian at the Houghs Neck Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library, is cited for "initiating instructions programs and procedures far beyond that which is the normal requirement of a librarian."

Before becoming a librarian, Miss Boyajian served three and a half years as a SPAR [U.S. Coast Guard], was a psychiatric social worker after receiving her master's degree from Boston University, and was a librarian at Massachusetts General Medical Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Little have worked with the Manets Youth Football team for many years. Mrs. Little is now its treasurer while her husband is a referee for the Quincy Youth Football League. Both are directors of the Grenham Youth Center and active in Turnabout.

Mrs. Little was a Girl Scout leader for five years, while her husband worked with Boy Scouts. Houghs Neck residents for 20 years, they have six children: Mrs. Kathy Taylor of North Weymouth, Lee Little, Mrs. Marilyn Morrell, Beth Little, Janet Little and Jeff Little.

Robert F. Denvir Jr. is chairman of the event which was established in 1954. Tickets for the 6 p.m. catered banquet may be obtained from him, from any member of the council's executive board, or at Pages Pharmacy, Oct. 14 is the deadline for reservations.

Thursday Rally Suggested City Hall Under Seige From Irate Taxpayers

By DICK MATTULINA

City Hall has been under seige this week as a result of Friday's mailing of the 1972 property tax bills.

Pickers have been parading in front of the building carrying signs which state, for instance, that Mayor Hannon "Is Not Getting My Christmas Club Money."

Inside, there have been lines a dozen or more deep waiting to complain to assessors and file for abatements on their assessment.

People have been pacing the floor in the City Council chambers awaiting opportunities to vent their anger to Mayor Hannon and his staff.

And city councillors have been deluged with phone calls from irate taxpayers since the first bills began arriving at Quincy homes last Friday.

At press time, a loosely-organized group calling themselves the Quincy Taxpayers Revolt was trying to organize a protest rally to be held in front of City Hall for tonight (Thursday).

Property owners had breathed a short-lived sigh of relief a few weeks ago when the mayor announced a new tax rate of $155.40, representing an increase of just $12.90.

Earlier predictions had hinted that the tax rate would increase by more than $25 in order for the city to meet its record $52.6 million budget.

But new construction and an equalization program of assessments kept the figure from reaching $169.50, the Mayor said.

It is the aftermath of that "equalization program" which hangs over city hall like a mushroom-shaped cloud as many homeowners claim their property's valuation has increased 50 to 100 percent.

Equalization calls for homes in the city to be valued at between 32.5 and 35 percent of their market value, according to Chief Assessor Elmer K. Fagerlund.

Fagerlund disputed reports that the average assessment has increased 25 percent in the new bills because "the total valuation of the city increased eight percent."

In attempting to have every property owner pay his fair share, some assessments have increased while others have decreased, he said.

Tim Cardwell of Presidents Lane, organizer of the picketing at city hall, has announced his intention to fight the assessment in court.

Cardwell said he bought his home for $29,000 in 1964 and his assessment has jumped 80 percent this year to $16,200.

Between Monday afternoon and 10 a.m. Tuesday, picketers had collected more than 250 signatures of taxpayers upset with their bills, according to Mrs. June Dullig.

Mrs. Dullig said her tax bill increased this year from $1,200 to $2,200.

The tenants in Mrs. Dullig's apartment building "will have to bear the brunt of this," she said. "And I'm upset because I consider them friends."

Payment of the bills will be due Nov. 1. Disabled veterans, widows, the elderly, the blind and those who feel they have been assessed unfairly may file for abatements at the assessors office.

Putnam S. Borden Council Aging Director

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has announced the appointment of Putnam S. Borden, 44, of 40 Lurton St., South Quincy, as executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging.

Borden assumed the office Monday to succeed William McDonald who retired in April.

Party For Capt. Fitzgerald

Former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti will be toastmaster at a retirement party Oct. 12 for Police Capt. Joseph E. Fitzgerald at Morrisette Post, West Quincy.

Capt. Fitzgerald, 64, retired August 30 after 42 years on the police force.

Ticket committee members include Lt. Neil MacDonald, Det. Edward Gentile and Gerald Culetta of Dist. Atty. George G. Burke's office.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard Hawko, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, will offer benediction.

A Chance

National Employ the Handicapped Week - Oct. 1 to 7 - gives us the opportunity to dispel myths which, too often, prevent employers from hiring a handicapped worker.

The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped points out that the three most persistent myths about handicapped workers are false. These are:

That handicapped workers are more likely to have accidents than other employees.

That an employer's workmen compensation insurance rates will rise if he hires handicapped workers.

And, that insurance companies "will not permit employers to hire handicapped workers."

U. S. Labor Department surveys have shown that the handicapped have fewer disabling injuries than the average worker exposed to the same work hazards. When placed in suitable jobs, they are for all practical purposes no longer handicapped.

As to the insurance companies' positions on such hiring, the very fact that insurers are among the leaders in rehabilitation and placement of impaired workers refutes the idea that they oppose hiring the handicapped.

The process of hiring the handicapped requires no exceptional qualifications of the employer, no special combination of time, place, or circumstances.

The only question that the employer need be concerned with is a basic employment question: "Can the worker do the job?"

Millions of physically handicapped Americans have emphatically answered, "Yes!" They have proven their ability. Millions of others have rehabilitated themselves and trained for work, but they are still waiting for a chance to prove their worth.

Give them that chance.

● Youth Speaks Out

● Hanot claims that the U.S. has put bugging devices in toothpaste tubes. The next time you're brushing your teeth, be careful what you say: you never know who is listening.

● There has been confusion over how many times the school committee can table items. Open Campus has now been tabled, chaired, couched, fireplaced and rugged. They're running out of ways to delay it.

● There was a vocabulary lesson in Quincy schools last week, and very few students knew what integration meant.

● In 1968 Richard Nixon said that if a President could not end the war in 4 years, he should not be given a second chance. We're in full agreement, Mr. Nixon.

Paul Gay Thanks Voters

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Through your columns, I would like to thank the many voters, both Democratic and Republican, who expressed their confidence in my experience and ability for the office of Register of Probate.

With the Primary election now behind me, and no opponent on the November ballot, I intend to devote my time to the professional aspects of the office of Register. In addition to seeking out newer and better ways to administer the Probate Court, I will be drafting legislation to be introduced in the coming session of the Legislature designed to improve practices and procedures so that the Court may better serve its petitioners.

In an effort to expand the lines of communication between the residents of Norfolk County and their Probate Court, I will be available at any time to receive suggestions or reactions from groups or individuals, and will attempt, whenever possible, to meet the public to answer questions concerning the functions of the Court.

Again, my sincere thanks to all those who voted for and worked toward my election.

Paul C. Gay, Dedham

- Lansky Turned Over To US.
- Nixon Distressed Over Watergate.
- Try To Keep Ali Out Of S. Africa.

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Justice Department secretly furnished Israel with Internal Revenue and Immigration Service memos to help convince Israeli authorities to deport aging crime lord, Meyer Lansky.

Lansky tried to take advantage of Israel's strong refugee law, which offers a home to all Jewish refugees. But the Israeli authorities decided that the law was not intended to protect fugitives from justice. Lansky has been given a one-way ticket back to the United States, where he faces federal charges.

Among the U.S. documents supplied to the Israelis was an Immigration Service memo linking Lansky to the notorious gangster "Bugs" Siegel.

The memo quotes an informant named Benjamin Baron as saying that Lansky "was a co-leader with Bugs Siegel of a gang employed as 'protection' of a bootlegging combine and...was involved in murder and kidnapping."

A memo from the Internal Revenue Service summed up Lansky's career in these words: "Lansky's history shows that he has been a criminal all his adult life. During the entire time he was closely associated, both personally and in his business rackets, with many of the leading criminals in the United States."

—Blacks Pressure Ali—

Black leaders in America and Africa are trying quietly to persuade boxer Muhammad Ali not to go ahead with his planned exhibition bout in South Africa in November.

The day before Ali's recent fight against Floyd Patterson, Ali's business manager, Herbert Muhammad, met privately with several black African leaders at a cozy lunch at the United Nations. Included were Ambassador Farah of Somali and Ambassador Thian, the permanent representative of the Organization of African Unity.

They argued at length that Ali's visit would be a major setback for opponents of South Africa's hated policy of apartheid. But apparently their arguments were unavailing. Herbert finally shrugged and said Ali had signed a contract and that no one could change Ali's mind.

But the black leaders haven't given up. They intend to appeal to the aging leader of the Black Muslim movement, Elijah Muhammad himself, to convince Ali not to go to South Africa. Ali is one of old Elijah's most devoted disciples.

Making the appeal to Elijah Muhammad will be Dennis Brutus, a 47-year-old black South African poet now teaching at Northwestern University. It was Brutus who, last summer, was so successful in helping persuade Avery Brundage to prohibit Rhodesia from participating in the Olympic games.

—Intelligence Reports—

War Widens—Israel apparently is planning military operations against both Iraq and Libya for their support of Palestinian terrorists. In the past, both countries have been immune to Israeli reprisals because of their distance from Israel, but now secret intelligence reports warn that Israel is preparing to retaliate against Arab nations beyond its immediate borders. Israel is said to be especially upset over reports that Libya has given $25 million in oil revenues to the Palestinian terrorists.

Gangster Playland—In the Bahamas, Prime Minister Lynden Findling is following up his solid parliamentary election victory by seeking full independence from Britain—a move Britain does not oppose. But intelligence reports claim that Findling has received strong financial support from American gangsters. When the British leave, the reports warn, the Bahamas may become a paradise for the American underworld.

—Around the U.S.—

Lest We Forget—President Nixon told visitors privately the other day that he was distressed over the ITT and Watergate scandals, but that he didn't think they would hurt him on election day. They were too complicated, he said, for the public to understand. The President also commented that the public's memory on government scandals was short. He suggested that the voters have already forgotten, for example, what the ITT scandal was all about.

Juggling Statistics—Top police officials continue to lament the current state of official crime reporting in the United States. In Washington, D.C., for example, the Justice Department claims the D.C. crime rate is steadily declining, but a special audit of police department crime statistics has revealed that many D.C. crimes simply have not been reported. In Philadelphia, meanwhile, official records indicate that the rate of crime is spiraling upward. But most knowledgeable police officials say that the crime wave is an illusion caused by a uniform system of crime reporting put into effect two years ago. As a result, crimes not previously reported in Philadelphia are now showing up on the record books.

Deadly Sleights—The winter snowfalls are expected to bring out more than one million snowmobiles, but owners are cautioned that last winter over one hundred people died and 6,000 were injured riding this modern version of the one-horse-open-sleigh. The safety hazards continue to worry federal regulators.

Hungry Hogs—A group of hog farmers have complained to us that people are getting too finicky about their garbage. Incinerators and trash compressors have replaced garbage dumps in so many eastern cities that farmers cannot get enough loose garbage to feed their hogs. Out West, farmers can grow grain to fatten hogs, but on smaller eastern farms, the hog raisers complain they are going out of business. They warn this will mean higher pork and bacon prices.

—Political Potpourri—

Our political pollster, Jimmy the Greek, recently surveyed 400 Democrats in a titanium plant in Toronto, Ohio, and found a whopping 62 per cent favoring Richard Nixon in the presidential race. Apparently, McGovern's appeals to labor in Ohio are not catching on...In New York, friction has developed between Governor Nelson Rockefeller and the President's campaign organization. Rockefeller has grumped privately that he is supposed to have a free hand to run the President's New York campaign...McGovern campaign aides in California are gloomy about their man's prospects. Organizational problems have plagued the liberal Californians. One major problem is that too many aides have become involved in local issues not directly associated with the presidential race.

Quincy Sons of Italy honored the late Philip D'Olimpio as their "Man-of-the-Year" at a recent ceremony at their hall on Quarry St.

Mrs. Rose D'Olimpio accepted a plaque in behalf of her late husband and her son, Peter D'Olimpio, who was vested with regalia as honorary officer for the evening.

The family presented a flag pole to the lodge in memory of Philip and John D'Olimpio.

Halfway To Goal

Quincy Center Association Now Lists 50 Members

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association [QCBPA] reached the half-way mark toward its goal of 100 member businesses this week.

Executive Director John E. Murray said the organization's official membership has swelled to 50 stores and businesses with several others pledged to join.

Murray said he is elated with the reception afforded the newly-formed organization by businessmen in the Quincy Center area.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Aimless eating ... will get you in trouble. Ideally, you should eat for a purpose. To nourish your body. To relax and enjoy a pleasurable experience. To rejuvenate after a long night's sleep. To end the day around the family table. These are some of the valid aims of the process of eating.

Eating at these times puts you on target. Your eating is aimed. It's when you are targetless that you are dangerous. You are ahead of time for a doctor's appointment and rather than spend the time sitting in his reception room, you drop into the corner coffee shop for a cup of coffee. Period. Except that the Danish Pastry looks so good...that's aimless eating.

You are waiting at the specified place for your husband to take you to the movies. He is late and to sweeten your disposition you grab a candy bar from the newstand. That's aimless eating.

I had a business woman tell me recently that she could directly attribute her weight gain to her car pool. One member was half an hour later leaving the office. While they waited, the other three chipped in and bought all sorts of snacks and goodies. Aimless eating.

Between meal snacking won't hurt one bit. Just be certain that it, too, is aimed at nutrition and has the purpose of adding to your daily intake rather than your weight.

Staying aimed is not difficult. Proper eating at proper times is the first line of defense. Try this for lunch, then see if you can't take an afternoon of wandering aimlessly amid the snackeries of the outside world without a wayward glance or an unaimed bite.

1 medium Zucchini
2 ounces hard cheese
¼ cup chopped celery
2 slices Arnold Melba Thin
Dietetic bread

Tomato juice or Beef
bouillon to moisten

Blend bread slices and cheese in blender. Wash zucchini, cut in half and scoop out seeds. Score underside every 1½ inches. Add celery to breadcrumb mixture along with moistener and season to taste. Stuff zucchini with this. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

That should give you a warm, comfortable feeling in your tummy for the rest of the afternoon. Whenever you set out, review where you are going and the frustrations and unexpected happenings that just might crop up along the way. Preparing your mind ahead of time will lead you to elect to wait in the doctor's reception room and read a fashion magazine rather than slurp up unnecessary coffee plus. You'll buy the latest paper, not candy, at a newstand. Instead of arriving early for the car pool, you'll think about using the time to clean up office clutter. The substitute for aimless eating is aimed action of any part of the body but the mouth.

Aim any diet questions to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

An instructor of English at Quincy Junior College, Goodman has also taught at Tufts University, where he is a Ph.D. candidate in American literature. ### Don't Blame Homosexual's Parents

It's popular to hold parents to blame anytime an offspring goes wrong. For instance, parents were often held responsible for producing homosexual sons through the combination of domineering mother, remote, hostile father in an atmosphere of constant bickering. But how accurate is this to the truth?

Not very close say clinical psychologists at California's Loma Linda University. They claim it is really the son who is different in the first place, and this difference influences parent's behavior. The mother, sensing her son's difference, seeks to protect him - gradually dominating him. The father, unable to understand his son's distaste for masculine activities, withdraws from him.

Since homosexuals also come from families with good relationships, the researchers conclude that the most likely primary cause is some genetic or biological deviance. Parental actions are the result - not the cause - of their son's role.

When The Gap Widens

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen...the saddest are it might have been." No marriage starts out anticipating failure. Yet failure stalks the institution of marriage on every street. Why? In the words of the poet "it might have been" different if only the gap had not developed between them.

The drift is usually very gradual...like it was for Bill and Betty. They had one of those beautiful weddings...200 people...that many gifts...ritual...flowers...champagne...dancing...normal tears by mothers...jokes and good wishes of old friends...and off on the honeymoon.

It was on the honeymoon that they first discovered that they had a problem...they couldn't seem to talk. Before they talked about how to get together over the limitations of parents and college rules...how unfair the old chemistry instructor was...why her monthly check from Dad was late. As they sat on the airplane for Honolulu they held hands...smiled...but all they had to talk about was what had happened at the wedding. The communication gap was not severely apparent during the trip because they were busy every night...skiing every day...sleeping much...making love a lot. Even during the first couple of years they didn't notice it so much because Bill had plunged more deeply into his job...he wanted to get ahead as fast as he could. Then came little Billy and they had "little Billy" to talk about. By the third year it became clear that the gap had widened. Betty was talking "baby talk" with the girls at coffee each morning. Bill was staying later and later at work...talking with the guys.

By this point the gap was so wide that they were just courteous to each other...talked when a social invitation came whether or not to accept...but no real conversations...no sharing of opinions...no analyzing of events they had experienced...and they never spoke of feelings to each other. Less and less frequently they made love...and even this had lost its zip. The gap between them was painfully real.

Bill was feeling more and more lonely...Betty was feeling more and more that something was wrong. She began to wonder if he had another girl...if he was worried...if he was involved with the Mafia...if he was homosexual.

Now usually people reach this point in the marriage gap...and do nothing about it...just continue to be unhappy...until finally they divorce. What they hope for is a miracle...that suddenly it will all change and they'll be back where they were on their wedding day. It doesn't. The gap doesn't close unless they do something about closing it.

Bill and Betty decided to go to a reputable marriage counselor. He recognized their problem...a communication gap. He knew what to do to help them...he helped her to understand that she had to get rid of the fears of being her true self which was planted in her mind in childhood...to ask questions...to become aware of her own and Bill's feelings...to talk out whatever she felt without fear. The counselor helped Bill to show more insight into Betty's problem...for he had grown impatient and was filled with disgust.

Her feelings of fear...his feelings of resentment had only widened the gap. Their gap narrowed...then it closed...in a short time they were companions again...they got happy again...they had a marriage again. All because they started to communicate.

Your marriage gap can close too...but you'll have to close it.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counseling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass. or call 326-5990 or 545-5947 or 659-7595.

Ken Coleman, veteran Red Sox telecaster and a native of North Quincy, was one of two individuals who received special honors Tuesday at the annual BoSox Club awards luncheon at Pier 4, Boston.

Ken, who has been broadcasting and televising Red Sox games since 1966 after many years doing Cleveland Browns and Indians games, was the first recipient of the newly created Brad Jernegan Award for his special dedication to community service and his contributions to the club.

The award was named for the late Brad Jernegan, Boston banking executive who was a founder and past president of the BoSox Club.

Red Sox Catcher Bob Montgomery received the sixth annual BoSox "Man of the Year" award for his cooperation in community service, notably the Jimmy Fund, and his unrecognized contribution to the success of the Red Sox.

Also honored at Tuesday's luncheon were the Braintree High baseball team,

Revere Rides Hard

Presidents Drill On Defense For Everett

Quincy's football team will probably work harder this week on defense than ever before as it preps for Saturday's home opener at Veterans Memorial Stadium with Everett. Game time will be 1:30 p.m.

The Presidents have always been noted for their strong defense and it was this factor which ranked them with the top Greater Boston League teams this fall.

However, the defense fell apart completely last week as Revere ran over Hank Conroy's charges, 37-8 at Revere, one of the worst setbacks in Conroy's coaching tenure.

Revere had bowed to North Quincy, 18-6, the previous week but showed promise. However, the margin of victory over Quincy was hard to believe.

"All I can say is they completely outplayed us, played a tremendous game and we had to play catchup all the way," Conroy said. "Revere controlled the ball and gave our offense very little chance to show what it could do. All the pressure was put on the defense and we just didn't have it. We are not playing as a unit on defense and must work hard to get this unity."

Revere started fast and had three touchdowns in the first half and Quincy ran only eight plays in the first period.

The Presidents, down by an 18-8 count, drove to the Revere five-yard line in the third period but a pass was intercepted and that just about ended it as far as Quincy was concerned.

"If we had scored then and trailed by only two or four points, it could have made a big difference," Conroy said.

Revere's hard running backs, led by powerful Joe Festa, who had run well against North Quincy the week before, had no trouble penetrating the Quincy defense and went to the air only a few times.

Revere ground out 406 yards on the ground, with Festa gaining 203, and added 49 through the air. Quincy netted 61 yards rushing but picked up 214 yards through the air as Paul Creedon hit on 12 of 22 and the only touchdown. He has passed for all Quincy's touchdowns this fall.

Conroy singled out Paul Riggs for a fine two-way performance and Creedon for some excellent passing.

Quincy's lone TD came in the second period on a pass from Creedon to Bob Spillaine covering 38 yards and the same pair teamed up for the extra points.

Quarterback Jim Caramello scored three touchdowns for the Patriots, going over from the 13 in the second period and twice, from the 12 and five, in the third period. Dave Kelloway scored from the 11 and Andy Delmonte from the three in the first period. Caramello passed to big Ed Manchur for 35 yards and the final Revere score.

Everett comes to Quincy after being shut out in its first two games, 7-0 by Newton in a non-league game and 8-0 last week by Somerville in its league opener. —TOM SULLIVAN

In Soccer Quincy, North Greet Sharon, Foxboro

Undefeated Quincy and once-beaten North Quincy met Tuesday in a Norfolk Association soccer game and North's new coach, Lou Ioanella, had high hopes of handing the Presidents their first loss in 18 league games.

Today, Quincy, 5-0 in the league following a 12-0 season a year ago, hosts Sharon and North entertains Foxboro. Tuesday it will be Avon at Quincy and North at Norfolk and next Thursday Quincy has a bye while North is home to Franklin.

North, getting sensational goal tending from sophomore Ken O'Sullivan, scored its fourth straight shutout win to make its record 4-1 [a 2-1 loss to Foxboro in its opener was its only loss] with a 2-0 win over Avon last week.

Only for the brilliant work of the Avon goal tender, the Raiders would have won by a much bigger margin as they outshot the losers, 24-9.

Steve Miller scored the first North goal in the opening period and Dan Reed scored the other in the second period with Bob Brown getting an assist.

Earlier in the week North had defeated Sharon, 4-0, as Dave Merrill scored twice, Dave Sullivan and Miller once each.

Assists went to Sullivan and Al Styles.

Ioanella, coach of North's first junior varsity team last fall, inherited five veterans from Coach George Golding, who gave up the coaching reins after many successful years.

The varsity returnees are Co-Captains Brad Martinson and Bill Chaggaris, Rich Golden, Paul Wilson and Reed. Chaggaris, however, missed most of last year due to an injury.

Most of North players are graduates of the 1971 jayvee squad.

Meanwhile, Ron Martin's Quincy booters sailed right along last week with a 4-1 decision over Franklin.

Quincy's scorers were Tony Michaelangelo, Mike Priscella, John Sweeney, and Steve Ranalli, while Priscella, Massimo Ranalli and Tom Tasney had assists.

Earlier in the week Quincy had defeated Norfolk, 5-0, with Massimo Ranalli scoring twice, Michaelangelo, Tasney and Sweeney once apiece. Assists went to Lee Wardle, Priscella [two] and Steve Ranalli.

In their previous game the Presidents had squeezed by Foxboro, 2-1, with Steve Ranalli and Michaelangelo scoring the goals.

Paul McCabe and Mike McNiece picked up two goals apiece and Kevin Chase and Rich Stevens scored to give the A team a 9-2 win over Hanover.

The Squirt A team downed Canton 6-5 with goals by Tom Gerry [2], Scott Richardson, Mark Messina, Robbie Zanardelli and Mike Doherty.

Paul McConville picked up three goals and Bobby Beniers scored twice as the Squirt B team downed Abington 8-2. Mike Panico, Mike Doherty and Jim Norton rounded out the Quincy scoring.

After Weymouth Breeze

Raiders Seek Third Straight At Malden

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team will hit the road for the first time Saturday when it seeks its third straight win and Coach Ralph Frazier hopes his Raiders can finally score some points after touchdown.

The Raiders scored seven touchdowns in their first two games but have yet to convert, although they did connect on a pass for an apparent two points last week which was nullified by a penalty.

Frazier realizes as well as anyone that this inability to convert after touchdowns could prove costly in close games but thinks this problem will be alleviated beginning this week.

"We have a good place kicker in Charlie Smith but he was injured in pre-season practice and missed both our games," said Frazier after last week's 24-0 breeze over Weymouth North at Veterans Memorial Stadium. "I think he will be back for our game at Malden [this Saturday at 1:30] and he should be able to get those valuable points."

Except for the extra point problem, Frazier and his assistants were pleased with the Raiders' second straight win, although admittedly disappointed at a letdown in the second and third periods after rolling two touchdowns the first three times they had the ball for an 18-0 first period lead.

"Defensively, we played another excellent game with the whole defensive unit outstanding," Frazier said. "Offensively, John Flynn and Paul Cuniff again ran very well, Bobby Morton played another fine game at quarterback and Rich Desmond did some exceptional blocking from his fullback position."

"Desmond doesn't get the credit he deserves and it is his blocking which enables Flynn and Cuniff to break away," said offensive coach Tom Fitzgerald.

Although defensive coach Dick Meyer declined to single out any one player on defense, he admitted it was good to have Mark Mulvaney back after missing the Revere opener with an injury.

"Mark is one of our best on defense and we missed him against Revere," Meyer said. "He played well today but so did everyone else on our defensive unit. The big thing is we are playing together as a unit. We are not big but are playing together. I did a lot of juggling and it paid off."

North had 238 yards rushing with Flynn gaining 114 including a 42-yard touchdown run, and Cuniff adding 90 including a 41-yard scoring run. Weymouth was held to 55 yards on the ground by the rugged North defense.

Morton hit on six of nine passes for 40 yards including one touchdown and although Carl Leone failed to connect on three attempts, one long pass was dropped by the would-be receiver on the goal line. Weymouth quarterbacks John Bouley and Steve Anotonowicz also connected on six of 12 for 60 yards.

North clicked off 13 first downs to five for the losers, who were absorbing their second straight 24-0 defeat, the first coming at the hands of Brookline in a Suburban League game.

It took North Quincy just one play to score its first touchdown. Weymouth was unable to move after taking the opening kickoff and punted to its own 41. On the first play Cuniff broke through right tackle and went all the way.

Weymouth again was stopped cold and Coach Dick McPherson, who gambled four times on fourth down, instead of punting, ordered the first of these and Bouley did pick up the first down but Weymouth was hit with a 15-yard penalty and John Friberg punted to North Quincy's 39.

This time it took five plays for North to score. After Morton hit Billy Carroll with a pass, Flynn raced around right end, picked up good blocking and galloped 42 yards to make it 12-0.

North's Pete Quinn intercepted a pass and brought it back to Weymouth's 32 and again the Raiders scored with Cuniff skirting his left end for five yards.

KEEPER - North Quincy quarterback Bob Morton breaks tackle by Weymouth North's Glen Liset on short-yardage carry in North's 24-0 victory at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Broad Meadows Holds Sterling To 1-1 Tie

Broad Meadows showed it is to be reckoned with this year in the Junior High Soccer League when it held perennial champion Sterling to a 1-1 tie last week.

Sterling has won three straight league championships and is unbeaten in its last 29 games.

Sterling took the lead on Peter Keenan's goal in the first period but Bruce Patten drove home a loose ball in the second period to tie it up.

Keenan was outstanding for Sterling while Joe McEachern, closely guarded throughout the game, and Ken Donovan sparked for Meadows.

Atlantic blanked Central, 2-0, on third period goals by Ed McElaney and Peter Donovan.

Joe Long and Joel Piersall shone for Central.

Earlier in the week Sterling had opened its title defense with a 4-0 romp over Point as Keenan, Bob Barrus, Jim Coletta and Dominic Piccarini scored.

Meadows and Central tied, 1-1, with Donovan scoring for Meadows and John Golub for Central.

They are the sons of Lloyd [Josie] Carroll, a standout end himself for North 25 years ago. "We have had a lot of brother combinations but I am quite sure that this is the first time they have played the same positions," said Jack Donahue, who coached Josie, rating him "a very good end."

$54,000 For Wills Beneficiaries Lies Unclaimed In County Banks

More than $54,000 lies unclaimed in Norfolk County Banks because the beneficiaries of wills could not be located.

Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn has petitioned the Norfolk County Probate Court to have the unclaimed money turned over to the state treasurer and the lists of beneficiaries published in local newspapers.

Quinn said that there are approximately 122 bank accounts in 11 Norfolk County banks with unclaimed bequests ranging from 89 cents to $5,000. The average deposit is estimated at $450.

In announcing his office's action, Quinn said: "In light of the current fiscal situation in Massachusetts, it is urgent that we explore every means for obtaining new sources of revenue. By transferring these unclaimed funds over to the state treasurer, we, to a small extent, alleviate the heavy burden of taxation which every resident must bear. All causes will be served since no heir will be deprived of his inheritance. The law provides for payment of legitimate claims at any time in the future and the state will receive the unclaimed amount." After the money is turned over to the state treasurer, the intended heirs may still obtain their bequests, subject to proof, by applying to the Norfolk Probate Court for deposits over $50 and directly to the state treasurer for deposits under $50. Quinn has launched a statewide program to retrieve this unclaimed money for the state and he anticipates that more than $1 million will be poured into the state treasury.

Ricciuti: 'Represents Progressive Attitude Of City'

Record $9.5 Million In DPW Projects Underway

By DICK MATTULINA

Some 16 projects totalling more than $9.5 million since 1972 one of the busiest years in history Quincy Department of Public Works.

Developments including the Lincoln-Hancock School, Ross Parking Garage and Upland Road extension comprise "probably the largest DPW program ever undertaken by the city," according to Comr. James J. Ricciuti.

Ricciuti said the work "represents the progressive attitude of the City of Quincy and will result in more and better services for the residents."

The largest single project under DPW supervision is construction of the $3.8-million Lincoln-Hancock School, scheduled to open next August.

The school, designed by Coletti Brothers Architects, will include a swimming pool, recreation and function facilities and will allow the phasing out of the antiquated Lincoln and Hancock Schools.

S & P Construction Co. of Quincy is expected to complete a temporary classroom facility on Teale Pond next month to help alleviate overcrowding at North Quincy High School.

Businessmen see a brighter future for Quincy Center with the opening next month of the $1.9-million Ross Parking Area Garage built by Gil-Bern Construction Co.

And easier access to the downtown area will be provided the Upland Road Extension, an "inner belt" linking Neponset Circle with Capens Circle in Braintree.

The TOPICS program has provided state funds for widening the roadway from Adams to Dimmock Streets at a cost of $118,810.50.

Ricciuti said M & B should complete the end of the belt stretching Newport Ave. to Neponset bridge late this year.

The construction, which will also provide access to the Kemper-State Street South area, will cost $1,194,392.75.

Proposals under study for next year include the final link of the belt from Granite St. to Braintree parallel to the MBTA right-of-way, he said.

Quincy is also paying one-third of the cost of the $387,675 reconstruction of the School St. bridge over the MBTA tracks at Quincy Center to be finished next month.

Four of the 16 DPW projects involve improvements to the city's water system, a prime concern of Mayor Walter J. Hannon's since he took office.

Included are construction of a million-gallon tank off Ricciuti Dr. in West Quincy, installation of new mains at West Squantum and Clevedon Sts. and capping the Cranch Hill and Penn's Hill tanks.

And the mayor has proposed installation of new water meters in various parts of the city to prevent revenue losses estimated as high as $200,000 per year.

Hannon said he expected criticism about the amount of DPW expenditures, especially in the wake of the recently mailed property tax bills.

"But there are two things a man can do as mayor," he said.

"He can do nothing and basically be considered a pretty nice guy or he can go out and do the necessary things to make the city work."

51,120 Voters Eligible For Nov. 7 Presidential Election

Some 51,120 Quincy residents will be eligible to vote in the Nov. 7 Presidential election.

Voter enrollment passed the 50,000 mark last week, shortly before the Oct. 7 registration deadline.

Mrs. Ruth Pabst of the City Hall election department said

2,796 new voters registered between the primary and last Saturday.

Of that figure, 725 declared themselves as Democrats, 206 were Republicans and 1,865 were unenrolled, Mrs. Pabst said.

The new voters boost the Democratic party strength in Quincy to 27,785 as compared to 9,581 Republicans.

Marshall Urges Appointment Of Licensing Inspector

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall has recommended the appointment of an inspector to investigate possible violations and enforce the city licensing ordinances.

Marshall told Mayor Walter J. Hannon he believes "there is a greater demand and need than the present personnel situation allows."

Police and fire inspectors work with the licensing board in cases regarding lodging and housing inspections.

The appointment of an inspector would be "a proper step forward in the best interest of all," Marshall said.

More than $2,000 worth of prizes have been donated by Quincy Center merchants for the 10-day celebration marking the opening of the Quincy Center Parking Plaza.

Businessmen will join Mayor Hannon and city officials Nov. 2 for the grand opening of the $2-million parking facility in the Charles A. Ross Parking Area.

The event is being sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association. Chairman of the special activities committee is Joseph Angelo of Remick's.

The opening will kick-off a gala celebration featuring strolling minstrels, bands and drawings for merchandise and gift certificates for the next 10 days.

Prizes will include a $25 merchandise award from Child World, six $50 gift certificates from Sears, a $100 certificate from Sawyer's Campus Shop.

Also five $100 merchandise awards from Remick's, three $100 gift certificates from Milton's, a 10-speed racer from Colman Sporting Goods, a television set from South Shore Television and Appliance.

And a clock radio from Kustom TV, an electronic men's watch from Roger's Jewelry, a lady's watch from Rousayne's Jewelry, a snowblower from Granite City Hardware.

Three pieces of luggage from Jason's Music and Luggage Shop, porcelain pieces from Lynn's Card and Gift Shop, a transistor radio from Child Teen Shoe and gift certificates from Hanlon's Shoes, Donaher's and Lerner's.

Shipyard Petitions Still Important To Prevent Further Layoffs

Signatures on the petitions for federal contracts at General Dynamics Shipyard are "every bit as important today as before the signing of the LNG pacts," according to Russell J. Sandblom Jr.

Sandblom, public affairs officer for Mayor Walter J. Hannon, is coordinating the campaign of petitions to President Nixon to bring work to the Quincy Yard.

The $268.7 million contract for three liquefied natural gas (LNG) tankers is expected to add some 3,500 jobs to the work force at Fore River by 1974.

"But interim work is desperately needed to prevent further layoffs at the shipyard," Sandblom said.

Richard - Bruce, business agent of shipbuilders Local 5, said the work force "will be down to 2,000 by the first of the year" unless General Dynamics lands contracts for conversion work.

"We need people pulling the ship apart at the same time as we are putting it back together," Bruce said. On new contracts "you have to build the shell before any of the other trades can begin work."

Union officials have predicted that some 1,500 men will be let go within a month because very little remains to be done on the three ships in the yard.

Chamber of Commerce President Harold H. Slate said the "future of 20,000 jobs rests with positive decisions regarding subsidies for ships that General Dynamics has bid for.

"For each and every job that exists at the yard, two additional jobs are generated in the service, retail and supply sector," Slate said.

John E. Murray, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, has urged all Quincy citizens to support the petitions.

"The economic future of Quincy Center and the entire South Shore area is dependent on a healthy General Dynamics Shipyard," Murray said.

Brownell Bill Would Relieve Tax Burdens

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell will file legislation which, he said, would relieve individuals from excessive property tax burdens while not placing additional fiscal burdens on local communities.

The bill, to be considered by the next legislative session, calls for a state financed program to provide a tax credit or direct cash payment to individuals who are carrying an excessive property tax burden.

Nationally the average household pays about four percent of its income for local property taxes, he said. However many households are paying 10 percent or more of their income for property taxes, he noted. Some low and fixed income groups, such as the elderly may be paying 20, 30 or even 40 percent of their income for property taxes.

The legislation would permit these individuals who are carrying an excessive property tax burden to apply to the State Department of Taxation for a tax credit towards their income tax, if they had income, or a direct cash refund payment when he received his tax bill if he had no income.

Wisconsin, has had a circuit-breaker legislation since 1963. Most of the applicants obtain a direct cash payment by mail and the remainder receive a credit toward their state income tax liability. There an individual merely files a supplementary income tax form seeking relief in which he lists all of his income. After his return is audited and eligibility determined he is offered a choice of a credit or direct payment.

Minnesota, Vermont, Kansas and California have adopted legislation taking the circuit-breaker approach to help individuals who are carrying an overload of property tax, Brownell said.

Brownell said that legislation will be especially needed next year when local communities will be placed on a fiscal instead of a calendar year. Instead of covering only a 12 month year, the tax bills next year will be covering an 18 month period.

Brownell said his legislation will be modeled after the Wisconsin legislation where the circuit-breaker will begin to work when the property tax reaches more than 11 percent of family income. Unlike the other states, Brownell said he would not limit the legislation to apply only to persons 65 or older. He said he believes that the same technique could be used by the federal government to assist the states in taking the emphasis away from regressive and oppressive property taxes which do not take into consideration a family's ability to pay.

Can't Get Ring Off?

Did you ever find your ring finger swollen and unable to get the ring off? This is more than just a discomfort. It can lead to severe pain and medical complications due to constriction of blood circulation.

Everyone has a pet solution for getting a ring off a swollen finger: scrubbing with soap and water, greasing the finger with Vaseline or plunging the finger into cold water before buttering liberally. Now there is a new and simpler way to get the ring off. It takes nothing more than a piece of string. Here's how:

First, pass the string under the ring. Then wind it tightly around the swollen part of the finger, making a half-dozen or more turns next to the ring. To remove the ring, unwind the string from the other side. Keeping the tension on the string, move the ring along, slowly but gently. Two or three repeats are usually enough to free the ring.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Just wait until I hit my goal: then I can eat again....

That's the dream of the average dieter. But what is normal eating? I really had this brought to my attention at a recent dinner where a completely diet meal was served. Sitting beside me was a slim, energetic Public Relations man who gazed at his plate in amazement and said, "But this is the way I eat every night."

What he had expected a diet meal to be, I don't know. What this one was onion soup [no croissants], roast beef, carrots, broccoli, salad, melon and coffee. And to him this was not diet, it was normal. The moral is obvious. The type of meal that makes people fat is abnormal. Those who have successfully removed poundage can never return to that sort of eating and remain thin. What they must do is continue through life to eat in a way that is normal for the thin people of the world.

Reading over the menu above, I am sure that you will agree that this will work no hardship. Weight-conscious meals are taste-conscious meals as well. As I keep saying, they are also nutritious. There is no abnormal concentration of fats and sweets, no lack of any basic essential to health.

A favorite dish at one of the New York celebrity type restaurants at lunch time is chicken livers on toast. Try this adaptation today.

CELEBRITY LUNCH

- 1 pound chicken livers
- Pepper to taste
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 3/4 teaspoon onion salt
- 2 teaspoons dried onion

- 1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon
- 4 tablespoons water
- 2 slices Arnold Diet Slice
- Melba Thin Toasted

Wash and dry livers. Cut in halves, removing membrane and fat. Sprinkle with seasonings and dried vegetables. Dissolve bouillon cube in water in teflon skillet. Using as high heat as possible without burning, saute livers in 8 minutes. It will take approximately 8 minutes. Weigh out lunch time portion and serve on toasted Arnold Diet Slice Melba thin. The remainder may be refrigerated or frozen for future delicious lunches.

This is a true diet food, packed with the extra power that comes from organ meat such as chicken liver. It is also the sort of delicacy that attracts the attention of the diner-out. It is very, very normal eating. To the novice dieter, it may seem abnormal. She has not yet learned about liver; she has not yet accustomed herself to the non-peanut-buttered, non-jellied lunch. Once she has learned to savor such succulence, she will set new norms for herself.

When I think back to my B.D. [Before Diet] days, I remember with a shudder the grotesque snacks I once consumed. Normalcy is what you arrive at through the dieting process. It is not something to return to once the process is over. I shall be happy to help you with any of your diet struggles. Just write to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

We can't pull the plug on people who want a better way of living.

It's easy to say we have all the appliances we'll ever need. And all the electricity we'll ever need to run them. Easy for the "haves". But how about the "have-nots"?

Today, urban renewal and redevelopment programs are bringing new hope to thousands of New England families. And with it new standards of living.

This means more of the little everyday conveniences most of us take for granted. More refrigerators. More ranges. More washers and dryers. All requiring more electricity.

That's why we're working now to provide the kind of generating facilities that will best meet these growing demands and still satisfy our common environmental concerns. It can mean a better way of living. For all of us.

People like you working to make life a little better.

VIA New Center At Salvation Army

The Volunteer Information Agency (VIA) has opened a new information and referral center for parents of children with special needs, in the new Salvation Army Building, 6 Baxter St., Quincy.

Regular hours for the center will be 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Staffed entirely by volunteers trained by the South Shore Mental Health Center, the VIA is an affiliate of the South Shore Mental Health Association.

The Agency will provide school, camp, and recreation information, medical information, and helpful literature for South Shore parents of children who are mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, physically handicapped, or have learning disabilities.

"This is a pilot program," said Mrs. Daniel Hourihan, volunteer chairman of VIA. "Once we get the problems ironed out and have VIA operating smoothly, we will be able to encourage and instruct other VIA chapters across Massachusetts."

"Eventually we hope VIA will be a liaison between volunteers and facilities needing volunteers. A teenage girl might tell us what type of volunteer work she is interested in doing. We'll tell her what facilities in her neighborhood need volunteers. There are people willing to volunteer and places needing volunteers, but no one to put the two together."

"An avalanche of human kindness has helped form this center to fill that need," said Mrs. Hourihan.

The center's telephone number is 773-9525.

Liza Female 'Star Of Year'

More on the new Fall TV lineup: "THE LITTLE PEOPLE" - big on talent [BRIAN KEITH and SHELLEY FABARES], this sitcom should more than hold its own against major competition, "THE PARTRIDGE FAMILY"; "THE WALTONS" - not my cup of tea, weak all around; "TEMPERATURES RISING" - and Nielsen's too...a winner: "GHOST STORY" - solid format, good bet for a season or three; "STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO" - KARL MALDEN welcome to television. His presence alone [very possibly TV's best cop] assures this show of a long, long run... I look for it to be in the Top 20 before years end...

Olympic pole vaulter BOB SEAGRAN has his sights set for the Olympus of stardom. Plans on a film career, and will more than 'fely debut in an ARTHUR PENN production... With five Oscar winners in it's cast, can the "POSEIDON ADVENTURE" be anything but a box office blockbuster? Set for Christmas release, the picture boasts top stars GENE HACKMAN, ERNEST BORGNINE, JACK ALBERTSON, RED BUTTENS and SHELLEY WINTERS...

YAPHET KOTTO is the new Mr. Big-Bad Guy in the next James Bond caper, "LIVE AND LET DIE"... And what of DIANE McBAIN you ask? Her topsy-turvy career takes an upswing for the better with a key role in "WICKED, WICKED"... Columbia Pictures purchased exclusive American distribution rights for "THE VALACHI PAPERS". The motion picture is scheduled for national release, November the latest... CLAIRE BLOOM will appear in the film version of "A DOLL'S HOUSE"... I'm still waiting for VICKI CARR to get her own TV show. And film roles too...

The "MAN OF LA MANCHA" musical world premieres this December, with opening engagements in New York City Dec. 11, and in London Dec. 20... "SUPER FLY" star RON O'NEAL will direct the sequel of this highly profitable box office hit as well as star in the lead role of the controversial "Priest"... The new Black exploitation film on the market is one called "HAMMER". The picture does little to enhance the Black man's image except re-enforce the myth of super stud as portrayed by FRED WILLIAMSON...

Old pro of villainy PETER CUSHING is up to his macabre tricks in the Hammer production, "FRANKENSTEIN...AND THE MONSTER FROM HELL"... JACQUES BREL is making his second film, a made-in-Belgium western titled, "FAR WEST"... And popular French actor JEAN-LOUIS TRINTIGNANT turns director with his next, "A WELL-FILLED DAY"... Animated sparklers to enliven the TV holiday season: "THE THANKSGIVING THAT ALMOST WASN'T"... and "A CHRISTMAS STORY"...

QUOTABLE QUOTES: NEVILL COGHILL, Merton Professor of English Literature, Oxford, England, commenting on two outstanding, former pupils: "I have had many students of very great gifts and many of very little. But I have had only two men of genius to teach - W.H. AUDEN and RICHARD BURTON"... And speaking of RICHARD, he and beautiful wife LIZ are in Rome filming exteriors for their next venture "SEPARATION"...

Last minute cast additions include BROCK PETERS in "SOYLENT GREEN", BRADFORD DILLMAN in "THE WAY WE WERE", and BARBARA PARKINS in "LEGEND OF HELL HOUSE"... Director ANDREW V. McLAGLEN is set to direct JOHN WAYNE in "WEDNESDAY MORNING" for Warners. This picture will be the fifth one that McLAGLEN has directed super Duke... And yup, you guessed it, 29 weeks on the charts, and "THE GODFATHER" leads the pack as America's number one movie attraction...

"TOMORROW" is here today; a powerful, gripping love story of enchanting breadth and scope. Certain to be one of the year's 10 Best, the film showcases actor ROBERT DUVAL at his finest; at long last a star-not tomorrow, but today... Don't miss "TOMORROW". You won't be disappointed... Also on the list of must see viewing is "RIVALS", a psychological probe in the tradition of "THE CHILDREN'S HOUR" and "THE BAD SEED"... Star JOAN HACKETT was never better...

JOHNNY CARSON celebrated his 10th anniversary as the TONITE SHOW host Oct. 2. Seems just like yesterday that ED McMAHON first chirped, "and here's JOHNNY"... FRANK SINATRA thinks "TONY BENNETT is King of the Road" when it comes to singers. Considers him "the greatest singer in the world today"... Wonder what ANDY WILLIAMS thinks of that!... Actor TONY BILL. Remember him?... He's now a producer with his initial release "THE STING"...

LIZA MINNELLI has been voted this year's female star of the year by the National Assn. of Theatre Owners [NATO], and will join male NATO luminary GENE HACKMAN at award festivities Nov. 21 at Bar Harbour, Fla... Somewhat of a family affair. KIRK DOUGLAS is star and director of "SCALAWAG" with wife ANNE lending support as producer... "MARCUS WELBY" still retains number one clout in the Nielsen's...

Who, what, which, or whom is one DAPHNE DAVIS? A new face in the business. But male or female?... All is not sugar and spice in the JERRY LEWIS mini-theatre empire. His no X edict has been challenged by a franchise owner in Greenville, S.C. who showed the X-rated "A CLOCKWORK ORANGE" because of "popular demand"... A lawsuit could be in the works. All LEWIS cinema's are "prohibited" from screening any X-rated flicks...

Following the panel, those attending will be invited to participate in two of eight workshops ranging from the concerns of single women through those of married women whose children have grown.

Grace Ferrill, Joanne Ross and Louise Eckert will lead a seminar on employment and Anna Buckley, Margaret Xifaras and Ann Lewis will head the discussion of politics.

Day care will be the topic of a workshop led by Nancy Bernholtz, Sue Derry, Peggy Norris and Dr. Pamela Robie.

Mary Borre, Linda Morley and Blanche Fitzpatrick will lead the education workshop and Betsey Lebbos, Ruth Paven and Regina Healy will discuss women and their legal rights.

The parent's role in child development will be discussed in a workshop led by Natalie Barlow, Marjorie Schiller and Dr. Courtney Kasdon.

Ann Kane, Grace Saphire, Ruth Spencer, Clara Yeoman and Rosemary Wahlberg will lead the community organizing seminar and Jane Gaughen will be in charge of "A Look at High School Women."

Child Care Services will be available for those who need it for children from ages 3 to 10.

Mayor Hannon said he is sponsoring the program "in recognition of the women of our area and in order to provide a forum for them to come and learn about the issues that are of deep and direct concern to them."

The mayor said he hopes the event "will give us many insights" into the role of woman in society and how to best provide for their needs.

Coordinator Geraldine Pleshaw said some 2,500 invitations have been mailed and attendance is open to all Quincy women.

Mrs. Pleshaw said the program will provide a forum "for women who might be interested in learning about the issues concerning women but didn't want to be involved in any women's group."

"This is an opportunity to hear what other women are talking about, some of the reasons why there is such a thing as the women's movement," she said.

Chairwomen for the event include Kathy O'Donnell, publicity; Arsenne Tutunjan and Adrienne Clarke, fund-raising; Mary Collins, program; Linda Gordon, arrangements; Sandy Satterwhite, program; Maryann Flukes, invitations.

Committee members include Deborah G. Feldman, Dorothy Kelley, Mary L. Allen, Rosemary Wahlberg, Diane Gallagher, Charlou Benedict, Carol Lee Griffin, Pam Spring.

Also Ann Schiavo, Lucille DiGravio, Jane Gaughan, Marjorie Knowles, Alicia Colletti, Ginny Holmy, Bette McElaney, Marlene Goldstein, Pat Toland, Virginia Burke, Alice Cowcilk, Mary Kaye Goodwin.

Freedom

Freedom and newspapers have been inseparable "pals" for many, many years.

The first newspapers in America and those persons seeking freedom practically grew up together, fighting for freedom.

In fact, it is said the early newspapers were more effective than cannon or bayonets in winning freedom in America.

Newspapers still have a vital role in preserving the people's freedom by keeping them informed of what is going on in government, business and every facet of daily life — locally, state-wide, and nationally.

Without the "eyes and ears" of newspapers, few persons in today's busy world could begin to keep up with the overwhelming rush of events often profoundly affecting their personal rights and freedom.

Newspapers have long provided and will continue to provide this essential watchdog service of protecting freedom for all individuals.

"Freedom is everybody's business" is a familiar slogan.

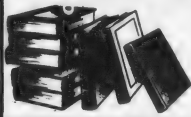

But for newspapers it is more than a slogan; it's their primary business, along with giving readers full information important and useful to them.

● Youth Speaks Out

- With teachers now patrolling the corridors and the outside grounds, Quincy High has become a maximum security institution.
- Three P.O.W.'s were released — only 1,497+ to go.
- We saw Mark Spitz acting the other night and it's a good thing he can swim.
- New England fuel costs are the highest in the nation. The government has a quota on imported oil, and the oil companies contributed millions to Mr. Nixon's campaign. Obviously, just a coincidence.
- All Math classes at Q.H.S. are held in the old courthouse. The first math homework problem was: How many classes can fit in a cellblock.
- Imagine what school would be like if all the time spent on discipline and hassles was spent on education.
- Over a million dollars in lottery prize money has not been claimed. That would just about cover a few new tax bills in Quincy.

Between the Covers

Woman's Day will be observed in Quincy Oct. 15 at the Broadmeadows Junior High School. In recognition of this special event Ms. Josephine Traylor of the main library staff has prepared this list of recent books of interest to concerned women.

REBIRTH OF FEMINISM, by Judith Hole and Ellen Levine. [Quadrangle. $10.] An outspoken and exciting examination of woman's relationship to anti-slavery, civil rights, anti-war, new left and gay liberation movements. It is a comprehensive and exhaustive study and an eye opener to those women who do not feel that the new feminism is to the benefit of all women.

HOW TO MAKE IT IN A MAN'S WORLD, by Letty Cottin Pogrebin. [Doubleday. $5.95] How one woman managed to have "everything" — marriage, motherhood and a career.

THE BABY TRAP, by Ellen Peck. [Geis. $5.95] A devastating attack on the motherhood myth which teaches girls that their only contribution to the world and their own fulfillment will come with bearing children. The author explores the alternatives for the girl who would exercise her freedom of choice.

VOICES OF THE NEW

FEMINISM, edited by Mary Lou Thompson. [Beacon Press. $5.95] A collection of writings from the leader of the feminist revolution exploring the ideology and goals which will ultimately lead to emancipation, male as well as female, and a revolution in human relationships.

WOMAN'S PLACE, by Cynthia Fuchs Epstein. [Univ. of California. $7.95] A study of woman's options and limits in the professions and the negligence of women in exploring their rights and settling for underperformance and underachievement.

THE PUNCH BOOK OF WOMEN'S RIGHTS, by Constance Rover. [Barnes. $5.00] A fascinating collection of cartoons and writings from the British humor magazine which played a leading literary role in the fight for equality. Tongue-in-cheek humor.

DAUGHTERS OF THE PROMISED LAND, by Page Smith. [Little. $8.95] The story of those women who led the fight for equal political and sexual rights and of those of the silent majority who stayed at home instead.

The new magazine Ms is giving the homemaking and fashion magazines stiff competition. It is definitely not a shelf-sitter at the library.

- Congressional Abuse Of Mails
- Union Strikes In 1973?
- A $238,000 Space -- Toilet!

WASHINGTON—Congressmen are playing so fast and loose with their free postal privileges this year that misuse of the mails is becoming a major campaign issue in political races around the country.

The Fair Campaign Practices Committee reports it has already received twice as many complaints about congressional abuse of the mails in this campaign as it received during the entire 1970 campaign.

Formal complaints have been filed against James Howard, D-N.J., Hamilton Fish, R-New York, John Moss, D-Calif., Bob Mathias, R-Calif., George Shipley, D-Ill., John Asbrook, R-Ohio and Albert Johnson, R-Calif. In addition, the committee says there are dozens of other cases in which congressmen have allegedly abused the mails but have not been challenged formally by their opponents.

Under the law, congressmen can use the mails free of charge for official business, but incumbents have become so ingenious at disguising political puffery as official business that the Postal Service has given up trying to enforce the law.

Congressmen have perfected all sorts of ways to circumvent mailing restrictions. Frequently, they insert self-serving material into the Congressional Record, which makes it official business. Then congressmen order reprints and mail them to constituents at public expense.

Questionnaires, which are drafted, ostensibly, to solicit the views of constituents, are another ruse used by congressmen to solicit votes. The questions are carefully loaded to produce the desired political results. Once tabulated, the results are released to voters in massive mailings—once again at public expense.

These practices, among others, have so exacerbated postal authorities that they now refuse even to send advisors to Capitol Hill to caution congressmen not to abuse the mails. "It simply would do no good," one insider said.

Why have congressmen shifted so dramatically to massive direct mailings this year to get themselves re-elected? Besides the Postal Service's reluctance to enforce the law, political watchdogs cite new restrictions on political ads in the media and the reapportionment of numerous congressional districts as the major factors contributing to Congress's latest assault on the U.S. mails.

— Pension Reforms Rebuffed —

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has reached into the Senate and effectively squashed legislation that would protect older citizens from being cheated out of their pensions.

The Senate Labor Committee, which has spent years investigating pension abuses, has established that citizens who lose their jobs before retirement often receive no pensions at all even though collectively they contribute millions of dollars to pension funds.

To correct such abuses, the committee drafted careful reforms. But the guilty companies, working through the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, have managed to cheat their employees again.

The Chamber of Commerce got the bill referred to the Senate Finance Committee headed by Big Business's buddy, Senator Russell Long. When the legislation came back, it was stripped of its meaning. The key provisions had been gutted. Labor Committee members are furious and have promised a big battle on the Senate floor.

Meanwhile, a TV network has dramatized the great pension scandal in a nationwide television documentary. But we have learned that corporate powers are putting quiet pressure on the TV network not to make the documentary available for public showing.

— Around the U.S. —

- Space Age Convenience—

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has proudly announced in a press release that it has awarded a contract to a private firm to develop the world's most expensive toilet. The commode under contract will be launched into space for use by astronauts in the space shuttle program. The pricetag for a prototype toilet is staggering: $238,000. Meanwhile, back on earth, the government is spending hundreds of thousands more dollars for the convenience of its employees. This year, for example, the government estimates it will spend $350,000 for smoking stands. If public money isn't going down the drain, it's going up in smoke.

● Union Strikes in '73— President Nixon's Wage Board has held salary increases to about five-and-a-half per cent a year. But after the election, the board is expected to tighten controls on wages in an attempt to reduce the annual wage increase below five per cent. The move, no doubt, would infuriate unions. Their main complaint: The President's controls would be tough on workers' wages but not tough enough on prices and profits. If the wage lid is tightened, a showdown may come next year in the form of strikes by auto, construction, airline and railroad employees.

● A Visa for a Star—Recent press reports claimed that movie star Vanessa Redgrave had been denied a temporary visa to shoot a new film in the United States. The reports, carried widely in the press, speculated that the decision was motivated by Miss Redgrave's outspoken views against the Vietnam War. We have done our own checking. At the time of the reports, Miss Redgrave had not yet formally applied for a visa. Even a famous movie star—like Miss Redgrave—has to apply for a visa in order to get one.

Urges Public To Support Golf Club Preservation

Editor, Quincy Sun:

A happy stroke of good fortune is taking shape in the agreement of the State Legislature, the Norfolk County Commissioners and the Metropolitan Area Planning Council for the preservation of the Wollaston Golf Course as a permanent public recreation area. The golf club now owning this 96 acre open space in East Milton and North Quincy is under heavy pressure to sell this land to developers, a choice that is bound to come sooner or later to all private owners of open land near the city.

The County Commissioners, supported by the Legislature, would like to make this scenic area into a public golf course with facilities available for tennis, basketball and beginners' skiing. If this plan is supported by the various cities and towns in our County it will cost all these cities and towns a small initial charge for the anticipated $1.6 million bond issue but the golf course income is expected to defray these charges in the future. If this project is not supported widely we lose to urban development one more green space that is close to the city.

We commend the County Commissioners and the Legislature for giving us this opportunity. A phone call or letter to your local government will provide the active support needed for the success of this project.

It may be a Presidential election year but the local Speculation Corps seems to be more interested in next year's city runoffs.

Instead of Nixon, McGovern, Brooke, etc., the names being mentioned most where the polls gather are Hannon, LaRaia, Delahunt, Marshall, etc.

Being mentioned like this:

The so-called experts think Councillor Joseph LaRaia is a strong possibility as a mayoralty candidate next year. Although he lost in his recent bid for county treasurer, he piled up a healthy Quincy vote.

LaRaia ran against James McIntyre for mayor a few years back and came out looking like he tangled with a windmill.

Hannon is no McIntyre. And right now as a mayor he had his share of problems—especially the "Taxpayers Revolt".

The word is that LaRaia is watching to see how His Honor handles the tax uprising. If Hannon winds up somewhat battered, LaRaia might just go next year.

***

SPEAKING of Hannon, those who figured he was keeping the seat warm for maybe Arthur Tobin, didn't have it straight.

Insiders say Hannon likes being mayor and despite its Excedrin headaches, isn't about to give up the chief executive's seat without a knock-down battle. And, whether you like Hannon or not, he's a fighter.

***

ALTHOUGH Ward 5 Councillor William Delahunt is considered mayoralty timber by many—especially since his stunning victory in the state representative primary—it may be awhile before he makes such a bid.

In fact, you may see Delahunt depart the municipal political scene first.

The grapevine has it that Delahunt, if elected to Beacon Hill in November [little doubt about that], will surrender his Ward 5 council seat and become a full-time state representative.

Warren Powers, who ran against Delahunt for the council job in 1971, is considered the man to win it in 1973. Powers worked for Delahunt in his state representative bid.

But Powers could have some opposition from another Delahunt supporter: Jack Lydon, the Wollaston mortician.

MEANWHILE, Rep-Councillor Clifford Marshall reportedly is looking westward—Dedham, that is—and eyeing Sheriff Charles Hedges' badge. Hedges, one of the last county Republican incumbents, has strongly indicated he will not seek re-election.

Marshall has been putting out feelers around Quincy and in other parts of the county to get an idea of his strength. And there's even talk that he already has a few bumper stickers in the closet.

Of course, if Marshall does go for sheriff, he'll probably have to ride against Commissioner George McDonald who now knows the county range as well as he knows Quincy.

***

GERMANTOWN'S Thomas Buckley, who was a political Lone Ranger as the only candidate in the city to challenge the Democratic City Committee running against the Ward 1 slate, is now managing the Quincy campaign for George McGovern.

***

AW, C'MON DEPT: Raquel Welch is going around claiming she's a descendant of John Quincy Adams. How can a pretty gal like that fib like that!

***

GENE WOOD, the emcee on TV's "Beat The Clock" is a Quincy boy. Graduated from Quincy High School in the class of 1943.

***

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: "A psychiatrist is a man who, when a pretty girl enters the room, watches everyone else." [Sure, he does!]

• Consumer

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

Consumers tempted by unbelievable offers of free books and cut-rate encyclopedias often discover that the terms of the agreement are not an 'open book'.

The Consumer Protection Division has enacted a series of regulations which enumerate four mail order and subscription sales methods as illegal under the Consumer Protection Act.

Designed to present the seller's claims as fair and accurate, these regulations also will help the booksellers in setting up promotional guidelines.

The laws specifically rule that the advertising of any book which is carried out in a misleading or deceptive manner is now an unfair trade practice. The law applies not only to the manufacturer, but to the salesman as well.

The essence of the regulation is contained in five guidelines established by my office.

* It is considered unfair to describe any book as FREE when the price of the book has been "disguised." No book or sets of books may be considered a FREE GIFT if the customer is required to purchase additional expensive supplements or yearbooks.

* It is also illegal for a salesman to claim that a customer or community has been "specially selected" to receive books when that in fact is not the case.

* The company and the salesman selling the books may not misrepresent themselves in their sales claims. They may not "invent" affiliations with famous educational or professional associations, and they may not mislead customers into thinking they are non-profit organizations if in fact they are private businesses.

* Finally, it is against the law for any bookseller to give a false impression about any connection with a school, college, or university. Every endorsement from an educational institution must be authentic and valid.

Consumers with complaints about book purchases may contact the Consumer Protection Division of the attorney general's office at the State House or in Springfield.

Feel Trapped In Your Marriage?

More and more disillusionment is being expressed concerning the institution of marriage as we have known it. Many young people are ignoring the old pattern of a wedding before living together. Men and women who have been through one marriage often are more cautious in establishing a second relationship...by agreeing about goals...desires...how to relate with each other...what they expect...how they'll meet each other's needs. Wisely they talk out and reach agreements. There's no subject off limits.

Too many people...insecure in themselves have entered a marriage wrongly expecting that their partners will provide the strength they don't have...the emotional stability which they lack. The partner soon feels that he/she carries not only his/her own emotional burdens...but his/hers as well. This can lead to feeling trapped.

For several reasons people feel trapped in marriage. One is that few people enter the marriage relationship with a clear agreement on what they want in the relationship...what they are willing and able to give...what needs they expect to be fulfilled. They just assume that "everything will work out O.K.". It doesn't take long to learn that love isn't enough...that basic human needs must be met...or one or both will feel trapped. Most marriage agreements are too fuzzy. It's not too late for you to rewrite your agreement. If you don't know where you stand you're going to feel trapped.

A second reason for feeling trapped...too much closeness. "My husband sells tires to wholesale houses and travels through the week...sometimes in Europe"...says one wife. "He's only home weekends and I like this fine." They respected and trusted each other...so their pattern worked well. People who long for closeness can't imagine that there could be too much closeness...but people who are too close may not know the meaning of freedom. Thousands of couples who split surprise their relatives and friends who exclaim..."I just can't believe it...they were so happy...so close...always together." But this ignores feelings...one or the other felt trapped.

One man told me that he feels guilty when he must go out of town on business. His wife clings to him so tightly that she makes him feel he doesn't love her if he goes...or doesn't take her with him. She hasn't grown enough to face the realities of being a woman...she's still a little girl...possessing her man...clutching..."If you love me you won't go." That isn't love...that's weakness. No wonder he feels trapped.

A third reason why people feel trapped in marriage is that many a wife is just a satellite of her husband...has nothing to fulfill her own person. I believe that a wife should have something of her own which she has created...a job...volunteer work at a hospital...assisting at a school...her own rose garden...reading to the blind...anything in which she feels she is contributing to humanity...and finding fulfillment herself...being her own person. Staying home...caring for children...hanging over a sink...just isn't enough to enhance personal growth for most women. Without "her thing"...a woman is going to feel trapped.

Men who feel threatened when their wives take jobs need to look at their own insecurity...jealousy...mistrust...signs of their own lack of adult development. Men...you can't possess your wife as a "thing". She's a person. Let her be a person. If you don't she'll feel trapped...and want out.

Let the "adult" in you be the executive of your life. When both husband and wife do this...neither feels trapped.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counseling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass. or call 326-5990 or 545-5947 or 659-7595.

How do you compare financially?

Liquid Assets Are 13% of Americans' Wealth

By Philip J. Lawrence
President

COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Hottelbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday's

Liquid assets (savings and checking accounts and U.S. savings bonds) were held by 79 per cent of the U.S. population, according to a survey of Americans' wealth authorized by the Federal Reserve System.

Such assets were relatively stable for all age levels, ranging from a low of 76 per cent for those under 35 to a peak of 81 per cent for those 35 to 44, declining to 78 per cent for those 55-64 and 65 and over.

Liquid asset holdings were frequently small. Thirty per cent had some liquid assets but less than $500, 12 per cent had at least $500 but less than $1,000, 10 per cent had at least $1,000 but less than $2,000, 13 per cent had at least $2,000 but less than $5,000, and the remaining 14 per cent had $5,000 or more.

In all, liquid assets accounted for 13 per cent of the total wealth covered in the survey (as compared with a 27 per cent equity in homes). About two-thirds of all liquid assets were in savings accounts.

Another form of wealth, investment assets, was shared by 31 per cent of all consumer units. These assets included publicly traded stock, marketable securities other than stock, mortgage assets, investment real estate, business investments not managed by the unit, and company savings plans.

Investment assets differed from other major forms of wealth in that holdings were not widely diffused throughout the population. The lower 50 per cent of the income distribution held 16 per cent of the investment assets, as compared with 29 per cent of liquid assets and of home equities. Of the entire population, 86 per cent owned no stock. Eighty per cent of those in the 45-64 age brackets and 89 per cent of those under 35 had no stock investments.

The primary saving objective of Americans is provision for old age, the survey revealed, with 41 per cent of all units naming this goal.

Other leading objectives were provision for emergencies (32%), children's education (29%), purchase of home (18%), and realization of financial independence (11%).

The concern for old age grows with the passage of years. Of those under 35, only 17 per cent were saving for their retirement years, as compared with a high of 59 per cent in the 55-64 age group.

The size of wealth influenced the concern for old age. Of those whose wealth was under $1,000, only 19 per cent named this as their saving objective. With rising wealth, the concern increases — to 72 per cent for those with wealth between $50,000 and $100,000. Thereafter, it declines to 48 per cent for those with wealth of $500,000 or more.

$965,000 Physical Education Center Underway At Eastern Nazarene

A new $965,000 Physical Education Center is under construction at Eastern Nazarene College.

The Board of Trustees approved the project during annual sessions held at South Shore National Bank, Quincy.

During groundbreaking ceremonies last week it was announced the target date for completion is Sept. 15, 1973.

The Physical Education Center will occupy campus property at the corners of Wendell and Sachem Sts., on the site of the present tennis courts.

When completed, the Center will have 31,500 square feet of space, with seating for 1,600 for sports events and 3,000 for convocations. It will include facilities for physical education classes, weight training, wrestling, office space and other instructional functions.

The Center is being constructed at a cost of $965,000. The Federal Government has awarded the College a $250,000 grant under Title I and a three per cent, $429,000 loan under Title VI. The Hayden Foundation awarded the College a $35,000 grant.

Additional funds totaling $61,000 have been raised by students. The Board of Trustees, in unprecedented action, raised $38,000 in cash and pledges to help meet the balance still needed. Dr. Leslie Parrott, president of the college, has committed himself to raising funds to increase this figure to as much as $60,000. He has reaffirmed his intent of not increasing the non-government campus debt which would mean certain non-construction items may be deleted unless additional funds are secured.

Clark and Smith of Quincy are the contractors and Kenneth Parry of Kenneth F. Parry & Associates of Quincy is the architect.

A name for the new Center has not yet been announced.

Brett Suggests Traffic Revision At Hancock Street And Elm Ave.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has suggested that a green arrow be added to the traffic light at Hancock St. and Elm Ave. in Wollaston to help alleviate tie-ups on Hancock St.

In a letter to Mayor Walter J.

Hannon, Brett said he could see "no sound reason why southbound traffic on Hancock St. cannot be proceeding continuously while traffic may be flowing out of Elm and Wollaston Aves."

"Either a green arrow pointing toward Quincy Square or a sign advising motorists that they may proceed with caution toward the square would help to alleviate the unsatisfactory conditions at that location," he said.

LaRaia Resolve Seeks Stop Sign At Elmwood - N. Central Aves.

An ordinance change to allow a stop sign at the intersection of Elmwood and North Central Aves. in Wollaston has been forwarded for state review, according to Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia.

LaRaia, who sponsored the resolve, said City Clerk John Gillis "has assured me that the state is now reviewing the ordinance that was adopted by the city council on August 1.

"Residents of the area have requested the stop sign as a result of several accidents that have occurred there."

Smyth Suggests Green Arrow At Beale St., Newport

Ward 5 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has requested that a green arrow pointing toward Quincy Center be installed at the intersection of Beale St. and Newport Ave.

Smyth said a left-turn arrow for cars coming from Wollaston Center would help alleviate traffic heavy backup of traffic on the conditions on the Beale St. Bridge.

"At present, vehicular traffic proceeding from Adams St. to Wollaston appears to have the right of way," he said. "A left signal would alleviate, for a minute anyway, the

After Three Straight Wins

Raiders Ready For Big Medford Test

North Quincy's football team has rolled to three straight impressive wins but the Raiders' biggest test comes Saturday at Medford where they play the unbeaten Mustangs, picked by most to win this year's Greater Boston League title.

"I have been very pleased with our performances in the first three games but next Saturday we will have to give our greatest effort as we are playing by far the strongest team we've met this year," Coach Ralph Frazier told his squad following Monday's 29-7 win at Malden.

"We made every mistake in the book in the first half today, turning the ball over to them five times deep in their territory but our defense kept us in the game until we put some points on the scoreboard. If we play like we did in the third period today for four periods against Medford, I'll have no worries. Let's forget that first half today and think of only the second half."

Medford defeated Somerville, 14-0, Monday following wins over Boston Latin, 33-20, and Chelsea, 36-6. Medford and North are tied for the GBL lead with 2-0 wins and are 3-0 overall.

The big difference Monday [the game was rained out last Saturday] was North's ability to stop Malden when it turned the ball over and Malden's inability to do the same when it fumbled the ball away.

Malden scored in the opening period on a pass and everytime North drove toward the Malden goal line it fumbled.

North apparently scored on the final play of the half and no one knows why it wasn't either given the score or penalized and given one more chance. The penalty against North was refused but the officials refused to allow the score.

Things turned around in the third period as the Raiders scored three times and added a touchdown with only seconds remaining in the game.

"Our defense was immense again and we just can't single out any one player," Frazier said. "Our defense has been playing as a unit and this is a big reason we are undefeated."

Quarterback Bobby Morton and the hard-running halfbacks, John Flynn and Paul Cunniff, who have sparked in every game, were hailed for their work on offense and also coming in for praise were the tackles, John Stevens and Pete Quinn, for their ability to trap the opposition, and ends Joe and Billy Carroll for their blocking.

"Our four men up front, Stevens, Quinn, Burt Bertoni and Steve Fransoso, played their best game of the year," Frazier added.

The first North touchdown in the third period came when Morton passed to Cunniff for 12 yards.

The second came when Wayne Bell fell on a bad pass from center in the end zone.

Number three was a 30-yard run on a keeper by Morton.

The reserves scored the final touchdown when Chuck deVarrenes capped a drive by scoring from the three.

After going none for seven in touchdown conversions in the first two games, North converted on three of the four touchdowns, Morton and Flynn scoring on rushes and Charlie Smith, back after missing the first two games, kicking one.

Junior Soccer

It was only the second game of the season, but last week's soccer match with Sterling was a very important one for Central Junior High School.

Sterling, undefeated in its last three seasons, is the odds-on favorite to win the city title this year and the Central squad knew they had to hold Sterling in check in order to have a shot at the championship.

At the final gun, the score stood 0-0 as goalie Dave O'Hanley and his defensemen thwarted the powerful Sterling offense time after time to give their team what officials considered a shut-out.

All O'Hanley and fullback Joel Pearsall had to do was keep quiet and the game would go into the books as a tie, keeping Central even with Sterling in the standings.

But Central hadn't tied the game. They had lost and Dave and Joel both knew it.

Late in the third period, Sterling's Bruce Aristide closed in on the Central goal and let fly a shot.

There's no net at the stadium soccer field so referees are often called upon to make judgment calls on whether or not a goal has been scored.

And the referee signalled "no goal". Aristide's shot, he felt, had gone wide.

Pearsall, who was defending on the play, and O'Hanley saw the ball pass inside the uprights to give Sterling what would have been the winning goal in the game.

They knew their team had to play Sterling even to have a chance at the title, but they also knew they couldn't accept the tie.

As soon as the game ended, the boys ran over to Coach Paul Sullivan and the three crossed the field to tell Sterling Coach Joe Amorino his team had, indeed, won the game.

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon, who attended the game, took the boys' names privately and wrote them congratulatory letters as did Athletic Director Carl Leone and Sterling Principal Arnold Rubin.

"Their's was an outstanding display of sportsmanship," Leone said. "This is exactly what we have an athletic program for at the junior high level.

"Winning is important to everybody nowadays," he said, "but these boys and Coach Sullivan put sportsmanship above winning and that's really what it's all about."

After Everett Bombing

Quincy Faces Shake-Up For Malden

RICK SILVA [44] rips off 40-yard gain in third period behind blockers for one of Quincy's better moments in loss to Everett.

DROPPING BACK -- Quincy High Quarterback Paul Creedon looks downfield for a receiver in Monday's 32-6 loss to Everett. Blocking are running backs Rick Silva [44] and Duke Whitney [22].

By TOM SULLIVAN

As might be expected, Quincy Football Coach Hank Conroy had little to say following Monday's game with Everett [the game was rained out last Saturday], but he made one promise: "There will be a lot of changes made for our next game."

This vow should come as no surprise after the Presidents were humiliated for the second week in a row, 32-6, by an Everett team that hadn't scored a point in losing its first two games. The previous week Quincy had been bombed at Revere, 37-8.

Most experts picked Quincy to be among the top contenders in the Greater Boston League and based their predictions on a supposedly strong defense.

After the Revere debacle Conroy said the Presidents would be in for a lot of extra work on defense. Apparently the stress in this department went for naught and now the veteran coach plans to bench some of the veterans and give a lot of his younger players a chance.

It will be interesting to see Quincy's lineup Saturday when the Presidents host winless Malden in a 1:30 p.m. game at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

"I don't know what to say, I guess we are just a lot weaker than I had expected," a disappointed Conroy said following the home opener. "I know one thing, a lot of these players will be replaced by some of the younger players for the next game. We have a pretty young team but it will be a lot younger against Malden. We can't look any worse than the veterans have looked in the past two games."

Malden comes to Quincy with three one-sided losses, 32-6 to Waltham, 36-0 to Haverhill and Monday 29-7 to North Quincy. The North game was its league opener.

The statistics show how one-sided the Everett game was.

The hard-running Everett backs ran through the Quincy defense at will and rolled up 324 yards on the ground to just 23 net yards for Quincy. In the second half Everett out-rushed the Presidents, 157-11.

Everett also clicked off 18 first downs to eight for Quincy and the only department in which the Presidents had an edge was passing. Paul Creedon hit on seven of 22 for 100 yards while Everett threw only twice, completing one for 16 yards.

Creedon, given little protection and rushed hard all day, passed better than the figures show as several passes were dropped or barely missed connections.

Quincy received to start the game and was held. Kim Dorbes punted to Everett's 23 and the Crimson Tide drove the 77 yards in 10 plays, including its only pass completion. Frank Nuzzo, the team's top runner last year, raced around right end for 26 yards and the first touchdown. Steve Sara rushed for the extra points.

Quincy again was stopped cold and a bad pass from center on a punt situation resulted in Everett taking over on Quincy's 24. Nuzzo again scored from the six and a pass from Nick Fiandaca to Kevin Washington made it 16-0 early in the second period.

Quincy staged its only real drive of the game following the kickoff and with three pass completions highlighting the march, scored its only touchdown on a one-yard plunge by Rick Silva. The key play was a pass for 20 yards from Creedon to Paul Riggs which was then fumbled but Randy Califano fell on the ball on the Everett eight.

Everett went on the march again but after driving to the Quincy four and adding four first downs, a penalty set it back and John Whitney intercepted a pass on his 14.

Quincy, with Creedon completing three more passes including 31 yards to Wayne Ponder, 21 to Ponder and 10 yards to Bob Spillaine, drove to the Everett 24 but the winners held.

Taking the second half kickoff, Everett drove 80 yards in 12 plays and checked off six first downs with Sara racing 13 yards to make it 32-6 in the third period.

In the final period Nuzzo went 17 yards for his third touchdown and Sara rushed for the points.

The final two points came on a safety as Ponder was tackled in his end zone by Mike Marchese.

Burger King Downs Granite City For Babe Ruth League Title

Burger King nipped Granite City Electric 3-2 in extra innings to take the deciding game in the Quincy Babe Ruth League Championship series.

Burger King took the first game in the three-game series 10-1, but Granite City bounced back with a 7-4 win in eight innings.

The clubs, each of which entered the league as an expansion team in 1970, posted identical 18-4 records in regular season play to capture division titles.

Jerry O'Leary managed Burger King and Dave MacIntosh handled the reins for Granite City.

Braintree Rifle Club To Hold 'Sighting-In' Sessions At Range

The Braintree Rifle and Pistol Club will hold sighting-in sessions for South Shore and Greater Boston hunters Oct. 15, 23 and 29 at their Liberty St. range.

Vice President Ted Long and Chief Range Officer Charles

Vlassakis will be in charge of the sessions starting at 1 p.m. Oct. 15 and 29 and at noon Veteran's Day, Oct. 23.

President Kenneth Yoerger said the club is continuing its annual policy "of having these sighting-in days to insure safety in the field during hunting season and to help hunters increase their chances of success during hunting trips."

The clubhouse and ranges are on Liberty St., Braintree, near the DAV Hall.

Bourne Scallop Festival Set For Oct. 20-21-22

The Massachusetts Division of Tourism urges visitors to the state and residents to attend the Third Annual Bourne Scallop Festival Oct. 20, 21 and 22.

The affair, which drew some 6,000 persons last year, will be held at Playland Field, Main Street, Buzzards Bay, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on each of the festival days.

In Soccer

Quincy, North In Overtime Action

The Quincy soccer team's Norfolk Association win streak was stopped at 18 games last week but the Presidents held on to first place when it played to a double overtime scoreless tie with Sharon.

Ron Martin's Quincy team, which won the league crown with a 12-0 record last year and had won its first six games this season, Tuesday tried to make its record 7-0-1 when it entertained Avon. Today the Presidents have a bye and next Tuesday play at Foxboro.

Lou Ioanelli's North Quincy booters, who played a double overtime 1-1 tie with Foxboro last week to make their record 3-2-1, played at Norfolk Tuesday, host Franklin today and have a bye next Tuesday.

As the score indicates, the play of the rival goalies, Quincy's Mike Cullen and Sharon's Jim Kincade highlighted the game.

Foxboro took the lead over North with a second period goal but the Raiders' Paul Wilson tied it in the third period with Rick Golden setting it up with a perfect pass.

Foxboro, incidentally, stayed right on Quincy's heels with a 5-1-1 record.

Earlier in the week Quincy nipped North, 1-0, on Tony Michaelangelo's third period goal.

Michaelangelo scored after a scramble in front of the North Quincy net. Goalie Bob Crowell made a save but bumped into one of his fullbacks and Michaelangelo's 10-footer sailed by him on the right side.

Both goalies, Cullen and Crowell, who replaced outstanding sophomore Ken O'Sullivan, turned in sensational performances, Cullen having 23 saves and Crowell 17.

Sterling Holds Top Meadows Moves Up

Sterling is holding down its accustomed spot on top of the Junior High Soccer League, but it is being pressed by Broad Meadows and Atlantic-North.

Broad Meadows moved to within one point of the leaders and tied Atlantic-North for second place by edging Atlantic, 2-1, last week. Sterling is on top with five points (two wins and a tie), while BM and A-N are deadlocked for second with four points each [BM a win and two ties, A-N with two wins and a loss. Central is one win, one tie and two losses for three points and Point three losses and no points.]

Ken Donovan put BM ahead when he converted a long crossing pass from Joe McEachern. After the winners missed several golden opportunities, McEachern scored the clincher. Ed McElaney, who was outstanding for Atlantic, scored its only goal.

Earlier in the week Sterling nipped Central, 1-0, on Bruce Astride's goal, while Atlantic shut out Point, 2-0, on McElaney's two goals.

Yesterday Sterling met Atlantic and Point played Broad Meadows. Next Monday it will be Central vs. Meadows and Sterling vs. Point. Next Wednesday Meadows faces Sterling and Atlantic plays Central.

Fred Palmer, Joe Rathgeb Pace Youth Hockey Squirts

Fred Palmer and Joe Rathgeb scored two goals each to pace the Quincy Youth Hockey Squirt B team to a 9-0 win over Scituate.

The Squirt A team downed South Boston 6-0 and lost a 3-2 squeaker to Brockton.

Sean Dennis, Robbie Craig, Robbie Zanardelli, Tommy

Mullen, Scott Richardson, and Mark Messina scored the goals against South Boston and John Furey and Scott Richardson scored against Brockton.

Mike Boussey and Frank Malone combined to give the Mite A team a shut-out in their 9-0 victory over Hull. Quincy goals were scored by Kevin Craig, Kevin Chase, John Cummings, Rich Milano, Paul McCabe, Rich Stevens [2] and Tommy Murphy [2].

Quincy Couple Attend Marc Parent Seminar

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tapella of Quincy, representing the Paul A. Dever Association for Retarded Children, attended a recent parent training seminar at the New England Center, Durham, N.H., sponsored by the Massachusetts Association for retarded children [MARC]

Purpose of the two-day seminar was to help parents and concerned citizens become more discriminating representatives for consumers of residential services. In spite of advances which have been made, there remains reason for deep concern about the conditions in which retarded children and adults live in residential institutions, it was noted. This seminar trained participants to become deeply and knowledgeably involved in the evaluation, monitoring, and change of institutional programs.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF TRANSPORTATION AND CONSTRUCTION
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

NOTICE OF CORRIDOR PUBLIC HEARING

ALTERNATIVE TRANSPORTATION IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE SOUTHWEST CORRIDOR FROM THE PRESENT TERMINUS OF ROUTE 1-95 IN CANTON TO CONNECTIONS WITH THE CENTRAL ARTERY AND SOUTHWEST EXPRESSWAY IN BOSTON.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, and the Department of Public Works hereby give notice of a Corridor Public Hearing pursuant to Title 23, United States Code, Section 128: Federal Highway Administration Policy and Procedure Memorandum 20-8; and Section 5, Chapter 81 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, Ter. Ed., as amended.

TIME AND PLACE. The Public Hearing will be conducted in two [2] individual sessions, at the following times and locations:

Monday, October 30, 1972, from 2:30 to 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., at the Hennigan Community School Multipurpose Room, 200 Heath Street, Boston, Mass.

Tuesday, October 31, 1972, from 2:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., at the Hyde Park Municipal Building Auditorium, 1179 River Street, Hyde Park, Mass.

FACILITIES CONSIDERED. This Corridor Public Hearing is being held to provide an opportunity for public review and comment on the transportation studies performed by the Boston Transportation Planning Review [BTPR] with respect to [i] alternative corridor locations for Interstate Route 1-95 South [the Southwest Expressway] from the present terminus of 1-95 at Route 128 in Canton to connections with the Central Artery and the Southeast Expressway in Boston and [ii] as an alternative to the above interstate expressway, a new surface arterial street in the same corridor, from the area of either Jackson Square or Forest Hills to the Central Artery, including major improvements for streets crossing the proposed new arterial. Interrelationships between these alternatives and proposed transit improvements will also be considered. All parties with an interest in this matter are invited to attend the Public Hearing and to register their views through oral and/or written testimony and exhibits.

Specifically, the facility alternatives to be considered consist of:

ALTERNATIVE 1--Arterial Street: new surface arterial street providing six lanes between Jackson Square and Ruggles Street, and four lanes from Ruggles Street, at Columbus Avenue to the Central Artery. Optionally, the street may be extended at a scale of four lanes from Jackson Square to Forest Hills. This alternative would be built in conjunction with rail and transit in the corridor either on the present embankment, or in a new depressed right-of-way.

ALTERNATIVE 2A--four lane expressway: expressway provides four through lanes in railroad corridor between Route 128 in Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing. Reservation in expressway median for four tracks [transit and railroad use] between Route 128/Canton and Forest Hills, four or five tracks in expressway median between Forest Hills and Roxbury Crossing, and a reservation in the median for future circumferential transit between Columbus Avenue and Central Artery.

ALTERNATIVE 2B--Four lane expressway: expressway provides four lanes in railroad corridor between Route 128/Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing; rail and transit facilities adjacent to the expressway consisting of four or five tracks for MBTA/railroad use; reservation for future circumferential transit between Columbus Avenue and Central Artery.

ALTERNATIVE 2C--Six-lane expressway: expressway provides six through lanes in the railroad corridor between Route 128/Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing. Four or five tracks for MBTA and railroad use could be either in the median or adjacent to the roadway.

In addition, consideration will be given to four alignment options for the expressway alternatives described above through the Fowl Meadow area:

Alignment A--Original Department of Public Works Alignment: leaves the Penn Central Railroad Corridor at Reservation Road in Hyde Park, overpasses the Midland Branch railroad and follows the Naponet River on an elevated viaduct to the vicinity of Paul's Bridge. The facility would also be elevated across the eastern boundary of Fowl Meadow and would connect with the present interchange at Route 128.

Alignment B--Penn Central Railroad Alignment: leaves existing Route 1-95 4,000 feet south of Route 128 and follows the Penn Central right-of-way on an elevated viaduct approximately 30 feet over the tracks. An interchange with Route 128 would be constructed south of Route 128 and partially use the existing interchange for 1-95 at Route 128. A sub-option for this basic alignment would be the construction of an interchange with Route 128 basically north of Route 128, also using partially the existing 1-95 interchange.

Alignment C--Combined Penn Central/Department of Public Works Alignment: provides a new expressway connecting with the north end of the existing Route 128/1-95 interchange. The alignment crosses Fowl Meadow on an elevated viaduct to an intersection with the previously described Penn Central Alignment [B], requiring no reconstruction of the existing Route 128/1-95 interchange and no construction of additional ramps.

As part of the development of comprehensive program packages involving the highway alternatives described above, the BTPR has also studied public transportation improvements in the Southwest subregion. The Public Hearing will consider the interrelationships between proposed highway alternatives and transit options in three major corridors:

Penn Central Mainline Corridor--Back Bay Station to Route 128, with a branch to W. Roxbury/Needham:

Alternative A.1--Full Electrified Transit: Improved commuter railroad service in Penn Central Mainline and Franklin branches; extend Orange Line rapid transit service from Forest Hills via Needham branch railroad right-of-way to West Roxbury and Needham; relocate the existing Washington Street Elevated [Orange

Line] to the Penn Central Mainline from South Cove Tunnel to Forest Hills; remove Washington Street Elevated when new replacement service is in operation.

Alternative A.2--Staged Construction of Electrified Rapid Transit Utilizing Dual Power vehicles with Commuter Railroad Improvements: Improve commuter rail service on Penn Central Mainline and all branches; extend electrification from South Cove to Northeastern; install dual power vehicles and storage sidings for special powered car trailers; complete stations between Northeastern and Route 128 Needham; extend full electrification from Northeastern to Rosindale or Route 128, Needham; remove Washington Street Elevated when replacement service is available.

Replacement Corridor [Replacing and improving rapid transit service presently on the Washington St. Elevated]--South Cove to Dudley Station and Extended to Mattapan Square:

Alternative B.1--Subway Replacement Service--Light Rail or Rapid Transit: Construction of new subway from the Mass. Turnpike through Dudley Station, and Grove Hall to Mattapan; a series of alternative alignments exist and have been studied.

Alternative B.2--Subway/Surface Light Rail Replacement Service: construct new light rail facility between Boylston Street and Mattapan via Dudley Station and Grove Hall, principally operating in a reservation within existing streets, with tunneling in areas where street right-of-way conditions restrict surface operation.

Circumferential Corridor--South Station to Kendall or Harvard Square: a semi-circular section of the cities of Boston and Cambridge, just outside the downtown of Boston, passing through inner city neighborhoods and the medical/educational/institutional area of the Back Bay.

Alternative C.1--Personal Rapid Transit [PRT] fully grade-separated system utilizing automated technology: new stations at all intersections with existing radial transit lines serving downtown Boston and Cambridge; additional stations where demand levels are highest, particularly in institutional area.

Alternative C.2--Rail Transit Circumferential: grade-separated rapid transit in sections of circumferential corridor with highest travel demand between Dudley Station and Kendall Station; extension of circumferential segment via radial extensions south to Mattapan from Dudley Station, and north to East Somerville/Sullivan Square from the Dudley to Mattapan extension, the same alignment options apply as are described in B.1 and B.2 immediately above.

Cities and towns affected by one or more of the above alternatives include Boston, including the communities of the South End, Roxbury, Fenway, West Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Rosindale, Hyde Park, and Readville; Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Canton, Norwood, Westwood, Randolph, and Needham.

SCOPE OF DISCUSSION. Items to be discussed at the Public Hearing include but are not limited to:

Transportation needs of the Southwest corridor subregion as they relate to the alternatives presented.

Anticipated social, economic and environmental effects of the alternatives presented;

Measures to mitigate adverse effects of the alternatives presented;

Relocation assistance programs for displaced homes and businesses;

Exhibits describing each of the alternatives will be displayed prior to the public hearing at hearing session home, said in announcing his plan to terminate Para Tours at the close of the fiscal year on Oct. 31, 1972. "I do hope that some agency can pick up the reins and carry on this work that has meant so much to so many. I will be most anxious to cooperate by assisting in showing how it is run."

Veterans News

Q - I am a veteran's widow drawing VA pension. Would state welfare benefits reduce my pension?

A - No. VA does not consider benefits from public or private welfare organizations as income for purposes of computing pension.

Q - As a veteran attending college under the GI Bill, I wonder why VA does not pay for all my educational expenses?

A - Like the World War II and Korean Conflict GI Bills the current GI Bill is intended as educational assistance, rather than a total subsidy thru four years of college. Veterans who went to school after WW II often had to supplement their educational allowances just as the majority of all well motivated college students do.

Q - I am a World War II veteran and have used a small portion of my GI loan entitlement. Can my remaining entitlement be used in purchasing a mobile home?

A - No. You must have the maximum loan guaranty entitlement available to qualify for mobile home benefits.

Q - How do I get admitted to a Veterans Administration hospital?

A - Apply in person to the VA hospital nearest your home taking with you a copy of your military separation papers. If unable to visit the nearest hospital, a private physician may request by phone admittance for a veteran-patient, being prepared to advise admissions authority as to military data and the need for hospital care.

Q - Does VA pay dividends on "RH" insurance issued to veterans separated from service because of service-connected disabilities?

A - No. By law, VA is not permitted to pay dividends on "RH" insurance policies.

Q - If I decide to go to school under the GI Bill, what can I do to speed up the arrival of educational allowance checks?

A - As soon as you receive your certificate of eligibility from VA, submit it to the proper school official for completion and make certain the school returns it to VA as soon as possible. As soon as VA received the certificate, your checks will be started.

S.S. Mental Health Assn. Responds To Nader Report

In response to the Ralph Nader organization's report on Community Mental Health Centers, six members of the South Shore Mental Health Association will participate in a discussion with Franklin Chu, co-author of the report, at the Leadership Conference Oct. 27-28 at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Lexington.

The Conference, sponsored by the Massachusetts Association for Mental Health is a state-wide, yearly event planned for the purpose of educating and informing citizens groups from local chapters through a series of workshops and scheduled speakers.

While the South Shore Mental Health Association (SSMHA) is in complete agreement with some of the recommendations of the Nader Report, among them, the moving of traditional clinical services and mental health professionals out into the community to more accessible satellite clinics, the Association differs sharply in some of the observations made in other sections of the study.

Mrs. Muriel Douglass, association executive director, said the report appears at times to deny that emotional illness exists, except among the very poor, while ignoring the fact that psychological deprivation and interruption of emotional growth is also evident in middle and upper income brackets as well.

"Although these can sometimes be more subtle or more disguised, they still create havoc in interactions among individuals, particularly in the more intimate circle of the family.

"The Association would like to insure that no person be denied mental health care because of economic discrimination. Service should be based on sliding scale fees in both public and private agencies in the area. It also wishes to encourage appraisal of such services by every citizen who might be interested in how his government's dollars are being expended."

Another objection to the Nader report, according to the Association, is the fact that it calls for elimination of coverage for psychiatric care from a national health insurance and other third party payment plans "except for those individuals who suffer from medical disorders." The Association strongly advocates the inclusion of such provisions for both kinds of insurance policies.

It is felt, however that the report will bring into vigorous public view, critical issues and concerns about the evolution of community mental health programs, the function of professionals who deliver the services and the kind of leadership required from the State Offices of Human Services and the Department of Mental Health.

Representations from the SSMHA attending the Leadership Conference will include Mrs. Keith Rawlins Jr., President; Mrs. Cathy Arnold, Chairman, Public Affairs Committee; Mrs. Muriel Douglass, Executive Director; John P. Sullivan, Mrs. Barbara Dowds, Second Vice President and Daniel MacIntyre, Treasurer.

Mrs. Douglass will be a member of the panel for the workshop on "Area Board - Mental Health Association Relationships."

Brett To File Legislation Allowing Split Payment Of Tax Bills

Rep. Joseph E. Brett will file legislation to permit the payment of next year's property tax bills to be divided in two parts.

Massachusetts communities begin a new fiscal cycle next year with the tax year running from July 1 to June 30 instead of Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

Because of this change, Brett said, the tax bills issued in 1973 will include the costs of government for an 18-month period through June 30, 1974.

He said the bill would be needed for only one year as bills after July 1, 1974, will be based again on a 12-month fiscal year.

Concerned Over Misconceptions

Mayor Says Tax Equalization Saving For Seniors, Widows

By DICK MATTULINA

One hundred percent property valuation would cause Quincy widows and senior citizens to lose tax deductions, according to Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

Statutory deductions would be cut by 50 percent or more with 100 percent valuation because "virtually every home in the city would be over the limit" of $14,000, the mayor said.

The statement came during a discussion with city assessors of public reaction to the 1972 tax rate and the equalization program of assessments.

Hannon said he was concerned that many of those demonstrating against the increase carried placards stating the city was unfair to senior citizens.

"They don't stop to think that senior citizens would lose as much as $600 in abatements if we were forced into 100 percent valuation," he said.

Hannon and assessors John Comer and Henry Bertolon said publicized protests have raised numerous misconceptions over the 1972 tax rate.

Of prime concern, Comer said, are the varied rumors as to the procedure assessors followed in their equalization of assessments.

"Every property in the city was reviewed," Comer said. "And only 40 percent had to go up. The other 60 percent were paying their fair share or more."

Hannon said he was bothered by such items as one man complaining to the press that the tax bill on his widowed mother's home increased this year from $800 to $1,600.

"He didn't mention that it was a four-family house," the mayor said. "There are people in this city paying $1,200 or more for single dwellings."

The Mayor and assessors said the majority of those who come to city hall with complaints leave satisfied when the bill and any possible abatements are explained to them.

"The only problem is that people get a lot of publicity with complaints but very little with answers," Hannon said.

Bertolon said the assessors expect some 4,000 applications for reductions this year, 3,700 of which will be statutory abatements.

Taxpayers who feel their tax bills are too high have until Oct. 30 to file for abatements. Assessors will view the property and, if necessary, schedule hearings.

Assessors Office Open Nights For Abatements

The assessors' office at City Hall will be open four evenings between now and the Oct. 30 deadline for filing abatement applications for 1972 property tax bills.

The office will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. Oct. 19, 24, 26 and 30.

One or more of the city's three assessors will be on hand to aid the clerical staff in answering questions and aiding taxpayers who feel their property has been assessed too high.

Disabled veterans, the elderly, widows and those with hardships have until Dec. 29 to file for statutory abatements.

Downtown Garage Opens For Two-Week Trial

The Quincy Center Parking Plaza has opened for a two-week shakedown period in preparation for the Nov. 2 grand opening.

Spaces will be available in various parts of the garage in the Ross Parking Area as work crews put the finishing touches on the $2-million facility.

Parking there is discouraged, however, by city officials concerned with ironing out last-minute details in the operation.

A 10-day celebration is planned by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association to mark the opening of the 765-car garage.

Merchants have contributed thousands of dollars worth of prizes to be given away in daily drawings during the festival.

Six More Groups Enter Christmas Parade Floats

Six more organizations have entered floats in the Quincy Christmas Parade, bringing the total so far to 14 displays.

The parade, with a Christmas in Toyland theme, will be held Nov. 26, the Sunday after Thanksgiving.

Float Chairman Richard Venna said the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association has changed the theme from Walt Disney World to Toyland to broaden the scope.

- New floats include:
- * Old Colony DeMolay.
  - * South Shore Campfire Girls, Christmas Dollhouse.
  - * St. John's CYO.
  - * Quincy Student Nurses.
  - * Police Betterment Association, Santa Claus.
  - * Harvey's Saltwater Fishing

Club.

Band Chairman Anthony Famigletti has added the Holy Name Band of West Roxbury, Braintree High School Band and Twin Twirlers of Quincy to the growing list of marching units.

Persons wishing to enter floats, bands or drill teams are asked to contact Venna at 471-1650 or Famigletti at 773-1380.

Brian Davenport In West Pacific

Fireman Brian E. Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Davenport of 432 Granite St., Quincy, has left his homeport at Alameda, Calif., for a Western Pacific deployment aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier

He is a 1969 graduate of Quincy High School.

More than 300 women participated in a day long program for Woman's Day in Quincy Sunday at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

The event was sponsored by Mayor Walter J. Hannon and organized by a group of 35 women representing woman's organizations, housewives, businessmen and students.

Coordinator, Geraldine B. Pleshaw of Merrymount, said she was extremely pleased with the turn out.

"When we sponsored a similar event on a statewide basis we had only 500 women attending. To see 300 women participate on a city wide basis is encouraging."

Speakers included Ann Blackham from the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women; Grace Ferrill, Woman's Bureau of the Department of Labor; Sen. Mary Fonseca; Cong. Louise Day Hicks; and Dr. Pauli Murray, Professor of American Civilization at Brandeis University.

Cong. Hicks applauded "the efforts of the woman who wants to remain at home and have a wonderful home situation."

"But for those women who are heads of households," she said, "and for those unmarried women who want careers, we should open up the doors to them in order that they should accomplish the great things they are capable of."

Ann Blackham said "women could live their lives and fulfill themselves as they wanted. She said women needed a group to assist them to fulfill themselves."

This need created the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women in Massachusetts, she said.

Sen. Fonseca addressed herself to women in politics.

Although there are many responsible, well educated, and capable women who can hold positions in the cabinet [in Mass.], Sen. Fonseca declared that there aren't enough women who do hold positions of responsibility in state government.

She is currently the only woman senator in the State Senate.

She will be joined by newly elected Senator Anna Buckley of Brockton, who attended the day as a co-leader of a workshop, Women in Politics.

According to Grace Ferrill, women are employed in significantly fewer occupations than men.

Marshall Calls For Half-Fare

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall has urged implementation of a proposal to allow transfer privileges and half-fare rates for school children.

Marshall asked MBTA General Manager Joseph P. Kelly to support the program

Women make up 75% of all clerical workers, 42% of all sales workers, and 39% of all professional and technical occupations. Women in full time jobs are earning less today than men, she said.

Moreover, the gap has widened since 1955. In 1955 women were earning 64% of the salary of men, while today it is only 59% in similar occupations.

She said these statistics are interesting when one realizes that 33 million women are in the labor force, representing 40% of all workers; 2/3 of these women are married, and 6 million families are headed by a woman.

Under the law, Dr. Murray stated that women are still treated as a special class for many purposes. "This special treatment is often discriminatory rather than beneficial."

Dr. Murray readressed herself to the issue of individuality and said that under today's laws women are still treated as a special class rather than individuals with separate goals and characteristics.

It has taken women 49 years, until the Spring of 1972 to get the Equal Rights Amendment passed in Congress. To date, 21 states have ratified it and 17 more are needed for ratification.

Dr. Murray also told the group, "The ERA, both as a symbol and a fundamental law can be an important tool in reeducating ourselves to accept men and women as equals and partners in the task of reordering our values and moving to a true social integration."

After the presentation by the four panelists, the women participated in nine workshops which covered such topics as Child Care, Health Services, Politics, Community Organizing, Education, Employment, Legal Rights, and High School Women. Each workshop was headed by a prominent woman in her field.

Liane Brandon, a teacher at North Quincy High, showed two of her films, "Sometimes I Wonder Who I Am", a story of a housewife and "You Can Be Anything You Want To Be", a caricature of a high school girl.

The day closed with a coffee hour which was organized by Mrs. Linda Gordon, President of the Quincy Woman's Juniors. Refreshments were supplied by the Culinary Arts Dept. of the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

authorized by the legislature last year.

"I believe it is most important at this time to make an immediate decision regarding the implementation of a new fare structure for students," he said.

Lions Honor Six For Employ The Handicapped

The Quincy Lions Club has presented six awards to local individuals, companies and agencies in conjunction with National Employ the Handicapped Week.

Cited for overcoming disabilities were Raymond L. Biscup of 111 Birchbrow Ave., North Weymouth, and Milton R. Lapon of 82 Virginia Rd., Quincy.

The club paid tribute to the Franvale Nursing Home in Braintree for establishment of a "health aid" position for handicapped workers.

Howard Johnson Co. in Braintree was cited for "continued involvement in programs to train and employ the handicapped."

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

The Year of the Vitamin..... That's what this is. The year of Vitamin C for colds. The Year of Vitamin E for good skin, sexual prowess, ingrown toenails - whatever.

It interests me, this sudden rediscovery of the vitamins one by one. But why one by one? Why not consider all of the vitamins and their importance day by day, every day. In other words, why not consider a program of good nutrition, good food, and balanced meals? When you consider that you are considering vitamins by another name.

Stick a pin in a diet nut, and you stick a pin in a vitamin nut. One thing that you must be sure of in any diet is that it contains all the vitamins that are necessary to good health. That is why a good diet [and I recommend a well balanced diet] contains:

Vitamin A in green and orange-y colored vegetable for growth in children, good vision, and healthy skin tissue.

The B complex vitamins [thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and the others] from liver, milk, and enriched breads for nerve tissue health, anti-Pellagra insurance, and the essential cell metabolism.

Vitamin C because it is not stored and must be replaced daily to carry on its work of forming and repairing body cells.

Vitamin D by providing recipes that feature non-fat skim milk enriched with this bone and tooth builder.

Vitamin E, which is present in most of our foods, and about which little is truly known.

Vitamin K to help blood clot and available in the same vegetables that bring you Vitamin A.

Look the list over, and you'll discover that you can include all the vitamins your body requires with careful attention to food variety daily.

Help yourself to some vitamins A, C, and D not to mention protein and good taste with this:

TUNA CHINESE

16 ounce can tuna
1/2 cup chopped ripe tomatoes
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 small can mushrooms
1/3 cup Alba reconstituted skim milk
3 T Kikkoman Soy Sauce
1/8 cup dehydrated onions
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Combine milk, celery, mushrooms, onions, salt and pepper. Cook slowly until heated. Blend in tuna and tomatoes. Cook three to five minutes. Pour into casserole, sprinkle with soy sauce. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes until bubbly hot. Serve on bean sprouts.

Vitamins do not exist in solitary splendor. Nature combines two or more in almost every food, and you should imitate nature when you cook. Be conscious of the vitamin content of your ingredients. Plan to have high-vitamin foods in every meal you serve. Then when a vitamin is "discovered", you can relax in the knowledge that you and your family have been enjoying adequate amounts of it all the time.

Ask me any questions you might have about nutrition in your diet. Just write to Lois Lindauer, at the Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

Bethany Dial-A-Prayer Service Receives 15,000 Telephone Calls

Some 15,000 telephone calls a year are being made to the Dial-a-Prayer service of the Bethany Congregational Church.

Established five years ago, the Dial-a-Prayer is available 24 hours a day at 773-4500.

The service was initiated by Rev. John D. Banks to respond to a felt need to give a word of encouragement to people who may be lonely or in a depressed situation.

It offers Christian assurance based on the Gospel and other parts of the Scriptures and opens up possible channels of friendship and communication.

Other people have developed a habit of calling Dial-a-Prayer as a way to begin personal devotions at a set time during the day.

The messages are recorded daily by Rev. Banks, minister, and Rev. Arthur R. Curtis, associate minister. The format is that of a miniature worship including Scripture, commentary, and a prayer.

Themes have included: God in Nature; Source of Courage; Forgiveness; Discovering and Using One's Own Talents, Insights, and Resources.

Series On Religious Values Begins Sunday At First Parish Church

On Sunday, Oct. 22 at 10:45 a.m. Rev. John R. Graham, minister of United First Parish Church [Unitarian] will begin a series of Sunday morning addresses on "Religious Values That Make Sense - Today."

Based on a contemporary interpretation of the traditional Ten Commandments, the first address is titled "Getting Rid of the Gods."

In announcing the 10-part series, Rev. Graham said, "The 10 Commandments are loved by all and kept by none. One reason for the neglect is that they're so badly misunderstood. They aren't laws at all, but guidelines. Viewed from the perspective of the mind of an ancient Jew, they have genuine meaning. They make sense."

"Only four of the commandments have to do with religious observance. The majority have to do with human relations, which is the essence of the religious spirit."

Titles of the addresses in the series after Oct. 22 include "The Offense of Worship", "The Importance of Swearing", "Getting It All Together", "What Do Parents Deserve?", "Whom Shall We Kill?", "A New Day for Adultery", "The Faith of the Freeloader", "The Goodness of Gossip", and "What Happens When You Don't Like Yourself?"

After each service there will be a social hour - discussion period so that those attending can discuss the morning address with each other and the minister.

Young People's Symphony Concert Nov. 4 At Wollaston Theatre

South shore parents will be encouraging "long hair" for their children on Saturday November 4th.

Warren's Thomas Organ Studios, Braintree Square; Jason's Luggage & Music Shop, Quincy Center; Balducci's Subs & Pizza Shop, North Quincy; Sher Drug in East Milton Square and at the Wollaston Theatre.

How to manipulate your way to a free checking account. Even a cheaper loan.

Businessmen have been doing it for years.

"My company will give your bank more business if your bank will give my company a better deal."

Now you can make the same offer to South Shore National. But before we begin making deals, let's agree to do this, just to simplify things for both of us:

Let's take all your bank accounts, and put them together on one monthly statement.

Take that first step with us. And you're in a position to begin making deals.

So: If you're willing to keep a monthly total of at least $400 between your checking account and up to as many as four savings accounts, we'll give you your checking account free of charge.

If that sounds complicated, let's look at a couple of examples:

Let's say you keep a low balance of, say, $180 in your checking account and $220 in a savings account. That comes to $400 and would earn you a free checking account.

Or suppose you keep a low balance of only $50 in your checking account, $200 in a joint savings account, and $75 in each of two trustee accounts. That also comes to $400 and earns you a free checking account.

The point is, you need at least $400 in checking and savings. How you spread it around is pretty much up to you.

In addition, as a Multistatement customer, we'll give you a 10% bonus refund of the paid finance charges on a new installment loan when it's satisfactorily repaid.*

The deals will save you money. The single-statement arrangement will save you confusion. Here's how:

Introducing Multistatement.

On one itemized list, Multistatement gives you the complete picture of all your banking transactions for the preceding month:

You'll get the whole rundown on what you've spent from your checking account, what you've deposited, balance, and so forth.

You'll see how much you've added or withdrawn from each savings account you have with us, how much interest has been paid to you, and how much you have in the account now.

If you have an instalment loan with us, you'll see how much you've paid back, how much you still owe, and how many payments that amounts to.

If you have Check Credit (an account that allows you to make your own loans simply by writing out specially coded checks), you'll see how much of your cash reserve you've used up and how much you can still borrow.

*Principal loan amount is $1000 or more and must be or become a Multistatement account within 90 days from the date of the loan.

Some fancy financial moves.

To say that Multistatement simplifies the management of your money is an oversimplification.

The fact is, by putting so many banking services together on one statement, Multistatement goes beyond any of the other single-statement accounts you've probably heard about.

With South Shore National's Multistatement account, you're now in a position to maneuver your bank accounts in ways you've never been able to.

With one simple instruction to the bank, you can transfer money from virtually any account to any other. (And you can tell us exactly what day to transfer it.)

Or you can authorize the bank to set up an automatic monthly transfer of some fixed amount.

Money to cover a check.

An obvious advantage of the transfer feature is that, when your checking account is low, you can make a transfer from savings into checking.

But think of some of the other transfer possibilities: Checking to savings. Checking to check credit. Check credit to checking. Checking to 90-day notice account. 90-day notice account to checking. Daily-interest savings account to 90-day notice. 90-day notice account to daily-interest.

It's good for you because it's good for us.

Needless to say, the more of your banking business you bring to South Shore National Bank, the better for us.

This, of course, is why we're coming out with Multistatement banking in the first place.

It also explains why we're making Multistatement just as attractive a package as we possibly can.

What we require from you:

For you to qualify for a Multistatement account, we simply require that you have a checking account and at least one savings account with us.

If you have other types of accounts with us that you want included on Multistatement, we'll be delighted to do it. If you have other bank accounts with us that you don't want to appear on Multistatement (your own savings account on the side, for example), that's okay, too.

How to get Multistatement:

With 34 offices of South Shore National Bank all over the South Shore and west of Boston, chances are fairly good there's an office of South Shore National Bank that's not too far from you.

But even if there isn't, that shouldn't keep you from opening a Multistatement account if you want one.

After all, there's always the phone. (Our number in Quincy is 472-1000.)

And there's also our handy coupon.

THE TAXPAYERS' REVOLT almost spread to Logan Airport last week. Logan Airport? More specifically, to the Alitalia area of the International Terminal.

Two of Quincy's top political leaders, former Mayor James McIntyre and Senator Arthur Tobin were just returning from a trip to Italy.

TIM CARDWELL, leader of the "Taxpayers' Revolt" has become somewhat of an overnight celebrity. With such widespread publicity you might expect him to take a shot at political office. Such is not the case, however, or so they say.

Friends report he will move out of state in a couple of years and thus limit his participation in politics to that of an interested private citizen. That's what they say.

***

Sean Dunphy for Mayor? A maroon Chrysler has been seen around Quincy with a "Dunphy for Mayor" bumper sticker on it, but Walter Hannon has nothing to worry about in this case. The car happens to belong to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rosenthal of 75 Greenleaf St. Dunphy is their son-in-law the Mayor of Northampton.

Next to his wife Ann, says Dunphy, his in-laws are among his most enthusiastic supporters. They even made the 100-plus mile trip up to Northampton to help in his first bid for office in 1969.

Incidentally, Northampton, like Quincy, shares the distinction of being the home of a President. Calvin Coolidge. Coolidge was Mayor of Northampton before going on to become Governor of Massachusetts, Vice President and then President.

***

OVER in Ward 4, Thomas Hughes unsuccessful candidate for councillor in 1971, reportedly is readying his campaign for next year. If Councillor Albert Barilaro seeks re-election, [he may not] it will make it at least a three man race. Third potential candidate is Louis Arienti, who ran in 1971 for the School Committee.

***

LOOKING at the School Committee race next year, we might have a repeat of the crowded field of last year's primary with 23 candidates. The Speculation Corps sees two possible open seats.

Charles Sweeney is expected to seek re-election.

But rumor has Frank Anselmo retiring and Paul Kelly again a candidate for councillor-at-large.

On everyone's list to run again for School Committee is Dean Paul Nicastro of Ward Two. Chris Kennedy who ran fourth is still undecided at this point whether or not to make another bid.

Another campaign is around the corner for Vincent Smyth who plans to run for re-election as Ward 6 Councillor. And Smyth may be making another run for state representative in 1974. Redistricting of the new two-member district could give him the edge, too.

Presently, Wards 4, 5 and 6 make up the two member district and under state law will have to be divided into two single member districts. The result could be that incumbent Joseph Brett and William Delahunt [he has to be elected in November] will end up in the same district, with an open seat being created in the North Quincy and Squantum area.

REDISTRICTING, however, is a tricky thing to forecast. At the last minute almost anything could happen. If the redistricting in Quincy gets too complicated it is possible that Representative Thomas Brownell's district could be combined with that of Representative Clifford Marshall and result with an open seat in the South-West Quincy area.

Political muscle will determine what the ultimate redistricting plan will look like. Without a doubt, Senator Arthur Tobin will be one of the people on Beacon Hill trying to keep the Quincy representative districts from being ripped apart. Tobin will have support from Senate Counsel James McIntyre if the Quincy delegation can't come up with an acceptable plan, you might see Quincy sharing a representative with a neighboring town.

It wasn't too long ago that Ward 2 was part of the Braintree district. Consider also the fact that under the new law, districts can now cross county lines. Such being the case, some precincts in North Quincy could be joined with one of the new Dorchester districts.

***

ADELINE POMPEO lost the senatorial nomination to incumbent Arthur Tobin but she won herself an unusual moment from Atty. Gen. Robert Quinn. The contents, incidentally, might surprise Tobin. Especially the part that says: "Please accept my sincere regrets that you were not nominated in the Primary." It goes on to say: "However, your personal disappointment in the results should not terminate your interest in politics." And, Quinn expresses "my gratitude to you for performing a significant service to the Democratic party by your candidacy."

***

HERE'S ONE: Jens Thornton, the lone Republican seeking a state representative seat in Wards 4, 5, 6, gives Democrat incumbent Joseph Brett a big plug in his [Thornton's] campaign literature. Notes he:

"Thornton [R] and Brett [D] are the only candidates who have taken a firm stand against Urban Renewal".

May be the first time in Quincy's political history that a Republican has supported a Democrat running for the same office.

***

INCIDENTALLY, Thornton now sports a mustache, beard and long sideburns a la Buffalo Bill and says: "Cast yer vote if yew ain't afeerd for Jens E. Thornton—he wears a beard".

- Now: Snooping Into Garbage
- U.S. Prestige Up - And Down
- Voting Buttons For Congress

WASHINGTON—For some time now, Uncle Sam has been developing a Big Brother complex.

We have documentary evidence that federal agencies have almost unlimited access to confidential information on citizens. Income tax returns, social security files and confidential bank records are all open to federal snoops.

Not even the mails are inviolate. Almost any government agency can ask the post office for a mail check to find out who is writing to whom.

Government agents have even resorted to poking into people's garbage. For a while, garbage collectors in the District of Columbia had a list of 50 persons whose trash was set aside and delivered in burlap bags to a special room in a government building. There, unidentified men would come at night to spirit away the bags for scrutiny.

So, it came as no surprise the other day when we spotted two government agents, dressed as civilians, lugging large plastic bags filled with trash aboard an airliner in New York City. The plane was bound for Washington.

One of my reporters asked the men about the bags, but they only made glib remarks about helping New York's Mayor John Lindsay get rid of the city's trash.

How widespread the garbage game is nobody knows. But two restaurant owners from Bowie, Md., had a different encounter with Uncle Sam on a train recently. The travelers, Kenneth Gill and Donald Rembert, discussed the Watergate bugging incident. They merely talked about what they had read in the newspapers.

A few days later, however, a Secret Service agent knocked on Gill's door and proceeded to question him about his knowledge of the Watergate affair.

It's only 1972; 1984 is still 12 years away. But, apparently, Big Brother is already watching.

—A Temporary Lift—

The Nixon Administration

is rushing to complete a report before election day which shows that U.S. prestige abroad received a big—if only temporary—lift from President Nixon's trips to Peking and Moscow.

The United States Information Agency is now analyzing the results of surveys conducted last spring and summer in 15 countries. According to sources inside USIA, the preliminary results show that U.S. prestige rose in 12 countries surveyed following the President's trip to Peking last February. At the same time, we are told, U.S. prestige dropped in Japan, Mexico and Lebanon.

The White House is expected to leak favorable statistics from the surveys before November 7. But the White House will probably keep under wraps another section of the USIA study which indicates American prestige is on a downward trend.

The upward move generated by the President's historic trips is only a temporary phenomenon, say our USIA sources. The general downward drift of American prestige abroad can be expected to continue into the 1980s.

—Computerized Congress—

In the 91st Congress, 435 representatives wasted 190 hours—or five work weeks—while their names were read slowly aloud to record their vote. With push buttons on their desks, the congressmen could have voted and been recorded in five seconds each time.

It now appears that Congress will at last get voting buttons. An electronic voting system has been installed and House computer czar Frank Ryan says the system will soon be in operation.

However, initial tests of the system have backfired and Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, who oversees the operation, has told us he doesn't plan to sign any of Ryan's vouchers until the system proves A-Okay.

(The idea of installing electronic voting buttons first arose in 1869 when Thomas Edison offered Congress his first invention—a telegraphic vote recording machine.)

—Pentagon Pipeline—

Routine Briefing—Several months before the Cambodian invasion, a ranking general trooped up to the New York offices of Chase Manhattan to brief a roomful of bankers on the latest developments in the Vietnam War. One former Chase Manhattan official who was present has told us that the general strongly intimated that something big was about to develop in the war. He advised the bankers to keep their eyes on the supply lines in Cambodia and Laos. We asked our friend at Chase Manhattan whether he thought it proper for the Pentagon to brief dozens of bankers on sensitive military matters. "Whether it's right or wrong," he told us, "it's certainly routine."

Luxurious Living—The Navy is spending over $100,000 a year to house off-duty sailors in plush apartments while their ships are being overhauled at the Newport News, Va., shipyard. The off-duty sailors relax in furnished, fully carpeted two-bedroom apartments in town. Most of the apartments have color TVs and access to swimming pools. Meanwhile, on-call sailors working in the dockyards continue to sleep in bunk beds on crowded barges.

Avid Reader—The Army's post in the Canal Zone is a long way from Washington. But General George V. Underwood and his top brass down Panama way keep informed. The general is not only an avid reader of the New York Times, which is available locally, but he also receives each day, by airplane, four copies of the Washington Post. The public shells out more than $2,000 a year so the general and his staff can keep up-to-the-minute with the latest goings-on in Washington.

A 'Dark' Day For Taxpayers

Editor, Quincy Sun:

It was with much trepidation that the citizens of Quincy awaited the announcement of our tax rate for 1972. We were not surprised when the rate was revealed in misleading headlines, pernicious logic, and inaccurate arithmetic. Perhaps the fantasy was borne of an empathetic reluctance to reveal to us the severity of our illness.

A hypothetical example described in the newspapers was an asinine distortion of facts. Our homeowner, Mr. X, owned a home presently worth $25,000. It was assessed at $4,000 in 1971. Last year Mr. X paid $573. In real estate taxes. For 1972, our board of assessors have raised his assessment to $5,000. This year, Mr. X will pay $773. In taxes, an increase of 20% or 35% more than last year.

This is a far cry from the eight percent avowed in the newspaper release. And lest you think that this an isolated example, stop and think awhile. There will be 13,000 Mr. X's in 1972. Virtually every homeowner will find an increase in assessment and a crippling raise in taxes due.

Business and industrial property, of course, will not receive an increase in assessments. It is only we homeowners, who have been selected to defray the added costs of running our fair city. We could have fared worse, however, for when Mayor Hannon huddled with Quincy's "Ten suing taxpayers" to plead for their mercy, the tax formula agreed upon could hardly be kind to the remaining 87,990 of us.

It would be unrealistic of me to expect our tax rate to go down. Many expenses are increasing, a fact we can not deny, but I had hoped for a reasonable amount of austerity to reflect the serious economic decline that has left many of us hanging on to our homes by our fingertips. A true 35% increase in real estate taxes is incredible.

It will be a dark day indeed this month when we receive our 1972 tax bills. Then we will all awake to find that this administration has actually implemented revaluation. A dastardly plan to punish the homeowner and reward the real estate trusts, business and industrial property owners. It is high time we ceased giving tax benefits to the wealthy and affluent, praying that they may drop a few crumbs our way.

Another frightening aspect of this revaluation program is the witch hunt in each neighborhood that will prevail to locate the neighbor whose house is assessed for more than ours. For he will be the culprit to cause everyone else to have their assessments raised. Could there be a more perfect plot to turn neighbor against neighbor?

Mr. Fagerlund and his Board of Assessors "looked at" every piece of property in Quincy in the past month, not physically, obviously, since that would be impossible. I believe Mr. Fagerlund and his team of assessors to be the most capable in the state, but I question the legality of raising the value of any home without physically inspecting each home on its merits and evaluating its honest and fair value. Any comparison with its neighbor's home is onerous and un-democratic.

The appraisal firm of Cole, Laver and Trumble took two years and one hundred and seventy thousand dollars to evaluate our homes in the City of Quincy. The Court ruled their figures invalid because it was a slipshod and incompetent job. How then, can Mr. Fagerlund be expected to do the job in one month without a complete physical inspection?

Consumer Corner

Certain business practices find their way into every Massachusetts household. In fact, it is usually not long before the new apartment or home dweller makes the acquaintance of the ubiquitous door-to-door salesman. These salesmen have various goods and services to offer. But, however charming the door-to-door salesman may appear, certain tactics have been outlawed under regulations developed by the Consumer Protection Division. Foremost among the illegal practices are the sales contracts signed while the customer was "in the dark" about the product or the sales agreement.

Make sure that while any salesman is waxing eloquent about his product or service, he includes in his spiel the following:

1. The customer has the right to cancel the contract within three days.

2. If the debt may be sold to a third party for collection.

3. If the product cannot be used unless some additional fixtures or attachments are purchased.

4. If the model to be purchased is old or outdated. He may not refer to such product as "current" or "repossessed".

The Consumer Protection Division of my office also advises that consumers avoid salesmen who:

1. Misrepresent their product with phony sales claims or misleading "model home" offers.

2. Tell customers selected at random that they are "specially selected".

3. Misinform customers by stating they are the winners of mythical contests or prizes.

4. Induce persons unable to read or write to sign a sales contract.

5. Employ sales or home improvement contracts which force the customer to waive any of the above rights.

'Don't Come Too Close To Me'

If you married a partner who wants to be just as close as you want to be...you're lucky. You didn't plan it...it wasn't divine intervention that brought you together...despite the clergyman's nuptial prayers at the marriage service. You were just plain lucky...as the first million dollar lottery winner. If your partner and you match up...without conflict...in this matter of closeness and intimacy you've won more than a million dollar stake...because nothing is of more value...than to be loved as you need to be loved...to love someone and to know confidently that you are meeting the needs of that other one...Man! you've really hit the jack-pot.

There are three groups of married people, according to Dr. Bach in The Intimate Enemy. [Read it...you'll like it.] Dr. Bach describes three different levels of intimacy and conflict...none of which were understood by the couples themselves. The first group...the card house marriage. This was the largest group. They put on the fake front. I hear these couples nearly every day in counseling say... "everyone thinks we're such a happy couple...no one would even suppose we come here to see a counselor." These are the people who have built their relationship on fraud...hypocrisy...pretense. They lack intimacy...don't know what each other feels...thinks...believes...hopes...dreams. They are concerned for appearances...what parents and other people think about them...conventions...rules...outward "respectability". Social success may figure. Certain professional people have real difficulty if they get divorced...the politician...the minister...the doctor...so many of these people who were "unlucky" in the selection of a mate are now bottled up in a collusion of deception...doomed to sleep in the separate room...live in silence...pretend. The message to each other is... "Don't come too close to me".

The second group...these are the game-players...the ones who are afraid of change...fear that the loneliness of being "formerly married" would be worse than the lack of closeness in the marriage. They have learned well the signals... "don't come too close to me." Now they seldom need to put up the signals. They're just doomed to playing the game.

The third group...the true intimates...these people are in continual conflict over everything except what they have already resolved. Issues: money...fresh air...children...sex...affection...control...decision...drink. One couple said... "when we reached the solution that she would take care of the money and pay the bills then we no longer fought over the issue." Another couple said... "we had sleeping problems for years...night time was an angry time for both of us. At last we just seemed to jell...and bedtime is now something to look forward to all day." They solved their intimacy problem so that at bedtime each was saying... "Come closer to me."

The third group admitted lack of closeness...didn't pretend closeness existed...fought through to solutions. The task for every couple is simply finding your comfortable level of closeness. When you've found it...[him/her] never let it go.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: for private counseling...For group therapy...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, or call 543-5947 or 326-5990.

Sources at Warner Bros. say they "have no idea of the subject matter or title, other than it will star RYAN O'NEAL"... And to compound the confusion even further, RYAN'S agents say, "we know nothing about our client doing any KUBRICK movie...he [O'NEAL] hasn't been approached"... As of this writing, KUBRICK continues on his merry, ding-a-ling way, putting together a film the producers, Warner Bros., and the star know nothing about...

For the first time in years Allied Artists Pictures Corp. is in the black, and that company's smash hit "CABARET" is the $15 million reason why... Last year this same studio showed a net loss of $3.6 million; a complete turnaround from the halcyon 1961 era when Allied was the toast of Tinseltown with the box office sizzler, "EL CID" a $20 million profit... JOHN SAXON portrays a Mafia chieftain in his newest film "KISS THEIR HANDS" now being filmed in Palermo, Sicily...

"I AM CURIOUS YELLOW" kicked up a storm of controversy when it first splashed on American screens. However, it didn't so much as cause a nervous twitch when aired on Canadian TV a few weeks back. No hate mail. No outraged phone calls... Just high ratings for Toronto's CITY-TV and encouragement for that affiliate station to show it's sister film "I AM CURIOUS BLUE", also a ratings bonanza... Wonder what the reaction would be if these pictures made a night stand on our boob tubes?... Shudder to think...

What They're Doing Now Dept: LILLIAN HELLMAN [remember her?] is a "distinguished professor of Romance languages" at City University of New York; and former film critic RENATA ALDER is an associate professor of theatre and film at Hunter College, N.Y.... "SHAFT" is back for more in a sequel to the sequel, "SHAFT'S BIG SCORE", with "SHAFT IN AFRICA". And yup, RICHARD ROUNDTREE stars in the third Shaft series...

Awards for acting animals? You'd better believe it... Ben, that mischievous little rodent in "WILLARD", has been named best animal performer at the 22nd annual Patsy Awards held in Hollywood... And a dog named Pax won his [or is it her] Patsy for best continuing performance in a TV series, namely, "LONGSTREET". Rounding out the top three, a horse called Ott won a Patsy for "best animal actor" [must be a he] in a single TV episode, that being "LASSIE"... And no, Lassie didn't win anything...

Those who like their witchcraft yarns won't want to miss "DAUGHTERS OF SATAN". Those who don't dig this type of entertainment will surely pass this one up... A must see flick it ain't... "MARY POPPINS" is being dusted off for re-release the summer of '73... Forget that fib about stars being "discovered". The first role the late CLARK GABLE had was as a soldier - no lines, just a 40 second walk-on part. After sundry "parts" and six aggravating years he was on his way. But never discovered... GABLE, like any actor who made it, made his own breaks. Work. Work. And more Work... SAM PECKINPAH's next bloodbath is one "PAT GARRETT AND BILLY THE KID"... According to PECKINPAH he stresses violence in his films because, "that competition from the small screen at home is pretty strong...unless you can offer the moviegoer something different than on TV, you're in trouble"... And PECKINPAH'S flicks have fan appeal because they offer something different from the tube-heavy doses of gore and violence... And only because this critic likes something different he stays home whenever a PECKINPAH picture is in town. As a director he's good, but the way he throws the catsup around he should be given an X for over-reacting [exploitation]...

Whatever happened to MARLO THOMAS' "brilliant" film career?... And CHRISTINE KAUFMAN ends her film sabbatical with the femme lead in "MR. KONSTANTIN'S AFFAIRS"... BURT REYNOLDS is in Paris plugging his new movie "DELIVERANCE". And his show all Cosmopolitan spread, what?...

South Shore National Introduces Multistatement Banking

South Shore National Bank has introduced Multistatement banking, a new service which enables account-holders to combine all checking, loan, and savings transactions on one monthly statement.

Multistatement will be a complete financial profile dependent upon the wishes of the account-holder for he virtually tells the bank what service he wants.

Anyone with a personal checking account and at least one savings account qualifies for Multistatement. The Multistatement customer can have as many as nine individual accounts appearing on his statement as well as having a choice of many service options. One such option includes no cost to accounts keeping $400 monthly on deposit in any combination of a personal checking account and savings account.

Another benefit of the new South Shore National service included on Multistatement is a 10 percent bonus refund of paid finance charges on new Installment Loans which are satisfactorily repaid.

Multistatement will even show the bank-authorized cash reserve that the family may have available for borrowing purposes. Another feature is that money can be transferred instantly between the types of accounts, either automatically or upon the request of the account-holder.

Every section in the statement is color-coded and easy to understand. "Our customers actually designed Multistatement for us," said Robert L. Blair, Chairman of the Board and President of the Bank.

"We had an outside research firm conduct an extensive program of interviewing families to determine how a form could be designed and what services should be included. We have accommodated their wishes with the form design, offered services, and unique benefits," commented Blair.

South Shore National Bank has 34 offices in Norfolk County and lists assets of over $200 million.

TRANQUILITY

I sat dreamily in front of the oversize picture window gazing out starry-eyed at twirling snowflakes which were fluttering aimlessly to the ground from the blue-grey sky above. The dancing flames in the cozy fireplace in front of me felt like they were thawing my frozen toes. My unclipped miniature poodle slept snugly at my feet.

It was one of those bitter, winter days when the air is so cold that smoke puffs sail from your mouth when you talk. The fiery sun peeked out from behind the clouds about every hour, making the snow twinkle and sparkle when it did. Against the sky, the silhouette of a barren oak lurked forsakenly and forbiddingly. Every now and then a wind would whistle and howl, drifting the powdery snow that lay in its lonely path and sending floating snowflakes into a state of utter confusion.

I liked it best when everything would suddenly become very still and peace would drum soothingly in my ears.

Rita Manganelli

"WINTER"

When winter comes it rains and snows.

It's very cold when the northern wind blows.

The snow is white like the moon in the sky.

The sound of my heater rumbles like a machine gun. I sit by the fire, with the heat up full blast.

My house is nice and warm because it's heated by gas.

You can hear the dogs bark so merry and gay.

And you can hear the children having fun while they play.

You should enjoy winter while it's here.

Because it's only here once a year.

TO BE FREE

I saw a sparrow way up in a tree
I waved to him as I walked by
But he just looked at me

And so I said to him "Why live up there?
It's nice down here.
Come, live with me."

He said nothing, I walked away
And I was sad all that day,
Until I saw him fly away

KAREN'S PET

There was a girl named Karen who lived in a lighthouse on an island with her father. She didn't have any friends, being away from the mainland. Because she was so lonesome, she would go walking along the shore line.

One day she saw a seal all by itself swimming in the water. This seemed strange because seals are usually in a group. Karen thought maybe the seal is lonesome like me. She went home and thought no more about it. She went back after supper and he was still there. So she went over to him and asked him his name. He said, "er, er, er." She left and ran home and told her father. Her father didn't believe it but he said bring me to him. When they got there the seal was jumping up and down, in and out of the water.

After about two months, Karen had taught her pet how to talk. She gave him a name, Pickles, because she loved to eat pickles. And when she saw the seal in the salt water, Pickles came to her mind first. She would say repeat after me and Pickles would try to answer her. She had been talking to Pickles for about two months.

Karen's father was a widower, because her mother had drowned. So it seemed that after the sea claimed her mother, it gave her a pet in return.

THE WORRIED MOTHER

As I sat staring into the lake I was a very worried, concerned mother. My husband had just lost his job and I never had one. We were actually out of money. I had three children and they had to be clothed and fed. We were on welfare but that just wasn't enough. I gathered the children about and we went back to our old shabby house. One of my children was already sick. My oldest son had a small job that he did for the neighbors. With that money we might be able to pull through.

SOLITUDE

I was sitting and staring. I was happy but serious. The great cat that sat beside me was purring peacefully.

The silence relaxed me. The cat soon arose and arched his back. He yawned contentedly. His big white teeth were all seen. He jumped down from the chair without making a sound. His long gray tail lifted high in the air then slowly came down.

I watched him till the last bit of his tail disappeared around the corner.

Then there was a comforting silence.

"AUTUMN"

Autumn's colors are happy and gay.

And you have great fun when you're at play.

The leaves in autumn are yellow and red.

And some of the trees are almost dead.

You rake the leaves and put 'em in a pile.

Your mother comes out with a great big smile.

Enjoy Autumn while it's here.

Because it's only here once a year.

Atomic Energy Lecture Oct. 26 At Woodward

A demonstration lecture on atomic energy and its uses, sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission, will be presented at Woodward School for Girls, Oct. 26.

The program, "This Atomic World", is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources, and its role in agriculture, industry, medicine and research. The grant for conducting this lecture-demonstration program among high schools in Massachusetts was awarded to Wentworth College of Technology by Boston Edison Company.

Christopher Buckley, lecturer-demonstrator from Wentworth College Staff, will present the assembly program which explains in student terms the structure of atoms and the operation of nuclear reactors as well as such concepts as radiation, fission and fusion. Mr. Buckley has completed extensive training at Oak Ridge, Tenn., facilities of the Atomic Energy Commission. He holds a bachelor of science degree in Management Engineering Technology from Wentworth College of Technology.

Specially designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to demonstrate the sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, and the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes.

400 Quincy Volunteers In MDA March Oct. 22

More than 400 volunteers in Quincy will take part in the Muscular Dystrophy House-to-House March, Sunday, Oct. 22.

Bruins Star Ken Hodge, Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Massachusetts State Chairman, said "All together, the number of volunteers who have signed up for the drive to date in Eastern Massachusetts total in excess of 22,000."

"This army of dedicated supporters will be calling on their neighbors to ask for contributions to aid in our fight against dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases."

"I sincerely hope that they'll be welcomed and that everyone will make a generous donation."

Proceeds from the annual residential appeal help MDA, a national voluntary health agency, support a comprehensive program of direct patient care services and research.

"More than $200,000 has been spent just this year on grants to leading area institutions for purpose of research," Hodge noted. "In addition, the agency operates clinics at New England Medical Center and Boston University Hospital and sponsors a summer camping experience for children. Muscular Dystrophy is a progressive incurable disorder who strikes mostly children."

Sterling Holds Lead Over Broad Meadows

Sterling, the Quincy Junior High soccer champion for the last three years, retained its one-point lead over Broad Meadows last week with a 3-1 win over Atlantic.

Peter Keenan scored twice and Jim Coletta once for Sterling, while Ed McElaney had the only Atlantic goal.

This game was close and even though Sterling controlled the ball during most of the game, Atlantic had several breakaways and got off some hard shots but could manage only the one goal.

Keenan and Amelio Michaelangelo were outstanding for the defending champions.

Michaelangelo is a tall center halfback who completely dominates midfield and he constantly kept Atlantic off balance.

Broad Meadows stayed on Sterling's heels with a 3-0 win over Point which has yet to score a goal this year.

Joe McEachern, Rich Davis and Ken Donovan scored the BM goals. The winners dominated the entire game, especially the first and third periods.

Including last week's games McElaney led the scorers with five goals, followed by Keenan with four, Donovan with three, McEachern and Coletta with two each.

The Hingham game was marked by outstanding defensive plays by Sean Dennis, Paul McGrath and Neal Shea.

Kevin Craig scored five times to lead a 13-goal barrage by the Quincy Mite A team in downing Columbia 13-6. Rounding out the scoring were Richie Stevens [2], Tommy Murphy [2], Mike McNiece, John Cummings, Richie Milano and Kevin Chase.

THE DIABETIC DRIVER

As Tim Malloy drove along the Massachusetts Turnpike, his thoughts strayed ahead to his lazy weekend of swimming and relaxing at his cottage in the Berkshires. Tim never did get to enjoy that vacation weekend. Four hours later, a state trooper found him slumped against the door of his overturned car on a deserted country road. His accident - the result of a diabetic seizure.

Tim was lucky. He escaped with a few broken bones. But his experience underscores an important warning to diabetic drivers: Avoid long journeys unless another driver is able to come along on the trip to lend a hand.

Another bit of advice for the diabetic driver: Never skip a meal or be late for one. As an added precaution, be sure to carry a source of concentrated carbohydrate, just in case it proves impossible to get a meal while on the road.

Breaks Hurt At Medford

North Set To Rebound Against Chelsea

North Quincy's football team met its first defeat of the season last week but Coach Ralph Frazier isn't convinced that undefeated Medford was a superior team.

A couple of bad breaks cost the Raiders a 14-0 setback in the battle of the unbeaten at Medford but Frazier was proud of his team's performance and this week is trying to guard against over-confidence as the Raiders prepare for winless Chelsea at Veterans Memorial Stadium Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Chelsea, which shouldn't be in the strong Greater Boston League, has lost four in a row but made fine showings against Somerville and East Boston.

The Red Raiders suffered a heartbreaking last second 26-22 decision to East Boston in a non-league opener and last week showed surprising strength in holding Somerville to a 28-22 win. In between the Devils were thumped by Medford, 36-6, and Revere, 40-6.

"A team like Chelsea can give you a bad time on a given day and we can't look past them," Frazier said. "We did a good job against a real good Medford team and the boys could have a letdown against Chelsea."

Frazier admitted North didn't have the ball enough to make any offensive showing last week as Medford did an outstanding job of controlling the ball, but had words of praise for several of the players on defense.

He hailed the defensive ends, Burt Bertoni, Bernie Holleran and Steve Fransoso, corner backs Wayne Bell and Billy Shea, and linebackers Mark Mulvaney and Bert Bray.

"They did a fine job against Medford's strong running attack but a broken play with just seven seconds left in the first half and a costly offside penalty accounted for their two touchdowns," Frazier said. "Other than those two plays we held them even but they controlled the ball well and when you don't have the ball you can't score, it is as simple as that."

With seven seconds left in the half Medford quarterback Art Ventresco was going to try a field goal from the 32. However, the pass from center was bad and bounced off the hands of the holder, Guy Martorana. Ventresco calmly retrieved the ball and threw a touchdown pass to Marty Doto.

"The receiver is at least 6-4 and our defenders, standing only about 5-9 and 5-10, couldn't stop him," Frazier lamented.

In the third period, following a North fumble, the Raiders held and Ventresco again tried a field goal. The kick was far enough but wide but North Quincy was offside, Medford had a first down and Doto scored again from the one.

Youth Hockey Pee Wees To Play In International Tournament

The Quincy Youth Hockey Pee Wee A Team will participate in the International Hockey Tournament in Kingston, Ontario, on Thanksgiving weekend.

"Team Quincy" will live with the families of the Kingston team during their stay in Canada.

The players, under coaches Bob Hayes and Dick Storella, include forwards Mark Giordani, Bob Hayes, Eddie Kane, Dave Lewis, John Kelly, Jimmy Triglia, Brian Jolley, John Norton and Brian Bertoni.

Also defensemen Neal Sullivan, Mike Furey, John Yaxter, Paul McDermott, Jim Fitzpatrick and Leo Doyle and goalies Dean Prescott and Jimmy Deitsch.

Accompanying the players will be mascots Doreen Hayes and Lisajude Sullivan and several parents.

The Pee Wees stretched their winning streak to eight last weekend with victories over Scituate, Columbia and Canton.

Brian Bertoni, Eddie Kane, John Norton and Mark Giordani provided the muscle in a 4-1 victory over Scituate.

Eddie Kane's goal with five seconds to play gave the Pee Wees a 5-4 squeaker over Columbia. Brian Bertoni, Dave Lewis, Mark Giordani and Eddie Kane scored the other Quincy goals.

John Kelly's two goals led Quincy to a 5-3 win over Canton with other goals by Eddie Kane, Mark Giordani and Brian Bertoni.

In Soccer

Quincy Hosts Norfolk, Raiders At Sharon

First place in the Norfolk Soccer Association was at stake Tuesday when first place Quincy [8-0-1] played at Foxboro [7-1-1] in their second meeting of the year.

The Presidents, hoping to make it two in a row over Foxboro and strengthen their hold on first place, today host Norfolk, go to Franklin Tuesday and wind up against third place North Quincy next Thursday at the Presidents' field at the rear of Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North, [5-2-1] which still has hopes of catching the leaders, had an open date Tuesday. The Raiders play at Sharon today, are home to Avon Tuesday and finish up against Quincy.

Last week North defeated Franklin, 3-1, in a makeup of a rained out game.

Brad Martinson scored all three Raider goals with Dick Golden having two assists and Jim Mullaney one.

Earlier in the week Quincy blanked Avon, 5-0, as it out-shot the losers, 32-6, and only the fine work of the Avon goal tender kept the score as low as it was.

The Ranalli twins did all the scoring for the Presidents as Massimo had three goals and Steve two. Assists went to Marty O'Toole [two], Tony Michaelangelo and Mike Priscella.

North had a field day as it overwhelmed Norfolk, 10-0. The Raiders, winning by their biggest margins in some time, scored three goals in the first period, two in the second, three in the third and two in the fourth.

Martinson again scored three goals, Dave Sullivan and Gerry Glynn two each, Golden, Tom Hoar and Mullaney one apiece.

Getting assists were Sullivan, Paul Wilson, Dave Merrill, Mullaney, Martinson, Mike Devine, John McKinnon and Touma.

The 10 goals were all the more amazing when it is realized that the Raiders had only 19 shots.

ENC Soccer Team Off To Good Start

The Eastern Nazarene College soccer team is off to one of its best starts in years and had a 5-1-2 record after last week's games.

This year's team, coached by Neil Nicoll, features five residents of Quincy, four of whom are in the starting lineup. North Quincy High graduates

Bob Meidanis, Gary Calhoun and Brian McCleery are all doing outstanding jobs for the Crusaders.

Steve Shoff leads the team in scoring and is the school's scoring record holder, while Roger Parrott, a freshman who starred at North Quincy High a year ago, serves as the reserve goal keeper.

Prospects are bright for ENC which hopes to win its first Colonial Conference championship.

Defense Stops Malden, 30-0

Quincy Crows Over 'Thunder Chickens'

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's "Thunderchickens" received their baptism of fire in last week's football game against Malden at Veterans Memorial Stadium and they came through with flying colors, making the Presidents' future much brighter.

After defeating Weymouth South in its opening game, Quincy was bulldozed by Revere, 37-8, and by Everett, 32-6.

Following those games Head Coach Hank Conroy and Defensive Coach Bud Mosher agreed something had to be done about the defense, rated at the start of the season as the Presidents' strong point.

"Many of our boys were playing both ways and I wanted to give a lot of our younger players, most of whom had little or no game action, a chance to play defense and use most of our two-way players strictly on offense," Mosher explained.

"Hank gave me the green light and I began to work with these kids, whom we nicknamed 'Thunderchickens' and I told them I was depending upon them to solve our defensive problems.

"The boys really wanted to prove me right and had a lot of pride in their work. They took up the challenge, worked very hard all week and I was convinced I had a group who would work together and show some needed unity. I think they proved me right against Malden."

The "Thunderchickens" certainly proved their worth as they completely stymied Malden's attack and sparked the Presidents' first shutout win in two years, a 30-0 breeze over the Golden Tornado.

Mosher admitted that some of the veterans playing both ways didn't like the idea at first of playing only on offense but they soon took it in stride.

"We are going to two-platoon as much as possible from now on," Conroy said. "We have a big squad and this way we can use many more players. I think we used nearly 50 boys in the Malden game."

Needless to say, the same defensive unit will be operating Saturday at Somerville where Quincy plays a 1:30 league game.

Somerville is 2-1 following a 28-22 win last week over Chelsea. It previously had edged Everett, 8-0, while losing to unbeaten Medford 14-0.

Mosher was on Cloud 9 following the Malden win and had a good word for every one of his "Thunderchickens".

"Paul Riggs and Robin Carrera were especially outstanding," he said. "And our secondary was superb as John Ford, Steve Burke and Bill Joyce did a great job against their passing [Joyce had an interception and long runback and Carrera came up with a fine interception]. Malden was unable to complete many passes [Bruce MacDonald hit on only six of 23 for 42 yards].

"Defense ends Bob Benn, Dave Ciani and Dan McDermott did a fine job as did our four men down under, Dan Murphy, Roy Shea, Bob O'Neil and Jerry Fanning. Vin Picardi is another who stood out as middle line backer."

Among the former two-way players who stuck strictly to offense last week were Frank Guido, Ed Sylva, Rick Sylva, Mike Varrasso, Dave Sten, Ron Smith and John Whitney.

"I think they did a better job, especially in the second half, than they did while going both ways and the rest did them a lot of good," Conroy stated.

Mosher expressed himself as "extremely proud" of the defensive group and he and Conroy were especially tickled with the performance of Shea, a senior who has been with the squad for three years but, due to injuries, had seen very limited service in the past.

The first half was a bitter defensive battle as neither team showed much on offense. Conroy made some adjustments in the second half, the blockers began to open some holes and the Presidents really moved and outclassed Malden in the last two periods.

SIX POINTS - Quincy's Rick Silva (44) scampers for paydirt on a three-yard touchdown run which put Quincy ahead 14-0 over Malden. The Presidents went on to win the game 30-0.

The one disappointment was the inability of the Quincy receivers to hold on to Paul Creedon's passes. Although Paul hit on only two of 13 passes, many were on target and dropped by the receivers.

Carrera, in addition to his excellent defensive performance [he was the defensive captain and called the defensive plays], also hit on all three of his passes including one for the final touchdown when the jayvees were operating on offense.

Quincy gained 179 yards on the ground and 88 yards on passes while picking up nine first downs. Malden had only 30 yards rushing, 42 passing and five first downs.

Evidence of the strong defensive performances is shown by the fact there were 16 punts, nine by Malden and seven by Quincy, five in the first half.

The first period was loaded with penalties and the only touchdown of the half came midway in the second period. Joyce had intercepted a pass on Malden's 25 and returned it to the eight but the Golden Tornado held.

A punt by Henry O'Brien carried only to his 47 and on the second play Creedon hit Bob Spillaine with a perfect pass for 45 yards and the score, Spillaine running the final 25 yards.

Quincy's attack finally jelled after the intermission. The Presidents added two points on a safety after Kim Derbes' punt carried to the Malden end. Murphy dumped the ball carrier in the end zone to make it 8-0.

Following the ensuing Malden punt, Wayne Ponder, who did a great job all day running back punts, picked up five yards and Whitney raced 38 yards to the three. Silva scored from there.

Quincy took over on Malden's 28 on a penalty on a fourth down punting situation and scored in two plays.

Creedon, unable to pass, raced around his left end for 18 yards and Silva went the remaining 10 yards. Creedon passed to Spillaine to run the score to 22-0.

The jayvees took over early in the final period and Sophomore Preston Carroll sparked a 56-yard drive which saw Carrera complete his three passes. The touchdown came on a 17-yard pass from Carrera to Gordon King and Pete Ramponi rushed for the final two points of the afternoon.

Cross Country Teams In Action Today

Although Quincy's cross country team has an 0-4 Greater Boston League record, Coach Tom Hall explains that the Presidents are just "18 seconds away from a 4-0 mark."

"We lost three of our four meets by 27-28 scores and they were so close that the total difference in our being undefeated and winless is 18 seconds," he said.

Quincy, 5-2 in the league last year, has bowed to Somerville, Revere, Malden and Chelsea.

Meanwhile, Bob Gentry's North harriers topped Everett last week for their first win. The Raiders had lost to Revere, Somerville and Medford.

Monday Quincy met Medford and North faced Malden. Today the Presidents take on Medford and the Raiders meet Chelsea. All league meets are run at Medford.

OFF AND RUNNING - Quincy High running back John Whitney streaks away on a 38-yard run to the Malden three yard line to set up the second Presidents touchdown in Saturday's 30-0 victory.

LEGAL NOTICE

Second Notice

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF TRANSPORTATION AND CONSTRUCTION
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

NOTICE OF CORRIDOR PUBLIC HEARING

ALTERNATIVE TRANSPORTATION IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE SOUTHWEST CORRIDOR FROM THE PRESENT TERMINUS OF ROUTE 1-95 IN CANTON TO CONNECTIONS WITH THE CENTRAL ARTERY AND SOUTHWEST EXPRESSWAY IN BOSTON.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, and the Department of Public Works hereby give notice of a Corridor Public Hearing pursuant to: Title 23, United States Code, Section 128; Federal Highway Administration Policy and Procedure Memorandum 20-8; and Section 5, Chapter 81 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, Ter. Ed., as amended.

TIME AND PLACE. The Public Hearing will be conducted in two [2] individual sessions, at the following times and locations:

Monday, October 30, 1972, from 2:30 to 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., at the Hennigan Community School Multipurpose Room, 200 Heath Street, Boston, Mass.

Tuesday, October 31, 1972, from 2:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., at the Hyde Park Municipal Building Auditorium, 1179 River Street, Hyde Park, Mass.

FACILITIES CONSIDERED. This Corridor Public Hearing is being held to provide an opportunity for public review and comment on the transportation studies performed by the Boston Transportation Planning Review [BTPR] with respect to [i] alternative corridor locations for Interstate Route 1-95 South [the Southwest Expressway] from the present terminus of 1-95 at Route 128 in Canton to connections with the Central Artery and the Southeast Expressway in Boston and [ii] as an alternative to the above interstate expressway, a new surface arterial street in the same corridor, from the area of either Jackson Square or Forest Hills to the Central Artery, including major improvements for streets crossing the proposed new arterial. Interrelationships between these alternatives and proposed transit improvements will also be considered. All parties with an interest in this matter are invited to attend the Public Hearing and to register their views through oral and/or written testimony and exhibits.

Specifically, the facility alternatives to be considered consist of:

ALTERNATIVE 1A-Arterial Street: new surface arterial street providing six lanes between Jackson Square and Ruggles Street, and four lanes from Ruggles Street, at Columbus Avenue to the Central Artery. Optionally, the street may be extended at a scale of four lanes from Jackson Square to Forest Hills. This alternative would be built in conjunction with rail and transit in the corridor either on the present embankment, or in a new depressed right-of-way.

ALTERNATIVE 2A-Four lane expressway: expressway provides four through lanes in railroad

corridor between Route 128 in Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing. Reservation in expressway median for four tracks [transit and railroad use] between Route 128/Canton and Forest Hills, four or five tracks in expressway median between Forest Hills and Roxbury Crossing, and a reservation in the median for future circumferential transit between Columbus Avenue and Central Artery.

ALTERNATIVE 2B-Four lane expressway: expressway provides four lanes in railroad corridor between Route 128/Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing; rail and transit facilities adjacent to the expressway consisting of four or five tracks for MBTA/railroad use; reservation for future circumferential transit between Columbus Avenue and Central Artery.

ALTERNATIVE 2C-Six-lane expressway: expressway provides six through lanes in the railroad corridor between Route 128/Canton and possible connections with the Central Artery and a proposed Third Harbor Crossing. Four or five tracks for MBTA and railroad use could be either in the median or adjacent to the roadway.

In addition, consideration will be given to four alignment options for the expressway alternatives described above through the Fowl Meadow area:

Alignment A-Original Department of Public Works Alignment: leaves the Penn Central Railroad Corridor at Reservation Road in Hyde Park, overpasses the Midlands Branch railroad and follows the Neponset River on an elevated viaduct to the vicinity of Paul's Bridge. The facility would also be elevated across the eastern boundary of Fowl Meadow and would connect with the present interchange at Route 128.

Alignment B-Penn Central Railroad Alignment: leaves existing Route 1-95 4,000 feet south of Route 128 and follows the Penn Central right-of-way on an elevated viaduct approximately 30 feet over the tracks. An interchange with Route 128 would be constructed south of Route 128 and partially use all existing interchange for 1-95 at Route 128. A sub-option for this basic alignment would be the construction of an interchange with Route 128 basically north of Route 128, also using partially the existing 1-95 interchange.

Alignment C-Combined Penn Central/Department of Public Works Alignment: provides a new expressway connecting with the north end of the existing Route 128/1-95 interchange. The alignment crosses Fowl Meadow on an elevated viaduct to an intersection with the previously described Penn Central Alignment [B], requiring no reconstruction of the existing Route 128/1-95 interchange and no construction of additional ramps.

As part of the development of comprehensive program packages involving the highway alternatives described above, the BTPR has also studied public transportation improvements in the Southwest subregion. The Public Hearing will consider the interrelationships between proposed highway alternatives and transit options in three major corridors:

Penn Central Mainline Corridor-Back Bay Station to Route 128, with a branch to W. Roxbury/Needham;

Alternative A.1-Full Electrified Transit: Improved commuter railroad service in Penn Central Mainline and Franklin branches; extend Orange Line rapid transit service from Forest Hills via Needham branch railroad right-of-way to West Roxbury and Needham; relocate the existing Washington Street Elevated [Orange

Line] to the Penn Central Mainline from South Cove Tunnel to Forest Hills; remove Washington Street Elevated when new replacement service is in operation.

Alternative A.2-Staged Construction of Electrified Rapid Transit Utilizing Dual Power vehicles with Commuter Railroad Improvements: improve commuter rail service on Penn Central Mainline and all branches; extend electrification from South Cove to Northeastern; install dual power vehicles and storage sidings for special powered car trailers; complete stations between Northeastern and Route 128 Needham; extend full electrification from Northeastern to Roslindale or Route 128, Needham; remove Washington Street Elevated when replacement service is available.

Replacement Corridor [Replacing and improving rapid transit service presently on the Washington St. Elevated]-South Cove to Dudley Station and Extended to Mattapan Square:

Alternative B.1-Subway Replacement Service-Light Rail or Rapid Transit: construction of new subway from the Mass. Turnpike through Dudley Station, and Grove Hall to Mattapan; a series of alternative alignments exist and have been studied.

Alternative B.2-Subway/Surface Light Rail Replacement Service: construct new light rail facility between Boylston Street and Mattapan via Dudley Station and Grove Hall, principally operating in a reservation within existing streets, with tunneling in areas where street right-of-way conditions restrict surface operation.

Circumferential Corridor-South Station to Kendall or Harvard Square: a semi-circular section of the cities of Boston and Cambridge, just outside the downtown of Boston, passing through inner city neighborhoods and the medical/educational/institutional area of the Back Bay.

Alternative C.1-Personal Rapid Transit [PRT] fully grade-separated system utilizing automated technology: new stations at all intersections with existing radial transit lines serving downtown Boston and Cambridge; additional stations where demand levels are highest, particularly in institutional area.

Alternative C.2-Rail Transit Circumferential: grade-separated rapid transit in sections of circumferential corridor with highest travel demand between Dudley Station and Kendall Station; extension of circumferential segment via radial extensions south to Mattapan from Dudley Station, and north to East Somerville/Sullivan Square from the Dudley to Mattapan extension, the same alignment options apply as are described in B.1 and B.2 immediately above.

Cities and towns affected by one or more of the above alternatives include Boston, including the communities of the South End, Roxbury, Fenway, West Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, Hyde Park, and Readville; Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Canton, Norwood, Westwood, Randolph, and Needham.

SCOPE OF DISCUSSION. Items to be discussed at the Public Hearing include but are not limited to:

Transportation needs of the Southwest corridor subregion as they relate to the alternatives presented. Anticipated social, economic and environmental effects of the alternatives presented;

Measures to mitigate adverse effects of the alternatives presented;

Relocation assistance programs for displaced homes and businesses;

Exhibits describing each of the alternatives will be displayed prior to the public hearing at hearing session locations and at other locations and times to be announced at the BTPR.

The following procedures have been established for the corridor public hearing:

Any interested person may submit oral and/or written statements at any one of the two sessions of the hearing.

All interested persons will have the opportunity to testify once before any person may testify twice.

The following time limits have been set for making oral statements: 15 minutes for public officials, Senators, Representatives, Chief Executives of municipalities, councilmen, selectmen, and aldermen.

10 minutes for all others.

There is no limit on the length of written testimony. It is requested that two [2] copies of written statements be submitted.

Persons wishing to testify are urged to schedule a time for their statements by calling the BTPR at 423-2672, ext. 32. However, persons may also schedule a time for their testimony at the hearing location during the times for each session.

Presentation of the alternatives for the Southwest corridor subregion and the findings regarding them will be made by the Boston Transportation Planning Review staff during each hearing session at the following times:

Monday, October 30, from 2:30-3:30 p.m. and from 7:00-8:00 p.m.

Tuesday, October 31, from 2:00-3:00 p.m. and from 7:00-8:00 p.m.

BTPR staff will be available in rooms adjacent to the hearing hall throughout each session to answer questions.

RECORD OF COMMENTS. All persons with a significant social, economic or environmental interest will be given an adequate opportunity at the Public Hearing to present their views through oral and/or written testimony. A verbatim transcript will be made. A period of fifteen [15] days subsequent to the Public Hearing will be allowed for the filing of additional written statements and exhibits at the BTPR Office, 100 Boylston Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02110.

The Public Hearing transcript and all written comments and exhibits received will be incorporated in the administrative record for the proposed project alternatives, and with the BTPR report will provide a basis for a final assessment of the feasibility and the desirability of the proposed corridor location alternatives.

OPEN INFORMATION MEETINGS. Open Information Meetings will be held for the purpose of presenting findings, answering questions and assisting interested persons in the preparation of testimony for the Corridor Public Hearing on the Southwest subregion transportation alternatives, at the following times and places:

Wednesday, October 11, 7:30 p.m. in Canton at the Canton High School, Washington Street.

Thursday, October 12, 7:30 p.m. in Roslindale, at the Roslindale High School, 110 Poplar Street.

Tuesday, October 17, 7:30 p.m. in Roxbury, at the Fair Building, 460 Blue Hill Ave., Roxbury.

Wednesday, October 18, 7:30 p.m. in Jamaica Plain at Curley School Auditorium, 493 Centre Street.

Also, a Regional Issues Information Meeting will be held on Thursday, October 26, 1972, 7:30 p.m. at the University of Mass. in Boston, Room 22, Arlington and Stuart Streets, Boston, Mass. The meeting will be conducted with representatives who will present positions on broad regional concerns relating to all of the corridors and sub-regions under study by the BTPR, including the regional core and the Third Harbor Crossing, the Southwest Corridor, the North Shore and the Northwest Corridor. Discussion will focus not on detailed impacts of specific facility alternatives, but on the broader implications of corridor alternatives on regional concerns. The meeting is open and the public is invited.

AVAILABILITY OF REPORTS AND OTHER INFORMATION. A combined draft Environmental/Section 4 [f] Statement and Preliminary Location Report has been prepared by the Boston Transportation Planning Review. This report documents the findings of the BTPR concerning the Southwest subregion and its transportation needs, describes the various transportation facility alternatives and analyzes the anticipated positive and negative impacts of those alternatives. Copies of this Report and other graphic materials are available for inspection and copying at the Boston Transportation Planning Review, 100 Boylston Street, Boston, Massachusetts. ## 'Halloween Surprise'

Taxpayers To Bring Reassessment Suit Tuesday

By DICK MATTULINA

The Quincy Taxpayers Revolt (QTR) is preparing a law suit to contest the legality of reassessed 1972 tax bills.

Atty. Jordan Zisk of Quincy said he has been retained by the organization and intends to bring suit in Norfolk Superior Court by Oct. 31.

Zisk declined comment on the content of the litigation, calling it the group's "Halloween surprise" for City Hall.

Tim Cardwell of Presidents Lane, head of the QTR, said his group is "fighting for the invalidation of all 1972 reassessed tax bills."

Cardwell said QTR is dedicated to "saving Quincy as a homeowner's community, which we feel it cannot be at the rate the city is escalating the property tax."

He said increases in tax rates and assessments are forcing residents to give up their homes and called for adoption of a tight-money approach to municipal spending.

He said Quincy is prone to "deadwood political appointments and a fat city budget" and cited the proposed skating rink at Quincy High School as unneeded spending.

Cardwell said his group does not feel it has to fight for 100 percent valuation "because the city is already stretching the law to avoid it."

"If the businesses in Quincy were paying their fair share, they'd be suing for 100 percent," he said. "We're for the little guy. We want fairness for everybody."

Cardwell questioned the procedure used in equalization of assessments, stating that the city has given no firm percentage at which all homes are to be taxed.

He said some 240 persons voted unanimously at a meeting at Willard School to request the removal of Quincy's three assessors.

"We hope to unite all civic organizations within the city together to fight jointly against the tax bills," he said.

Cardwell said he has launched a telephone and sound-truck campaign in an attempt to get 1,000 or more residents to attend the Nov. 6 City Council meeting and protest "unfair assessment practices, tax rate and tax bills."

Mayor Appoints Cheney To Assist Kemper Insurance In Move To Quincy

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has appointed city Development Coordinator John J. Cheney to assist Kemper Insurance in moving to its multi-million-dollar facility in North Quincy.

Cheney, who has been working daily on the completion of the Quincy Center Parking Plaza, will spend much of November helping Kemper people with last-minute details.

Approximately 650 people will spend their last working day in Boston on Nov. 24 and report to work in North Quincy the following Monday, Nov. 27.

Mayor Hannon says he sees "development such as Kemper as a key to the continued growth of the city, particularly in the area of jobs."

He said the Kemper project has created jobs through its construction and will make jobs for high school students and South Shore residents.

Kemper building manager H. F. Myers said his firm "has directed its recruiting toward Quincy and the South Shore during the last two years because Kemper was planning to locate here."

Cheney is working with Kemper to enable employees to cash their pay checks and spend more of their money in the Quincy area.

Tentative plans include shuttle busses from the complex to Quincy Square during the lunch hour.

At the suggestion of Mayor Hannon, the company plans to schedule an open house in the Spring for North Quincy residents.

S.S. MBTA Line Averages 23,000 Weekday Passengers

The six-mile South Shore Extension of the Red Line from Boston to Quincy - one year old Sept. 1 - is carrying more than 23,000 weekday revenue passengers, according to MBTA General Chairman Joseph C. Kelly.

Reviewing the first year of operations, Kelly said that on its first day in revenue service - Sept. 2, 1971 - the line carried 15,834 revenue passengers. Within a few weeks, ridership quickly built up to 20,000 - the figure projected for the line after 12 months of operation. On its first birthday Sept. 1, it carried 21,345 revenue passengers.

For the month of September, he said, the line averaged 23,000 weekday revenue passengers, a jump that apparently coincided with the end of summer vacations.

The biggest travel day, he said, has been Wednesdays. For the past several weeks, figures show that nearly 24,000 revenue passengers were carried on each Wednesday. As of Oct. 4, he said, the 24,000 figure was exceeded on two Wednesdays, 24,464 Sept. 27 and 24,428 on Oct. 4.

"The continuing and increasing popularity of the South Shore Extension," Mr. Kelly said, "makes it imperative that the MBTA's plans to continue the line southerly to Braintree and beyond are carried out. Only then will the rail transportation needs of the fast-growing South Shore communities be met."

Chamber Forum Nov. 1 On Graduated Tax

The Legislative Committee of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce will hold a Public Affairs Forum luncheon to hear a presentation on both sides of the Graduated Income Tax on Nov. 1 at the Sheraton Tara Hotel, Braintree.

John Dane, Jr., Tax Attorney, Partner in Choate, Hall and Stewart, former Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation and a current member of the Master Tax Plan Commission, will speak against it.

After the 12:15 luncheon, each speaker will have 15 minutes to present his position. The forum will then be opened to questions and answers.

The meeting is being held to help keep the Chamber Membership and public better informed on legislation which vitally affects the economic condition of Massachusetts. It will provide an opportunity to hear the pro's and con's on the issue and give attendees the tools necessary to make a yes or no decision on the ballot.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer Director, The Diet Workshop

Propaganda is an ugly word... So is brain-washing. So is exploiting. I am particularly resentful when these techniques are employed against children and through them their parents.

Are you aware of how the junk food industry plies its evil wares on the children in our homes? Nothing straight-forward, mind you. Just a sort of sneak attack without let-up. Latest is a campaign of "vegetables for kids who hate vegetables." Now there's a campaign I could really endorse except for the fact that the vegetables in question have been pulverized, mashed, smashed, and distorted into something resembling french fries.

My question is, why bother? Why not just concentrate on serving vegetables with a flair for fun? There isn't a mother alive who can't make vegetables more appealing to her offspring. The secret ingredients are imagination and education. The potent omission is nagging.

Find a spice your child likes and flavor his vegetables with it. Who says you can't nutmeg your spinach? Encourage finger food vegetables—it's delightful to drip a stalk of asparagus into your mouth and munch your way down to your fingertips if you're six years old. Nutrition counts more than etiquette.

Don't say, "Eat your vegetables, they're good for you." Say, "Did you know that carrots contain lots of Vitamin A and that's the Vitamin that helps ballplayers see so well?" Ever see a kid who didn't like pickles? Of course not. So vary the vegetable intake from cucumber to green bean by serving.

DILLED BEANS

2 cans french cut green beans
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
3/4 cup water
3/4 cup white vinegar
1 clove garlic
1 head dill or 1 teaspoon dried dillweed

Into a quart jar pack first four ingredients: green beans, cayenne, garlic and dill. Bring water and vinegar to a boil. Pour boiling hot over the beans. Cap. Allow to stand in refrigerator at least one week before serving.

No one has to tell a mother that kids are creatures of unpredictability. Capitalize on this. By serving vegetables a la surprise they become something to look forward to not something that you have to eat. Protect your child from the blandishments of those who would fill his stomach with junk by fulfilling his needs before he knows he has them. Ya gotta be clever in this mother business!

Puzzled about your child's weight problem? Let me help unpuzzle you by writing to me, Lois Lindauer, at The Quincy Sun, or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

40 Acres Open Space

Reuben, Lizzie Grossman Park Dedication Sunday

Forty acres of open space land will be dedicated as Reuben A. and Lizzie Grossman Park in 2 P.M. ceremonies Sunday, at Quincy Shore Drive and Fenno St., Wollaston.

The land was made available to the city of Quincy by the Grossman children. In cooperation with the city's concern for ecology, the tract will be used for conservation purposes.

Bernard C. Moore, Jr., chairman of the dedication committee, called the Grossman family "notable for its family pride and civic interest."

He said, "Open space is recognized as a priceless and necessary resource for human well-being. The preservation of land in the Merrymount Park-Black's Creek open space complex for the use of citizens of the city of Quincy is a credit to the forethought and civic spirit of many people."

Moore explained that the life cycle of salt marsh land provides a vital link in the food chain of many wild creatures, including birds, fish and shellfish.

"In nature's food chain the salt marsh is possibly the most productive acreage that exists," he said. "Destroying the marshes could lead to irreversible destruction of this delicate balance and eventually to the loss of major marine food sources for man."

Nissie Grossman, chairman of the board of Grossman's and representing the children of Reuben and Lizzie Grossman, said, "My family is proud to be able to help preserve a valuable resource by making this marsh available to the people of Quincy. It is truly a fitting memorial to my parents. They were always involved with the well-being of this city, which not only fostered their family business, but was, first and foremost, their home."

A 24-foot long memorial will be placed at the site. It will include a plaque bearing etched likenesses of the Grossmans and the following inscription:

"This land and its natural

Certificates Presented To Central Olympic Winners

Seventh graders on one of the academic teams at Central Junior High School is getting ready for the change to the metric system.

In science and math classes, students learned to think and to work in meters. The Senate approved a bill to the U.S. on a metric system over a 10-year period.

Language arts and social studies shored up the concepts with background and present use of the meter in other parts of the world. The culmination of the project was Junior Olympics at the Stadium where events included 50 and 100 meter dashes, standing broad jump, running broad jump, shotput, softball throw, and relay races. Everything was assessed in meters.

Some 110 young people participated in the Junior Olympics while some ran, jumped, and threw, others served as timers, linesmen, judges, recorders and photographers. Teachers of the students on this team are Mary Whalen, John Bokas, James Piccini and Robert Scheiss.

Certificates of awards went to first place winners:

Debra Mann, Girls' 50 meter dash, 7.6 seconds.

David Eastwick, Boys' 50 meter dash.

Debra Mann, Girls' 100 meter dash, 13.8 seconds.

MONEY TALKS

It's a Myth that Money Is Evil

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Hottelbrook
8-4 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday

It is about time for us to add another classic fallacy to our collection of Myths about Thrift. This one is based on a misinterpretation of religious teachings:

Money is the root of all evil.

It produces guilt complexes in persons ambitious to provide greater financial security for themselves and their families. It provides excuses for those who prefer indolence to industry.

These people misread the admonition of the Apostle Paul that it is the love of money from which every kind of evil springs. Money itself is not a root of evil; indeed, it may be considered a necessary condition for virtue.

Can a parent be virtuous when he sees his children naked and starving? Can a country contribute to the peace of the commonwealth of nations when its people are impoverished?

Philanthropy, which literally means "love for mankind" is best practiced when provident, industrious nations and individuals by work and self-sacrifice build up the wherewithal to assist others.

The concern of man for his fellow man has developed immeasurably in the past forty centuries since 2000 B.C., when a Babylonian could ask, "Shall I starve while my sister has children she could sell?"

H. G. Wells, in his Outline of History, pays this eloquent tribute to the philanthropic spirit:

"It is only within the last three or at most four thousand years that we have any clear evidence that voluntary self-abandonment to some greater end, without fee or reward, was an acceptable idea to men, or anyone propounded it."

"Then we find spreading over the surface of human affairs, as patches of sunshine spread and pass over the hillside on a windy day in spring, the idea that there is a happiness in self-devotion greater than any personal gratification or triumph, and a life of mankind different and greater and more important than the sum of all the individual lives within it."

"We have seen that idea become vivid as a beacon, vivid as sunshine caught and reflected dazzlingly by some window in the landscape, in the teaching of Buddha, Lao Tse, and, most clearly of all, of Jesus of Nazareth."

Americans generally do not appreciate how their lives have been enriched by philanthropists who amassed great wealth and put it at the service of their fellow Americans. Universities, hospitals, and welfare institutions have owed their origins to generous persons who used their money as a fount of charity, the greatest virtue.

The simplest answer to those who foster the evil-money-myth may be that you can't give what you don't first have.

Bryan First Quincy Man Killed In WW I

Commander James H. Cripps of VFW Post 319 instituted the George F. Bryan VFW Post on January 17, 1921.

The post was named for George F. Bryan, the first Quincy serviceman killed in World War I. He lost his life when the USS Jacob Jones was torpedoed in December 1917.

Commander Cripps officiated at the post's first installation of officers in April 1921.

Officers included George Mahoney, commander; Charles A. Forbush, senior vice commander; Frank E. Butler, junior vice commander; Frank M. Cubbuck, adjutant.

Also, Harry E. Willis, quartermaster; Charles W. Morris, chaplain; Robert E. Martin, guard; Charles K. Farrell, Charles F. Dysan and James H. Flaherty, trustees, and John H. Daley, officer of the day.

State and national VFW officials joined members of George F. Bryan Post for the recent grand opening of its new 600-seat function hall on Broad St.

The 75-foot by 105-foot addition to the post home was built at a cost of $150,000.

Ludwig Andolsek, United States Civil Service Commissioner, spoke at the opening ceremony on his commission's work with Vietnam veterans.

Guests included Mayor Walter J. Hannon; Robert Abare, regional manager of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Timothy Murphy, past national commander of the VFW.

Bryan post was founded in 1921 and named for the first Quincy resident to die in World War I.

The first meeting was held Jan. 17, 1921 at the home of Arthur St. John of 23 Abby Rd and the second was held at the site of the Sears store in Quincy Center.

Meetings from February 1921 to 1924 were held in the Grand Army of the Republic Hall.

The post moved to Alpha Hall at Cottage and Hancock Sts. and purchased the former Wisteria Bungalow on Cottage St. in 1935.

When the city announced plans to build a parking lot on Cottage St. in 1954, members decided to build their own post on Broad St.

A three-day open house was held in October 1956 to celebrate the opening of the $80,000 building.

Edward J. Dunn, vice president of the board of directors, said the building addition was necessary to accommodate the nearly 1,000 members of the post.

"It will also help us in our support of various charitable organizations, veterans benefits, athletic teams, senior citizen activities and veterans hospitals," Dunn said.

"As Quincy grows, we expect to keep pace with it," he said.

Officers of the post include James Lynch, commander; Robert Ahlstedt, senior vice commander; Frank Roberts, junior vice commander and Frank Kiernan, adjutant.

REP. CLIFFORD MARSHALL wasn't at the Needham Democratic Town Committee meeting last week just to be sociable. From all appearances it looks like he is beginning to stump Norfolk County in his quest for Sheriff.

Even though the election is two years away, it's never too early to begin a county campaign, as those who have gone through one can tell you. With 28 communities to cover, you can end up spending more time just driving around than you do actually campaigning.

It is certain that Sheriff Charles Hedges will step down in 1974 and Norfolk County may lose its last Republican office holder. Registration in the county has changed drastically in the last 10 years, going from Republican control to Democratic control.

As a matter of fact, the Republicans didn't even field candidates for treasurer or register of probate this year. For county commissioner they've nominated George Ferran of Needham to run against the two Democratic incumbents, George McDonald of Quincy and James Collins of Milton.

It is expected, however, that the Republicans will put their biggest effort of recent years into the sheriff's race. Next to the office of district attorney, politicians agree that the most powerful office on the county level is that of sheriff.

Without a doubt, on the Democratic side there are indications that the primary could shape up into a typical donnybrook. The big question still to be asked is where will George Burke stand? Will he actively support a candidate for sheriff as he did for treasurer this year. Will he confine his time to his own re-election campaign for district attorney or will he take the big leap and try for Attorney General?

SPEAKING OF the sheriff's race, latest word is that you will see the name Brownell on the ballot. Right now, however, the Speculation Corps is not sure whether the first name will be John or Thomas.

John Brownell is presently a deputy sheriff in Quincy, and his son Tom is the representative from the First Norfolk District, Ward One.

ONE NAME can be scratched from the list of potential candidates for next year's city election: Kathleen O'Donnell of Quincy Point. Continually mentioned as a possible candidate for School Committee, she has now made it clear she will not be running next year. She says she hopes another qualified woman will seek to fill one of the expected vacancies on the school committee. At the same time, however, she said she was not bowing out of politics. Rumor has it that she will be a campaign manager in next year's city elections.

ONE FEMALE hopeful being mentioned as a school committee candidate is Alice Kowick of Squantum. An administrative assistant for the Boston Housing Authority, she was a contender for councillor-at-large in 1969.

THE DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE held its "Pre-election Gathering" at Montello's Wednesday, Oct. 25. Invited guest speakers included: Senate Counsel James McIntyre, Dist. Atty. George Burke and Congressman James Burke.

AND SPEAKING OF Congressman Burke, as a result of recent federal legislation we may see more of him next session of Congress. Instead of 26 free round trips to the capitol from home, congressmen will now be reimbursed for up to 38 trips per two-year session of Congress.

MEANWHILE BACK at City Hall, reports are circulating, City councillors who now get $1,500 may get a hike to $3,000. That's what they got under Plan E.

SCHOOL COMMITTEEMAN Harold Davis was among the Quincy Democrats receiving a letter from the McGovern campaign asking for a "Skinny Cat" donation. This is all part of the McGovern campaign's effort to raise money from as many small contributors as possible, and put less dependency on the "fat cats". [We don't know whether he did or did not.]

TAINT SO, says Ward 4 Councillor Albert Barilaro, referring to speculation he might not seek re-election next year. "Rumormongers—that's what they are," says Barilaro. "Every year they start spreading rumors I won't seek re-election. But this is the earliest they have started. Just let it be known that I am definitely a candidate for re-election. Consider this my official announcement."

AT THE Quincy Armory the talk is about summer camp 1973. Most of the talk is taking the form of complaints. According to the latest rumor at the armory, the Quincy National Guard unit will be travelling to Virginia next year for summer camp, instead of the usual two weeks at Camp Edwards on Cape Cod.

HISTORICAL FOOTNOTE: When Fannie Hurst's obituary was written up in the New York Times, included in it was the story of a slimmed-down Miss Hurst presenting herself to F.D.R. and getting the now classic comment, "You're a lot thinner, but it's the same old Fannie."

- Nixon Puzzled Over Peace Talks
- McGovern's Used Car
- Special For The Birds

WASHINGTON— Democrats once again are dredging up the old familiar question about Richard Nixon. Political posters are asking voters: "Would you buy a used car from this man?"

The question is especially unfair in this political campaign, since George McGovern actually has had more experience dealing in used cars.

A few years ago, in fact, McGovern swung a sweet car deal back home in the Dakotas. He exchanged his used Chevrolet for a new Pontiac and then let a friend pick up $700 of the bill.

The friend is Paul McCann, a Minneapolis businessman, whose family owns an interest in James River Motors in Jamestown, North Dakota. McGovern sold his Chevy for $2,800, then picked up a $3,500 Pontiac at the factory. McCann made up the $700 difference.

At one point, the Internal Revenue Service investigated the deal. Agent William Heath questioned McCann about it and travelled to Jamestown to inspect the auto firm's records. The IRS, however, found nothing incriminating.

Senator McGovern himself has discussed the transaction frankly with us. He called the money he saved on the deal a gift from a friend.

The deal was all perfectly legal, but it does provide a new twist on an old question. A Republican might well ask: "Would you buy a used car from George McGovern?"

—Chinese Control Drugs—

New evidence has come to light that Mainland China is virtually free of drug problems.

Last summer, we quoted an internal White House memo which strongly refuted rumors that China was heavily involved in the international flow of illicit drugs. Recently, we obtained a secret intelligence report which backs up the White House memo.

The document's authors state: "We believe that opium production and consumption is under effective control inside the People's Republic of China and that any possible illicit export is in minuscule amounts."

The intelligence report concludes: "There is no reliable evidence that Communist China has either engaged in or sanctioned the illicit export of opium or its derivatives to the Free World."

Our sources tell us that the Chinese have a three-pronged antidrug program. First, they exercise strict control over the cultivation of opium. Second, they have instituted a vast program to educate the public on the evils of drugs. Finally, they have rehabilitated old opium addicts and put them to work.

—Around the U.S.—

NIXON PUZZLED—President Nixon has told Republican leaders privately that he does not understand why the North Vietnamese are cooperating in his election-eve peace negotiations. They must know, said the President, that they are helping his campaign by holding secret peace talks before the election. The President hinted to his friends, however, that Moscow and Peking have quietly brought pressure upon the North Vietnamese to settle the war. The President has suggested that perhaps the two Communist titans have told Hanoi that Nixon would be tougher to deal with if he is re-elected.

OILY BIRDS—The American Petroleum Institute has come up with another face-saving way to treat oil spills. It has published an expensive, full-color booklet on how to scrub down birds once they have been drenched with oil. The booklet is called "Operation Rescue" and took three years to prepare. A better title for it would be "Operation Double-Talk." The oil industry offers the public helpful hints on the dos and don'ts of cleaning oil-soaked birds at the same time that it continues to lobby against legislation that would prevent oil spills in the first place.

COLLEGE QUOTAS—Representative Bert Podell, D-N.Y., is investigating charges that the Health, Education and Welfare Department is quietly pressuring universities to set racial quotas for professors. According to Podell, unqualified minority professors in many colleges are getting jobs that should be going to more able men. HEW denies the charges.

SMOKESCREEN—The Air Transport Association is proclaiming in newspaper ads around the country that airlines have put an end to smoke emissions from jet aircraft, but environmentalists tell us that by getting rid of the smoke the airlines have actually caused the amount of invisible and highly toxic pollutants from jet engines to increase. Despite ATA's latest ad campaign, the Northern Research Corporation predicts a 200 per cent increase in invisible nitrogen oxide emissions from jet engines by the year 1980.

—Intelligence Items—

TERRORISM IN ATHENS—Black September, the underground Arab terrorist organization, may be planning strikes against U.S. installations in Greece. Intelligence reports warn that the strikes would be intended as retaliation against the United States for making Athens homeport for the U.S. Sixth Fleet. In Arab eyes, Athens has now become a U.S. naval base established to support Israel.

SECRET ARMS TRADE—French and American arms salesmen are engaged in an ominous, secret rivalry in the Middle East and Mediterranean. They are competing to sell arms to the Israelis and Arabs, as well as the Greeks and Turks. Secret diplomatic dispatches from Kuwait, for example, tell how the U.S. embassy is working behind the scenes to help American munitions makers peddle their war goods in Kuwait. This undercover French-American arms rivalry has helped to stimulate an arms race between Israel and her Arab neighbors, and also between Greece and Turkey.

SECURITY CHECKS—The FBI is quietly checking on 7,000 Arab students and teachers in this country. The G-men want to make sure none of these Arab visitors are terrorists who might attempt terror tactics against Israelis in the United States. Mean while, in Russia, intelligence reports tell of police checks on hundreds of thousands of Soviet citizens. The police are asking to see their registration cards — a sort of domestic passport which Soviet citizens are supposed to carry. The reason for the crackdown, the police explain, is to catch "criminals."

U.S. REBUFFED—The island of Madagascar which has served for years as a strategic diplomatic base for the West in the Indian Ocean, may soon open its doors to the Russians and Chinese, according to an intelligence report. Madagascar was solidly pro-American until President Nixon appointed Anthony Marshall, a political contributor, to replace David King as ambassador. King's friendly ties at all levels of the government were lost when Marshall took command. Now, the island's new military rulers are reassessing their commitments to the West.

HNCC Asks City Council Adopt Austerity Program To Curb Taxes

The Houghs Neck Community Council has asked the City Council to adopt an austerity program to help curb spiralling tax rates.

Members voted at a recent meeting to petition the council to use any federal revenue-sharing funds to lower the present tax rate rather than to fund new programs.

In a letter to Council

President Arthur H. Tobin, HNCC spokesmen asked the city council to reconsider the need for the school department ice skating rink.

The Poor Taxpayer's Prayer

Editor, Quincy Sun:

They said please grin and bear
Everyone has to pay his fair share,

25 percent is what they reported, 100 percent is what they recorded.

Turn your thinking about,
We can all do without,
A parking lot tall, a new city Hall,
Is money spent - no need at all.

We ask please do not fool
With a pool in a school
Or a college in the weed
That we indeed not need
I've seen many people angry and sad
Others down hearted and just plain mad
Old people worried enough to be sick Wondering just how, just how they could stick

Officials beware up there in the hall
Stop all this spending your ruining us all.

Urges Defeat Of Referendum To Retire Judges At Age 70

Editor, Quincy Sun:

We strongly urge the voters of Massachusetts to vote against Referendum No. 7 requiring the mandatory retirement of all judges in all courts of the Commonwealth who have reached the age of seventy [70].
We feel that the adoption of the Referendum will have a disastrous effect on an already beleaguered court system with its presently overcrowded backlog of cases.

The immediate impact of this forced retirement is the creation of thirty-nine [39] vacancies.
These vacancies will become effective a very short time after election day. It is this impact which causes our committee to raise its voice in opposition to this Referendum.

The fact is that we simply do not have enough judges now to administer our increasing legal burden. If the Referendum is adopted, we will have considerably less judges to perform a task that the present number of judges is unable to handle.

The Governor's AD HOC Committee is struggling to have the names of qualified men ready by election day, but assuming they do, this solves only a small portion of the problem. The tedious selection process by the Governor and approval process by the Governor's Council then starts, and recent history has shown this to be at best a time consuming and cumbersome procedure. Once it is completed, however, the training of the new judges begins and if in one year, the new judges could amass one-half of the expertise of the seasoned judges being retired, it would truly be surprising.

What is clear is that this delay will hurt an already over-burdened and overworked judicial system which in turn will inflict serious injustice upon the public.

Joseph J. Brodigan, Esquire
Chairman of the Committee to Defeat the Referendum Requiring the Mandatory Retirement of Judges.

Consumer Corner

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

A number of shoppers, eager to buy now and pay later, have ended up in the Consumer Protection Division complaining of costly and disappointing purchases made under a lay-away plan.

In response to these complaints, this office last year enacted a series of regulations governing all sellers using the term "lay away".

The specific problem which so many consumers have with lay away plans is that the terms of the agreement are often not made clear before the purchase is made.

Under these regulations it is now illegal to disclose or to misrepresent any store policy involving a lay away plan. In addition, the seller must inform the customer about particular aspects of the plan. These include:

1. If the customer's goods will be set aside for only a limited period of time and then returned to stock, it is the seller's obligation to notify the customer that this limit has been imposed.

2. The seller must tell the customer about any policy regarding cancellation of the lay-away purchase.

3. Finally, he must inform the customer ahead of time when payments will not be refunded if the purchase is cancelled.

Under the new laws, the seller is also required to meet standards set on the actual goods. He must deliver goods equal in quality to the goods that the customer has purchased.
It is illegal to mislead the customer into thinking that the actual goods he reserves on lay-away will be set aside for him if that is not the case.

The only case where a substitution can be made by law is when the customer specifically agrees to it in writing.

The seller is also required to issue a receipt showing the amount of the payment, the date, and if the customer requests it, the balance of the payments made up to that date.

Lastly, the seller may not alter the cost of the goods by substituting a cheaper item for the item purchased.

The Consumer Protection Division advises shoppers to acquaint themselves with the provisions of a reputable lay-away plan, in order to avoid costly and regrettable purchases.

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

Every three or four months I fly to Kansas to see my father...now 87...still vibrant and in good health. Last week-end we went...and on Sunday morning went to Church with my brother to hear his minister preach about love and acceptance. He told how he felt rejected as a little boy when he fell out of his mother's car...thought she had driven on...and the panic he experienced in that few seconds while she stopped the car and returned to him. This was his stepping off story to illustrate how devastating feelings of rejection are...for children and adults. He's one of the better preachers...really communicates with his hearers.

In the Church foyer were copies of Marshall Hodge: "Your Fear Of Love." [A Doubleday Dolphin Book] I bought a copy and while flying home read it. Like Rev. Ron's sermon the book is great...because it shows so clearly what most of us are wrestling with...this fear to love...the crippling effects of rejection...and how these early life experiences influence our adult lives...so that we really live with feelings of rejection...feelings of unworthiness...resulting in hating ourselves...and the resorting to all sorts of escape hatches...such as physical illness...mental illness...alcoholism...homosexuality...hating others...neurotic attempts to please others...the strict adherence to codes...rules...religious dogma and ethics...all escape hatches which people keep diving into instead of facing life with all its freedom...opportunities and loves. Too many of us get caught up in a cycle of rejection for our escape hatches only lead us to further rejections... "Who likes somebody who's sick and complaining all the time" ...and the alcoholic feels the further rejection because people are saying... "he used to be funny when he was drinking, but it seems now like he's drunk all the time and everybody suffers." When one is escaping from his hate of himself by trying so hard to please other people he gets to feeling... "I never quite measure up...I just can't seem to be good enough...do enough." So...with each "escape" we dig ourselves a little deeper into the hole of depression, and the rejection.

Here's John and Sally...married nine years...she's still escaping the adult man-woman relationship by her constant neurotic complaints and sicknesses. She can't care for the house properly because her back hurts...she can't make love because her head aches. And if these "supposed" complaints don't exist at the time of an intimate relationship she's afraid she "might" get sick. You can see this marriage is in jeopardy.

After John and Sally had been in group therapy for a few sessions she began to overcome the fear of relationship...began to enjoy being a free adult...and their lives changed. People can change when they want to change.

Pull out of that cycle of rejection...or you'll be caught in the whirlpool that can drag you under your own self-hate.

McCauley Urges School Dept. To Submit 'Tight Budget'

Quincy School Committeeman, Francis X. McCauley, today called on the School Administration to present as tight a budget as possible to the School Committee for the 18-month period beginning Jan. 1, 1973.

In a letter to Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, McCauley pointed out that Mayor Walter J. Hannon's action in raising assessments a total of $13 million dollars, has created a crisis situation for many homeowners in the city.

"I hope that you will go over all budget requests with a fine tooth comb, eliminating any and all items that are not absolutely necessary for the achievement of our common goal of quality education for Quincy's young people", McCauley urged Dr. Creedon.

McCauley, who led the fight earlier this year for open budget sessions said he hoped many concerned citizens would attend the forthcoming budget meetings.

McCauley also said he has received many calls from concerned citizens over the size and cost of the School department's administrative staff which now numbers 26 people at an annual payroll cost of over $530,000.

Dr. Creedon has been requested to defend these positions at budget time since Mr. McCauley believes this is one area where significant savings may be made.

Broad Meadows Open House During Education Week

Broad Meadows Junior High School will hold an "Open House" during American Education Week.

The program will give parents an opportunity to meet their children's teachers and, at the same time, receive a brief overview of curriculum and organizational structure for the current school year.

Tours will also be offered for anyone wishing to visit the special arts areas. Babysitting service will be available for those who would like to come but would hesitate to do so because of small children at home.

Schedules detailing when teachers will be available have been sent to all homes. Parents are asked to refer to this calendar to assure the availability of the teachers they wish to meet. If there are parents who have yet to receive the appointment schedules, they are asked to contact the school.

During the same week parents will also be able to vote for their representative to the Title I Board for 1972-1973 as well as cast their ballots for representatives on the School's Parent Board.

Most of the book is an introduction to Oriental astrology and the Oriental Zodiac. An Oriental astrological calendar is also provided.

THE UNEXPLAINED: Some Strange Cases in Psychical Research, by Andrew Mackenzie. [Abelard, $5.95] A very careful examination of ghosts and poltergeists. Most of the cases presented were selected from the Journal or Proceedings of the Society for Psychical Research. Notable for its quiet, detached approach.

THE NATURAL HISTORY OF THE VAMPIRE, by Anthony Masters. [Putnam, $7.95] A blood-curdling expose of vampires--real and mythical. The descriptions of human cannibalism and vampirism through the ages are well-seasoned with actual case histories. THE PSYCHIC WORLD OF CALIFORNIA, by David St. Clair. [Doubleday, $7.95] A fascinating excursion into the occult world of California. The whole range of psychics from astrologers and clairvoyants to healers and flying saucer buffs is covered, including a short history of psychic activities in this "Psychic State". A bibliography and a list of famous California psychics are provided.

Halloween is coming and it is time to read up on the occult. In fact it is the "in thing" now for all seasons to be knowledgeable in that subject area.

Miss Anne Keating of the Adams Shore Branch Library prepared the following list. These books are in such great demand that she suggests you call the library to place a reservation on the ones of special interest to you.

WITCHCRAFT, MAGIC, & ALCHEMY, by Emile Grillot de Gigny. [Dover, $4] A collection of over 350 pictures illustrating the occult from the Middle Ages to the beginning of the 19th century. A different and fascinating book.

THE NEW PAGANS; An Inside Report on the Mystery Cults of Today, by Hans Holzer. [Doubleday, $5.95] An intriguing eyewitness account of the new pagan mystery cults based upon primitive religions. Holzer provides a brief history of paganism and a detailed description of the beliefs and rites of the New Pagans who practice witchcraft and worship ancient gods. Here for the first time are published prayers and incantations of the various pagan rituals.

MY LIFE IN ASTROLOGY, by Sybil Leek. [Prentice-Hall, $6.95] An engaging account of one who is perhaps America's most famous witch. Her encounters with famous persons as well as her personal experiences make for interesting reading.

ALCOHOLICS AND MALNUTRITION

Have you ever wondered why you seldom see fat alcoholics? According to medical authorities, most alcoholics suffer from malnutrition. The calories from alcohol replace those that should be obtained from foods which also supply important nutrients. Also, appetite for normal foods may be quite poor, they say, because of frequent gastritis.

As the alcoholism progresses, the small intestine's ability to absorb nutrients decreases. Thus fats, fat-soluble vitamins, B vitamins, and proteins may not be effectively used. Also, alcohol increases the urinary loss of some minerals and amino acids.

Serious liver impairments, such as cirrhosis, are thought to be produced through a combination of poor diet and excessive alcohol consumption. Persons with less severe damage may recover completely after a few weeks on a good diet and no alcohol.

Hum 'n Strum Reunited--For A Day

One of the best shows of the week--or the year for that matter--took place the other day for an audience of five.

And, it was a show biz historic occasion.

Back together again after many years was Hum 'n Strum, famed harmony team and two nice guys.

Max [Hum] Zides and Tom [Strum] Currier got together with five long-time friends for lunch at The China Star in Quincy--just next door to the old Fox & Hounds [now Dutton's] where the pair packed 'em in for many years.

Reunited with them were Harry Carlson, the Dorchester-Milton tire dealer who got the group together; John Hurley, former state treasurer; Fred Sheehan, Quincy businessman; Harold Friary of Weymouth who managed theatres where Hum 'n Strum appeared in vaudeville and Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun.

After lunch, it was over to the piano in the then closed cocktail lounge. And soon, the years were turned back as the boys, singing as good as ever, broke out with such favorites as: "Heart Of My Heart", "Steve O'Donnell's Wake", "If I Knock The L Out of Kelly", "Whatever Happened To McCarthy", "Sweet Georgia Brown", "Why Do Beautiful Women Marry Homely Men", etc.

It's very rarely the pair get together these days. Tom, formerly of Quincy, now lives in Reston, Va. Max still lives in Brookline and keeps busy as PR man for the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome.

But there they were for a little while again--one of the top harmony teams of all time.

It brought back many fond memories for the pair and their friends. And for an elderly couple who heard the music while eating and wandered into the cocktail lounge.

"You sound as good as ever," said she.

"It's a shame," said he, "that we don't have fun music like that and singers like you on television today, instead of all that noise we get."

Max and Tom smiled and said "Thanks, it's nice to be remembered."

Frustration At Somerville

Presidents Host Winless Weymouth North

Quincy's football team takes a day off from Greater Boston League action Saturday to meet Weymouth North's winless Suburban League entry in a 1:30 p.m. game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Despite Weymouth's no-wins mark, Quincy Coach Hank Conroy understandably expects plenty of trouble. North rarely missed shocking Brockton's unbeaten powerhouse two weeks ago, losing in the final seconds, 7-6. It also bowed to Brookline, 24-0; North Quincy, 24-0; Newton, 10-0 and Waltham 20-8.

Two years ago Quincy just squeezed by North, 14-13, in the first game for the Maroons after the second high school was added, and again last year won by only a 29-26 score.

The Presidents return home after a frustrating 12-12 tie with Somerville last week at Somerville and with memories of what Coach Hank Conroy called "extremely inconsistent officiating."

"I don't want to make it sound like an alibi, but I've never seen such inconsistency on the part of the officials," Hank said. "Their tying touchdown late in the game came after Bob Benn intercepted a pass for us but fumbled when hit after returning it to Somerville's 40 and that set up the winning touchdown. What upset me was the fact the very same thing happened earlier when they fumbled and we recovered but the officials gave the ball back to them."

"Throughout the game many of their calls were questionable and I questioned some of the penalties they called against us."

Conroy hailed the brilliant punting of Kim Derbes, who did his best kicking of the season, and the passing of Paul Creedon.

Derbes got off several booming punts and Creedon hit on eight of 19 passes for 118 yards and a touchdown and several passes barely missed connections.

The Presidents' coach also lauded the all-around play of Paul Riggs, the defense of Benn and the fine performances of John Whitney, Ed Silva, Frank Guido and Bob Spillaine, who continues to sparkle at end.

"Our 'thunder-chickens' [the young defensive unit which made its bow against Malden two weeks ago with a tremendous effort], did their job again and deserved better than a tie," Conroy said. "They were under a lot of pressure and came through with a fine game."

Quincy's running attack was pretty well bottled up as it gained a net of only 42 yards, while Somerville ground out 182 yards. Somerville added 110 yards through the air with eight of 11 and had 13 first downs to nine for Quincy.

Quincy received a rough break when a pass from Creedon to Spillaine on the third play of the game for an apparent score was nullified by one of the many penalties assessed against Quincy.

With 2:12 left in the period the Presidents drove 61 yards high-lighted by a 28-yard Creedon to Spillaine pass and Whitney scored from the one. A pass for the points was no good.

Somerville tied it in the second period when it went 38 yards and Tom Wilson, its outstanding runner, scored from the nine. A rush for the conversion points failed.

Quincy regained the lead in the final period when it took over on Somerville's 39 and on the first play Creedon again hit Spillaine for the touchdown, Spillaine running over from the 10. On a fake kick situation, a pass for the points failed.

Somerville took over on its 40 after Benn's interception and fumble and two successive 15-yard penalties against the Presidents set up Wilson's second touchdown, a 10-yard run. A rush for the winning points again fell short.

North Foe Friday

Quincy Soccer Team Closes In On Title

Quincy's unbeaten soccer team tries to clinch its second straight Norfolk Association championship this week and again gain a state tourney berth.

The Presidents, 8-0-2 after last week's competition, Tuesday played at Franklin and today hosts North Quincy in the final regularly scheduled game.

North Meanwhile, entertained Avon Tuesday and winds up against rival Quincy today.

Ron Martin's Quincy booters, unbeaten in their last 22 league games [they were champs with a 12-0 mark a year ago], moved a step nearer the title last week when it tied runnerup Foxboro, 1-1.

Foxboro scored in the opening period and held the 1-0 edge until the fourth period when Tony Michaelangelo scored the tying goal. Ron Iacobucci assisted on the play.

North Quincy lost a 3-1 decision to Sharon later in the week to end whatever slim hopes it had of catching Quincy and Foxboro.

Tom Hall To Coach Quincy Winter Track

Tom Hall, like his adversary Bob Gentry at North Quincy, is now coach of all three Quincy High track and cross country teams.

Hall, highly successful spring track and cross country coach, recently was named the winter track coach, succeeding Gene Macomber, to whom he was assistant the past two years.

Gentry has been coach of North's two track teams and cross country teams for several years.

In another appointment, John Oliva, assistant the past two years to George Golding, was named North Quincy's head gymnastics coach. Golding gave up both his soccer and gymnastics positions to devote full time to his administrative duties.

Linehan TD Gives Cyclones 36-34 Win Over Braintree

Ed Linehan galloped 50 yards for a touchdown with 45 seconds left to give the Quincy Cyclones a 36-34 victory over the Braintree Bruisers.

The sandlot match for boys aged 12 and under living along the Quincy-Braintree line was played Monday at St. Coletta's School in Braintree.

Quincy quarterback Danny Walsh threw two touchdown passes to David Gore and Chris Ross and the defense held Braintree on the one-yard line with 12 seconds to go to cement the victory.

Fred Brandolini led the pass rush and Jimmy McKenzie was the star substitute on the six-man squad.

Central-Atlantic Deadlock

Broad Meadows Holds Sterling To 1-1 Tie

Although unbeaten in its last 32 games going back three years, Sterling's soccer team still has only a one-point lead over Broad Meadows in the Quincy Junior High League.

The teams battled to a 1-1 tie last week in one of the most exciting and hard-fought games of the season.

Amelio Michaelangelo scored for Sterling and Ken Donovan for Broad Meadows.

In another thrilling contest Central and Atlantic-North played to a 2-2 tie as Jon Golub scored for Central with just five seconds remaining.

Joe Piersall scored the other Central goal, while Peter Donovan and Ed McElaney were

Degan Outstanding

Bill Degan, wide receiver with the Quantic Marines Football Team, was named the Outstanding Offensive Performer in the 14-6 Marine victory over Gustavus Adolphus College.

Degan, a 1968 graduate of North Quincy High School and holder of four University of New Hampshire receiving records, nabbed four aenals during the Marines conquest over the Gusties. Gaining 73 yards on four receptions, he scored the only touchdown gained by the offensive unit.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Degan of 18 Livesey Road, Squantum, he received his Bachelors Degree in Zoology from the University of New Hampshire in June 1972.

scored both BM goals.

Including last week's games, McElaney was the league's top scorer with six goals, followed by Ken Donovan and Peter Keenan with four each and McEachern with three.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico Wins Final

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico shot a 45 for the low gross score in the final Ladies Tuesday Tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Course.

Mrs. George Doherty carded a 36 for the low net in the member-member best ball match.

Mrs. DiFederico and Mrs. James Galvin tallied a 45 for the low gross in team play, followed by Mrs. Richard Hoag and Mrs.

Three-way Tie For Top

Raiders Have Extra Incentive At Everett

North Quincy's football team has a lot of added incentive Saturday when it faces another formidable task at Everett.

Thanks to Everett's 6-0 upset win over Medford last week, the first loss for Medford's Greater Boston League favorites, North is in a three-way tie for first place with Everett and Medford. Thus, much is at stake in Saturday's 1:30 p.m. game at Everett Stadium.

North Quincy assured itself of the top tie by rolling over winless Chelsea, 34-12, at Veterans Memorial Stadium in what was a tougher battle than the final score indicates.

The win gave Ralph Frazier's Raiders a 3-1 league mark [4-1 overall], the lone loss being to Medford two weeks ago.

Everett has come along fast after a slow start and Frazier and his aides know the Raiders are in for as tough a game as they will have all year this week.

Moody Sarno's Crimson Tide bowed to Newton, 7-0, and Somerville, 8-0, in its first two games. It then roared back to trample Quincy, 32-6; edged strong Revere, 8-0, and then upset Medford on Ralph Nuzzo's 100-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Ralph Cunniff had his biggest day for North, scoring three touchdowns, including a sparkling 61-yard run, and picked up 138 yards by himself.

Sharing running honors with Cunniff was Chuck DeVarennes, getting a starting assignment only because of an injury to John Flynn. DeVarennes ran well all afternoon and gained 80 yards.

"Chuck is just starting to get hot," North's sophomore-junior varsity coach Ted Sadowski said. "Two years ago he scored two touchdowns in our sophomores' win over Quincy, the only win for us in a number of years over them, but he didn't play last year. When Flynn gets back, we'll have an even better running game with deVarennes in there."

"We made some mistakes, especially in the first half, and practically handed them their two touchdowns, but we got straightened out in the second half," Frazier said. "All in all, it was a good performance. It is hard to get the boys up for a team like Chelsea after making such a good showing against Medford, but they knew they were facing a better Chelsea team than usual after watching films of their games."

Among those singled out for their defensive work were Steve Fransoso, Bert Berton, Pete Quinn and John Stevens, rated by his defensive coach, Dick Meyer, as "one of the best in the league and vastly under-rated."

Bobby Morton turned in another excellent performance at quarterback, running well and passing well despite three interceptions. Several of his passes went off the fingertips of the would-be receivers.

The second unit did a fine job and drove for the final touchdown after a fumble recovery by Doug Connors. Especially outstanding in the drive were quarterback Carl Leone, Terry Egan and Phil Robinson. Bruce Stephansky also came in for his share of praise.

North at a net gain of 254 yards on the ground to 58 for the under-manned Red Devils. Morton and Leone hit on five of 14 passes for 58 yards, while Chelsea's Kevin Keohane, one of the GBL's better quarterbacks, had seven for 19 for 40 yards. The Raiders clicked off 16 first downs to Chelsea's six.

North was sluggish in the first half but went off the field with a 16-6 lead. The Raiders drove to Chelsea's 19 following the opening kickoff but a Morton pass was picked off by Keohane on the goal line.

Keohane's punt went only to his 25 and four plays later Cunniff scored from the three. DeVarennes rushed for the points.

Another Chelsea interception set up Chelsea's first touchdown as Guy Landers returned it 30 yards to North's 10. Keohane scored from the one but a pass for the tying points failed.

Another short Chelsea punt late in the half carried to its 34. Bob McCormick returning to the 26 and three plays later Cunniff went over from the 10 and DeVarennes again rushed for the points.

In the third period Morton passed to Billy Carroll for 10 yards and the third Raider touchdown.

The third Chelsea interception paved the way for the Devils' second touchdown a few moments later. Tom Duvall grabbed the pass on his 45 and ran it back all the way to North's 18. Keohane again scored from the one.

With the aid of some sharp blocking, Cunniff raced 61 yards to make it 28-12.

Leone, junior quarterback, romped 33 yards for an apparent score late in the game but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty, one of three North scores called back. He then hit Robinson with a 30-yard pass to the six and Robinson scored from the three.

Doherty Leads Squirts To 13-3 Youth Hockey Romp

Mike Doherty scored four goals to lead the Quincy Youth Hockey Squirt B team to a 13-3 romp over Cohasset.

Mark Boussy and Bobby Beniers picked up two goals apiece and Joe Rathgeb, Fred Palmer, Mike Panico, Carl Nord and Joe McConville rounded out the scoring.

Weymouth 4-2 on goals by Mark Messina, John Furey [2] and Chuckie Marshall and overpowered Hull 7-1.

John F. J.'s hat trick led the scoring with two goals by Robbie Craig and one each by Scott Richardson and Sean Dennis.

Two goals by Richie Stevens and one by Paul McCabe were not quite enough as the Mite A team lost a close one to Bridgewater 4-3.

The Mite B team lost 11-1 with Mike Cullen scoring the lone Quincy goal.

Goalie Jimmy Deitsch smothered the puck in a pile-up at the buzzer to preserve a 4-3 win for the Quincy Pee Wee A team over Brockton.

Goals by Dave Lewis, John Kelly, Brian Berton and Eddie Kane gave the Pee Wees the victory.

The team moved into first place in the Bay Colony A Division with a 6-1 win over Hingham featuring goals by Dave Lewis, Brian Jolley, Brian Berton, Mark Giordani [2] and Bobby Hayes.

Youth Hockey Tryouts

On The Screen

By Vincent Puleo

Now, 'The Godfather' In French!

The new Fall TV season's a scant month and a half old, and already that loveable, zany redhead LUCILLE BALL has had her show renewed for next year; her record breaking 23rd stance with CBS-TV... Actress JOANNE WOODWARD and screenwriter STEWART STERN are reunited in the forthcoming motion picture "DEATH OF A SNOW QUEEN". They previously worked together in the highly acclaimed critical success, "RACHEL, RACHEL"... CARRIE NYE [Mrs. DICK CAVETT] screen debuts in "DIVORCE HIS, DIVORCE HERS"...

More and more these days, prominent actors are turning to directing. The latest in this category being PATRICK MCGOOHAN and DARREN MCGAVIN... MCGOOHAN, best known to audiences for his TV series "SECRET AGENT", behind the camera debuts in "CATCH MY SOUL"... MCGAVIN, a movie and TV veteran of some 20 years, helms the PATRICIA NEAL starrer, "MOTHER'S DAY"... For both stars the move behind the cameras is twofold in purpose. One, they won't succumb to appearing in cheap X-raters; and two, superstardom as actors having eluded them, they are playing their skills as directors in hopes of new found careers [and the money that goes with being a "name" director]...

As far as Paramount is concerned, the sky's the limit. The studio has spent in excess of $150,000 for the French dubbing of "THE GODFATHER". Generally, most regular American features shown overseas are cheaply dubbed under $35,000... "THE GODFATHER" being the extravaganza of a picture that it is, so the no limits cost... DIANA ROSS deserves an award or three for her heartwarming portrayal of BILLIE HOLIDAY in "LADY SINGS THE BLUES". A magnificent performance by an extraordinarily talented young lady.

Hats off to "SUPER FLY", the most successful "sleeper" of the past six years. In it's first 10 weeks on the screen, the SIG SHORE production eclipsed the $6 million plus mark with ease... Considering the amount of publicity this film didn't receive prior to release in New York, the figure is even more astounding. No name critic so much as offered this hard-gut flic a line of space... The public liked it. Bought it. Talked about it... And by word of mouth, catching the critics completely off guard, "SUPER FLY" has become one of the hottest tickets in the country.

Norway's the place, and November's the month... JOSEPH LOSEY's "A DOLL'S HOUSE", with JANE FONDA, TREVOR HOWARD and DAVID WARNER, and "THE HIRELING", starring ROBERT SHAW and SARAH MILES, begin shooting there next month... The Supreme Court has made it official! Broadcasters do not "have to give opposition parties airtime to reply to Presidential appearances"... The Oct. 10th ruling upheld an FCC judgement handed down last year...

According to the latest Nielsen survey, "LOVE STORY" [ABC] tops the list of the Top Ten Movies seen on television. And that includes the video releases "BEN HUR" [CBS] and "BRIDGE ON THE RIVER KWAI" [ABC]... And while on the Nielsen score chart, the new season finds the following new shows in the top 30 winners column: "BRIDGET LOVES BERNIE", "MAUDE", NBC Wednesday MYSTERY MOVIE, "THE ROOKIES", "PAUL LYNDE SHOW" and "GHOST STORY"...

If ALI MacGRAW doesn't take the role of Daisy in the soon-to-be-filmed "GREAT GATSBY", then it's a tossup between FAYE DUNAWAY and TUESDAY WELD... TONY PERKINS career, long in limbo, is in the upswing... DR. JOYCE BROTHERS, the media's resident shrink, debuts with her "LIVING EASY" show the first of the year... ELEANOR PERRY is film scripting ALIX KATES SHULMAN's best selling novel "MEMOIRS OF A PROM QUEEN"...

Oscar winning actor BEN JOHNSON has been signed for the important Melvin Purvis role in the AIP production "DILLINGER"... And what of JACK WARDEN who quiz? No he's not in retirement. Just been tapped for a lead in the made-in-Israel "western" "BILLY TWO HATS"... [Next they'll be making westerns in China]... ANDY WARHOHL gains respectability with "HEAT". Took him all of 18 years to find the formula, but at long last WARHOHL knows how to make a decent picture. Certainly one of the best motion pictures of the year...

And if there's one new flic to avoid like the plague, stay away from "THE KING OF MARVIN GARDEN". Starring JACK NICHOLSON [an absolute bore] and BRUCE DERN [a fool's bore], the production is one of the most complex, question prone "art" films made to date. With a cast of unrealistic characters doomed to destruction, the viewer is never quite sure where they came from, and in what relation what one is to the other... Am still trying to figure out why the character portrayed by NICHOLSON is obsessed with the character portrayed by DERN. A fadeout all around...

Not everyone is fated for stardom as ANDREW PRINE and TIM CONWAY will so sadly attest... And MARK SPITZ? Better stick with water games. Has a lot to learn as he so fumbly demonstrated on the BOB HOPE SHOW recently...

Weymouth Rotary Club Presents Big Band Night Nov. 3

The unforgettable era of the "Big Bands" returns for an evening Nov. 3 at 8:30 p.m. at The Surf in Nantasket when the Weymouth Rotary Club presents the John Savini band in its eighth annual Pops Concert and Dance.

The 15-piece band features top "pop" tunes and the original arrangements of a number of the great dance bands of the 1930's and 1940's. Such numbers as "Song of India" "In The Mood" "Moonlight Serenade" "Begin the Beguine" "Two O'clock Jump" "Satin Doll" "Opus in Pastels" "I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm", played exactly as the named bands played them.

Featured will be the hit arrangements of such famed bands as Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Jimmy Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman, Harry James, Duke Ellington and Stan Kenton.

Each year since 1965, the average attendance has been more than 1,100, indicative of the popularity the big band sound still holds today. The John Savini band is comprised of a number of former big band musicians, including:

Al Anthony of Whitman, who played alto sax and arranged for Al Donohue, Shep Fields, Gene Krupa, Teddy Powell, Stan Kenton, Buddy Moreno and Tommy Dorsey. Al is now musical director of the Institute for Juvenile Guidance at Bridgewater.

Gene Roma of Cohasset, who played with Woody Herman and in orchestra playing at performances of "Godspell".

Lou Colombo, noted

trumpeter, of Brockton and Cape Cod - who has appeared in every night spot on South Shore, Greater Boston & Cape Cod. A truly sensational trumpet man.

Phil Wilson and Ted Casher on sax, who played with Woody Herman and Ray McKinley's quartet.

Mike Lalli of Brockton, one of the South Shore's outstanding musicians, plays baritone sax in the big band, although he plays many other instruments.

All proceeds from the event are used to sponsor the Rotary Club's Scholarships and other community projects. Be at the Surf in Nantasket, Nov. 3. You'll like what you hear!

Brisk Sales For Young Concert

Robert Brown, director of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, reports a brisk advanced ticket sales for the annual Young People's Concert to be held Nov. 4 at the Wollaston Theatre.

This is the first year tickets have been available in advance in retail stores. They may be purchased in Quincy Center at Jason's Luggage and Music Shop, Balducci's Subs and Pizza in North Quincy and the Wollaston Theatre, Warren's Thomas Organ Studios in Braintree Square and Sher Drug in East Milton.

The Young People's Concert is a major event in the four concert series held each year by the non-profit group. Particular attention is made to describing the music at the concert. Though the compositions are by such famed composers as Bach, Mozart and Shumann, Brown will give a running commentary on the works to enhance the performance for the children.

Parents have acclaimed the concert as "most enjoyable" though it is geared especially for the young people.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Veterans News

G.I. insurance worth $130 million was purchased by eligible veterans during the first three weeks of a new program through which G.I. insurance dividends can be used to purchase additional paid up coverage.

The Veterans Administration has given details of the program to 666,000 veterans who had left their dividends with the agency. Out of 219,000 replies thus far, 135,000 requested more insurance.

This option was provided by Public Law 92-188, signed by the President last December. Effective July 1, the provision allows holders of both term and permanent plan National Service Life Insurance [NSLI] policies, with numbers prefixed with "V", to use annual insurance dividends to buy additional paid up life insurance.

Notices are being sent also to 3.5 million holders of the NSLI policies who have accepted annual cash dividends. Out of 210,000 replies received thus far from this group, 105,000 have requested that future dividends be used for additional life insurance rather than being paid in cash.

For example, a 51-year-old veteran who would normally receive a $70 cash dividend will have the option of using the money to buy $153 in added insurance without affecting his future premiums. No physical examination is required. The amount of paid up insurance is determined by the insured's age and the amount of the dividend.

The VA notices stress that that each policy holder should complete and return the questionnaire whether he wants additional coverage or not. The updated information will help insure fast and accurate service on future claims under the policy.

Brett Urges Enforcement Of Cigarette Sale Law

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has urged the state to take steps to prevent the sale of cigarettes to minors.

In a letter to Attorney Gen. Robert H. Quinn, Brett said he was disturbed by "daily, unlimited and gross violations" of the law preventing cigarette sales to persons under 18.

"I personally would appreciate it if some steps could be taken to curb these unlawful practices in the interest of the health and welfare of many of our young people," he said.

He urged a directive to law enforcement agencies for "better control of these illegal practices."

Shea Rink Enclosure Scheduled For Completion By Dec. 1

Enclosure of Shea Rink in West Quincy should be completed in time for opening by Dec. 1, according to Rep. Clifford H. Marshall.

Marshall said MDC officials told him the translucent panels to enclose the rink should arrive around Nov. 1 with completion tentatively set for the middle of the month.

The facility will be open from 5 a.m. to midnight seven days a week for possibly as long as 10 months each year, he said.

LaRaia Urges Revenue - Sharing Be Put Toward Lower Tax Rate

Councillor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia has urged that Quincy's federal revenue-sharing funds be used to help lower the property tax rate.

LaRaia said he has been informed by Cong. James A. Burke that the city can expect the first installment on some $1.5 million in revenue-sharing funds in the next few weeks.

As chairman of the council's federal funds committee, he said he felt it is "extremely important that these funds be applied to much-needed property tax relief in Quincy."

Vacuum Cleaner Causes Fire

A short circuit in a vacuum cleaner caused an estimated $15,000 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Della Cruz at 59 Saratoga St., Monday.

Mrs. Della Cruz told fire officials she left her vacuum cleaner running when she went to answer her door Monday afternoon. A short in the motor evidently ignited nearby combustibles, fire officials said.

OPEN SPACES - Panorama from Court House roof shows parking spaces available in John Hancock Parking Area. Opening of the Quincy Center Parking Plaza Nov. 2 will bring the total municipal and private spaces in the downtown area to more than 4,000.

Slight Or No Increase In Tax Rate

Four Funding Plans Outlined For Physical Education-Office Facility

School officials are considering four plans for funding of operating expenses of the planned physical education/administration facility with three of the options causing either no increase in the tax rate or a decrease in the tax rate.

Carl Leone, Coordinator of Athletics for the school system, outlined the plans during a recent meeting with members of the Greater Boston League of Athletic Directors.

The three plans having no impact or a decrease in the tax rate would necessitate a rental fee for ice time. These fees would range from a minimum of $21.50 an hour to a maximum of $40 an hour.

The one and only plan calling for an increase in the tax rate—amounting to an estimated 65 cents—would provide for free usage of the entire facility to citizens of Quincy.

Two of the options under consideration would make the facility a profit-making venture which would result in a decrease in the tax rate of either six cents or 32 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation, Leone said.

A fourth option, with a rental fee of $21.50 per hour for ice time, would make the facility a break-even operation with no impact on the tax rate.

The net cost to the city to build the facility will come to $1,029,500 after an application of $1,020,500 in state funds. Leone noted that the state would not be reimbursing the city at all if it was just building a skating rink. The reason that the state will reimburse 65 percent of the cost of the physical education section of the facility is due to the inclusion of such areas as handball and squash courts, the indoor running track, and an area supplied with equipment designed for handicapped students.

The facility will be the first of its kind in the state and will offer seven unique and diverse services appealing to a multitude of children and adults in the city, Leone noted.

These features include:

- * Squash court.
- * Handball court.
- * A dance studio.
- * An ice rink.

* A gymnasium containing corrective apparatus designed for use by the handicapped.

* The elimination of transporting the high school hockey teams by bus at "four a.m. in the morning to rinks outside the city thereby making it no longer necessary for students to arrive at school late and tired and unable to study as they will have prime ice time at their own facility," Leone said.

Moreover, the new facility will provide administrative space and allow for the return of present administrative offices in Quincy High School to much needed classroom usage, according to Leone.

Mayor Declines To Appear At Taxpayers' Meeting

Mayor Walter J. Hannon declined to appear at Wednesday night's meeting of the Quincy Taxpayers' Revolt because of pending law suits.

Hannon said Assistant City Solicitor Richard McCormick advised him that statements at the meeting could "prejudice a law suit presently pending and also a suit threatened to be brought by the Quincy Taxpayers Revolt.

"To appear and prejudice either of these suits would be an injustice to the other taxpayers in the city," he said.

At press time Tuesday, The Quincy Taxpayers Revolt had not filed its suit, a Superior Court spokesman said.

Atty Jordan Zisk, representing the taxpayers, declined comment.

Gillis Predicts 89 Percent Turnout For Election

Voter interest in the Nixon-McGovern Presidential campaign is expected to draw a record number of Quincy residents to the polls Tuesday despite the lack of competition in local contests.

City Clerk John M. Gillis predicted that 89 percent of Quincy's 51,120 registered voters will participate in the election which offers choices for only four of 13 offices.

Contested offices on Quincy ballots include President, U.S. Senator, County Commissioner and State Representative from Wards 4, 5 and 6.

Democrats Joseph E. Brett and William D. Delahunt and Republican Jens E. Thornton will compete for the two seats in the Legislature from Wards 4, 5 and 6.

Incumbents Thomas F.

Brownell of Ward 1 and Clifford H. Marshall of Wards 2 and 3 are unopposed in their bids for re-election.

Incumbent Democrats James J. Collins of Milton and George B. McDonald of Quincy face Republican opposition from George H. Ferran of Needham for their County Commissioner seats.

Paul C. Gay of Walpole unopposed for Register of Probate and James M. Collins of Milton unopposed for County Treasurer.

Sen. Arthur H. Tobin, Governor's Councilor Patrick J. McDonough and Cong. James A. Burke are all unopposed in bids for re-election.

Among the 10 referenda on Quincy ballots will be the questions of a graduated income tax, lowering the drinking age in Massachusetts to 18 and allowing voluntary prayer in public schools.

A referendum for the 2nd and 3rd Norfolk Districts will determine whether or not representatives will be instructed to vote to reduce the size of the House from 240 to 160 members.

HOUSE FLY - MORE THAN A NUISANCE

The pesky house fly is more than a nuisance. A notorious carrier of disease, the common fly is capable of transmitting such conditions as typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera, diarrhea, tuberculosis, and food poisoning.

As the fly feeds on contaminated food and water, some of the matter clings to its hairs. Thereafter, the creature leaves bacteria-infected deposits - the familiar "fly specks" - wherever it lights.

Tighten up fly-control measures in your home by first tightening up all screens. Wrap garbage and other refuse in newspapers and place in disposal containers. Then cover the containers tightly so that flies cannot work themselves inside to feed. After the garbage is collected, wash the can. Be certain not to leave food uncovered or dishes unwashed and lying about. This is a sure-fire way to attract flies.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Checkmate. . . . Not some gambit on the black and red squares, but an honest assessment of the person you married.

Check your mate now, in your mind's eye. Has his waistline relaxed lately? His cheeks puffed out a bit? Does he huff and puff on a brisk walk 'round the block?

And what about you? What if he were to check his mate right now? Would he find that you have permitted a pound or two to sneak up on you? Do your sleeves bite into your upper arm? And do you greet an invitation to go out and do anything with, "Oh, let's just take it easy and sit?"

Answer any of these questions yes, and your king and queen are in danger. You need to make some fast moves to safety. One of these moves should be to review your diet with an eye toward making it less caloric. Use the other eye to make it less tedious and more tempting. You'll end up in focus with this simple dessert idea.

BRANDIED ORANGES

- 2 bottles No-Cal Orange soda
- 6 navel oranges
- 6 whole cloves
- 1 teaspoon brandy extract

Peel oranges completely removing all white membrane. Bring orange soda and whole cloves to boil. Boil for ten minutes. Add oranges. Boil three minutes and remove from heat. Place oranges in bowl. Add extract to soda and strain through sieve over the oranges. Chill thoroughly, turning the oranges once or twice during chilling.

Somehow early fall is a time of slump for figure and spirit. It's so easy to let down after the summer fun and the school furor. Suddenly produce counters have shed their burden of fresh fruits and vegetables. Days are shorter. Skies dull down.

Fall is a time of challenge to the soul. A time when you can relish exercise in the apple-crisp air, a time to savor hot foods on the table, a time to revel in the sniffs of something simmering on the stove when you come in the door.

Here is an opportunity to revamp your menus. Why not put the whole family on a diet without saying a word about what you are doing. Let it be your little secret but serve your meals diet-style. Then when you next play checkmate what you see may amaze you, and what your mate sees may make him very, very happy.

I'll be happy to send along our pamphlet of desserts for the dieter, if you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope with "Sweet Rewards Column" on the inside flap, to The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

Bright Lights, Wide Lanes Make Parking Plaza Safe, Convenient

Bright lighting, wide lanes and gentle-sloped ramps make the Quincy Center Parking Plaza one of the safest and most convenient structures of its kind, according to architect Joseph A. Donahue.

Donahue, designer of the $2.4 million structure, said that since the facility opened for trials Oct. 16 women drivers have been maneuvering on the ramps "like they're in their own driveways."

"I really don't think women will be apprehensive about this," he said, contributing to the carefree attitude of parkers is the fact that driving lanes are three feet wider in the plaza than in conventional parking garages, he said.

The extra three feet allows more turning space for easier parking as well as providing more passing room.

Driving from level to level is far from challenging as there is room for parking spaces and the extra-wide lanes on the gentle sloping ramps.

Donahue said the ramps are geared toward ease of access as a substitute for the circular "drum" ramps which are designed to handle rush-hour surges in other garages.

For evening parkers, Donahue guarantees lighting so bright and uniform that patrons may read a book at virtually any point in the structure.

"Motorists have told me the new streetlights around the plaza don't look too bright because the interior is lighted so well," he said.

Shoppers should have no problem finding their cars as each level is open for easy orientation with surrounding buildings.

Directional graphics will also be color coded to help patrons remember which level they park on.

Class Of 1937 Donates $200 To QHS Band For Dallas Trip

A check for $200 from the Class of 1937 was presented to the Quincy High Band this week to help finance their trip to Dallas.

The money was contributed by members and friends of the class at its 35th reunion, Saturday at the South Shore Country Club, Hingham. More than 300 attended.

Russell F. Johnson, chairman of the reunion committee, said class members were present from 12 states in addition to Massachusetts: California, Wyoming, Michigan, Ohio, Florida, North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

Duplicate prizes for traveling the furthest distance were presented to Louise [Teel] Casino of Los Angeles and Ida [Tangherlini] Keefer of Pomona, Calif.

Prizes were also awarded for most children [13] to Mrs. Mary [Salverio] Monti of Braintree, most grandchildren [14] Mrs. Ruth Kent Earle of North Andover, youngest parent Louis Rigo of Jamaica Plain with a son aged 3 and a daughter 2, and to Bernadette [Levangel] Lloyd and Gordon Lloyd of Quincy for buying the first tickets to the reunion, just 48 hours after they were mailed last February. The Lloyds are one of 11 couples in the class who married classmates, and four other married couples were present at the reunion: Lila [Peterson] Fee and Richard Fee of Hingham, Lucy [Fabrizio] Gallo and Gildo Gallo of Quincy, Elsie [Baxter] Happel and Albert Happel of South Weymouth, Sally [Johnson] Saluti and Aldo Saluti of Braintree.

Souvenir booklets "Our Class Today" giving names, addresses, and current status of the 594 members of the Class of 1937 were presented to those in attendance. Those who were not able to be present may purchase the booklet if they so desire from Aldo Saluti, at the Quincy Savings Bank, Franklin St., or from Russell F. Johnson, 9 Chickatabot Road, Quincy.

EASY ACCESS - Ramps from level to level in the new Quincy Center Parking Plaza feature gentle, five-percent slope, extra wide lanes and even parking spaces. The facility, which opens Nov. 2, offers 765 spaces including 198 on the top floor to be used by downtown employees.

Toastmasters Visit Quincy Police Academy

The Quincy Toastmasters Club met recently at the Quincy Police Academy at police headquarters.

Lt. Frank E. Mullen, Director of the Academy, spoke of the training program and the various uses of audio-visual equipment within the Department.

Detective William E. Donnelly, Assistant Director of Project SPAIS, described the computer system now being installed at police headquarters which will serve Quincy, Braintree, Milton and Weymouth.

The Toastmasters conducted their regular weekly meeting and speechcraft program before the closed circuit TV camera. Roger W. Campbell, President of the Quincy Club, commented that in our complex society few men escape involvement in situations which require some form of public speaking.

"Audio-visual aids," he said "provide the public speaker with a unique method for self-evaluation." Since its organization in 1924, Toastmasters International has provided training in communication and leadership for more than one million men.

The Quincy Toastmasters Club, Campbell said, welcomes men who are interested in learning how to conduct meetings and how to speak in public. The club regularly meets at the K of C H.H. 25 Foster St., Quincy Center, 7 p.m. Mondays.

Commissioners Declare Norfolk 'County Of Presidents'

A resolution adopted by county commissioners recently declares that Norfolk County "shall proudly be known as 'The County of Presidents' for all to behold."

Commissioners James J. Collins, Thomas K. McManus and George B. McDonald adopted the resolution because the county is the birthplace of three Presidents, John Adams, John Quincy Adams and John F. Kennedy.

"All appropriate county signs, stationary, decals, flags and other modes of communication shall bear the message in bold print: 'Norfolk County - County of Presidents', the resolution reads.

Hospital To Receive FDA Award

State Employment Office Open Thursday Nights

The Quincy State Employment Service office will remain open every Thursday evening until 8 p.m. beginning Nov. 2, in an effort to better serve area job seekers, announces Robert L. Daly, Supervising Office Manager.

The regular hours of the Employment Service office located at 1433 Hancock St., are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

State Division of Employment Security Director Richard C. Gilliland recently initiated the new plan to open the local placement offices throughout the Commonwealth one night a week so that every job applicant has the opportunity for all manpower services available.

Area employers who desire to use the office facilities to recruit and interview in the evening are suggested to contact James Connor in the Quincy office at 471-2750.

Manpower services offered in the Quincy office each Thursday evening will include job placement and preliminary discussion of skill training possibilities, according to Daly. Quincy area residents who for any reason cannot go to the local placement office during the regular office hours are urged to visit the office on any Thursday evening until 8 p.m., Daly said.

A Quincy man will help surprise Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" TV program Sunday.

Army Col. James D. Papile, appears as a special guest because of his friendship with Bench which began during the star catcher's Christmas tour of Vietnam.

Papile graduated from Quincy High School in 1942 and was an outstanding football player back then.

And, of course, he's a member of Quincy's well known Papile family.

GEN. SUMNER KAPLAN, the new commanding general of the 187th Infantry Brigade stationed at Merrymount Park, was formally welcomed to Quincy Sunday. Kaplan is presently a selectman in Brookline and former state representative.

Among those on hand to greet him were two of his former colleagues in the State House of Representatives, Joseph Brett and James McIntyre.

And if you were wondering what the noise was at Merrymount Park Sunday afternoon, it was an 11-gun salute, welcoming the general.

Back in 1956, as the newly-elected representative from Brookline, Kaplan was the first guest speaker of the Quincy Young Democrats Club at the old Knights of Columbus Hall in North Quincy. President of the Young Democrats at that time was Park and Recreation Board executive secretary Richard Koch.

TWO QUINCYITES are campaigning in the neighboring congressional districts. In the district to the west [the 9th], Louis Bertucci of Wollaston is helping to co-ordinate the town of Canton for his cousin, Joseph Moakley. And in the district to the east [the 12th], Jerry Pleshaw of Merrymount is the Cape Cod co-ordinator for Gerry Studds.

MEANWHILE back in Quincy, District Attorney George Burke got a few laughs at the recent Democratic City Committee meeting. In a rousing speech for McGovern, Burke explained that, "It's easy for me to ask you to vote for GEORGE, because I've been doing it most of my life."

JOHN SULLIVAN, JR. of Wollaston, executive secretary for the county commissioners is doing his share in promoting Norfolk County. He points out that as part of the overall "publicity campaign" for the county, the commissioners have approved the nickname "County of Presidents". With two Presidents from Quincy and one from Brookline [J.F.K.], Norfolk County is the only county in the U.S. that can boast of being the birthplace of three Presidents.

RIDERS ON THE MBTA last Tuesday certainly got their money's worth. They caught a glimpse of the filming of The Friends of Eddie Coyle, at the North Quincy MBTA parking lot. And during the rush hour, commuters returning home at the Quincy Center station rubbed shoulders with Ed Cox, campaigning for his father-in-law, President Nixon.

THE REUBEN AND LIZZIE GROSSMAN PARK was officially dedicated Sunday. Ceremonies at the memorial wall at Fenno St. and Quincy Shore Drive, were cut short because of the rain, and moved indoors to the Beechwood Knoll School. Former Mayor James McIntyre pointed out that the land on which Beechwood Knoll School was built was a gift of the Grossman Family.

The 40 acres of Grossman Park together with the adjoining Merrymount Park [a gift of the Adams Family], gives Quincy about 125 acres of parkland in the center of the city.

- Volpe Ambassador To Vatican?
- McGovern Takes Campaign Blame
- Shades Of Little Miss Muffet

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department is quietly considering a provision to downgrade the quality of Grade A butter.

For years, dairy associations have been clamoring for the government to set lower standards for butter and allow them to mix whey cream with high quality sweet cream so they can cut production costs.

Whey cream, we all know, was the favorite of Little Miss Muffet in the nursery rhyme. But for most Americans, whey cream tastes flat and slightly sour.

Agriculture officials don't dispute our estimate of whey cream. If lower butter standards are authorized, they admit, Grade A butter could taste a little coarse or aged. But the officials insist that the change would be "very slight."

Officially, the proposed new butter standards would allow U.S. Grade A butter to "possess any of the following flavors to a slight degree: aged, bitter, coarse acid, flat, smothered and storage. May possess feed and cooked (coarse) flavors to a definite degree."

When we asked an Agriculture official about these proposed changes, he gasped in disbelief. "Does it really allow all that?" he asked.

The man who will finally decide whether to lower the standard of butter will be Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, the same man who for months has been courting the favor of dairy associations around the country. Butz's predecessor, Clifford Hardin, raised the milk price supports for dairymen a year ago last March. Since then, the dairymen have poured more than $300,000 into GOP campaign coffers.

It may be just a coincidence, but the final day of filing on the new butter standards is November 7th. That's the same day American dairymen hope to see Richard Nixon re-elected President.

—Kaiser Foiled Again—

If the ITT affair has taught big business anything, it is the danger of putting its worst schemes in writing. No matter how many paper shredders a company may purchase, it takes only one Xerox machine and an employee with a conscience to expose even the best kept corporate secrets.

Each week, we receive dozens of anonymous tips from disgruntled employees about corporate misdeeds. Some tips are accompanied with incriminating documents. Occasionally, an employee is so enraged he even allows me to use his name.

Such a man is Jim Edwards, formerly Kaiser Aluminum's top salesman in Miami, who has opened up his personal files to us. They include company documents collected over nearly two decades. Some are humorous; others are downright outrageous.

For example, in April 1967, Edwards received an inter-office memo from Kaiser's executive headquarters in California. The letter begins: "Jim, I wonder if your years of Miami experience could help on a matter of industrial espionage..."

The letter, written by Kaiser executive A.H. Woodward, details a scheme to get inside test results on some pool equipment for a Kaiser customer named Air-Vent in Los Angeles. The letter concludes, in part: "This is probably a pretty tough assignment, Jim, but if somehow or other you could get this data, it would help Kaiser's position at Air-Vent tremendously."

Edwards, incidentally, refused to go along with the scheme and the project apparently was dropped.

Another document offers proof that in the spring of 1970 Edwards paid $76.80 for 12 jugs of mineral water. This is not so startling until you realize that the water was purchased especially for Chairman of the Board Edgar Kaiser, himself, who at the time was staying in his luxurious home in the Bahamas.

On a rainy Friday afternoon, Edwards got word to drop everything and get the mineral water to the Miami airport pronto. There, a company plane flew in to whisk the water jugs away to the Bahamas.

Forbes Magazine once quoted a Kaiser watcher as saying: "If there is a way to make a mistake, somehow Kaiser companies manage to do it." Edwards—an insider—agrees. And he has a drawer full of documents to prove it.

—Around the U.S.—

STILL MORE NUCLEAR BOMBS—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman James Schlesinger startled a group of businessmen in California recently when he told them that the United States is producing six to seven times more nuclear weapons now than it was producing at the beginning of the Nixon Administration. Schlesinger's comment passed unnoticed in the national press. We are told the new weapons are needed to supply the nuclear firepower for the MIRV, ICBM and Polaris submarine missile systems. Schlesinger, incidentally, approves of the increase. He tells friends he is worried that the SALT agreements may eventually erode America's will to remain first in military strength.

ALL HIS FAULT—George McGovern has decided that his failure to overtake President Nixon in the election campaign is strictly his own fault. McGovern has told aides that it's his image that is hurting his candidacy. In the closing days of the campaign, McGovern hopes to dramatize the issues by presenting them with more urgency and passion.

RUMORS GALORE—Assured that Richard Nixon will be re-elected, Republicans in Washington are all aflutter with rumors about the future comings and goings in the Nixon cabinet. D.C. Mayor Walter Washington is rumored to be the next secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Environmental czar Donald Ruckelshaus is said to be eying the top job at the Justice Department. And one of the strangest rumors we have heard: Department of Transportation Director John Volpe, a devout Catholic, is rumored to become America's first ambassador to the Vatican. One name frequently omitted in all the speculation is Nelson Rockefeller. New York politicians tell us Rockefeller will not join Nixon's cabinet until 1974 at the earliest. Rockefeller, we are told, wants to serve out his full term as governor of New York.

—Intelligence Roundup—

The Central Intelligence Agency has reported that the Egyptian army put down a mutiny last month by a battalion that was infuriated over the failure to retaliate against Israel for its attacks across the Lebanese border upon Palestinian guerrilla bases. The rebellious battalion, according to the CIA, was disarmed... A secret intelligence report, filed by the CIA out of Dar Es Salaam, claims that Portugal is using NATO arms to put down native resistance in its African colonies... When the Russians left Egypt last summer, they hauled away computers, guidance systems, radar equipment and spare parts. The lack of spare parts, in particular, has forced President Sadat to soften his attitude toward Russia. One intelligence report claims that Egypt has barely enough spare parts and other military supplies to last one week of hard fighting.

City Responsible For Maintenance Of Seawalls

The Massachusetts Department of Public Works has declared that cities and towns are responsible for maintenance, repair and upgrading of seawalls constructed by the state.

Deputy Chief Engineer Fred C. Schwelm made the determination in response to an inquiry from Rep. Thomas F. Brownell.

Schwelm said "structures on private property are the responsibility of the property owner unless the City, Town or some other agency has a maintenance easement for the structure.

"Structures on City or Town property are the responsibility of the City or Town unless the State, County or some other agency has a maintenance easement," he said.

• Youth Speaks Out

* In view of the fact that President Nixon has ended the war a week before the election, we are proposing weekly elections. Imagine what would get accomplished on Thursday and Friday if there were an election every Monday.

* There have been a number of skunks around Quincy High lately, which some students have thrown rocks at. There is a question as to who the animals are in this situation.

* Last year the man who helped drop the bomb on Hiroshima visited Quincy High; this year we had the man who torpedoed Tokyo Harbor. Next year we're expecting either The Boston Strangler or Charles Manson.

* Last week Mayor Hannon went over the Christmas Parade route with Mickey and Minnie Mouse, but we doubt the rumor that he is going to appoint them a job in the City.

* On the subject of the Christmas Parade—Once again, Quincy gets a jump on the rest of the world by having the parade on November 26. Santa is working overtime to meet the deadline.

* Most of the Nobel Prizes have been awarded. One notable exception is the Peace Prize. Unfortunately, it probably won't be given out.

Quincy Taxpayers Revolt

'Movement Of People, For People'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Taxpayers revolt is not people against government. It is a movement of people, by people, for people asking for help against the burden of taxes.

How can Quincy answer the pleas of help from its citizens? The answer lies in taking political expediency out of government and replacing it with business-like management where efficiency and economy is of prime importance. Over a year ago I advocated spending on only what was absolutely necessary and postpone other expenditures until the city was in a better financial position. I feared then that if this kind of action was not taken immediately we would be exhausting Quincy's greatest resource—the citizens of Quincy.

This past winter I personally presented to Mayor Hannon a detailed report outlining existing conditions, cost, savings and recommendations on several procedures for the Public Works Department which would result in a considerable savings to the taxpayers. As I have not received a formal reply from Mayor Hannon yet, I earnestly hope he explores these procedures for savings and possibly incorporate them in his 1973 Budget message.

This report was just one area of "looking within" to attain efficiency and economy. There are other areas to "look within" to put Quincy's house in order. Economy in many areas will affect the tax rate.

When efficiency, economy, and control of the tax rate is attained then Quincy will be in a favorable position to attract light industry and business to locate here. This will add to our revenue, alleviate the local unemployment and aid the local merchants, and lift some of the burden from its citizens. And then if we received Federal or State aid it will be a bonanza.

Peter P. Gacica
20 Stanley Circle, Quincy.

Consumer Corner

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

Many a consumer is beguiled into signing loan agreements simply because the lender advertises easy credit.

What at first appears to be a boon to shoppers may actually include unreasonably harsh terms. These types of deceptive lending practices are now illegal, however, under guidelines developed by my Consumer Protection Division.

Our office warns consumers to treat credit as they would any other purchase by shopping carefully and steering clear of the following six illegal practices.

1. Lending under Easy Credit or lenient terms, but denying credit to certain persons considered high credit risks. Any lender advertising under those conditions must guarantee credit to every consumer.

2. Raising the down payment price or shortening the repayment period for persons whose credit reputation indicates that they might have trouble meeting payments. A lender advertising Easy Credit must offer high risk customers the same terms that they offer regular customers.

3. Adjusting prices of loans or merchandise in order to compensate for lower interest rates. Lenders using Easy Credit terms must guarantee prices for interest or credit that do not exceed the average cost that other lenders in the same market are charging for similar loans.

4. Marking up the price of the product sold on Easy Time Payments in order to compensate for lower interest. These mark-ups must not exceed the average retail mark-up.

5. Resorting to unfair collection methods to collect money from debtors who fall behind in their payments. This guideline applies not only to Easy Credit terms, but to any type of credit.

6. Selling the Easy Loan repayments to a third party without making it clear to the third party that he has a responsibility for the quality of the product that the borrower purchased with the loan or credit.

The Consumer Protection Division asks that shoppers make the most of their borrowing power by dealing only with reputable lenders. These should comply with all six of our standards.

And like any other illegal business activity, deceptive Easy Credit practices should be reported to the Consumer Protection Division.

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

"Marriage Coercion Or Choice"

The therapy group had just started...Warren opened up with "I'm tired of being told when I should kiss Mary...when to hug her...of her demanding attitude." Everyone looked at Mary. "Shouldn't a wife expect to be kissed and hugged by her husband?" Mary said.

"On Command?" two or three said at once. "You know he isn't a dog trained to respond to your commands."

"But he never would show me any affection if I didn't ask for it...he's so cold," Mary continued. "Before we married it seemed he couldn't get enough of me...he always wanted to take me parking...and we just seemed so very...very close. I can't believe he doesn't love me any more. I even wonder if he has another girl."

These nice people had been married nine years...had three children...he was a junior executive and the company was pushing him...so was his wife. Besides he had a little side business for which he had borrowed money and he was barely making expenses. He had a lot of responsibility...a lot of headaches...and a lot of pressure. "She's right"...Warren said...things are different now than they were back in the teens when my big goal was to get her in the back seat of the car...I've got a few other things on my mind now."

The therapy group helped Warren and Mary to clear the air...to make some adjustments...in fact to reach a new agreement about their relationship...because the things they "assumed"...or agreed upon when they got married didn't fit any more. Circumstances had changed...feelings had changed...they had changed as persons. Warren was out in the business world...growing...doing things...creating a better world...is the way he put it. Mary had stayed at home...cared for the house and three children...she hadn't grown much. She didn't read...she didn't go out except to shop. She had ceased to be tidy and attractive. Hers was a life of "self-surrender"...of COERCION in a situation which he couldn't get out of...but which was literally destroying her as a person. The most she could hope for to brighten her day was a kiss and hug from her husband...who didn't see her as the vibrant...sexy partner she once was. So he felt COERCED to show affection...it wasn't BY CHOICE. No wonder his kisses were cold.

Another thing that the therapy group suggested was that Mary get a job...she was a secretary before she married...and with a little brushing up could again prepare herself. Thus she would get out of the house...meet people...take a new interest in herself...and begin to grow again. When she did this their relationship took on a new sparkle. She had been so close to the children that she'd smothered them in her efforts to be a "good mother". Now the children were becoming stronger...less dependent upon mother. So they benefited too. Now the family was living BY CHOICE...not by COERCION.

Therapy groups are friendly people...people who care...people who share their experience and insights with each other...who are interested in each other's decisions and progress from session to session. People learn here...perhaps better than anywhere else...how to open up their lives...and their marriages. Marriage as we've known it in the past seems to be marked by "giving up...not gaining freedom". The "ball and chain around my leg" kind of marriage isn't acceptable any more. Getting married shouldn't be a limiting experience...but a growing experience.

People learn in the therapy group how to put an end to their marriage of COERCION...and now begin a new marriage based upon CHOICE.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counseling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass. or call 326-5990 or 545-5947 or 659-7595.

Harold Nannis President

Wollaston Park Association Proposes Budget Watchdog Committee

Harold A. Nannis, former deputy Quincy tax collector, of 107 East Elm Ave., was elected President of the Wollaston Park Association, Inc. at the recent annual meeting of the 16-year-old civic association at the Quincy YMCA.

Other officers elected to serve for the 1972-73 term are:

Leonard C. Delaney, 116 Davis St., vice-president, Mrs. Walter Lucey, 39 Ridgeway St., treasurer and Miss Dorothy C. Kelly, 108 Davis St., secretary. Elected to the Board of Directors were:

Mrs. Arthur Crapanuk, 113 Franklin Ave., Leonard C. Delaney, 116 Davis St., Madeline and Dominic Flacetta, 55 The Strand, Herman Gauger, 141 Bromfield St., Mrs. Walter Lucey, 39 Ridgeway St., Mrs. Angela Roobian, 9 Ridgeway St., Benjamin Rudner, 148 East Elm Ave., Frank Valzania, 370 Fenno St.

The association, which helped start the homeowners' fight against revaluation in 1967 and has opposed 100 per cent revaluation ever since, said it is "very much concerned about the unexpected and undue hardship created by the 1972 increased assessments on small homes and Quincy's soaring tax rate."

In an effort to reduce city spending, the association is requesting Mayor Walter J. Hannon to appoint a Citizens Budget Watchdog Committee, comprising representatives of the various civic groups in Quincy [similar to the Zoning Study Committee] to scrutinize the 1973 school and city operating budgets and present their findings to the School Committee and City Council, in an effort to reduce the cost of city government and cut property taxes.

Wollaston Park [Beach Area] residents are invited to join the organization by contacting Mrs. Lucey.

The association said it "believes that it is imperative that taxpayers scuttle their apathy, and take a continuing interest in their government."

CONGRATULATIONS -- State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko congratulates Mary Ellen Reardon, 116 Granger St., Wollaston, on the completion of her training in the Summer Intern Training Program sponsored by the Department of the State Auditor. Miss Reardon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Reardon, is a graduate of St. Gregory High School and is currently attending Boston College.

Between the Covers

What should I do if my child is constantly disobedient? When is my child ready for school? How should I react to my child's questions about death? WHAT EVERY CHILD WOULD LIKE HIS PARENTS TO KNOW, by Lee Salk [McKay, $6.95] provides straightforward and forceful answers to questions like these.

If you find the age of slick image politics boring, you will enjoy the color, excitement and crudities exposed in THE BOSSES, by Alfred Steinberg [MacMillan, $8.95] an account of men like James M. Curley and Huey Long who created powerful political machines.

"It's a terrible thing to be Irish until you consider the alternatives!" So states Andrew M. Greeley in THAT MOST DISTRESSFUL NATION; the Taming of the American Irish. [Quadrangle, $8.95]

After presenting the historical background, the sociologist author compares the Irish American with other ethnic groups in 47 tables ranking their attitudes and achievements under headings such as the importance of good manners for children, sexual permissiveness, drinking habits, time spent with wife, etc. The Irish have the highest percentage of persons who consider themselves "very happy.. while the Scandinavian and Italian Americans tie with the lowest percentage, according to one table.

Broccoli loaf, nutty-apple butter cookies, blueberry-raspberry conserve, anyone? DX and Barbara Fenten give explicit and simple directions for growing your own fruits and vegetables, preparing them for meals, and for canning and freezing the surplus in their ORGANIC GROW IT, COOK IT, PRESERVE IT GUIDEBOOK [Grosset, $6.95] with helpful illustrations.

"If you are not a good cook, dust off the stove and take your friends out to dinner" is a sample of the advice offered by Lavinia Russ in A HIGH OLD TIME: How to Enjoy Being a Woman over Sixty. [Saturday Review Press, $5.95] A charming wit and gaiety prevail as she suggests that you save your fur coat for snow storms and don't hang your glasses around your neck. Don't be a bore, live exuberantly.

Must the entire burden of caring for the old folks fall on the daughters of the family or is there a way to draw the sons into sharing it effectively? Josephine Lawrence in her novel ALL THE YEARS OF HER LIFE [Harcourt, $5.95] deals with this universal problem. A woman with a husband and four children faces the dilemma of what to do about her aged parents whose home has burned down. She offers to share her home and the inevitable conflicts between the generations develop.

Our art librarian, Carmen Ungar, won the jury's top award in the annual South Shore Plaza Art show for her entry "Rockport Afternoon". The competition was open to members of the Milton, Braintree and Quincy Art Associations.

Wollaston Residents Pass Scouts' Halloween Test

Members of Troop 3 of Wollaston performed a special good deed Halloween night.

Twelve members under the supervision of Scoutmaster Wayne Johnson fanned out through the Wollaston area and checked approximately 300 homes to see what kind of treats were being given out.

"We were checking for anything of a suspicious nature," said Johnson. "There have been reports of razor blades in apples and other things in other communities."

He said he was happy to report that Wollaston residents; from what the scouts were able to find out, passed the test admirably.

Pennsylvania Glee Club At First Parish Church Sunday

In its only appearance in the Quincy area, the nationally-acclaimed University of Pennsylvania Glee Club will present an hour-long concert, Nov. 5, at 10:45 a.m. at the United First Parish Church [Unitarian] in Quincy Square.

Under the direction of Bruce Montgomery, the 46-voice group will offer a variety of sacred and secular numbers including a selection of 16th to 20th century church music with organ, guitar, piano, drums, trumpets and french horn.

Now in its second century, the Glee Club has performed concerts on TV as well as with symphony orchestras in the major cities of this country, Puerto Rico and in Latin America.

Included in the program will be a fully-staged church scene from a major Broadway musical which the group gave in churches in Finland, England, Bulgaria and Russia. There will also be a work for chorus and french horn by Mr. Montgomery.

The Quincy concert will be the premiere of a psalm setting by James Ceola, a senior in the Glee Club. There will also be excerpts from the Congolese Folk Mass, "Missaluba", by Boston composer Randall Thompson.

Founded in 1862, the university of Pennsylvania Glee Club is known widely as a chorus of versatility. Its diversified talents extend from formal concerts with leading symphony orchestras, such as the renowned Philadelphia Orchestra, and choruses of leading women's colleges, to conventions, to full-scale choreographed performances where the visual is as important as the vocal.

The Glee Club's conductor, Bruce Montgomery, has written numerous works for Broadway and off-Broadway shows, ballet scores, and several major choral works.

judgement follows the lines of the landmark Springfield case.

He said the legal action filed against the city and assessors also seeks to abate and refund all monies paid so far by owners of properties reassessed during 1972.

Zisk said the suit was filed at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday — just before closing time for the court.

Central Ninth Graders Down Point, Atlantic By 6-0

Central ninth graders increased their league-leading record to six straight wins last week, downing Point and Atlantic by identical 6-0 scores.

The seventh and eighth grade teams defeated Point and lost to Atlantic in a week highlighted by outstanding defensive play.

Russell Affsa scampared 40 yards for the score and George Magekin led the Central defense in the ninth graders' win over Atlantic.

Affsa provided the punch from five yards out early in the game and Central's defense gave Point fits to cement the 6-0 win over Point.

Central's Doron Ezickson knocked a punt loose and Wayne Gardiner pounced on the ball in the end zone, with two minutes to play, for a 14-9 victory for the eighth graders over Point.

Halfback Pat Gibbons had scored from 30 yards out in the second quarter to account for Central's other score.

The Atlantic eighth graders showed sparkling defense to hand Central a 6-0 loss.

John Lombardo ran the opening kickoff back 75 yards for a touchdown for the only score in an 8-0 win for Central's seventh graders over Point.

Defense was again to dominate as the Atlantic seventh graders scored early and held on for an 8-0 victory.

North Should Rebound V. S. Weymouth-S

Despite another outstanding defensive performance, North Quincy's football team saw its Greater Boston League title hopes dimmed last week and the Raiders will try to re-group against Weymouth South Saturday in a non-league game at Veterans Memorial Stadium before meeting Somerville and Quincy in its last two league games.

Coach Ralph Frazier hopes the Raiders' offense will perk up against Weymouth after being blanked by Everett, 14-0, last week at Everett as the Crimson Tide moved into first place in the league.

Weymouth South has yet to win this year but played a fine game last week in tying Abp. Williams, 8-8, and Frazier expects trouble from the Wildcats. South lost to Quincy, 22-6; Boston Latin, 13-7; Brookline, 31-8; and Boston Tech, 14-6.

"Our defense was never better than it was at Everett and it is impossible to single out any particular players," Frazier said. "Except for the two scoring plays, both tough breaks for us, I don't think they gained 50 yards."

"However, their defense was also great and they bottled up our attack very well. We had two golden scoring chances but just couldn't put it over."

The Everett field was a quagmire, which didn't help either offense a bit, but Frazier refused to use this as an alibi because, as he said, "it was just as bad for them as for us."

"Everyone gave me 100 percent and I can't complain, and it is just too bad we couldn't have brought home a win, the way the defense performed," the North skipper added.

Several of the North players suffered injuries and were taken to the hospital for precautionary x-rays, which proved negative, but Frazier isn't sure how many of them will be ready for the Weymouth game.

Everett's first touchdown in the second period came when Frank Nuzzo, trapped on his 40 after Everett had recovered a fumble on North's 33, threw a desperation pass down the right sideline.

It appeared to be thrown away only to have Kevin Washington come from nowhere to make the catch on the four from where Nuzzo scored.

"Nuzzo was only trying to get rid of the ball but Washington must have run 30 yards to catch the high pass," Frazier lamented.

The final touchdown came with less than a minute to play when Nuzzo broke free of the pack at midfield and raced 53 yards to score.

"This was simply a case of us having to try for the ball rather than tackle the runner, as we needed the ball," Frazier explained. "But the boys couldn't get the ball and that was that."

North controlled the ball most of the first half but had its first chance early in the second half when Burt Bray intercepted a pass at the Everett 44 but North then lost 10 yards and was forced to kick.

Four plays later Billy Carroll blocked Nuzzo's punt and the Raiders had the ball on Everett's 12 but quarterback Bob Morton, who was rushed throughout the game and completed only two passes, was dumped on the four on fourth down.

In the final seconds Morton hit Paul Cuniff with a 22-yard pass but he was stopped on the one as time ran out.

Medford, it could be fatal. The undermanned Red Devils captured their first win in six games last week, 12-0, over Malden. They made two other fine showings in bowing in the final seconds to East Boston, 26-22, and to Somerville, 28-22, and gave North Quincy a stubborn battle for a half before losing, 34-12. They also were walloped by Medford, 36-6, and Revere, 40-6.

Game Ball Given To Steve Goulart

The Quincy football players and coaches signed last Saturday's game ball and presented it to Steve Goulart, a senior lineman who has been seriously ill.

"Steve has been with us for three years and has never had a chance to make the headlines," Coach Hank Conroy said. "He was one of our hardest workers, always giving his all in practice despite the fact he did not play much."

"He was taken seriously ill three weeks ago and just returned home and the players asked to give him the game ball after we beat Weymouth North".

Veterans News

G.I. home loans in fiscal year 1972 jumped 81 per cent - the highest level in 15 years, according to the Veterans Administration.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said 359,000 loans were closed last fiscal year, compared to 198,000 the previous year. Loan applications at the end of fiscal year 1972 were up, too. They stood at 400,000 - a 43 per cent hike over the 279,000 applications recorded a year earlier.

Appraisal requests rose nearly 19 per cent during the period, from 545,400 to 647,000, and requests for determination of eligibility increased nearly 11 per cent, from 712,000 to 787,500.

Among factors cited for the upsurge were cuts in G.I. home loan interest rates, beginning in December 1970. The rate was reduced from 8.5 to 8 per cent, followed by reductions from 8 to 7.5 per cent in January 1971, and the following month from 7.5 to the current 7 per cent.

Another reason for increased G.I. home loan activity has been the general availability of mortgage money to finance homes, VA officials explained.

On The Screen

By Vincent Puleo

Billy DeWolfe Broadway Bound

Crime being of such colossal cinema fare, isn't it about time to dust off and re-issue HOWARD HAWKS 1932 classic, "SCARFACE"?... MARTIN BALSAM has been added to the cast of RAY STARK'S big-budgeted English production "DEATH OF A SNOW QUEEN"... Greek stockbroker STEPHEN FELLOURAS is making a film of MARY RENAUD'S classic, early Grecian historical masterpiece, "THE KING MUST DIE". And his first fling as a producer should prove to be boffo at the box office, what with MAGGIE SMITH and JOHN GIELGUD already sealed, signed and delivered via the dotted line...

GAIL RUSSELL was heavy star material away back in 1947 when she co-starred opposite JOHN WAYNE in the two fisted western, "THE ANGEL AND THE BADMAN". Or so insists author GEORGE CARPOZZI in his unabashed biography, "THE JOHN WAYNE STORY"... The book reads like day old fettuccini, and does an injustice to one of Hollywood's more durable legends... RITA HAYWORTH'S next is the psycho-thriller "WITNESS MADNESS". Though a B-grade flic, I know I'll see it when it makes the rounds just to see a "legitimate" star in action, Miss HAYWORTH, but never a pseudo claimant to the throne, one Miss RUSSELL...

Those prudish censors in distant, far-right Alberta, Canada. They still have the ban on "A CLOCKWORK ORANGE"... GLENDA JACKSON is holding firm to her, "in two years I'm divorcing myself from this business [acting] to devote my full energies to social work." Oh sure she will. Just like BILL COSBY claimed in the not to distant past... For the curious, CHARLES AZNAVOUR first came to public attention via three films made in the late 50's and early 60's: "HEAD AGAINST THE WALL", "TOMORROW IS MY TURN", and the TRUFFAUT masterpiece, "SHOOT THE PIANO"...

A little exposure in a hit motion picture never hurt anyone's career as JANE SEYMOUR will so smilingly attest. The eye-catching beauty of "YOUNG WINSTON" snared the femme lead of the next James Bond opus, "LIVE AND LET DIE"... "THE WORLD'S GREATEST ATHLETE" is being PR groomed as the funniest motion picture to ever come out of the WALT DISNEY factory... The picture strikes the national screens February, so we shall just have to wait and see if the DISNEY PR men are correct in their boast...

Quincy's BILLY DeWOLFE is in New York rehearsing for the Broadway bound "IRENE"... WALTER and MARVIN MIRISCH have been named "Producers of the Year" by the National Assn of Theatre Owners... And speaking of the brothers MIRISCH, their Christmas release will be BILLY WILDER'S "AVANTI", followed by their Easter special "SCORPIO", a BURT LANCASTER topbiller... DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S "longtime" protege, GENEVIEVE GILES [not much of an actress, but] is the symbol of a leading Japanese cosmetic firm...

Drag queens are gaining film legitimacy faster than the blink of the eye. JACK "SABRINA" DOROSHOW of "THE QUEEN" movie fame, is acting as an advisor on matter's relating to New York's gay world for the film "CRUISING"... The film, based on GERALD WALKER'S novel of a psychopathic murdered of homosexuals and the N.Y. policeman used as "bait" to snare him, begins shooting the latter part of the year... With a cast headed by TIMOTHY BOTTOMS [the cop] and JAN-MICHAEL VINCENT [the killer], direction by WARHOHL alumnus PAUL MORRISSEY, and consulting by "SABRINA", "CRUISING" should prove bait enough to lure customers through the turnstyles...

LAURENCE OLIVIER makes a rare screen appearance as the co-star of JOSEPH L. MANKIEWICZ' film "SLEUTH". The picture will be released come Christmas, and also features another prominent Englishman, MICHAEL CAINE... "DELIVERANCE" is delivering to a healthy stateside projected tune in excess of $15 million. An outstanding cinema achievement with performances of striking dueability by BURT REYNOLDS and JON VOIGHT... Must see viewing!...

The Nielsen TV batting order reads like this: NBC, CBS and ABC in it's Television Overall Program Performance... And what comes as a shock, at least to this critic, is the poor ratings of the JULIE ANDREWS telecast. Her vehicle packs as much viewer punch as ROY ROGER re-runs. Her show is in trouble... For some reason, unexplainable to me since I enjoy it so, the JULIE ANDREWS hour doesn't hack it with the home viewer. Thus far her showcase has been buried in the lower echelon of the Nielsen's...

Chess champion BOBBY FISCHER is in $3.25 million dollar "move" chaos. Attorney's for the CHESTER FOX & CO. film company are suing him for breach of contract... Prior to the world championship FISCHER signed a contract with FOX giving the latter exclusive film rights to the Chess match of the century... That was on June 28. In July, during the contest, FISCHER balked at any and all TV coverage. Thus FOX'S checkmate with his lawsuit... The next move is yours BOBBY!

Boston's WCVB-TV is number one in early evening news, both local and network [which spells anxiety for WNAC-TV and WBZ-TV]... JIMMY DURANTE is recuperating after an illness brought on by fatigue...

Foreign Language Students, Parents Meetings

Parents and foreign language students in the Quincy School system are being invited to special evening meetings in schools where the languages and cultures are being learned.

At these meetings the foreign language coordinator, the principals, and the foreign language teachers will present the Foreign Language program to the parents, answer questions, and ask for parents' involvement and participation in the program.

Matters to be discussed are the current program, the directions in which it is headed, present resources being used, students' needs and possible improvements.

The schedule of meetings which will start at 7:30 p.m. follows:

Nov. 8 - Sterling Junior High, Principal, Arnold Rubin.

Nov. 9 - Quincy High, Principal, Lloyd Creighton.

Nov. 14 - Central Junior High, Principal Vincent Moscardelli.

Nov. 15 - Quincy Point Junior High, Principal, Joseph Long.

Nov. 16 - North Quincy High, Principal Peter Chryson.

Nov. 20 - Broad Meadows Junior High, Principal David Tenney.

The letter which parents of all foreign language students will receive states in part: "... Learning a foreign language has always been a highlight of a student's life. For some years the Quincy Public School system has been working to upgrade that experience in order to help our young people to understand and respect other cultures and come to know his fellow man much better..."

Barilaro Asks MDC To Level Land

Ward 4 Councillor Albert R. Barilaro has asked the MDC to level land opposite the horseshoe court on Bunker Hill Lane as a children's play area.

In a letter to Commissioner John W. Sears, Barilaro said the clearing would "not be an expensive process" and would require "a minimum of bulldozing and seeding."

"On occasion, the police have been summoned to keep children off the street" in the area, he said. "The children proceed to the Little League Field [at St. Montz Pond] but are unable to play there because of ball games that are in progress."

Barilaro said he, Council President Arthur H. Tobin and area residents would like to meet with MDC officials to discuss their requests.

500 Attend Services For Harry Pavan

A community memorial service was held Wednesday night at Temple Beth El for City Solicitor Harry Pavan, who died Nov. 2 at Massachusetts General Hospital.

More than 500 friends, relatives and city officials attended funeral services at the Levine Chapel in Brookline Sunday.

Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue eulogized Mr. Pavan as "a most wonderful person."

"He had endeared the name of our faith in the hearts of other faiths. He exemplified a person who can be trusted," Rabbi Mann said.

Mr. Pavan was born in Quincy, graduated from Quincy High School, Fisher Junior

"The entire city stands with his wife and children in their time of bereavement," he said.

McIntyre said Mr. Pavan was "above all an outstanding lawyer who did an excellent job for the past seven years for the people of Quincy as their advocate."

"He was a true friend to me and his advice was always excellent and inspired by a fine mind."

"I know I speak for the people in my administration over the past six years when I say we will truly miss a loyal, faithful servant," he said.

Council President Arthur H. Tobin said he regarded Mr. Pavan's death as "a great personal tragedy."

"Harry Pavan took me in and brought me along with fatherly advice and counsel. I can never forget him for that. I owe him a great deal," Tobin said.

Councillor-at-large John J. Quinn praised Mr. Pavan as "a humble man, a compassionate person who radiated hope to his fellow man."

"Harry was an attorney-at-law who gained justice for many. He could be trusted," Quinn said.

College and Suffolk Law School and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1930 at age 19.

He worked his way through college and law school in a malt store at $6 a week and selling Fuller brushes door-to-door.

Former Mayor James R. McIntyre appointed him city solicitor in 1966 and he was reappointed each year under Mayors McIntyre and Hannon.

He was former president of the Quincy Bar Association, served on the Board of Appeals and the Committee for Taxation and Revenue of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers.

Mayor Hannon said he has "lost a true and dedicated friend" in Harry Pavan.

"Quincy has lost one of its finest citizens and a dedicated man," the mayor said. "Harry Pavan is what is good about government and our city."

Parking Plaza Opens

QCBPA Accepts Challenge To Keep Area Humming

Heavy rains failed to dampen festivities Nov. 2 for the grand opening of the $2.4 million Quincy Center Parking Plaza.

Ceremonies, including speeches by city officials and businessmen were moved to the ground floor of the facility.

The crowd cheered as Mrs. Kathryn Curtis, 86, of 1000 Southern Artery, chauffeured Mayor Hannon through a paper hoop to officially open the plaza of the garage "and now we are tossing the gauntlet" to the merchants.

Robert J. Colman, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, said the group accepted the mayor's challenge.

QCBPA Executive Secretary John E. Murray stressed the need for businessmen to "work together to keep Quincy Center the shopping capitol of the South Shore."

Hannon told the gathering that all Quincy taxpayers will benefit from the facility which he predicted will help buoy the economy of Quincy Center.

He said the city has taken the first step through construction and launch a 10-day celebration.

Former Mayor James R. McIntyre followed in a car driven by Mrs. Mabel Grady, 83, of 1000 Southern Artery.

McIntyre, called the "father of the parking plaza" by master of ceremonies Ken Fallon of WJDA, outlined the history of the facility.

He said city officials in his administration recognized the need for such a facility to prevent "urban decay" because "blight in the downtown leads to blight in residential sections."

"A healthy Quincy Center makes a healthy South Shore," Slate said.

The Quincy and North Quincy High School Bands performed at the plaza while invited guests enjoyed a continental breakfast at the Pewter Pot.

Guests included Councillors J. Vincent Smyth and John J.

Quinn, Rep. Joseph E. Brett, Public Works Cmr. James J. Ricciuti, Police Capt. Roy Cavicchi.

Also City Planner Geoffrey Davidson, Development Coordinator John Cheney, Park and Recreation Secretary Richard Koch, Francis X. Colleton of the Governor's Council on Highway Safety.

And QCBPA Coordinators Frank E. Remick and George White and Publicity Chairman Henry Bosworth.

Mrs. Helen Grazioso of the Downtown Steering Committee, Eric Swider, Chamber of Commerce; Charles N. Ross, son of former Mayor Charles A. Ross; architect Joseph A. Donahue.

Clerk of the Works Edward Seaman, President Gil Bern, Area Superintendent Leo Verrochi and Project Superintendent John LaCamera of Gil Bern Construction Co.

Teacher Contract Negotiations On School Committee Agenda

Re-opening of negotiations on the 1973-74 teacher contract will be among the items discussed at tonight's School Committee meeting.

The meeting was postponed to Thursday this week so that committee members could attend a service for City Solicitor Harry Pavan who died Nov. 2.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, said he has received a letter of intent from the Quincy Education Association indicating it wishes to re-open contract talks.

Items on the agenda include discussions of proposed legislation regarding negotiations and an address by Harold Crowley, president of the QEA.

The committee will consider a request to authorize sale of raffle tickets during high school football games by the Quincy Lions Club.

Topics for discussion include:

- * Teaching religion in public schools.

- * North Quincy High School accreditation.

- * Educational goals for Massachusetts.

- * Variable flexible scheduling.

- * Building programs.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the school committee rooms at Quincy High School.

Subcommittees Planning Events For City's 350th Anniversary

Blitz Party Nov. 15 To Benefit Quincy High Band

A special Blitz party will be held at St. Boniface Hall, Germantown, at 8 p.m. Nov. 15 to benefit the Quincy High School band.

Proceeds from the Blitz will help defray costs of sending the 128 members of the band to Dallas for the 1972 Cotton Bowl parade and pre-game show.

Fund-raising chairman Robert

Denriv said the drive has raised more than $8,000 to date with major donors including the Classes of 1962, 1952, 1937 and June 1932.

Harry Pavan

Harry Pavan apologized to Mayor Hannon last Wednesday for being sick and pledged to be out of Massachusetts General Hospital and back to work soon.

He never said a word about his illness because that wasn't his style.

Harry Pavan had always been too concerned with the welfare of his friends and his city to complain about his own troubles.

The next morning, City Hall was stunned by the news of his death.

In his seven years as city solicitor, Harry had touched the lives of virtually every city employee through his warmth, his sincerity, his dedication.

His death has deprived Quincy of an outstanding attorney and a good friend.

Harry Pavan served the City of Quincy as people's attorney tirelessly and with great dedication.

The problems he faced and conquered were among the most complex the city has faced, including issues surrounding the MBTA extension, dumping, revaluation and property tax rates.

He distinguished himself in those seven years as an efficient, capable attorney and as an understanding, compassionate man.

When tempers flared at City Hall it was Harry Pavan who consistently provided the voice of reason.

When citizens had complaints about city government, it was Harry Pavan who consistently offered a sympathetic ear.

When mayors or councilors or clerks were in doubt, it was Harry Pavan to whom they turned for sage advice.

Harry became city solicitor at former Mayor James McIntyre's request and out of a sense of civic responsibility.

He did his work quietly, behind the scenes, never seeking the headlines he earned.

We join the people of Quincy in offering to him in death the heartfelt thanks and praise he would not accept in life.

Alav ha-sholom.

•Youth Speaks Out

•Politics is still with us - The Quincy High administration must have a secret plan to institute the Open Campus program, because even though the school committee voted the program in over a month ago, there has been no word as to when it will start.

•The Quincy Parking Plaza, now open. Calling it a Plaza rather than what it is - a parking garage, has obviously enhanced its beauty.

•While on the subject - the excitement generated by the opening celebration of the parking garage was immense. It's not often that you can see the high school bands playing, while eight shoppers and two meter maids dance the Boogie-Woogie.

•Anybody for a game of Hocball? It's a new game to be played by the Bruins and Patriots to see who's worse.

•We hope that at least one person you voted for got elected. Shutouts are so disheartening.

•The rumor is not true that because of high taxes, John Adams and John Quincy Adams will be moving from Quincy.

- Confetti For Nixon
- Tragic S.S. Hearing's Delay
- A Yippie Revolt

WASHINGTON—Tons of confetti hit the fan when President Nixon paraded majestically through downtown Atlanta last month.

The litter poured out of office windows as the President passed by. The President was delighted, but at least one Southerner, 19-year-old bank clerk Marian Landis, was appalled.

Once the downpour had begun, Mrs. Landis tried to put a stop to a confetti operation in a building near where she works. She trooped up to the tenth floor of the William Oliver Building where she expected to find employees throwing paper snow.

Instead, she found an office suite filled with a half-dozen or more men in shirt sleeves hauling bags of confetti in front of a huge fan. The man who greeted her at the door was armed with a pistol in a shoulder holster.

"I was surprised," Mrs. Landis told us, but she was still angry enough to deliver a stinging anti-litter speech.

"When I asked him to quit, he refused," she said. "When I asked him who he was, he said he was a Secret Service agent. I could tell they weren't volunteers."

The Secret Service denies that any of its agents were in the room, but it admits that it frequently uses local law officials to monitor confetti operations along parade routes for security reasons.

But the only apparent security involved here was making sure the President was well received.

—Tragic Delays—

Disabled citizens who have been turned down for Social Security benefits are encountering huge delays in appealing their cases before government hearing examiners.

A serious shortage of hearing examiners, we have learned, has caused delays of six months to a year for thousands of citizens across the country.

Right now, there are 33,000 disabled citizens awaiting hearings and only 336 judges, authorized to listen to them. That adds up to a backlog of about 100 cases for every hearing examiner. And every day, the backlog gets worse. In Cleveland alone, hearing examiners are falling behind at a rate of 35 cases a month.

In human terms, the delays can be tragic. Paula Hanley of Akron, Ohio, for example, has suffered from multiple sclerosis since 1970. She has been bedridden for at least 12 months of the last two years. A mother of two, she and her husband can't pay the mounting medical bills. She has waited six months for a hearing date and still none has been set.

In another documented case, a 35-year-old father of three became so upset over his poor health and failure to get a response from Social Security that last month he simply dropped out of sight. The man had been out of work since last January when he was forced to quit his job because he had emphysema — a chronic lung condition. His family is now almost penniless.

The Bureau of Hearings and Appeals has requested money for twice as many examiners to handle the backlog of cases. But we have learned the request has been denied.

—A Yippie Revolt—

Young radicals, dejected by their failure to whip up anti-establishment sentiment, this election year, apparently have turned against three elders of the Yippie movement — Abbie Hoffman, Jerry Rubin and Ed Sanders.

Four years ago, the three Yippies led the youth demonstrations in Chicago against the system. But this year they are urging followers to work within the system and vote against Richard Nixon.

Their views are spelled out in a new book, "Vote," which they co-authored after covering the political conventions in Miami Beach last summer.

Since their return from Miami Beach last August, all three have been victims of harassment by former followers. Here are some examples which we have carefully verified:

•Jerry Rubin's car has been vandalized — or "trashed," as the radicals put it — on two different occasions. The last time, damage was so extensive he junked it. Three days later, someone threw a rock through Rubin's front window in the middle of the night.

•Ed Sanders has had similar car trouble. His car windows were smashed, the tires were slashed and a foreign substance was poured in the gas tank. Sanders, furthermore, has been threatened with physical harm.

•Abbie Hoffman went on tour to promote the book and everywhere he went letters mysteriously preceded him. The letters, written on Yippie stationery, denounced the three co-authors as over-the-hill hippies, who are trying to exploit the "movement."

Their publisher, furthermore, has been inundated with hate mail. One envelope contained human waste.

The zany trio refuses to discuss who is after them. But the word is out that the "crazies" — as the young anarchists are called — now regard Abbie Hoffman, Jerry Rubin and Ed Sanders, of all people, as establishment capitalists.

Between the Covers

A book which must contain everything you could possibly want to know about American made parachutes has been donated to the Library by its author, Daniel F. Poynter, a Quincy resident. THE PARACHUTE MANUAL [Parachute Publications, 48 Walker St., North Quincy, $19.95] consists of more than 480 pages, more than 2,000 illustrations, and is in a black vinyl three ring binder. It will be available for use in the Reference Room of the Main Library.

The heyday, drama and splendor of shipboard life on the great ocean liners, the structure and operation of the ships, the crews, the stowaways and jewel thieves, and the great disasters of a golden era are vividly described by John Maxtone-Graham in THE ONLY WAY TO CROSS [Macmillan, $10] Illustrated with photographs.

Will Jack Aubrey win his girl and at the same time stop Napoleon's invasion of England? History and naval buffs will enjoy all the excitement and color provided as Captain Aubrey answers these questions in POST CAPTAIN, by Patrick O'Brian, [Lippincott, $7.95]

To insure that you get the home you've always wanted at a reasonable cost read James Higson's THE HIGSON HOMEOWNER'S GUIDE [Nash, $10] which explains how to deal knowledgeably with architects, contractors, bankers, suppliers and decorators.

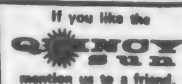

For inveterate gardeners who think winter means an end to all their loving work Stanley Schuler presents THE WINTER GARDEN [Macmillan, $7.95], a delightful handbook for year-round gardening enjoyment... Christmas roses in December and snowdrops in February are just some of the suggestions that will make your garden a winter showplace.

The ancient art of massage gets a new treatment in Gunilla Knutson's BOOK OF MASSAGE [St. Martin's, $4.95] Sinus headaches, backaches and sore feet all respond to Gunilla's gentle pressure. For those with no such afflictions massage can be a relaxing pleasure both for the recipient and the masseur.

John Adams called it "the grandest event which has ever yet happened since the controversy with Britain opened." He was referring to the Boston Tea Party and Wesley Griswold has written a delightfully informative and enjoyable account of it in THE NIGHT THE REVOLUTION BEGAN [Stephen Greene, $6.95]

The premise that individuals can be assimilated but that groups cannot is pointed out by Michael Novak in his well argued and perceptive history of the ethnic experience THE RISE OF THE UNMELTABLE ETHNICS [Macmillan, $7.95].

Sunbeams

Observers at Quincy School Committee meetings still think there is somewhat of a communications gap—over a major step to close the communications gap.

Like so:

They note that the three associate members representing the three high schools—Lisa McElaney, North Quincy; Kevin Foley, Quincy, and Stephen Lawlor, Voch-Tech.—are still seated at a table separate and apart from the rest of the committee.

Why not the same table as the other members?

Admittedly there is a space problem in the meeting room, but some accommodation could be made, observers think.

***

SPEAKING of the high schools, the Quincy and North bands are a joy to see and hear. Smart-stepping, and musically A-1. Those who were at the opening of the Quincy Center Parking Plaza really got a treat watching these two units in action.

***

HERE'S ONE: Dr. Edward Moscovitch, a member of Governor Sargent's staff, was a guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon last week. When asked to comment on an allusion to proposed cuts in state administrative agencies, he said he couldn't comment further and in an aside gave an idea as to the way politics works: Such a cut would be good news and as such would be announced by the governor. If it were judged to be bad news, as a staff member, he would announce it.

***

REP. JOSEPH BRETT was seen recently, politicking in the southern part of Norfolk County. But he's not eyeing county office.

He was in Franklin, home of his alma mater, Dean Junior College, for a homecoming weekend. Brett is one of the school's biggest boosters and is president of the alumni association.

***

WHO SAYS School Committee members never go anywhere politically? Even though three members have lost in recent bids for higher office — James McCormick for mayor, Paul Kelly for councillor-at-large and Harold Davis for register of probate — other members of the school committee have gone on to other higher elected and appointed positions.

Raymond Warmington was elected county treasurer [from which he is retiring this year]. Joseph Kendrick made councillor-at-large, although he lost in a subsequent contest for mayor against Charles Ross.

Alexander Smith, is now city auditor and Dennis Ryan is clerk of Quincy District Court.

***

SPOTTED AT THE Nixon Dinner at Commonwealth Armory, wearing a homemade campaign button with the inscription "Scots For Nixon" was Atty. John McGowan of Bigelow St.

McGowan is active in local Republican circles and was GOP nominee for state representative in Ward One in last year's special election, called to fill the seat Arthur Tobin vacated when he moved up to the Senate.

***

AND ROY LAWSON, Republican Presidential Elector from Wollaston, who volunteered to notarize absentee ballots this election, tells of the voter who boasted of his vote for Jenness [the Communist Party nominee], for President.

Actually, the voter thought he had voted for WILLIAM Jenness, former Republican state representative from Ward One.

***

A DARKHORSE CANDIDATE for governor is expected to announce his candidacy shortly, far in advance of the 1974 primary. He is Abe Itkin of Quincy Center.

He is well known in political circles, especially as a lyric tenor and writer of a number of original songs for various candidates, most recently for George McGovern.

***

LOOKING ahead to next year's city election, Ward 3 Councillor Ted McLelland may have opposition from Ronald Halter. The latter reportedly is warming up to a bid. Incidentally, he and his wife, Tina, are parents of a new daughter, Lisa.

***

HISTORICAL FOOTNOTE: H. Hobart Holly, president Quincy Historical Society, notes that Oct. 25 was Constitution Day in Massachusetts. It is of particular significance in Quincy because the Massachusetts Constitution was drafted in Quincy by John Adams, at the John Quincy Adams' birthplace on Franklin St.

It is the oldest written constitution still in effect in the western hemisphere and served as the model for the U.S. Federal Constitution of 1787, as well as model for other countries.

Part of the Governor's proclamation declaring Constitution Day reads:

"Whereas, The Constitution has survived for 192 years because of genius, John Adams, made the first draft and because it was based on the doctrine of natural rights and built on faith in democracy..."

HAVE A QUOTE via Jack Silverstein, the North Quincy druggist, author, sprinter, etc.: "My wife complains she is always in the kitchen. Of course—that's where the telephone is."

Consumer Corner

Christmas catalogues tempting gift buyers to do their holiday shopping by mail will begin arriving this month at households throughout Massachusetts.

The Consumer Protection Division of my office advises 'stay at home' shoppers that it receives a number of complaints each year, about inefficient, unfair or sometimes deceptive practices of some mail order gift companies.

In many instances, even those consumers who order early find that non-delivery or delivery delays are common. Some customers have received merchandise long after the holidays—and only after they have asked the Consumer Protection Division to contact the company.

Frequently the delivered merchandise does not meet the customer's expectation, and it often appears to differ from the item pictured or described in the catalogue.

Customers disappointed with the quality of the delivered merchandise often decide to return the goods. Many of these customers report they receive no responses—and no money back—from the company even when a money back guarantee has been offered.

To avoid complicated mailings and delays, the division recommends that every customer should select mail order companies carefully.

Many companies do business by mail efficiently and honestly. However, when there is any doubt about a company's reputation, the consumer should always look in nearby stores for similar products before mailing a check or money order for a product, sight unseen.

Mayor Hannon To Speak At Ward 2

The Ward 2 Civic Association will hold its next regular meeting Nov. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Fore River Club, with Mrs. Phyllis Bagen, president, presiding.

Guest speaker will be Mayor Walter Hannon. The meeting is open to all residents of Ward 2. Refreshments will be served.

CD Acquires $98,000 In Surplus Property

The Quincy Civil Defense unit has acquired more than $98,000 worth of surplus federal property for $4 120.08.

Massachusetts CD units claimed some $2.1 million in equipment recently, including automotive and electronic apparatus, typewriters, generators and a large variety of tools.

Brown, Davis Draw Flak

The James Bond genre continues to satisfy fans' appetites for more. "THUNDERBALL" and "YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE", both in re-release for the umpteenth time, are packing them in, not only in the Greater Boston area, but nationwide as well... Being scheduled for re-release soon are the first two Bond capers, "DR. NO" and "FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE"...

Politics and Show Biz still don't mix very well. JIM BROWN and SAMMY DAVIS JR. are drawing considerable flak from the NAACP and other Black groups for their high-toned fury on behalf of NIXON and his "policies"... Merely thinking out loud, and wondering when some farsighted producer will film team MARLON BRANDO and PATTY DUKE. For my money a picture co-starring the two would be dynamite at the box office... Two highly versatile thespians who warrant the label superstar...

BOB HOPE'S "CANCEL MY RESERVATION" is receiving the sting from film critics, but approval galore from audiences. The movie is fun diversion, something we can use more of from Tinseltown... New York Times staffer RICHARD HAMMER has been hired by producer MARTIN GOSCH to collaborate on the screenplay "LUCIANO"... Newcomer CHARLES JARROTT has been signed by GREGORY PECK to direct his new production, "DOVE", a picture about the round-the-world cruise travels of one ROBIN LEE GRAHAM...

Broadway will be studded with a galaxy of name attractions next year. To mention but a few, the list includes DEBBIE REYNOLDS, MELINA MERCOURI, EVA MARIE SAINT, BILLY DE WOLFE, HAL HOLBROOK, ALAN BATES, JULIE HARRIS, CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER and JULIE CHRISTIE... And the money they'll be making is in the astronomical category. DEBBIE REYNOLDS for one is making $10,000 per week plus 10% of the gross, which could vault her into the $15,000 plus week category... Which isn't hard to take for a weeks toil...

DAVID CASSIDY is looking around for suitable film properties. He realizes the days of a rock idol are limited and doesn't want to follow in the footsteps of FRANKIE AVALON, a disk flash-in-the-pan... RICHARD BOONE has a winner in his "HEC RAMSEY" teleseries. A quality entry which allows the rugged BOONE the range to burst forth with all his multi-ability... And the same for ROBERT CONRAD. His "ASSIGNMENT: VIENNA" has all the four star fan appeal of his previous video success, "WILD, WILD WEST"...

Memo on former film tycoon DARRYL F. ZANUCK: His greatest talent was in the field of finding, and keeping, competent directors when he headed 20th-Century Fox... JOHN FORD, ELIA KAZAN, HENRY HATHAWAY, OTTO PREMINGER, GEORGE SEATON and HENRY KING each flourished under his tutelage and crafty guidance, and help make that studio the premiere movie machine in the 40's. For ten years ZANUCK stamped productions meant box office, and invariably glossy, highly adjective-filled reviews...

By 1950 ZANUCK'S imprint of achievement was felt by the industry. He was admired for tackling pictures with social comment. Films like "GRAPES OF WRATH" and "GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT", shunned by the other major studios because of the censorship of the then controversial Hays Office, were tackled with gusto, enthusiasm and without fear by ZANUCK. He was the forerunner of "message films"... He showed an entire industry that a film, for all it's controversy, can be big box office provided the picture is made as cinema art...

ZANUCK'S achievement's were also felt in the fields of semi-documentaries and sophisticated comedies... In 1950, TIME magazine put him on the cover and hailed him as "the pacesetter for U.S. Cinema"... Though his star descended with his resignation from 20TH in 1956, he was to make a "comeback" in the 60's with "THE LONGEST DAY" [my favorite ZANUCK film] and "THE SOUND OF MUSIC"...

ZANUCK'S forte was directors, and if he had to make a decision as to the best, he singled out JOHN FORD... "FORD could get more drama into an ordinary interior or exterior longshot than any director...and his placement of the camera almost had the affect of making even good dialogue seem secondary and unnecessary"... Though 70 years old, it wouldn't surprise this columnist in the least if DARRYL F. ZANUCK were to spring upon us another cinema masterpiece. Tycoon's of this stock don't just fade away; they get better, more creative, as they go along... If they were to classify any single producer as the "Rembrandt" of his profession, ZANUCK would get my vote without hesitation...

ROCK HUDSON looks years younger minus his moustache... JERRY LEWIS has been known to purchase as many as 100 pairs of socks at a flip of the wallet... CARROLL O'CONNOR has been signed to star in "LITTLE ANGIE ALWAYS". The film is scheduled for on locale-Rome shooting in the early spring... And speaking of O'CONNOR, this won't be his first business trip to Italy. He was there some years ago for "CLEOPATRA". [A picture I'm sure he'd rather forget]...

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

The ghillies and the ghosties... That haunt on Hallowe'en, I don't know a thing about. But I do know about their companions in that old rhyme—the things that go bump in the night. Those are dieters stalking the stairs at midnight in search of something sweet they shouldn't have.

Know how I know? I was once a midnight marauder. I once stealthily crept through the house at haunting time—for me that meant Hallowe'en was a year-round affair. And skip the tricks! All I ever sought were the treats.

It is unbelievable to me now that I ever took part in such child's play. How could one intelligent [I think], educated [with diploma to prove it] human being fool herself about what she was doing? With great ease!

Darkness conceals everything including reason. So poking around in the dark for food automatically rids it of calories.

All I can say, is if you discover yourself going bump in the night bump your head against the wall, hard, and wake up! Eating high calorie foods is fattening at any hour. Under cover of darkness it is probably even more dangerous because there's no one else around to see what you are doing, and you will undoubtedly top off your snack with a pint or so of milk or soda.

Prepare yourself against those evil hours earlier in the day by whipping up a sweet that'd diet. Have that lying in wait for you as you prow, and you'll be completely safe. My old nemesis, the brownie, now awaits me in this version!

CEREAL BROWNIES

1 cup K cereal
1 egg pinch salt
½ cup dry chocolate Alba ½ cup cold water dash cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg
4 packets Sweet 'N Low

Mix all ingredients and bake in PAM sprayed or teflon pan at 350 for about twenty minutes.

Let's also be sensible about what is provided in the way of snacks for the small size ghosts who haunt our front steps this All Hallow's Night. Give them apples, popcorn, sugarless gum—they'll receive enough of the candy bars, lollipops, and licorice sticks elsewhere. Stick to your diet, even when you're handing it out to others.

Ask me any questions you might have about nutrition in your diet. Just write to Lois Lindauer, The Quincy Sun, or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

Some people say all this talk about a power shortage is a lot of rubbish.

They're right. Because, without enough electricity, a lot of the things that make a mess of our lives would be piling up on us at the rate of 3.5 million tons a year. It takes a lot of energy just to clean up after ourselves.

Take the recycling of waste materials. Discarded cans, papers, bottles, old automobiles—in fact, most of the refuse that fills our trash barrels and litters our landscape—can be converted to useful ends by electric energy.

We will also be using more and more electric power to purify the water we drink and to clean the air we breathe.

That's why we're working now to provide the kind of facilities it will take to not only clean up the world we live in but to keep it that way. Remember, it's as important to us as it is to you... because we live here, too.

People like you working to make life a little better.

How to manipulate your way to a free checking account. Even a cheaper loan.

Businessmen have been doing it for years.

"My company will give you bank more business if your bank will give my company a better deal."

Now you can make the same offer to South Shore National. But before we begin making deals, let's agree to do this, just to simplify things for both of us:

Let's take all your bank accounts, and put them together on one monthly statement.

Take that first step with us. And you're in a position to begin making deals.

So:

If you're willing to keep a monthly total of at least $400 between your checking account and up to as many as four savings accounts, we'll give you your checking account free of charge.

If that sounds complicated, let's look at a couple of examples:

Let's say you keep a low balance of, say, $180 in your checking account and $220 in a savings account. That comes to $400 and would earn you a free checking account.

Or suppose you keep a low balance of only $50 in your checking account, $200 in a joint savings account, and $75 in each of two trustee accounts. That also comes to $400 and earns you a free checking account.

The point is, you need at least $400 in checking and savings. How you spread it around is pretty much up to you.

In addition, as a Multistatement customer, we'll give you a 10% bonus refund of the paid finance charges on a new installment loan when it's satisfactorily repaid.*

The deals will save you money. The single-statement arrangement will save you confusion. Here's how:

Introducing Multistatement.

On one itemized list, Multistatement gives you the complete picture of all your banking transactions for the preceding month:

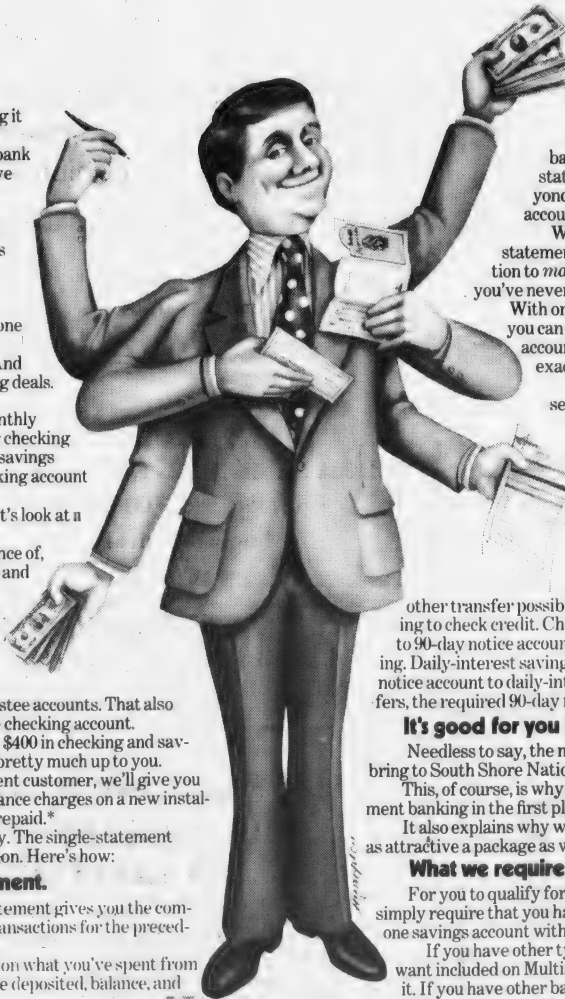

You'll get the whole rundown on what you've spent from your checking account, what you've deposited, balance, and so forth.

You'll see how much you've added or withdrawn from each savings account you have with us, how much interest has been paid to you, and how much you have in the account now.

If you have an installment loan with us, you'll see how much you've paid back, how much you still owe, and how many payments that amounts to.

If you have Check Credit (an account that allows you to make your own loans simply by writing out specially coded checks), you'll see how much of your cash reserve you've used up and how much you can still borrow.

Some fancy financial moves.

To say that Multistatement simplifies the management of your money is an oversimplification.

The fact is, by putting so many banking services together on one statement, Multistatement goes beyond any of the other single-statement accounts you've probably heard about.

With South Shore National's Multistatement account, you're now in a position to maneuver your bank accounts in ways you've never been able to.

With one simple instruction to the bank, you can transfer money from virtually any account to any other. (And you can tell us exactly what day to transfer it.)

Or you can authorize the bank to set up an automatic monthly transfer of some fixed amount.

Money to cover a check.

An obvious advantage of the transfer feature is that, when your checking account is low, you can make a transfer from savings into checking.

But think of some of the other transfer possibilities: Checking to savings. Checking to check credit. Check credit to checking. Checking to 90-day notice account. 90-day notice account to checking. Daily-interest savings account to 90-day notice. 90-day notice account to daily-interest. (On 90-day account transfers, the required 90-day notice must be given.)

It's good for you because it's good for us.

Needless to say, the more of your banking business you bring to South Shore National Bank, the better for us.

This, of course, is why we're coming out with Multistatement banking in the first place.

It also explains why we're making Multistatement just as attractive a package as we possibly can.

What we require from you:

For you to qualify for a Multistatement account, we simply require that you have a checking account and at least one savings account with us.

If you have other types of accounts with us that you want included on Multistatement, we'll be delighted to do it. If you have other bank accounts with us that you don't want to appear on Multistatement (your own savings account on the side, for example), that's okay, too.

How to get Multistatement:

With 34 offices of South Shore National Bank all over the South Shore and west of Boston, chances are fairly good there's an office of South Shore National Bank that's not too far from you.

But even if there isn't, that shouldn't keep you from opening a Multistatement account if you want one.

After all, there's always the phone. (Our number in Quincy is 472-1000.)

And there's also our handy coupon.

Quincy Hospital Participating In National 'Early Warning' System

Quincy City Hospital is one of 119 hospitals around the United States participating in the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System.

The system, under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, calls for hospitals to file emergency room records with the Food and Drug Administration in Washington.

A coast-to-coast telecommunications hook-up has been established for the system to act as an "early warning" device for detecting defective or dangerous consumer products.

FDA officials will study accident reports arriving daily to identify common factors among cases and decide which mishaps should be investigated.

Brett Against 'Satellite' Parking Lot For Airport In South Quincy

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has voiced opposition to proposals for construction of a satellite parking area for Logan Airport in the South Quincy-Braintree area.

Brett registered his opposition in a letter to John G.

Wofford, director of the Boston Transportation Planning Review concerning plans relative to a third harbor crossing.

"It is inconceivable to me that potential air travelers would relish the idea of parking their cars at such a location, transferring their luggage from the car to a bus and then having to repeat the process upon arrival at the airport," he said.

The "double handling would be repeated on return home, a process in which human error could easily result in the traveler's luggage being misplaced or misdirected," he said.

Brett cited "additional costs of parking, transportation to and from the airport and luggage handling" as arguments against the proposal.

He recommended establishment of a major airport in Central Massachusetts as the "real and best solution to the problems of congestion at the airport."

Second Volume N. Quincy

Yearbook Available Nov. 11

The second volume of the 1972 North Quincy High School yearbook will be distributed Nov. 11 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the school.

Brian Doherty, faculty advisor, said the book has 96 pages—the same size as volume one and that 500 copies were printed.

The book was paid for in advance by students mainly in the class of 1972.

Doherty said that students who cannot be at the school Nov. 11 may send a representative to pick up their copy. However, he said, the representative should have proper identification.

Miss Barbara Taylor, editor of the year book and now a student at the University of Vermont, will be at the school to assist in the distribution.

Dec. 15 Deadline For Veterans To File For Tax Abatements

Dec. 15 is the deadline for eligible Massachusetts veterans to file for the 1972 real estate tax abatements from the assessors in the cities and towns where they reside, notes William L. Villone, Director of Veterans' Services, Quincy.

The Veterans Administration advised ex-GI homeowners it will not be necessary to contact VA for a Certificate of Disability if they ever were issued one in the past. Simply contact your local assessor immediately and file the application, Villone stressed. The veteran must be owner of record and must have been actually living on the premises as of the first of the year.

Veterans who have not previously been issued a certification of their disability should waste no time applying to the nearest office of the VA in order to beat the Dec. 15 deadline, Villone said.

The veteran must have a service connected disability of at least 10 percent to qualify for the $2,000 tax abatement. Veterans who suffered loss of limbs could qualify for larger tax abatements.

Because many disabled veterans living in cities and towns with a 100 percent valuation were complaining that they were receiving less money on their abatements than veterans living in places which did not have 100 percent valuation, the Massachusetts legislature passed Chapter 1110 Acts of 1971. This law provided that disabled veterans would receive $2,000 exemption, or $175 dollars whichever would result in an abatement of the greater amount of actual taxes due.

In Quincy, which does not have 100 percent valuation, a disabled veteran with a $2,000 exemption will receive $310.80 or $155.40 per thousand, the actual tax rate.

"If we had the 100% assessment and the tax rate is $87.50 or less per thousand the disabled veteran would lose the difference between $175 and $310.80 or $135.80," Villone said. "Amputee and certain other veterans would lose greater amounts."

MONEY TALKS Inflation Is When Tulip Bulbs Cost $25,000

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Heliobrook
8-4 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

Inflation has been a naughty word over the past generation but few persons realize its corrosive effects upon our economy.

The U.S. Savings and Loan League uses this set of figures to demonstrate what happens to wages and prices in an inflationary spiral. Given an annual inflation factor of 6 per cent, your annual income may be $57,435 in the year 2000 but it will represent only the equivalent of $10,000 in today's terms.

A $25,600 home of today will cost $147,000 in the new century. A $3,000 car today will be worth $17,000. A $20 order of groceries will run up to $115.

To get a more vivid demonstration of inflation carried to its chaotic conclusion one need only recall the financial plight of Europe after World War I, when wheelbarrows were needed to carry the currency for even minor transactions.

A letter from a German relative in 1923 to a Chicago resident is used by Dr. Frederick W. Mueller, chairman of the finance department at DePaul University, to illustrate rampant inflation.

Covering the front of the envelope and the entire back, with barely enough room for the address, are 64 stamps, each worth five billion marks. The cost to mail this single letter from Germany to the United States was 320 trillion marks, whereas one mark, normally worth twenty cents, would suffice under stable conditions.

Dr. Mueller recalled the celebrated 18-century Dutch tulip bubble as an example in microcosm of the roller-coaster ride that inflation becomes.

Everyone in Holland went crazy over tulips," he said. "They bought them, crossbred them, imported them. Everybody got involved; you weren't in unless you did. Prices soared to $25,000 for unusual bulbs as the national mania reached its peak. Then the market softened. The $25,000 buyer couldn't get $26,000 for his bulb and was forced to sell at $24,000. When the market collapsed completely, tulips became almost worthless—and millions of guilders invested in tulips went down the drain."

The appeal of certain stock investments reminds him of the Dutch tulip craze. "It has become the thing to do," he says. "Many persons are in the stock market today without having the slightest idea of what it is all about. They have been stampeded by their friends and tipsters into the same kind of get-rich idea that their tulip counterparts were seduced by three centuries earlier."

He suggests that a prudent evaluation is required at all times to detect when the price of goods is considered out of line even though funds may be available for purchase.

"The smart decision under these circumstances is to postpone purchases whenever possible; eventually, the price will come down because the pressure of available money has not forced it up."

In other words, save your money when your instinct tells you that other money is pushing its price beyond real values. Spend when you determine to your own satisfaction that you are getting your money's worth.

This is the best possible brake upon inflation that a free economy can provide.

Tie Keeps North Ninth-Graders Game Behind Central

By JOHN HAVIARAS

North teams rolled to four wins and a tie last week in junior high football action against Sterling and first-place Central.

A missed conversion cost North ninth graders a victory over the powerful Central squad as the 6-6 tie kept North a game behind Central.

North's only loss of the season came at the hands of undefeated Central.

A conversion was the margin of victory for the ninth graders against Sterling as a dropped pass on a halfback option in the closing seconds of play gave North an 8-6 win.

North's eighth graders managed an early touchdown and settled into a defensive battle to notch an 8-0 victory over Sterling.

The eighth graders scored on a sustained drive late in the game to defeat Central 8-0.

North's powerful seventh grade team defeated Central on an early touchdown 6-0 but were rained out against Sterling.

Kevin Craig's Hat Trick Paces Mite 'A' Team To 6-5 Victory

Kevin Craig's hat trick paced the Quincy Mite A team to a 6-5 squeaker in Youth Hockey action Sunday.

John Cummings, Paul McCabe and Richie Stevens rounded out the Quincy scoring.

The Mite B team also took a close one with Rick Reardon, Mike Sullivan and Billy Rogers scoring in a 3-2 win over Brockton.

Robbie Craig and Robbie Zanardelli picked up two goals each and Neil Shea and Scott Richardson chipped in to give the Squirt A team a 6-1 win over Scituate.

The Bantam A's beat Scituate 6-3 and edged Holbrook 3-2.

Construction To Start On Youth Hockey Assn. Rink

Construction of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association Rink off Sea St. is expected to begin next week, according to Association President Robert P. Hayes.

The association was scheduled to finalize a loan from South Shore National Bank by Wednesday to clear the way for construction.

The land has been filled and the municipal lease was signed last week. Hayes said the facility should open by April 1.

After Ragged Chelsea Win

Presidents Host Rugged Mustangs

Coming off a win at Chelsea despite what Coach Hank Conroy admitted was a "ragged performance," Quincy's football team takes on a rugged Medford team Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. Greater Boston League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

A few weeks ago it looked as if Medford was on its way to the GBL championship and an outstanding season but, after winning their first four games, the Mustangs have lost three in a row, a fact which doesn't make Conroy happy.

"They'll be out to snap a losing streak and should prove very tough," the President's coach said. "We'll have to play a much better game than we did at Chelsea if we hope to beat them."

Medford defeated Boston Latin, 33-20. Chelsea, 36-6; Somerville, 14-0 and North Quincy, 14-0, then lost to Everett, 6-0; Newton, 32-15, and Revere, 15-11. The Mustang's league record is 3-2.

Quincy is 2-2-1 in the GBL and 4-2-1 overall following last week's 20-8 win at Chelsea.

Quincy's offense, as usual, was centered around Paul Creedon's passing as the running game again was pretty well stymied. Penalties again hurt the Presidents' attack.

Creedon hit on seven of 20 passes but had three intercepted. He passed for 143 yards and two touchdowns. The Presidents had only 66 yards rushing and picked up eight first downs.

Chelsea, undermanned, but with one of its best looking teams in years, had 44 yards rushing, 10 first downs and 95 yards through the air on 12 completions in 22 attempts and two interceptions.

Conroy had high praise for Paul Riggs, whom he considers one of the outstanding players in the state.

"Paul was the best player on the field today and has been tremendous all year long," Hank said. "On offense he plays end and is an excellent blocker and a fine pass receiver [two touchdown passes last week]. On defense he is a middle line backer and is terrific. I don't see how he can miss any all-scholastic teams this year, although he is only a junior, and he is a great college prospect. He has size and can really move."

Riggs has a remarkable record this year for unassisted tackles.

Conroy also hailed the running of Rich Silva, who had his best day since the opening game with Weymouth South, and singled out Ron Smith, Dave Sten and Frank Guido for their work in the offensive line.

"On defense Vin Picardi had another good day and Bob Megnia was outstanding at defensive end, making a lot of good hits. And, as usual, Robin Carrera, our defensive captain, kept the team together and turned in another top performance."

Chelsea drew first blood as quarterback Kevin Keohane capped a 45-yard drive in the first period by scoring from the one and Bill Landers rushed for the two points.

Two minutes later Creedon hit Riggs with a 76-yard touchdown pass, Riggs running about 50 yards for the score.

In the second period Quincy lost the ball at the goal line on an official's decision that no one could explain but a bad pass from center on a punting situation gave the Presidents the ball on the nine from where Creedon passed to Riggs again for the go-ahead touchdown.

In the third period Silva capped a 50-yard march with a nine-yard touchdown run and Creedon passed to Wayne Ponder for the final points of the game.

Special Gates

For Reserved

Ticket Holders

Quincy Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone announces that reserved seat ticket holders, for the Quincy-North Quincy football game, will use only the entrances on Southern Artery on Thanksgiving Day and will not enter the main gate on Hancock street.

"We are making this ruling because in the past those with reserved seat tickets have had to stand in long lines with those buying rush seats," Leone explained.

He also announced that the sale of tickets for the game will go on sale next Monday at every school in the city. However, reserved seat tickets will be on sale only at the two high schools.

After Weymouth South Romp

Raiders Get Set For Tough Somerville

North Quincy's football team tuned up for its last two Greater Boston League games with Somerville Saturday at Somerville's Dilboy Stadium and Quincy on Thanksgiving with a non-league win last week and Coach Ralph Frazier is hoping for a dry field for the final games.

"We have small backs and just aren't mudders," Frazier said following last week's 30-0 romp over Weymouth South at Veterans Memorial Stadium. "This was our second straight game on a muddy field and today it was the defense which carried us again, although we did move the ball pretty well."

In the previous game at Everett, the GBL leader, North's defense had also sparked but the offense bogged down in a quagmire and the Raiders bowed on two bad breaks, 14-0.

Somerville should prove a rough opponent Saturday, as the Highlanders have done well all season. They are 3-1-2 in the league with wins over Everett (its only loss), Chelsea and Malden, ties with Quincy and Revere and a loss to Medford.

"We know Somerville is strong and we can't afford to look ahead to Quincy," the North coach added. "We are sure to have our hands full with Somerville."

North's defense was superb against Weymouth South, a punt return accounted for the first touchdown, pass interceptions set up the next two and a fumble recovery paved the way by the final score by the second unit. The Raiders intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles.

Especially outstanding on defense were John Stevens, rated by his defensive coach, Dick Meyer, as one of the best linemen in the GBL. Dave Reed, making his first start in place of the injured Peter Quinn and who made many stops, and Burt Bray, outstanding all afternoon.

On offense quarterback Bob Morton ran well as did Paul Cuniff and John Flynn but it was Phil Robinson, starting at fullback for Rich Desmond, slowed down by an injury, who attracted most of the attention. He showed some fine running ability and scored on a 67-yard run.

North concentrated on its running game with Morton throwing only three times with no completions. The Raiders netted 224 yards on the ground to 63 for Weymouth, which picked up 61 yards through the air with three for 11. North had 10 first downs, Weymouth six.

The muddy field hampered both offenses with runners slipping several times.

"Our second unit moves the ball very well and has scored nearly every time I have used it," Frazier explained. "Carl Leone handles the ball extremely well at quarterback and Terry Egan can really run."

Frazier cleared his bench and his third and fourth units were playing during the final minutes of the game.

Midway in the opening period Bob McCormack took Dick Rakers' punt on Weymouth's 44 and, behind a wall of blockers, went all the way to put the Raiders on the scoreboard. Morton rushed for the two extra points.

Shortly afterward, Wayne Bell grabbed off a Weymouth pass on the Wildcats' 37 and two plays later Morton, on a keeper, raced 29 yards to make it 14-0. He passed to Joe Carroll for the points.

Late in the third period Robinson intercepted another Weymouth pass on North's 42 and two plays later galloped 67 yards for the third touchdown with the help of some more crisp blocking.

North's second group scored the final touchdown after recovering a fumble on Weymouth's 43. Egan and Leone did all the carrying and Egan scored from the 11. Leone's pass to Bernie Holleran ended the scoring for the day.

North takes a 3-2 league record and an overall 5-2 mark into the game at Somerville this week.

Broad Meadows No. 2 Sterling Takes Fourth Crown

It is getting to be old hat now, but congratulations once again are in order for Coach Joe Amoroso and his Sterling Junior High soccer team, which last week won their fourth straight city championship.

When the Sterling booters blanked Atlantic-North, 3-0, in their final game, they extended their undefeated streak to 35 games.

Sterling finished up with a 6-0-2 record, followed by Broad Meadows, 4-1-3; North-Atlantic, 5-3-0; Central, 2-5-1, and Point, 0-8-0.

Sterling will now face the league all-stars on Nov. 20 as part of the Thanksgiving week events. The game will be played at the Quincy soccer field behind Veterans Memorial Stadium. Sterling won last year's game, 3-1.

Ten different players scored for Sterling this year with Peter Keenan having five goals, Bob Barrus, Jim Coletta and Bruce Aristide two apiece.

Enidio Michaelangelo was a valuable player in many games with four goals coming off their corner kicks (Keenan scored two of them on head-ins).

He also added much strength to both offense and defense with his speed and kicking power and scored a goal from 50 yards out on a direct kick which tied Broad Meadows in an important game.

"He is the best kicker I have seen in the junior high league for both distance and accuracy," Amoroso said. "Once again this was a well-balanced team and every boy did his part in giving us our fourth straight championship."

The squad also included Goalie Tim Coffee, who was outstanding with five shutouts; Mark Jutt, Mike Doherty, Glen Schlager, Sal Leone, Scott Simpson, Larry O'Toole, Richard McQuiggan, Peter Higgins, Tom Pecoraro, Chris Sidotti, Bob Sweeny, Dom Piccarini, Mario Traficante, Carmen Reppucci, Michael Aristide, Larry Praetsch, Claudio Tempesta, Jim Lawlor and Peter DiCienzo, a seventh grader who was outstanding all season.

Scott Newell's Broad Meadows club was undefeated until the final week and tied Sterling in both of their meetings.

"The league was very strong this year and a lot of credit should go to the coaches and players who gave 100 percent throughout the season," Amoroso said.

"Broad Meadows played outstanding soccer and even Point, although it didn't win a game, never gave up and was in every game."

"Also, much credit must go to the game officials, Peter Gallagher and Ken Hayes, who handled the games extremely well and there wasn't a single incident to mar any of the games."

IRON DEFICIENCY

According to world-famous nutritionist, Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard, iron deficiency is the most common deficiency disease in the U.S. It is a frequent problem for today's women and may be responsible for the common "washed-out" and chronically tired, pepless feeling. It's potentially a problem for every woman, a special one for dieters and teen-agers, and almost inescapable for menstruating women and nearly all pregnant ones.

So seriously does the National Research Council in Washington view this iron drain that it has upped the recommended daily iron intake from 15 milligrams to 18 for women between the ages of 10 and 55. Iron is needed to make hemoglobin, the pigment in red blood cells that carries oxygen through the body. Too little can result in a run-down, dead-tired feeling.

14 Or 19 Stories?

Council Preference Awaited On Multi-Million High-Rise

By DICK MATTULINA

Plans for a high-rise building at the site of the Hood Milk plant on Adams St. have evoked concern that the city "will become subservient to a district of skyscrapers."

Regional Development Corp. of Boston will begin construction on the multi-million dollar apartment and commercial building in March.

The only remaining question is its height.

Present plans call for a 19-story structure, to become the tallest building in Massachusetts south of Boston.

Announcement of the proposal last week upset some city councilors who were "not prepared that it would be 19 stories", according to Council President Arthur H. Tobin.

Tobin said the council was under the impression the building would include three floors of commercial space and up to 12 floors of apartments.

"We thought we were talking in the area of 14 to 16 stories to make it the same size as the Executive House" on Hancock St., he said.

Company spokesmen met with the council in executive session Monday to explain its position.

"The developer, architect and planning director were most cooperative," Tobin said. "It was a very open discussion and everyone at the meeting was concerned about the best interest of the city."

RDC officials agreed to provide additional information for the council next week, at which time the council is expected to voice its preference on the matter.

"The developer will then have the decision whether to go ahead or bend to the wishes of the council," Tobin said.

Business-C zoning of the property allows construction of the building with one parking space for each apartment, he said.

Tobin said he has seen an architect's drawing of the building and considers it "beautiful and an asset" to what he feels is a "blighted area".

"My main concern is the height of the building," he said. "A nine-story apartment building has just gone up across from St. John's Church. Now this one will be 10 stories higher."

"Now, if a 19-story building goes up, who's to say a 25-story one won't follow and then 30 stories?" he asked.

Finn Commends 34 Police Officers

Police Chief Francis X. Finn has announced 34 official commendations for 30 members of the Quincy Police Department.

Officer Ralph Bergonzi was cited for courage and disregarding personal safety in dragging a woman from her burning apartment after climbing a railing to reach her balcony.

Sgt. Robert Quintiliani was commended for professionalism, leadership and coolness in directing dispersal of a crowd of 600 persons at a gang fight.

Officers honored include: Donald Pearson and John Smith for keen observation and thorough investigation in the recovery of 14 stolen vehicles, credit cards, registration plates and $2,500 in stolen property.

William Curran and John Salamone for diligence in uncovering a stolen car ring and aiding the FBI to solve a series of thefts in a military defense plant.

Sgt. Richard Laracy, Dets.

Robert Perchard and Thomas Healey and Officer Timothy Tobin for assisting in surveillance and arrest of three men involved in a stolen car ring and theft.

Daniel Dowling for courage and disregarding his own safety in evacuating residents of a burning apartment house despite a severe laceration to his right arm.

Henry Bradley for quick action in evacuating residents from a burning apartment house, after which he was hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

Lt. William Murphy, Sgt. Donald Cunningham and Officer Stephen O'Brien for courage and dedication in evacuating 12 persons from a burning building.

Sgt. Michael Barry, Officers Frank Calabro, William Doherty,

Paul Durant, Robert Hickey, Charles Kidney and Donald Pearson for rational and effective assistance in the capture of an armed robber.

Det. Joseph Lind and Officers Joseph Gillan, Ralph Hood and Guido Luchini for towing or assisting 36 sailboats, with 53 children and crewmembers aboard, into yacht clubs in 45-mph winds.

Richard DiGiusto for rescuing a baby who was securely strapped into a car seat from a blazing automobile.

Thomas Laitinen for composure and cooperation in assisting Officer DiGiusto.

Sgt. Richard Buckley for averting a serious criminal offense in pursuing and capturing a person with a loaded shot gun who stated he would shoot Sgt. Buckley.

Brownell Opposed To Hike In MBTA Parking Fee

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has registered "unequivocal opposition" to a suggested increase in parking fees for the Quincy Center MBTA garage.

Brownell said he was informed that the MBTA was considering an increase in fees from 50 to 75 cents per day.

In a letter to MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelley, he said "Quincy residents have already experienced an unprecedented tax increase this year.

"An increase in MBTA fees only adds to the heavy financial burdens they are now carrying. It is my hope that you will seek out feelings in the community before you decide to increase MBTA costs," he said.

130 Permits For $99,749 In New Wiring

The Department of Wire Inspection issued 130 permits for an estimated $99,749 in new wiring during October.

Inspector William H. Pitts and his staff issued 61 certificates of approval, noted nine defects, conducted 190 inspections and collected $549.67 in fees.

Major projects include a new house at 509 Quincy Shore Drive and a new temporary classroom for North Quincy High School.

Davidson Proposes Historic District Study Committee

Planning Director Geoffrey A. Davidson has proposed establishment of a city Historic District Study Committee for the preservation of Quincy landmarks.

The proposal calls for a committee to study areas of historic importance to the city and recommend boundaries for "historic zoning" districts.

The committee would consist of seven members, including representatives of the Quincy Historical Society, American Institute of Architects and Board of Realtors.

Davidson suggested that city hall, First Parish Church, Thomas Crane Public Library, Adams Academy, the Adams Birthplaces and the Josiah Quincy Mansion would be among sites to be preserved.

"The establishment of an historic district can halt the destruction and disintegration of the historical and architectural legacies of our ancestors," Davidson said.

He added that such zoning would provide "assurance that these [landmarks] may be enjoyed by future generations."

Historic zoning would allow municipal control over the outer design of buildings within a district "to encourage new designs compatible with existing buildings," according to Davidson.

"Such controls do not prevent new construction," he said. "They apply only to exterior architectural features visible from a public way."

Davidson said the "preservation of a city's historically and culturally significant edifices establishes a mood of steadfastness within the city."

"To its residents, it offers prestige and economic protection from the decrease of land values through deterioration or neighborhood blight," he said.

The proposal asks the City Council to authorize Mayor Hannon to appoint a study committee.

Merrymount Fourth-Graders Prepare Thanksgiving Dinner In Learning Project

Fourth grade students at the Merrymount School will organize, prepare and serve a Thanksgiving dinner as part of a discovery-based learning program on democratic decision-making.

The dinner will culminate the fourth-graders' study of the implications of the historic Mayflower Compact.

The children drew up their own Merrymount Compact including a preamble explaining rights and responsibilities of the process of democratic self-government.

A trip to the Plimoth Plantation, Plymouth Wax Museum and the Mayflower II is planned to assist learners in actualizing the timelessness of the Pilgrims' struggle for freedom.

Adams Birthplaces Attract 7,878

By PAUL HAROLD

Miss Maude Wheeler, chairman of the Quincy Historical Society, House Committee, which operates the John Adams and John Quincy Adams birthplaces, reports that visitors this year totaled 7,878 - 2,751 of them children.

This was an increase of approximately 11 percent over last year. Every state of the union was represented except one, Montana. Twenty-eight foreign countries were also represented.

Massachusetts led again this year with 1,937 visitors. New York was second, followed by California, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Quincy Historical Society has operated the John Quincy Adams house since 1896 when Charles Francis Adams, grandson of President John Quincy Adams, restored the house and presented it to the society.

The John Adams house was restored by the Daughters of the Revolution and maintained by them until 1950 when it was taken over by the Historical Society.

In 1940, the Adams Family deeded the properties to the city and in 1963 they were designated as National Historic Landmarks by the federal government.

Hostess at the John Quincy Adams house was Mrs. John Ames, serving her seventh year, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Howard Miller, in her fourth year. Resident hostess at the John Adams house for the third year was Mrs. Florence Gamins, assisted by Miss Edith Cameron. House Committee members of the Historical Society include: Miss Wheeler, Mrs. Alfred Knapton, Mrs. Frank Holzer, Mrs. Robert Justis, Miss Margaret Hanley, all of Quincy and Mrs. H. Hobart Holly of Braintree, wife of the Historical Society President.

Both birthplaces are closed for the winter and are scheduled to re-open on Patriots' Day, April 19, 1973.

Boston Approves Sale Of Squaw Rock To Quincy For $130,000

Seven years of "patience and stick-to-it-iveness" paid off this week in the form of a Boston City Council order transferring Squaw Rock to Quincy for $130,000.

The city of Quincy, which has been trying to purchase the Squantum property from Boston since 1966, now has six months to consider sale price on the park land.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth, a leader in the struggle, predicted that the transaction will be completed well within the six month period.

"We will receive the official order from Boston in a few days," Smyth said. "After six months, the MDC will have three months' option along with Quincy to consider purchase."

"It is my personal feeling that Squaw Rock should not be placed under MDC jurisdiction because they can't maintain what they have now," he said.

Smyth said city control of the property would ensure proper maintenance and police protection to keep the area safe for recreational and park use.

He said he would ask Planning Director Geoffrey Davidson to investigate the possibility of federal funding for the purchase.

Brett Pledges To Follow Through On Flood Control

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has pledged to use "all the influence [he] can command" to see the flooding hazards are corrected in Quincy.

Brett was instrumental in the passing of an act authorizing a $2 million bond issue for flood control work in Furnace Brook, Town Brook and Braintree Dam areas.

He said he would "urge the MDC to move as expeditiously as possible in the correction of the flooding problems which so frequently harass the abutters of these waterways."

Could be a lot of political activity in Ward 2 in the next couple of years.

School Committeeman Harold Davis will soon move to Quincy Point — the Presidential Gardens to be exact. He has been living in a Presidents Lane apartment in Ward 1.

Davis' move will give Quincy Point two school committeemen: the other, Daniel Raymondi who moved to the Point last summer from Ward 1.

But the big question is whether Davis might make a bid for the City Council in his new surroundings. The Ward 2 seat for example. And, in 1974, he possibly could go for the state representative seat.

Both seats are now occupied by Clifford Marshall, who is eyeing the sheriff's badge for a 1974 bid.

Meanwhile, that old colorful warrior, Carl Anderson, is warming up for a return to the political ring. Confides he's planning to run for the Ward 2 City Council seat next year.

Anderson held that seat back in the 1940's and then served many years as councillor-at-large.

The fact he is thinking of a comeback adds credence to speculation that Marshall will make a bid for councillor-at-large, next year.

Quincy Point has been quite quiet politically speaking the past few years. Davis and Anderson would certainly liven up the place.

CITY OFFICIALS were counting ballots till 7 a.m. last week.

It's surprising they didn't find any write-ins for the Quincy High Band. The blue and white bumper stickers have been all over the city since July and from all appearances it looked like they had more stickers out than the candidates.

As a matter of fact, Bob Denvir of Houghs Neck, behind the scenes man for the Q.H.S. band fund-raising, says that there were over 2,500 stickers sold.

THE NEW LINCOLN-HANCOCK School is a couple of weeks ahead of schedule and now, it seems, the biggest problem is what to name the new school. - Nixon, Peace, Tight Money
- Chiang Kai-Shek III
- Tip O'Neil Majority Leader?

WASHINGTON—Next January 20, President Nixon will begin four more years in the White House. For the first time in his political career, he can follow his convictions without worrying about the voters.

Some intimates say he has the capacity for greatness during his final four years. Others worry that he is vindictive and might use his new political freedom to reward his friends and punish his enemies. Here are our predictions:

In foreign affairs, the President will dedicate himself during the years ahead to achieving his goal of an era of peace. He will succeed, we predict, in withdrawing the United States from the wars in Southeast Asia. He will also end the cold war era and reduce tensions with the Communist superpowers.

Before his term is ended, we predict, the United States will recognize Communist China and restore normal trade relations with both China and Russia.

He will fail, however, to prevent war in the Middle East.

At home, we predict, the President will revert to his basic conservative nature and go back to a tighter money policy. This will hold down inflation, at a cost of nagging unemployment and mild recession.

We also predict a Democratic Congress will dig deeper into the Watergate, ITT, grain and other scandals. The President on election night went out of his way to praise his two embattled campaign aides, John Mitchell and Maurice Stans, who are implicated in the Watergate scandal.

This is the tip-off that the President will back up his aides and cover up the scandal. Mitchell, we predict, will remain a close confidante but will not return to the cabinet. Stans will be given a top appointment — outside the cabinet.

In short, we predict Richard Nixon will distinguish himself as a peace president but will be badly tarnished by scandal during the next four years.

—Have Jetstar, Will Travel—

Globetrotter Henry Kissinger could take a few travelling lessons from John Shaffer, chief of the Federal Aviation Agency. Shaffer, we've discovered, is one of the most travelled men in the Nixon Administration.

Shaffer, who insists that it's his solemn duty to "monitor the national aviation system," accomplishes this goal by flying around at public expense in a sleek Lockheed Jetstar.

We have reported in the past how Shaffer's "monitoring" has taken him to such vacation spots as Orlando, Florida, where he played golf with Arnold Palmer.

Most recently, the FAA chief flew in his government Jetstar to Pittsburgh for the 25th anniversary of the Pittsburgh airport. Then he decided it was a nice day for golf. So he flew across country to his favorite golf course at Augusta, Georgia. Three of his friends wanted to go to Miami. So he ordered his government pilot to drop them off 300 miles further south in Miami.

We have learned the identity of the three friends whom Shaffer let use his government plane. They are Thornton Ferguson, President of Modern Air Transport; Robert Lando, head, of a Pittsburgh advertising agency; and Jay Van Vechten, who heads Lando's Miami office. They flew to Miami while Shaffer played golf in Augusta with executives of General Electric.

—Intelligence Reports—

GEORGE WHO?—The Chinese public was told almost nothing about the American election campaign. The average Chinese citizen, for example, never heard of George McGovern. But a daily bulletin, called Reference News, has given the Chinese Communist cadres a surprisingly accurate account of the campaign developments. The re-election of President Nixon, therefore, came as absolutely no surprise to the Chinese Communists.

CONFIDENT THIEU—The secret intelligence reports out of Saigon contain an interesting omen that President Thieu is confident of remaining in power. The Central Intelligence Agency notes, significantly, that the men around Thieu have made no attempt to smuggle their money out of the country and to start slipping off to the French Riviera. If they expected the Communists to take over Saigon, the CIA notes, President Thieu's top officials would be quietly clearing out of the country with their fortunes.

ARMY COUP AVOIDED—Egypt's President Sadat has completely shaken up his high command to prevent a military coup, according to intelligence reports. He had picked up reports, apparently, that a new military junta might attempt to seize power from him. Sadat has now taken what amounts to personal command of the army.

OLD CHIANG ILL—The CIA reports that Old Chiang Kai-shek is seriously ill and that his son, Chiang Ching-kuo, has taken over effective control of Taiwan. The death of old Chiang, if it should come, would have little effect upon this Asian trouble spot.

—Political Potpourri—

Bobby Baker and his wife Dorothy have been having marital problems since Baker left prison last June. Baker will soon leave for a long trip to the Orient. His pretty wife will remain behind... Spirits are low at Ralph Nader's headquarters. Some have always complained that Nader drives his staff too hard. But lately his staff appears especially dispirited and disorganized. The recently completed Congress Project put a tremendous strain on Nader's pooped Raiders... Democrats are expected to meet early in January to replace Congressman Hale Boggs as House Majority Leader. Insiders say Majority Whip Tip O'Neil from Massachusetts is the odds-on choice.

Brownell To File For Reappointment Of Judges Over 70 Years Of Age

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has announced that he will file legislation to allow reappointment of judges over age 70 for specified periods of time.

Brownell said he believed such legislation would be necessary to avoid "the chaotic situation" he expects with adoption of the Nov. 7 referendum on mandatory retirement.

Under his proposal, the Supreme Judicial Court would have the authority to recall retired judges for "certain definite periods of time."

He said he believes that "to discard some judges merely because they reach a certain age is unfair to both the public and to a well-balanced judicial system."

In 1943, a psychological report was written about Adolph Hitler that predicted his eventual suicide. This document has recently been declassified and published as THE MIND OF ADOLPH HITLER by Walter Lange [Basic Books. $10]

It concludes that Hitler was a psychopath and traces the disease from its origin in his childhood to the final terrible stage when a mad man ruled most of Europe.

Dr. Frederick M. Meek of the Old South Church in Boston wrote a number of imaginative versions of the Christmas story during his long pastorate which he tried out first on his family, then from the pulpit on successive Christmas Eves.

He has brought them together in a book called THE BETHLEHEM INN [Westminster Press. $4.95] They are not long and are highly recommended to club leaders and teachers of adult or teen-age religious groups looking for readings for Christmas programs.

The ways you may be gypped by your car dealer, service station and repair shop are graphically described in THE GREAT AMERICAN AUTO REPAIR ROBBERY, by Donald A. Randall and Arthur P. Clickman [Charterhouse. $7.95] The shocking practices revealed are well documented and the what to do if it happens to you section has explicit directions on how and where to make your complaint if you become a victim of this "ten-billion dollar national swindle".

If you don't know what kersey cloth is you can look it up in THE COMPLETE BOOK OF SEWING [Greystone Press. $9.95] which is just what the title claims to be. You name it, it must be covered herein, clothing, draperies, slip covers, gifts, mending, home cleaning and pressing, quilts, pillows, embroidery stitches, etc., etc. The many color illustrations of these items in their proper room settings make the book very attractive and also useful in the area of interior decoration.

The touching story of the tragic death of Tarzan's parents and his growth to manhood amongst savage beasts is revived in a hard cover edition with color cartoons newly drawn by Burne Hogarth. The text is adapted from the original Edgar Rice Burroughs story by Robert M. Hodes. There is a revival of interest in Hogarth's art and many people will find in TARZAN OF THE APES a pleasant bit of nostalgia.

If your name is Boyer the chances are good that your ancestor was a bowmaker and very skilled in working with wood; if it is Fletcher he was an armorer and his origin was French. Flechier is the Old French word for maker of arrows. If it is Cook or Taylor you can guess the derivation, but if it is Clark or Dexter perhaps you would like to read what J. R. Dolan has to say about it in his ENGLISH ANCESTRAL NAMES: The Evolution of the Surname from Medieval Occupations [Potter. $10]

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

As the holidays approach, pre-season furniture sales often lure consumers into replacing their furniture in preparation for the onslaught of holiday visitors.

However, past experience shows that if the furniture is not on hand at the retailer's, it may not arrive until long after the guests have come and gone.

The Consumer Protection Division warns consumers that unless they make their purchases conditioned on "immediate delivery", furniture ordered now may not be here in time for Christmas. Most stores order their furniture from the South. When the manufacturer has enough orders to warrant a shipment, the furniture is sent to the store. If there are not enough orders for a particular item, the manufacturer will wait and delivery will be delayed.

In addition, the Consumer Protection Division urges consumers to make sure that any advertised reduction in the price of a product is an actual savings. Terms such as "originally", "formerly", "regularly", "usually", "comparable value", "list price" or other similar expressions must be based on fact-provable by the advertiser through his own records or by the prices of comparable items being sold in the trading area where such claims or representations are made.

The Division also reminds consumers that most manufacturers will not guarantee the durability of a fabric and that in most instances stores will not be responsible for such fabric problems as worn areas, pulled threads or tears. Consumers should choose fabrics in accordance with their needs, mindful of the amount of use the furniture will get. Consumers should obtain warranties, if possible, ensuring that stores will make reasonable repairs of damages which are not due to normal wear and tear.

'Say What You Feel'

Many relationships are built upon superficial attitudes which do not last. Remember the song 20 years ago "You've got to be a football hero to get along with the beautiful girls." Well...maybe it helped. My friends who were football heroes in college days had to have more basis of relating to people than their gridiron success. Being a good dancer...being handsome or beautiful...driving a big car...dressing fashionably...are all "nice"...but not one of them will cement a relationship with another person. What will?

I suggest that the people with whom we have a sustained relationship over the years...whether in marriage...or friendships...whether with the same or opposite sex...is based upon the SHARING OF FEELINGS with each other. The relationships which last are those where...one can feel hurt and say so...one can feel sad and say so...one can see beauty and say so...one can be angry and say so...one can be lonely and say so...one can feel amorous and say so...and in the expressing of these and other feelings find an understanding and accepting response from the husband/wife/friend. To make a relationship come alive...SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

Now why is it important to say what you feel? Should not each person be big enough...strong enough...adult enough to handle our emotions without sharing them...maybe even burdening a partner with them? The stronger...the bigger...the more adult we are the more we want to share our feelings. By sharing you show love and respect for another person. You show to the other where you stand...who you really are...where you're coming from...what's really in your heart...the stuff you're really made of. To try to hide all this prevents a relationship...destroys the basic elements of a one to one relationship. Plastic coating prevents closeness...will leave you lonely in the end. So...SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

If SAYING WHAT YOU FEEL is so important why don't we? One reason is that many people grew up in homes where suspicion...lack of trust...play it safe...don't trust anybody...were taught by example and precept. Many such homes care more about "how we look to the public" than how we feel toward each other. So...when a person grows up in such a cold atmosphere...it's not easy to share feelings. Maybe we're even unaware of what we feel. We do better when we've had a good model.

This leads to the next reason...fear. "I'm afraid to tell her anything"...Loren was saying of his wife...because everytime I do she belittles me...demoralizes me...makes fun of me." Wives often feel the same fear...he's so lacking in empathy...it's as tho' I lay myself wide open for more hurt." Of course...there's such a thing as "playing on people's sympathies"...to get attention as a child would do...and if you've overworked this kind of "yelling wolf" maybe it won't work any more. If fear is blocking the sharing of feelings it will be wise to get this out in the open and by honestly expressing to each other your fears, try to get the relationship opened up so you can SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

Some people believe that we in New England are more cold...more austere...more given to silence...to being less expressive of our feelings than in other sections...because our ancestors the Puritans were noted for this expressionless life. Maybe so...but this is 1972...not 1672...300 years later. Let's hold on to what's good for us from our past...and abandon what prevents relationship with one another. There's too much loneliness to carry along any obstacle to good relationships whether your Puritan forefathers did or not...SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

Thirdly...you'll be a lot happier. Only free people can be happy people. No one is free unless he is free to SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

Oh yes...how do I say what I feel? Just open your mouth and blurt it out. A little practice and you'll never go back to the "Puritan" Culture of stoic silence. SAY WHAT YOU FEEL.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counseling you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass. or call 326-5990 or 545-5947 or 659-7595.

What happens when two adults openly...freely...courageously SAY WHAT THEY FEEL? Three results...you feel like a human being...not a god nor an animal...just human and you can go no higher than that.

Secondly...you'll lose a lot of lonely feelings and in their place gain feelings of cooperation in sharing with another...rather than playing competing and guessing games which prevent closeness.

A 'Thank You' From Quincy Junior Baseball

Editor, Quincy Sun:

In behalf of the players, coaches and directors I would like to thank you for the fine cooperation you gave us this year as well as in years past.

If it wasn't for your newspaper many boys may not have ever gotten their name or May our fine relationship continue for many years to come.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

It's always your best friend...or some member of your family who happily breaks the news to you that you "look a little heavy." After a recent TV appearance, I had barely walked in the door of my house when the phone started to ring.

N-er mind that television truly does add about ten pounds to your appearance, after the third call I ceased to be defensive. I ran in panic to the full-length mirror. Truthfully, I did not look bad. My dress fit properly without snugness. Only I did have to admit on close examination that there were three or so extra pounds barely visible that I could as easily do without.

I have been "maintaining" for years now, and that's a pleasant way to live. It's more flexible than a straight reducing diet, and it does permit the addition of a few things to the program that do perk up the interest in eating. Well, today I'm not maintaining. I am dieting.

That's the way it goes in the life of a fatter, ex-or present. You can never let your guard down. And when your best friend or some "well-meaning" family member gives you the word, you'd better believe and do something about it!

Just to console myself, I dreamed up this new way to eat fish. If you're fond of fondue, pull out the pot and:

SEAFOOD FONDUE BOURGIGNONNE

In Fondue Pot heat to low boil:

2 cups water
½ teaspoon Hidden Valley Ranch Dressing
2 vegetable Bouillon cubes

On Fondueplate arrange: ½ inch pieces of rock lobster tail meat. Cubes of fish fillet, raw fresh or frozen scallops, raw fresh or frozen shrimp.

In attractive small dishes, provide the following relishes:

Chopped Dill Pickle
½ cup Yogurt mixed with chopped cucumber chopped fresh parsley moistened with lemon juice chopped green pepper and celery chopped onion mixed with Kikkoman Soy Sauce

How do you fondue? Spear one of the fish pieces with the fondue fork and dip in pot until cooked. You can tell when the fish loses its translucency and turns opaque. Transfer to a regular dinner fork and dip in one of the relishes.

Nothing's more fun than a fondue party—and this way you can diet and fondue all at the same time.

As for me, the three pounds will soon be gone. Believe me, next time I'll watch for them myself rather than see them on TV!

Need diet help? Write to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

WHICH PATIENTS SHOULD FLY?

Air lines, in their early years, used a crude rule of thumb for acceptance of passengers: "Anyone who can walk a city block, climb a flight of stairs, and who looks and acts normal, can fly." Recent medical studies have proven this rule to be a good one. The effort of walking a block or climbing a flight of stairs compares to the stress of breathing at an altitude of 5,000 to 7,000 feet.

The fact is that the average long-haul jet plane cruises at about 35,000 feet, but passengers are exposed to the equivalent of the altitude of Denver, Colorado—the "mile high" city. Although there is slightly less oxygen in the air at that altitude, the reduction is easily tolerated by most people. If a patient with lung or circulation problems has difficulty in breathing, oxygen, equal to what would be breathed at sea level, can be delivered onboard the plane.

Thomas Crane Remarkable Man

Davoren 'Delighted' At Crane Library Selection As Historic Site

State Secretary John F. X. Davoren, chairman of the Massachusetts Historical Commission, says he was "especially delighted" at the news that the Thomas Crane Public Library in Quincy had been selected as a National Historic Register site by the U.S. Interior Department's National Park Service.

"It was constructed of Milford granite," commented Davoren who is a native of Milford and who represented that community in the Massachusetts Legislature for many years.

The Crane Library [1881-82] was recommended for inclusion on the Register by the Massachusetts Historical Commission and approval was contained in a communication received from Director George B. Hartzog Jr. of the National Park Service in Washington.

Located at 40 Washington St., Quincy Center, the Library was the creation of famed Henry Hobson Richardson. It was probably his simplest in plan and perhaps his most successful in design. The building is constructed in random ashlar of Milford granite, with red Longmeadow sandstone trim. Additions were made in 1908 and again in the 1930's.

Other Richardson libraries are Winn Memorial [Woburn], Ames Memorial [North Easton], Billings [Burlington, Vt.] and Converse Library [Malden]. He paid great attention to the interior detail of the Crane Library, including the carved woodwork of southern pine and the ornate fireplace, also of wood, with carvings representing the flora of Quincy.

The Thomas Crane Public Library is the third of the five libraries designed by Henry Hobson Richardson and, according to Henry Russell Hitchcock, is the most successful expression of the general concept on which all five are based. The library was given to the Town of Quincy by the family of Thomas Crane on condition that the town supply a suitable site and that the Crane family choose the architect. The commission was given to Richardson in May, 1880, and the building was dedicated May 30, 1882.

Thomas Crane was born in 1803 on Georges Island in Boston Harbor. In 1810, the Crane family moved to Quincy where Thomas attended school and then trained as a stone-cutter. Crane went to New York in 1829 and with other young journeymen started a cooperative stone yard.

By 1835, he had bought out his partners and controlled the business. A fire that same year leveled a large section of commercial New York and created a huge market for the Quincy granite, the material in which Crane dealt. Among buildings Crane helped construct are the New York Custom House and Grand Central Station.

As he prospered, Crane's influence in the city grew. He served as a bank director and insurance company official and was a frequent arbiter of industrial disputes. Crane was a close friend of Horace Greeley and an ardent supporter of that famous editor in the antislavery movement. Though New York became his home, Crane for many years spent part of each summer in Quincy and continued to visit the town frequently until his death in 1875.

It has been suggested that Charles Francis Adams Jr., chairman of the Quincy Public Library Trustees, proposed that Richardson design the library since the architect was a close friend of Adams' brother, Henry. It is equally probable that the Crane family chose Richardson simply because at the time he was considered America's leading architect.

With the development of his personal Romanesque style, Richardson stood apart from the confusion of styles which characterized American architecture during the second half of the century, and laid the foundation for a new architecture marked by a respect for the essential nature of building materials and by a concern for function and purpose. His influence during the last fifteen years of the century was enormous.

County Tourist Council Planned

Norfolk County Commission Chairman James J. Collins announces the initiation of a Development and Tourist Council for Norfolk County.

The organizational meeting will be held at Amaru's Restaurant, 80 Bridge St., Dedham at 4 p.m. on Nov. 28. Business men are invited from all of Norfolk County to participate.

At this brief organizational meeting the need for such a council will be outlined.

Guest speakers will be Frank Shaw, Director of Tourism for the State of Massachusetts and Mary Wahlrab Executive Director of the Bristol County Development and Tourist Council.

Norfolk County is the 10th County in the Commonwealth to be allowed by legislation enacted this year to promote recreational, historical, cultural, commercial and industrial resources.

It has been felt for many years that Norfolk County with its hundreds of vacation resources and countless historical attractions has been suffering from a lack of promotion, Collins said.

Veterans News

More than a million GI Bill trainees will receive checks averaging nearly $450 during November as a result of an increase in their Educational Assistance Allowances approved by the President on Oct. 24.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs, Donald E. Johnson said that Va computer personnel are making every effort to complete the necessary changes to get the checks out near the first of the month.

Because the new law permits the Veterans Administration to make the monthly payments to students in advance rather than at the end of each month of training, November checks will include both the November advance and the October payment which was due at the end of the month under the old system. The increases are retroactive to September 1st, so those who were enrolled in September and continue in school through October 24 will receive the difference between the old and new rates for any part of September they were attending school.

Students need not contact
VA if they are already on VA rolls as GI Bill students, Johnson emphasized. Those who are already certified by their schools will receive the higher payments automatically.

December checks and all subsequent checks will be paid at the new rate at the first of the month.

The new rates start at $220 per month for a single trainee going to school full time. Those with one dependent will get $261. Those with two dependents will get $298 and $18 a month more will be paid for each dependent in excess of two.

Payments for Apprenticeship and On-The-Job training under the GI Bill will start at $160 a month for single trainees.

Richardson went for naught in a 4-2 loss to Weymouth.

Neil Shea and Chuckie Marshall rounded out the scoring against Holbrook and Paul McGrath, George Mackey and Sean Dennis stood out on defense.

Michael O'Brien managed the lone Quincy score as the Squirt

B team lost a close one to the Abington A squad 2-1.

The Mite A contingent swamped the Abington Terriers 8-3 behind Kevin Craig's hat trick and goals by Richie Stevens, Timmy Ryan, Mike McNiece, Tommy Murphy and Paul McCabe.

Q-N Thanksgiving Series Booklet Updated

A year ago a group of Quincy and North Quincy students, under the direction of Miss Alberta Murray, North English teacher, put out an outstanding 44-page souvenir booklet covering the entire Quincy-North football series.

This year, again under Miss Murray's supervision, a 14-page insert has been produced for the booklet, bringing the series up to date. The insert includes pictures and notes on both squads, the bands, cheerleaders, etc., and a message from Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

According to Athletic Director Carl Leone, the booklets will be on sale for $1 and those who want only the insert to put in their booklets can purchase it for 50 cents. They were due to go on sale yesterday.

The booklets and inserts are being sold by members of the two school bands, the Quincy Fathers' Club and North Quincy Boosters Club.

The Quincy band will use the money for the fund to send it to the Cotton Bowl on New Years and the North band will use the funds to help towards its trip to Ireland.

Comeback Win At Somerville

Raiders Get Defense-Offense Balance

North Quincy's defense has carried the Raiders' football team throughout the season but last week the offense came to life to pull out a big Greater Boston League win at Somerville, and Coach Ralph Frazier hopes this balance will bear fruit in the Thanksgiving windup against Quincy.

"Our defense has been tremendous all season but the offense has lagged a bit," Frazier said. "Today the defense was given its best workout by what I thought was the best offense we have faced all year but the boys stopped them when they had to."

"It was the offense which pleased me as we made our best offensive showing of the year against a good club and the way they came through after falling behind in the last period really gave us a boost with the big game with Quincy coming up."

Frazier paid tribute to quarterback Bob Morton for calling a "fantastic game". He still didn't do much passing but looked good when he did and he ran the team well. Also coming in for their share of praise were the hard running halfbacks, Paul Cunniff and John Flynn, who scored all the points in the 20-15 victory.

North drove from its six-yard line for one touchdown, then marched from its 20 in the waning minutes for the winning score.

The defense came through in exceptional fashion on two occasions, stopping the Highlanders inside the North 10.

"The whole defense was there again when it counted and our defensive captain, Burt Bray, was outstanding once again," defensive coach Dick Meyer said. "And our secondary was excellent, coming up with many open field tackles and protecting well against their passing."

All of the North coaches agreed Somerville's Tom Wilson, a workhorse, was one of the finest backs the Raiders have faced this fall.

The offensive line also was lauded with Co-Capt. Paul Cadigan being singled out in particular.

North took a 14-0 lead but Somerville rebounded to go ahead, 15-14, in the final period.

The Raiders went ahead in the first period when Flynn went 13 yards for a touchdown and also ran for the extra points.

In the second period Cunniff broke loose and raced 65 yards to put North ahead, 14-0.

Somerville came roaring back and scored later in the second period on a touchdown by quarterback Mark Sullivan from the 11 and Mike Adams kicked the point.

In the fourth period the Highlanders took the lead on a touchdown by Wilson and the go-ahead points by Sullivan.

North took the ensuing kickoff and drove 80 yards for the clincher with only about two minutes remaining. A great catch by Flynn of a Morton pass picked up a big first down and a 35-yard pass from Morton to Billy Carroll brought the Raiders to the Somerville 17. Flynn scored the winning touchdown from the five.

The Quincy-North Quincy football classic on Thanksgiving is still the main course but this year there will be many side dishes beginning Saturday.

There will be everything from chess to a girls' "powderpuff" football game to go along with the 40th annual varsity game on the holiday morning.

Athletic Director Carl Leone has released the busy schedule of side events which have been arranged with the help of Tom Hall, Quincy's winter and spring track and cross country coach.

The activities will get underway Saturday at 10 a.m. with the annual sophomore football game at the stadium.

Then, at 2 p.m., the Quincy and North junior varsity teams will collide at the Stadium, marking a first in the cross-town rivalry. The sophs have played at the stadium for the past two years.

Sunday the cheerleaders and members of the pep clubs from the two schools will clash in the "powderpuff" game at the stadium at 12:30.

Hall announced that this will be a nine-girl flag football game.

Also on Sunday there will be a soccer game at the Quincy soccer field behind the stadium with the Alumni clashing with a faculty team. This game will start at 2:30 p.m.

Monday at 3 p.m., Sterling's junior high school soccer champions will face the league all-stars in the second annual game at the high school field. Sterling, which has won the city crown for four years in a row, took last year's game, 3-1.

Monday night at 6:30 the girls will give a gymnastics demonstration at the old Quincy gym, now the girls' gym, with Gretha Ruark, Quincy girls' coach, and Mary Maloney, the North coach, directing.

Following the girls' demonstration, boys and girls of all junior high schools will be invited to work out.

Tuesday, chess matches will be held at 2:30 in the old courthouse, which has been taken over for high school classrooms.

At 2:30 p.m. the newspaper staffs of the two schools will meet at North Quincy to work on a "two-school paper" which will be distributed during the week.

At 3 p.m. on Tuesday, intramural sports at the elementary school level, including soccer and flag football, will be held at the Quincy soccer field under the direction of Miss Mary Pratt.

On Wednesday football rallies will be held at both schools at 11:30 a.m.

"We'd like to have the public come to these rallies," Leone said. "Also, we'd like to have former players of both schools watch the final practices on Wednesday afternoon. This would give them a chance to say hello and watch the practice sessions."

The highlight of the pre-game activities will take place on the holiday morning at 8 a.m. when the members of all Quincy and North Quincy classes join for a general reunion at the soccer field behind the stadium.

If the soccer field is too muddy, the reunions will take place at Upper Merrymount.

There will be markers at the field with the various classes designated on them.

Between the halves of the varsity game, the Quincy and North cross country teams will meet with the runners finishing at the stadium and doing one lap around the stadium track.

Riggs, Creedon Injured Mustangs, Workhorse Too Much For Quincy

By TOM SULLIVAN

QUINCY SCORING

In seven games this fall, Medford's Mike Colonna had carried an average of 25 times a game and gained more than 1,100 yards.

Last Saturday Quincy saw why the hard-running halfback has been a workhorse as he carried 27 times for 209 yards to spark the Mustangs to a 27-15 win over the Presidents at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Colonna was virtually unstoppable as he tore through the Quincy line, especially after the brilliant Paul Riggs was sidelined with a knee injury, and scored two touchdowns. In the last period he carried nine successive times to set up the final touchdown.

"He can run, there is no doubt about that, and I'm certainly glad he is a senior," said Quincy Coach Hank Conroy, who now is pointing for the Thanksgiving game with North Quincy, hoping to avenge last year's 30-12 defeat.

"Riggs, our outstanding all-around player all year, injured his knee in the first period and he didn't play at all in the second half," Conroy went on. "Medford found a weakness in the right side of our line with him on the bench and utilized that in driving for their last touchdown. Riggs and Paul Creedon, our quarterback, have knee injuries but I think both will be ready for North, with no game next week."

The Quincy coach explained that Medford did everything he expected with the exception of a safety blitz.

"We didn't expect that because they hadn't used it when we scouted them and it really hurt us considerably," Hank went on. "This was the hardest physical game we have played this year with both teams playing good, hard football and it was a very well-played game. I was pleased with the way the boys bounced back and they never quit."

Creedon threw well again with eight for 16 for 117 yards to pass the 1,150-yard mark for the season, but it was Robin Carrera who threw a pass which went for 76 yards with just two seconds to play in the half to electrify the crowd. The backup quarterback, who again stood out on defense, hit on two of three passes for 98 yards.

Conroy hailed Rich Silva, who did some more fine running and he also singled out Wayne Ponder and Bob Spillaine for key blocks in Silva's great run on the pass. Ed Sylva and Frank Guido also helped clear the way as Silva skipped down the left sideline.

Medford, which ran 49 plays to 35 for Quincy, clicked off 221 net yards rushing [Colonna had practically all of them], while Quincy could net only 38 yards on the ground.

With Colonna doing such a great job rushing, Medford passed only five times, hitting on two for 58 yards with one intercepted. Medford picked up 16 first downs to nine for the Presidents.

BREAKING LOOSE -- Quincy running back Rick Silva shakes off Medford tacklers and heads for paydirt in 76-yard touchdown pass-and-run play from reserve quarterback Robin Carrera in 27-15 loss.

Medford took advantage of a break to score its first touchdown early. The Mustangs punted after being stopped on their 42 but Quincy was called for roughing the kicker and on the next play Colonna broke loose for a 46-yard touchdown run.

Quincy came right back to take the lead. A pass from Creedon to Riggs for 45 yards [Riggs ran about 30] put Quincy on the Medford 21. After pass from Creedon to Porter put the ball on the two from where Creedon scored on a sneak. John Whitney kicked the go-ahead point.

It didn't take Medford long to regain the lead as passes to Tom Sweet for 19 yards and Bob Rosie for 39 put the Mustangs on Quincy's five from where Colonna [who else?] scored. He also rushed for the points with a fine individual effort after apparently being stopped on the one.

In the second period Medford hiked its lead to 20-7 when it drove from its 36 following a Kim Derbes punt. It was again mostly Colonna but Marty Doto scored from the one.

It looked like that would be the score at halftime but, with two seconds on the clock and Creedon sitting it out with his bad knee, Carrera threw a short pass to Silva as time ran out and, with the beautiful blocking, went all the way to complete the 76-yard play as the Quincy stands went wild. On a fake kick, Carrera passed to Ponder in the end zone for the two points which left the Presidents trailing by only a 20-15 count.

Quincy started the second half as if it was on its way after being buoyed by that final first half play but the Presidents stalled when they reached the Medford 45.

In the final period Medford started from its 42 after a Derbes punt and, with Colonna carrying nine times in a row, went to the Quincy one from where Doto scored with 1:53 remaining. Quincy started a drive of its own but fumbled the ball away on Medford's 48 and that was that.

New Facility To Give Winter Track Shot In Arm

High school winter track, which appeared dead when the 24-school Met League folded because of a lack of available sites, will get a shot in the arm when the new Quincy physical education-administration building is built on the Vo-Tech field.

One of the features of the new facility will be a nine-lap track on the upper level which has been designed with the help of Tom Hall, Quincy coach, and his cross-town rival, Bob Gentry.

"We expect this to be one of the finest tracks in the state and when it is completed, hopefully in another year, all Greater Boston League meets will be run there," Hall said. "When the Met League folded, we formed our own league with the same eight schools that compete in every other sport. This winter we will hold our meets at Medford's huge facility."

The new facility, for which ground is expected to be broken soon, will also have a new ice hockey rink on the lower level, space for handball and squash and administrative offices.

"This will certainly help our physical education program," said Hall. "Our classes right now are pretty cramped and this will give the boys a chance to jog, play handball or squash and take part in other physical ed classes."

Athletic Director Carl Leone explained that many other schools have requested rental of the new track when Quincy and North Quincy are not using it.

Now, An Upside Down Roof For You

Ever hear of an upside down roof?

The Pemberton Roofing Company of Quincy claims a "first" in constructing an upside down roof at the Weymouth Port Model Apartments, a multi-million dollar complex in North Weymouth.

The innovation in roofing techniques puts the built-up roofing system directly to concrete. In turn, the use of styrofoam insulation on top of the built-up roofing system acts as a protecting device from the sun and other elements. Gravel is then used on the top surface which is dropped into place and used as a ballast to help hold the insulation in place.

The system named IRMA, which stands for, Insulation Roof Membrane Assembly, is the first such-type of application on the entire South Shore.

This type of application can be applied to flat and semi-flat roofs. It can also be used on a re-roofing job if a building does not have adequate insulation. This system may be used without alteration to the flashing or edge of the structure.

In the past when added insulation was needed on a flat roof building the general method was to remove the entire roof, its flashing and edging.

With this new system the insulation may be laid on top of the roofing and therefore all existing flashing and edging may be left intact.

Brig Pemberton, President of Pemberton Roofing, 141 Newport Ave., Quincy, said a second type operation has been applied to a section of the Nuclear Power Station in Plymouth.

Elks Fight Beano License

The Massachusetts Elks Assn. has voted to wage a legal battle against the state's refusal to issue or renew beano licenses for Elks Lodges.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett said the organization will seek an injunction delaying punitive action until the Supreme Court rules on the legality of restrictive membership in clubs.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent has issued an order lifting beano licenses from Elks groups because of the organization's national policy of all-white membership.

Sargent and Public Safety Comr. John Kehoe have informed 31 Elks lodges that their beano licenses will not be renewed in January and have declared 10 others, including the Quincy lodge, ineligible.

The decision, they said, is based on an executive order directing all state agencies to use their powers to end discrimination.

In a letter to the governor, Brett said he felt the state was making "a terrible mistake."

"To my knowledge, no Elks Lodge or any other organization would refuse to grant admission to any person desirous of participating in the game of Beano, regardless of the person's race, creed, color or national origin," he said.

The organization has a suit pending in Suffolk Superior Court to prevent state suspension of Elks liquor licenses on the same grounds.

Transportation will be provided for elderly residents to join the mayor and city officials in a meal prepared by Daniel Barry of Ship Haven Restaurant.

Income from the Cotton Center Johnson Fund will be used to finance the affair.

Members of Atlantic United Methodist Church and the First Church of Quantum will be guests at an 8 a.m. service at Memorial Congregational Church.

A standing-room-only crowd of more than 15,000 is expected to pack Veterans Memorial Stadium for the 40th annual Thanksgiving contest between Quincy and North Quincy high schools.

Quincy enters the game with hopes of avenging last year's 30-12 loss and even the teams' records for the year.

North appears the favorite, bringing a 6-2 record as compared to Quincy's five wins and three losses.

Gaughan Thanks Montclair

Students For Halloween Candy

Supt. Charles W. Gaughan of Bridgewater State Correctional Institute has thanked students of Montclair School for their donations of Halloween candy to inmates.

At the suggestion of Principal Leon Gould, students contributed left-over candy to several organizations, including the institution.

In a letter to Mr. Gould, Gaughan, told students "the candy donated by you will be responsible for many joyous moments by our inmates and patients."

"However, possibly more important is the realization that persons care enough for them to be generous and thoughtful," he said.

Gaughan said the candy will be used at various Christmas parties for the inmates "and we need to think ahead as this could be a particularly lonely time for our men."

"All of you can enjoy your holidays all the more due to your interest in mankind, particularly those not as fortunate as yourselves," he said.

"Therefore, in behalf of the inmates, patients, personnel and myself personally, I express the deepest gratitude of all."

Come hell, high water or Kippy Marshall, County Commissioner George McDonald is a definite candidate for sheriff in 1974.

The former city councillor is confiding to friends that he will positively make the run two years hence.

Marshall, Ward 2 councillor and state representative, has been readying his campaign for months. Unless one bows out, they're on an interesting head-on collision course.

***

FORMER Quincy High Principal George Wilson must have the Fountain of Youth gurgling in his backyard. He was one of the guests at the Quincy High Class of 1942's 30th anniversary reunion and looks as young as he did 20-30 years ago. One member of the 1942 class complimented him: "You look like you're standing still in time and we are all catching up to you."

***

PETER KANAVOS, a member of the Q.H.S. Class of 1942, did a lot of scrambling to get to the reunion. Now a noted developer, living in Newton, he flew in from Arizona the day of the reunion and flew out the following day to Greece where he is building a large hotel.

***

Lawrence Creedon, superintendent of schools, and Carl Leone, director of athletics, were guest speakers the other day at the Morrisette Post's seventh annual Quincy High-North Quincy football dinner.

Creedon played football at North and Leone at Quincy.

Appropriately enough, both their sons will play against each other this year, although school allegiances will be reversed from those of their fathers, with Paul Creedon playing for Quincy and Carl Leone for North. Incidentally, both sons are quarterbacks.

***

THE ANNUAL Thanksgiving Day game between Quincy and North promises to be one of the best ever. And Thursday has been billed as HOMECOMING for all Q.H.S.-N.Q.H.S. alumni. Before the game, the alumni will meet at the soccer field, adjacent to Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

***

N.Q.H.S. ALUMNUS, Charlie Alongi, assistant director of recreation, recently explained the story of North's mascot, the YAKOO INDIAN.

Around 1957, North wanted to develop a more unique character than the "Red Raiders" and came up with the little Injun with the hooked nose. Curiously enough, the model for the mascot was no Indian, but rather one of North's students, Al Yacubian. Yacubian provided the profile and his nick-name, "Yacu", provided a name for the new symbol of N.Q.H.S.

***

Quite a number of the class are still living in Quincy and are represented in municipal government by, to name a few: City Comptroller John Quinn; Police Sgt. Kenneth Borst; Firefighter John Praetsch; and Richard Koch, executive secretary Park-Recreation Board.

***

PASSERS-BY THE ADAMS ACADEMY on Adams St. can expect to see a lot of digging in the next couple of weeks.

Dr. George Horner, archaeologist for the Quincy Historical Society, has been busy recently, making probes in the hope of finding part of the foundation of the John Hancock birthplace. The Hancock house, which burned down, occupied the site before John Adams provided for the building of the boys academy in 1870.

This week, on the sidewalk in front of the academy, the park department crew will re-set the "ten mile" stagecoach marker. It was one of the markers of the colonial stagecoach route from Boston to Plymouth and marked the 10-mile point from Boston. Originally, it stood on Hancock St., in front of the old Foy's Market, but had to be moved for the construction of the Quincy Center MBTA station and parking lot. Since then, it had been stored in the parking lot behind the Adams Academy.

Park department stone mason, Anthony Delmonico of Adams Shore, will supervise the re-setting of the marker. Delmonico, himself has had a hand in Quincy's history and has put his personal touch on a number of the city's landmarks. He has re-pointed the Abigail Adams Cairn and re-set the base of the Adams' monument on Franklin St. Most recently, he constructed the field stone, memorial wall at Grossman Park, on the corner of Quincy Shore Dr. and Fenno St.

***

MEMBERS OF The Quincy Municipal Credit Union elected five new members to the board of directors last week. With 379 voting, the results showed Thomas Maloney with 332, Patrick Sullivan 325, Rocco Marella 242, William Phelan 217, Richard Koch 208, Joseph Walsh 115, Helen Duffy 59, Geoffrey Davidso 50 and Clement O'Brien 32.

Four out of the five new members are firemen, with Richard Koch from the park department.

City clerk, John Gillis, supervised the voting at the J.F.K. Health Center.

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

Massachusetts residents who need extra money for the holidays should keep in mind the provisions of "truth-in-lending" laws.

These were passed three years ago by the Massachusetts legislature and the Federal government to ensure that the millions of consumers who enter into credit agreements understand the contract before they sign on the dotted line.

Under the terms of the truth-in-lending laws, certain figures must be printed conspicuously in any advertisement offering credit or in any contract for a loan, installment agreement, or charge account. The finance charge and the annual percentage rate are the two most important figures which must be so printed.

The finance charge is the total cost of the loan in dollars and cents—the extra sum the borrower will pay as interest, loan fee or service charge. The annual percentage rate is the percentage of the cash price that is added on each year as the finance charge.

The finance charge and the percentage rate allow consumers to shop for the most advantageous contracts when a loan or credit is needed.

If a person wants to borrow $100, to be repaid in 12 monthly installments, the lender must offer him the choice of the add-on or the discounted repayment plans.

Under the add-on plan the borrower would agree to pay a finance charge of $6 per $100 at a 10.89% annual percentage rate a total of $106. Under the discounted plan the borrower would still pay a finance charge of $6. However, this $6 would be subtracted from the $100 he borrowed and the lender would give him only $94. In this case the annual percentage rate is slightly higher—11.58%.

Since the "truth-in-lending" law requires that the finance charge and the annual percentage rates be clearly printed on the contracts, the borrower can quickly make his choice of borrowing plan on the basis of how much cash he needs and how much interest he is willing to pay.

This law applies to credit extended to individuals for the purpose of personal, family or household goods when a finance charge is imposed or when four or more installments are specified. It also applies to retail credit purchases and personal cash loans.

Before you sign a contract for holiday buying, be certain you understand the terms of the contract, check to make sure the contract has no blank spaces, and ask for a copy of the signed agreement.

Post Offices Closed Thursday

All post offices will be closed on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

No deliveries of mail will be made except for special deliveries, according to Postmaster George K. Walker, Boston Postal District. The usual holiday lock box service will be provided.

Holiday collection service will be limited to regular boxes and white top airmail boxes located in front of all post offices. Collections will be made at 4 P.M.

Where Do I Get Emotional Security?

Both Roth and Fran were 34...both had jobs...he with a newspaper...she a hair stylist. They were a striking couple...dressed smartly...told me they each owned a late model car...lived in a luxury apartment in the suburbs. From the outside they looked good...like most people would like to be. From the inside they were both miserable.

Fran was saying... "I married Roth [12 years ago] because I know he's strong...I wanted him to give me emotional security which I didn't have. But he's let me down badly. All he's given me is material security. I can buy anything I want...but I still don't like myself...I don't feel confident within myself. I have trouble making decisions...if he loved me wouldn't he want to share his strength with me? When I ask him what to do...he just smiles and says... "Whatever you think best Dear." I want to throw things at him when he won't help me."

"You see, Doctor"...Roth said..."I used to make all the decisions...then she complained that I treated her as a little girl...now I try to have open discussion with Fran...to make our decisions after we reason through together. But she doesn't contribute to the dialogue. So now I've been saying..."do what you think best"...and she accuses me of not helping her."

This was not office conversation...I was sitting between these people on the 707 TWA jet liner...32,000 feet en route to Los Angeles to attend the formation of the National Alliance For Family Life last week-end. When you're deeply involved in conversation the time flies by. Our conversation was animated...and constructive. Of course I recommended that they read Dr. Harris' "I'm O.K...You're O.K." It helps people to understand when they are coming across as ADULT...CHILD...PARENT. Fran was Adult on her job...CHILD with her husband and he didn't want a child-wife. Who does? We helped Fran to see that inward feelings of security...confidence...well-being...do not come from some outside source...but from within one's own life...how one looks at one-self...other people...the daily tasks...even to getting up in the morning. Fran said..."He gets up at 7:00 each morning with an attitude of "Hello Tuesday...here I come." I waken with a feeling..."Oh no...not another day." Striking difference in personal security. Fran's home was hectic...father alcoholic...mother cried much...older brother and sister paid little attention to her. The atmosphere was not one of emotional security...but of uncertainty...clutter...disorder...unhappiness.

Roth's home was a fun place...he remembered the happy breakfasts of cereal..."prunes" [big family joke]...bacon and eggs...coffee aroma. Sometimes father got the breakfast...sometimes mother...but the whole family of seven ate together. The family kissed each other as they went out the door to school and work. Everyone had personal chores...each had family chores. The home was orderly and they had a lot of friends. No wonder he was inwardly secure.

But what if we didn't have that kind of home?...are we doomed to a whole life of emotional insecurity? I don't think so. We taught Fran on the airplane to begin to analyze things...ask why?...to look at the facts...then to decide. Learn to ask questions...of your husband/wife. It stimulates conversation. Look at every event as a transaction of life. Examine the results of this decision...or that decision. You begin to feel good about yourself...to like yourself...to feel..."I'm O.K..."not that "I may be wrong." Of course you're going to be wrong part of the time...but you learn from your wrong decisions as well as the decisions which work out well.

When we were landing in L.A., Fran took me by the arm and said..."You know...Doctor...I feel more confident already. Roth...I think we should take the bus into the city...we'll have more time to talk." Roth smiled...and winked at me...Fran had just stepped out of her former "little girl role".

Between the Covers

The election is over but it may not be too soon to prepare ourselves for the next one.

A timely item about the amazingly successful Senator from Massachusetts is ED BROOKE, by John Henry Cutler [Bobbs-Merrill, $12] Mr. Cutler, who also wrote "Honey Fitz" and "Cardinal Cushing of Boston", both available at the Library, speculates on Brooke's political future in national politics.

The fortunes and excesses of the incredibly powerful, brilliant and tyrannical Borgia dynasty are brought to life by Clemente Fusero in his exciting and authoritative family biography THE BORGIA [Praeger, $12.50] All the melodrama and pageantry of the Italian Renaissance are here in this story of 15th century Italy.

Another book with a Renaissance setting explores the life and social role of women in the 15th and 16th centuries. THE RENAISSANCE WOMAN [McGraw, $12.95] has so many illustrations, some of them rarely reproduced, that it looks like an art manual of the period. It reflects the interest of the author, Mannelore Sachs, who is a respected German art historian.

In VOICES OF 1776, by Richard Wheeler [Crowell, $10] a variety of people give first person descriptions of their thoughts and experiences during the American War of Independence. The author provides a running commentary that gives the selections continuity. The "voices" appear in chronological order. Paul Revere speaks first, describing his famous ride and the last quotation is from a New Jersey newspaper which expresses the joy of America's Patriots at the surrender of Cornwallis. The attractive format makes this a good choice for a gift book.

For comment on issues facing the world today read the voices of the 1970's represented by Daniel Berrigan, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Herbert Marcuse, Spiro Agnew and others in THE ELOQUENCE OF PROTEST, edited by Harrison Salisbury [Houghton, $7.95]

Would you like to read another rabbi story? There is a new one, this time by Mark Mirsky and the locale is the same as the title: BLUE HILL AVENUE. [Bobbs-Merrill, $6.95] Rabbi Lux and his flock are trying to make a valiant stand in decaying Dorchester against the influx of "schwartzes".

It is a slight book but the characters are in such a state of hysteria throughout that it could be catching with more exposure. The rabbi's wife goes into rages of jealousy, there is a riot in the synagogue and plenty of earthy language. Not recommended for insomniacs.

Youth Speaks Out

- Congratulations to the City of Quincy for getting the Christmas Lights up in time for Thanksgiving.
- With the continued hijackings, Santa Claus may have to carry a gun.
- The computer at QHS is working well; report cards finally arrived on time.
- The Senior Class is disappointed with the class pictures, not with the photography, but with the resemblance.
- The stock market went over 1,000 pts, which must be consoling news to the housewife who can't afford to feed her family.
- Thanksgiving is upon us. It's time for Turkey and Football, for families and homecomings, and a Christmas Parade.

Quincy, North Bands To Sponsor Fund-Raising Float In Parade

The North Quincy and Quincy High School Bands will enter a float in the Nov. 26 Christmas parade in an effort to raise funds for winter trips.

The bands will split proceeds from parade collections to help finance the North unit's trip to the Dublin St. Patrick's Day Parade and Quincy's performance in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Sale of souvenir books at the Quincy-North Thanksgiving Day football game will also benefit the bands.

Coordinator Robert Denvir said the Quincy band has raised some $9,400 towards its $25,000 goal to send 100 marching members to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl parade and nationally-televised pre-game show.

Quincy band supporters will sponsor a blitz at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, on Dec. 1 and a tag day at downtown stores on Dec. 2.

Band members average $100 per week on Tuesday and Thursday cake sales at the school, Denvir said.

Vito Barresi, chairman of the North Quincy fund drive, said returns to date in the North campaign have been "disappointing."

The 122 marchers in the North Quincy Band will need some $26,000 to cover their trip to participate in March 17 parades in Dublin and Limerick, Ireland.

Plans include a February raffle of an automobile, and a country fair at the North Quincy Cafeteria on Dec. 1.

The band will also sponsor a "crazy day" at the Wollaston Theater Nov. 24 with Santa Claus and children's movies.

'Crazy Cartoon Carnival' Nov. 24 To Benefit North Quincy Band

The North Quincy High School Band Parents Committee will sponsor a "Crazy Cartoon Carnival" at Wollaston Theater from 10 a.m. to noon Nov. 24.

David Watson will lead the stage band in a performance to highlight a morning of cartoons, candy, gifts and special guest appearance by Santa Clause.

Proceeds will help finance the band's trip to Ireland to perform in the Dublin St. Patrick's Day Parade.

MDC Urges $2 Million For Quincy Flood Control

A massive MDC conservation and recreation proposal recommends an expenditure of $2 million for flood control work in Quincy and Braintree.

The plan, the largest environmental effort in the state's history, was outlined by the MDC at the recent governor's conference on the metropolitan environment.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

So, you're one of those women...who's in the process of losing weight so that you can fit into the back-to-work world. You know you should exercise to firm up what's left. How can you do it working all day at a desk? Don't moan to me that you can't exercise. You certainly can!

DON'T TAKE THE ELEVATOR to your office in the morning. Walk up those stairs. Take them two at a time if no one's around. That's really tightening the thigh muscles.

DON'T ASK SOMEONE TO RUN YOUR ERRANDS FOR YOU. Run them yourself. Get up and move from time to time.

DON'T SIT WHILE YOU ARE TELEPHONING. Stand up. Bend. Stretch. Move around. Pace. Anything, just don't sit.

DON'T COFFEE BREAK-MOUNTAIN CLIMB. Oh yes, there are. Remember those stairs you climbed in the morning? Go out and climb them again.

DON'T PARK YOUR CAR AS CLOSE TO THE BUILDING AS POSSIBLE. Take the slot at the end of the lot. You're less apt to have a bumped fender that way, too. And what the walk will do for your rear bumper—well!

DON'T AMBLE EVER. When you are walking, walk briskly. That way everyone will tab you as a go-getter.

When your day at the office is completed, come home and prepare the following recipe. While it's baking, you'll have time for a shower, a tall leisurely glass of tomato juice, and some conversation with your husband.

STUFFED CHICKEN BREAST SUPREME

4 chicken breasts, [boned, skinned, washed & dried] [5 oz. each, raw]
12 ounces Yogurt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 pkg. frozen Broccoli, thawed
8 ounces sliced mushrooms
1/2 teaspoon Marjoram
8 ounces Crabmeat
2 teaspoons flavoring salt
1 tablespoon onion flakes
Dash onion salt

Place breasts in 9x9 baking pan and sprinkle with flavoring salt, inside and out. Set aside. Combine crabmeat, lemon juice and 1/4 cup of mushrooms. Set aside. In a pitcher or bowl combine yogurt, flavoring salt, remaining mushrooms, onion salt, parsley, and marjoram. Add two tablespoons of this to crabmeat and mix. Open chicken breast and stuff each with 2 ounces crabmeat mixture and 2 stalks broccoli. Fold top flap over and tuck under bottom half of breast so that flower of broccoli sticks out on either side. Pour remaining sauce over breast. Cover with foil. Bake in 350 oven approximately 1 hour until done.

Relax and enjoy your evening. You've earned it along with that rewarding pay envelope!

Pharmaceutical Tips

[Changes in the law that you might like to know which will enable you to secure the medication you may need easily and legally. Also, a repetition of some important rules.]

Paragoric now requires a prescription.

Cough preparations with Codeine such as Terpin Hydrate, Histadyne EC, Robitussin AC, Novahistine DH also require a prescription.

Drugs used for sleep or as tranquilizers have a time or number limit on refills. Maximum time is 5 refills or six months, whichever comes first.

Diet pills containing Amphetamines must be in writing. [No telephone orders] and are not refillable under any conditions. These drugs are now classified as narcotics.

Prescriptions for narcotics must be filled within 7 days of issue.

Prescriptions for needles and syringes are good for one year.

Prescriptions written by a physician in an accident room of a hospital or by an intern must have doctors name clearly written.

Medicaid will pay for prescriptions only if you are in a hospital or nursing home. Do not confuse Medicaid with Medicare. Medicaid is government sponsored for people over 65.

Medicaid is a form of welfare for people of all ages who are eligible.

For people in the North Quincy area who need medication after 10 P.M. just call our regular phone number and the answering service will then help you. 773-6426.

Many more less important changes are also in effect. Just ask your local pharmacist if you have a question.

This information has been brought to you as a public service by NABORHOOD PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., No. Quincy, where you can always count on friendly, professional service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Let us keep your prescription tax and insurance records. Phone: 773-6426.

Over 15,000 Expected For 10 A.M. Kickoff

City Championship At Stake Thursday

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team has been fairly fortunate this fall as far as injuries go but the Presidents must face North Quincy Thursday without their outstanding all-around player, Paul Riggs.

Quincy's ace quarterback and passer, Paul Creedon, will probably see only limited service as the Presidents try to avenge last year's 30-12 defeat. More than 15,000 fans are expected to watch the 40th annual intra-city game at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Riggs and Creedon were injured in Quincy's last game against Medford but Riggs' injury was by far the most serious. He suffered torn knee ligaments and is on crutches.

Creedon also suffered a knee injury but it turned out to be only a sprain and, although he is expected to start on the holiday, his length of service is a question mark. He only began to work out on Monday.

To be on the safe side Coach Hank Conroy kept backup quarterback Robin Carrera out of last week's junior varsity game in case he is called upon for more than his usual tour of duty at quarterback Thursday. Robin, the defensive captain, is a starter on defense.

"Riggs' loss is a serious one as he has been our outstanding two-way player all year long," Conroy said. "Although he is only a junior, I think he would have made many all-scholastic teams this year. He is big and fast, a fine pass receiver and blocker and a tremendous defensive player."

"Creedon is set to start but I don't know how long he will be able to play and if he is on the bench and Carrera is hurt, we will be in trouble. If Carrera is playing quarterback, I won't use him on defense, although he is one of our top defensive players."

Quincy takes a 4-3-1 overall record [2-3-1] in the Greater Boston League into the game and Conroy would like to end up with a winning record after last year's 4-5 mark.

Hank plans no changes on offense and will continue to rely mainly on Creedon's passing. If QUINCY Co-Caps. Rick Silva, Ed Sylva and Ron Smith talk over strategy with Coach Hank Conroy.

Carrera is in there, passing will still be the number one weapon as the little junior has proven himself a fine passer.

Conroy hopes his running game will click better against the Raiders. Quincy's ground attack hasn't clicked well, although Rick Silva has done some excellent running. Penalties have killed many of his gains, however.

Quincy will start five juniors on the offensive team, more than usual for the traditional game, and there will be at least five on the starting defense club.

On offense the starting ends will be Bob Spillane and either Bob Benn or Rich Folino in Riggs' spot. Tackles will be Dave Sten and Mike Varrasso, giant juniors, Ed Sylva and Frank Guido will be at guard and big Ron Smith at center.

Creedon or Carrera will quarterback for Halfbacks Silva and Wayne Ponder and Fullback Danny McDermott.

Also set for offensive duty are backs John Whitney, Preston Carroll, only a sophomore, and Pete Ramponi, Jim French at guard and Joe Haefer at center in punting situations. There will also be others.

Starting on defense will be Bob Meghia and McDermott, ends; Bob Pettiti and Gerry Fanning, tackles; Roy Shea and Bob O'Neil, middle guards; Vin Picardi, filling the big shoes of Riggs as linebacker; Carrera (or Steve Burke if Carrera is playing quarterback on offense) at safety, John Ford as rover and Bill Joyce and Benn at halfback.

Folino, Dave Ferris and Sten are among the others who will play on defense.

"I expect this to be a typical Quincy-North game and records, as usual, don't mean a thing," Conroy stated. "Personnel is the key and if our boys want it bad enough, we can win it."

Conroy and one of his assistants, John Bogan, are former Quincy stars and Dave Burke is a former North Quincy standout. The other Quincy aides are Bud Mosher and Gene Macomber.

As Quincy, North Clash In THE GAME

NORTH Coach Ralph Frazier readies battle plans with Co-Capts. Wayne Bell, Burt Bray and Paul Cadigan.

A year ago North Quincy Football Coach Ralph Frazier enjoyed his first win ever over Quincy as a player and coach as he led his Raiders to an impressive 30-12 win.

Thursday in the 40th annual game at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Frazier hopes to make it two in a row over the Presidents and better last year's 6-3 record.

North takes a 6-2 overall record [4-2 in the Greater Boston League] into the classic and still has an outside chance of tying for the GBL crown, although this chance is very remote with league leading Everett facing Chelsea and is a heavy favorite.

"Our main concern is the condition of the field," Frazier said. "We have small backs and have proven to be poor mudders this year and I expect the field to be slippery on the holiday. With so many games being played at the stadium before our game and the prospects of frost the night before the game, the footing could be treacherous.

"They are much bigger than we are and depend much more on a passing game so I honestly feel a slippery field will hurt us more than it will them."

In contrast to Quincy's aerial game, Frazier has done little passing, although Bobby Morton has proven himself a fine passer when called upon, and the Raider attack is built around the running of Morton, the small but speedy halfbacks, John Flynn and Paul Cuniff, and the fullbacks, Phil Robinson and Rich Desmond.

"Weather permitting, we will probably do more passing against Quincy, but I don't expect to change our attack much," Frazier said. "Physically we are in good shape and we will be ready for them."

"We have a few boys nursing minor injuries, but I think everyone will be ready for the big one. We hope to shut off [Paul] Creedon's passing and hope to stop their blitz. It will be a typical Quincy-North game with the team wanting the win the most coming out on top."

North's 1971 win ended a Quincy series win streak of three games.

Frazier will open with an offensive line of brothers Billy and Joe Carroll, ends; Jim Neal and John Stevens, tackles; Mark Mulvaney and Wayne Bell, guards, and Paul Cadigan, center.

The backfield will find Morton at quarterback, Flynn and Cuniff halfbacks and either Phil Robinson or Rich Desmond at fullback. Although Robinson is the listed starter, Desmond could get the nod. Both will see their share of action.

Others due to see service on offense are John Pomerole, Bob McCormick, Chuck deVarennes and Terry Egan in the backfield, Carl Leone at quarterback, Doug Connors at end, Pete Quinn and Bill Schaezel at tackle, Steve Paglierani and Mike White guards and Tom Donovan center.

Starting on defense will be Bernie Holleran or Steve Fransoso and Bert Bertoni at end, Dave Reid and Stevens tackles, Mulvaney and Burt Bray line backers, Billy Shea and Bell cornerbacks, Bob McCormick and Bruce Stephansky halfbacks and John Pomerole safety.

Also expected to play on defense are George Hill, Cadigan, Gene Griffin, Ron Frizzell, Dave Chartier, Schaezel, Morton and Charlie Smith.

Frazier and three assistants, Dick Meyer, Tom Fitzgerald and Ken McPhee, are former North stars themselves. The other Raider aide is Ted Sadowski.

18,003 Fans In 1946 Series Crowd Record

A year ago a crowd of 10,057 watched North Quincy defeat Quincy to end a three-game Quincy series streak.

The crowd was well below expectations but this was blamed on the heavy rains on the holiday which forced postponement of the game until the following Saturday. It is believed more than 15,000 would have been on hand if the game had been played on Thanksgiving.

The 1970 paid crowd was 15,336 and, weather permitting, it is expected that this year's crowd will approach this figure.

The record crowd for the long series was 18,003 back in 1946 when now Athletic Director Carl Leone sparked Quincy to a 31-6 win.

"Although the official paid attendance was 18,003, I bet there were more than 25,000 watching the game," said Jack Donahue, now retired, who coached North that year and who piloted the Raiders for 37 years before retiring in 1960.

Every year many fans perch on the walls and in trees or line the MBTA bus garage yard. In addition, the bands, cheerleaders and special guests help swell the crowd.

Conroy 5-3 In Series

Win or lose on the holiday, Quincy Coach Hank Conroy will still have a winning record against North.

Hank has a 5-3 coaching record in the series, having piloted the Presidents to wins his first two years, 1964 and 1965. Then, after losses the next two years, Conroy's teams won three in a row, including the most one-sided game in history, 53-0, in 1969, before bowing a year ago.

North Coach Ralph Frazier, in his fourth year as Raider coach, hopes to even his series record at 2-2. Ralph's first two teams in 1969 and 1970 lost before last year's impressive victory.

Thanksgiving Warmup

Quincy Sophs Win, 10-6, Raider Jayvees Roll, 28-12

Dave Burke's fantastic success as coach of the Quincy sophomore football team reached another plateau last Saturday when his team edged Ted Sadowski's North Quincy sophs, 10-6, to complete its fifth undefeated season in the last seven years.

This game, played in the morning at Veterans Memorial Stadium, opened a busy "Homecoming Week" program of activities preceding Thursday's Quincy-North classic.

In the afternoon Sadowski's North junior varsity team surprised Gene Macomber's Quincy Jayvees, 28-12, handing the Presidents their first loss in two years. This was the first meeting in several years between the junior varsity squads.

The Quincy sophs, finishing an 8-0-0 season, scored first on a pass from Joe Tocchio to Mike McKenzie. A pass to Rich Hebert clicked for the points.

North bounced back immediately as Paul O'Donnell took the ensuing kickoff and returned it 65 yards for the only Raider score. The try for the tying points failed.

Later a North back was tackled in the end zone for a safety for Quincy's final two points.

"This was our toughest game," Burke said. "North played an excellent game and stopped us very well. Paul Comer did a terrific job for us as he filled in at fullback for Ted Wiedemann, who was injured, as well as playing his usual outstanding defensive game. This was his first game on offense."

"Our boys did a great job of stopping their attack but we made some costly mistakes," Sadowski, who had a busy day coaching both the morning and afternoon games, said. "It was a very fine effort."

North's sophomores finished up with a 3-3-1 record.

The Raider jayvees' offense clicked well in handing the Presidents their only loss of the year. Quincy's final record was 8-1 and before last week's finale it had given up only two touchdowns. North was 6-2 with only a two-point loss to Medford and a four-point defeat at the hands of Weymouth North.

Quarterback Carl Leone scored two North touchdowns and also rushed for two extra points. Terry Egan had a touchdown and two points and Rich Desmond scored the other touchdown.

Quincy didn't use its regular quarterback, Robin Carrera, who was kept out of the game because of the questionable status of varsity quarterback Paul Creedon for the holiday classic.

Creedon is expected to see only limited service Thursday and Carrera will spell him at quarterback.

However, both Quincy touchdowns came on passes from sub quarterback Steve Burke, one to Steve Oriola, the other to Rich Folino.

"This was the first Quincy-North junior varsity game in some time and the boys were sky high for it," a pleased Sadowski said. "Leone did a fine job at quarterback and Steve Pagliarini was outstanding. He has been our sparkplug all year long and he blocked a kick today."

"North played an excellent game and we have no alibis," Macomber said. "Burke was outstanding filling in at quarterback, Pete Ramponi and Oriola ran well, while Dave Ciani and Folino were standouts on defense."

Officials Lineup Same

The officials who handled the Quincy-North game the past three years will again be in charge Thursday.

Joe Berman of Hull will be the referee, John Krikorian of Brockton umpire, Al Benson of North Reading field judge and Edgar Stowell of Bedford head linesman.

Quincy Aerials Against North's Ground Attack?

If the coaches stick to the game plans they have used all season, Thursday's game will feature Quincy's passing game against North's ground offensive.

Both teams are blessed with outstanding quarterbacks but each has employed different tactics on offense.

Quincy's Paul Creedon's passing has dominated every game for the Presidents, whose ground game has been kept to a minimum.

Creedon has completed 65 of 157 passes for 1,156 yards and nine touchdowns and his figures would be even more impressive if several of his perfectly-thrown passes hadn't been dropped by would-be receivers.

In contrast, North's Bobby Morton has usually passed only three or four times a game and has done much of the ball carrying himself. However, he has proven that he can pass when he has to and has some excellent receivers.

But, knowing both coaches, the fans won't be at all surprised if the story is different on the holiday with Morton doing more passing and Quincy more running.

Quincy Starting Line Beefier

Quincy's starting line Thursday will outweigh North's forward wall by an average of 26 pounds a man.

The Quincy wall will average 204 pounds with the likes of 225-pound Mike Varrasso and Dave Sten and 220-pound Ron Smith as well as 205-pound Frank Guido and 200-pound Ed Sylva.

The Raiders' line will average only 178 with Paul Cadigan the only player hitting 200.

Oddly enough, both starting backfields average the same, 169 pounds.

Rogers, Finnegan To Work Clock

For about 10 years LeRoy [Curley] Rogers, retired North Quincy coach and physical education teacher, and Marty Finnegan, Quincy's basketball coach, have worked the electric clock at all Quincy and North home games at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The two will again be on the job Thursday for the 40th annual game and it is a case of "a man and his idol."

"Curley was my idol and it has been great working with him at the stadium games," Finnegan said.

Quincy Has Won 21, North 15 In Series

Thursday's game is the 40th in the series which began in 1933.

Quincy has won 21 games, North has 15 wins following last year's impressive victory and there were three scoreless ties.

Last year's 30-12 North win ended a three-game Quincy series streak.

Bradford Hamilton Cited As Outstanding Student

Bradford Hamilton of Quincy High School has been cited as one of the outstanding high school students of English in the country.

The National Council of Teachers of English has named him a 1972 runner-up in its annual Achievement Awards competition.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hamilton of 18 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

Last spring, the English department of the high school nominated Bradford to represent Quincy High School in the competition.

The school was allotted one entry from the junior class for every 500 students in the total school enrollment, according to Bruce McDonald, the English department chairman.

After nomination, each student submitted samples of his best writing, including an autobiographical sketch, and wrote a one-hour impromptu essay. These materials were evaluated by state judging teams of highly qualified college and high school English teachers directed by state coordinators.

The nation's schools participating in the program nominated approximately 7,200 juniors for the NCTE citations. Of that number, only about 870 finalists were chosen. They represent schools from 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American preparatory schools abroad.

The NCTE sends to all winners and runners-up certificates of recognition and also honors their high school English departments with certificates of merit, notes Quincy High Principal Lloyd Creighton.

Mrs. Linda Wilson and Bruce McDonald have been Bradford's English instructors at Quincy High School.

conducts a certificate program in industrial technology.

A relationship exists in the program at Wentworth Institute so that a student may advance to the ultimate transfer to Wentworth College of Technology for junior and senior years leading to a bachelor's degree.

The Wollaston residents are John B. Breen Jr., son of Mrs. Anna L. Breen, 242 Wilson Ave.

Donald J. Frano, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Frano, 11 Willow Ave.

Francis W. Symonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Symonds, 76 Willet St.

Brett Urges Permanent Status For Mental Health Teacher Aides

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has urged that teachers' aides in the Department of Mental Health's nursery school program be made permanent employees.

In a letter to Comr. Milton Greenblatt, Brett said the "lack of permanency" confronting teachers' aides "is a very unsatisfactory situation."

He said the aides "are dedicated to helping unfortunate children and are deserving of permanency in their jobs and the benefits which would result from their permanent status.

"I hope that provisions for such classification of the teachers' aides will be included in the budget recommendations of your department to be acted on in the next session of the legislature," he said.

MONEY TALKS

How to Become Wealthy—!

Many People Are Poor by Choice, not Circumstance

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

"How many of you would like to become millionaires? Raise your hands!"

A majority of arms uprose, and the speaker continued to explain to a fascinated audience the methods by which he had turned $100 into a centimillion-dollar personal fortune.

He was W. Clement Stone, insurance executive and philanthropist who spends spare hours encouraging others to seek personal happiness and achievement.

Stone is one of many successful men who have volunteered to pass their success systems on to others. Some entice their readers with the promise of magic formulas and money-making secrets which upon examination prove to be no secrets at all—just truisms and plain common sense.

So cynics sneer and average persons become momentarily inspired before lapsing into old, deeply grooved patterns of living. The self-help writers realize that human nature needs formulas and systems to help achieve goals. They work hard to make these formulas a part of daily thinking and action.

These authors believe that many people are poor by choice more than by circumstance. They are persuaded that, in a society such as ours, with opportunity more widespread than ever before in human history, the mass of people prefer to take the easy way—like leaves floating aimlessly downstream, sped by currents, spun by eddies, lulled in stagnant waters.

True, in most hearts there is a desire to be somebody and to get somewhere. But usually this desire is just a daydream with no more action principle than awaiting an opportunity that never comes.

William H. Danforth was an eminently successful man who attempted, in a little book titled I Dare You! to pass his formula on to others. In his lifetime he built the Ralston Purina Company so well that it now engages 23,000 employees and has a sales range over $500 million. The Danforth Foundation that he and his wife established to assist education and other causes has assets in excess of $150 million.

"My life in business and my contacts with young people have convinced me that the world is full of unused talents and latent ability," wrote Danforth. "The reason these talents lie buried is that the individual hasn't the courage to dig them up and use them."

"Everybody should be doing better than he is, but only a few dare," concludes Danforth.

There are those who scorn this kind of counsel for worldly success on the basis that it represents materialistic ambition; money, they believe, is the root of all evil. Curiously enough, most of the self-made men authoring these books reflect a firm belief in God and the conviction that no one can succeed without a sincere desire to help his fellow men.

The self-improvement authors insist that few men can develop a zeal to acquire money for its own sake. There are few Silas Marners. Men need other motivations. The more laudable these are in the sight of God and man, the writers hold, the more likely that the ambitions will be achieved.

Protection that never sleeps

Lee Remick TV Special

No pun intended, but there'll be no PETER O'TOOLE in "THE BROTHERS O'TOOLE", rather the picture, now being shot on locale in Colorado, features the not so super stars JOHN ASTIN, JESSE WHITE, LEE ANN MERRIWETHER and newcomer RICHARD JURY... Actor GENE ROCHE, best known for off-Broadway stints, has the lead role in the new ABC series, "EGAN". The new teleseries, which has yet no TV release schedule, is based on the police heroics of EDDIE "FRENCH CONNECTION" EGAN...

KEN RUSSELL, internationally famed for "WOMEN IN LOVE", "THE BOY FRIEND", "THE MUSIC LOVERS" and "THE DEVILS", adds to his laurels with his haunting brother-sister relationship, "SAVAGE MESSIAH"... In the role of Sophia Brzeska, DOROTHY TUTIN establishes herself as a star of the 70's. For the past 20 years Miss TUTIN has been dazzling stage audiences in London and New York... In "SAVAGE MESSIAH" she mesmerizes the audience with a tour de force performance... For RUSSELL another cinema achievement; and Miss TUTIN her long eluded ticket to stardom...

PAT AST rates serious consideration for best supporting actress. Her portrayal in "HEAT" as a slovenly, amoral owner of a sleazy motel, is one of the more captivating acting stints in this highly explosive motion picture... And for PAT AST, "HEAT" marks the start of a brand new career. A former assistant to famed dress designer HALSTON, Ms. AST is "on her way" as a screen actress of substantial stature...

ALAN ARKIN and JAMES CAAN head the cast of the soon-to-be-filmed "FREEBIE AND THE BEAN"... BOBBY DARIN is picking up the pieces of a once flourishing film career with his new start "MOTHER'S DAY". DARIN is best known by film buffs for his dramatic portrayal in "CAPTAIN NEWMAN, M.D." [1963] for which he was nominated best supporting actor... With the release next year of "MOTHER'S DAY" BOBBY DARIN could again become an important film property, and socko at the box office...

New from France: "I AM FRIGID-WHY?". Scheduled for early stateside release in January, the FRIGID is an X-rated as it's come on title implies... "THE VALACHI PAPERS" is kicking up a $$$ fury at the box office. The CHARLES BRONSON starrer premiered in Chicago to the jingle of $60,000 plus in its first three days at the State-Lake Theatre, a record for that house... "LA SALAMANDRE" vaults director ALAIN TANNER into the forefront of European filmmakers...

IVAN DIXON. Remember him?... The former co-star of the highly rated "HOGAN'S HEROES", DIXON makes his debut as a motion picture director with the heavy Black melodrama, "TROUBLE MAN"... And if that saying, "baby, you've come a long, long way" has application, it would fit IVAN DIXON to a T... His start in show business was inauspicious to say the least. DIXON began his first Hollywood assignment as a stand-in for SIDNEY POITIER during the filming of "THE DEFIANT ONES" [1958]. In the years following that picture, DIXON was a familiar "unfamiliar" face on TV and on the screen... His big break came with "HOGAN'S HEROES", and now his debut as a director...

In this capacity DIXON shows a natural instinct for capturing both characters and the mood of the locale... A Black cloak and dagger espionage flic, "TROUBLE MAN" is a tell-it-like-it-is, no holds barred escapist filmography - DIXON captures the essence of a man everybody in the Black community knows. A man who can handle trouble. A no nine-to-five Joe... What makes this such an enjoyable escapist film is that DIXON "doesn't" harbor any illusions of making the great Black commentary. Rather, he settles for rambling action which people of both races can relate... With the debut of "TROUBLE MAN", IVAN DIXON seems assured of a long career behind the cameras...

Hard to figure... "THE WALTONS", a bottom 30 Nielsen loser, has been given the CBS green light for a full season of boredom on the boob tube... The Mussolini epidemic is upon us. "DUCE" and "THE LAST DAYS OF MUSSOLINI" are now in production, the former London based, the latter in Rome, where it all began... "DOCTEUR PAPOUL" is CLAUDE CHABROL's latest black comedy depicting the pettiness and foibles of we mere mortals...

Quincy's LEE REMICK is winding up a special for television, "THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER". The made-for-TV film will screen early of '73... "THE MERRY WIVES OF TOBIAS ROUGE" is one of poorer flic fare to be lensed in Canada. As far as making movies are concerned, our northern cousins have a lot of catching up to do... MARK SPITZ on why he signed a lifetime contract as the "voice" of Schick, the men's grooming company: "... my affiliation with Schick isn't for the money, but rather for the dignity and growing with the company..." Do you believe it?...

SYLVIA SYDNEY is back. After a 16 year absence, she will appear as JOANNE WOODWARD's mother in "DEATH OF A SNOW QUEEN"... JACK CASSIDY is more ham than a polished pro. Every time I see him "perform" I get a bad case of the willies...

Two Great Ways To Prepare Turkey

The young tender turkey available today requires less preparation and roasting time than in grandmothers' day. And, methods of cooking are numerous. The home economists at Reynolds Aluminum suggest two great ways to roast your holiday turkey.

Foil Tent Turkey Method

Line a shallow roasting pan with Reynolds Wrap and place thawed turkey on a rack in the pan. Brush all over with soft butter or margarine. Roast in a preheated 325°F. oven according to the following timetable.

| Ready-to-cook weight | Oven temperature | Meat thermometer temperature | Total Cooking Time (Hours-approximate) |
|----------------------|------------------|------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| 6-8 pounds           | 325°F.           | 185°F.                       | 3 to 3½                                |
| 8-12 "               | "                | "                            | 3½ to 4½                               |
| 12-16 "              | "                | "                            | 4½ to 5½                               |
| 16-20 "              | "                | "                            | 5½ to 6½                               |
| 20-24 "              | "                | "                            | 6½ to 7                                |

Cooking time is based on chilled poultry or poultry that has just been thawed—temperature not above 40°F.

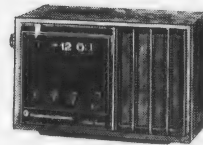

When turkey is lightly brown, cover with a "tent" of foil. To make tent: tear off a sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap 5 to 10 inches longer than bird. Crease through center and place over bird. Hold in place by crimping it lightly at breast and over drumsticks. This keeps turkey moist without basting and prevents overbrowning. Snip the string holding drumsticks during last hour of roasting so heat penetrates inside of thighs.

Oven Bag Turkey Method

Shake one tablespoon flour in empty turkey size Brown-In-Bag oven cooking bag and place in two-inch deep roasting pan. Brush thawed turkey with soft butter or margarine and sprinkle with seasonings. Slide turkey into oven bag. Secure bag with twist tie and make six half-inch slits in top of bag. Cook in a preheated 350°F. oven according to the following timetable.

| Ready-to-cook weight | Oven temperature | Meat thermometer temperature | Unstuffed    | Stuffed      |
|----------------------|------------------|------------------------------|--------------|--------------|
| 8-12 pounds          | 350°F.           | 185°F.                       | 2½ to 3 hrs. | 2 to 2½ hrs. |
| 12-15 "              | "                | "                            | 3 to 3½ hrs. | 2½ to 3 hrs. |
| 15-20 "              | "                | "                            | 3½ to 4 hrs. | 3 to 3½ hrs. |

United Fund Announces $14,140,460 Campaign Total

A Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign total of $14,140,460 was announced by general chairman Paul F. Hellmuth at the recent "Achievement Meeting" of some 700 campaign volunteer workers from the 66-community Mass. Bay area at the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

"The amount received to date is $12,039,946 and we project that $2,100,514 will be forthcoming," Hellmuth said. "At our Awards Luncheon on Dec. 13 we shall report on our continuing clean-up effort. It is quite possible that our final figure can be closer to our $15,000,000 goal if each of us works just a bit harder."

"I pledge myself to continue working in the campaign until I am assured that every potential contributor has had a chance to give and until the last possible pledge has been secured,"

Hellmuth said.

He asked that each person present make the same commitment, using his or her leadership to persuade co-workers to accept a similar obligation. That request, and Hellmuth's campaign leadership, were acknowledged by a lengthy ovation.

In urging continued effort toward reaching the goal, Hellmuth cited the efforts of campaign vice-chairman for Community Divisions Philip H. Peters of Wellesley, South Area chairman Winthrop Sargent of Hingham, executive vice-president South Shore National Bank and Samuel W. Sinclair, Braintree chairman, at 109 percent of goal, Neil J. Dushan, Hull chairman, at 104 percent of goal, and Robert J. Quinn, Holbrook chairman, at 100 percent of goal.

Christmas Festival Parade Rescheduled For Dec. 3

Sunday morning rains caused the first postponement in the history of the Quincy Christmas Festival Parade but failed to dampen prospects for this week.

Santa Claus and Mickey Mouse have rearranged their busy holiday schedules to return to Quincy Dec. 3.

And almost all of the more than 70 floats, bands and marching units have followed suit to ensure that this year's parade will still be the biggest ever.

More than 250,000 spectators are expected to watch the pageant wind its way down Hancock St. from Wollaston Center to the Ross Parking Area starting at 1 p.m.

The parade, with a "Christmas in Toyland" theme, is sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Festival Chairman George C. Fay said the decision to postpone was made at 9 a.m.

Sunday in driving rain and howling winds.

"Floats would have to assemble in Wollaston at least two hours before starting time in order to allow time for judging and assembling the line of march," Fay said.

"The decision had to be made early for fear that continued rain and winds would destroy the floats," he said.

Quincy Police Color Guard will lead the first division, followed by honorary marshalls Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

Seventeen youth and civic groups will compete for $3,000 in prizes for floats, according to Float Chairman Richard Venna.

Judges in the float competition will be freelance artist Michael F. Kelly, Filene's display supervisor Russell Marston and Jerome Quinn, owner of Quinn's Art Production Studio.

Prizes include a $1,000 grand prize and $500 each for first place finishers in the adult civic and youth group categories.

An additional nine special floats will be sponsored by local businesses.

Among these will be a 20-foot Santa Claus seated on a 16-foot throne sponsored by Barry's Ship Haven and Barry's Delicatessen.

Parade Coordinator Anthony M. Famigletti has arranged for 29 bands and drum and bugle corps and 10 majorette squads to participate.

Ten high school and junior high school bands will compete for a $200 grand prize.

Springing up the rear will be a Fire Department ladder truck and a police department float carrying the guest of honor, Santa Claus.

George C. Fay is chairman of the festival committee which includes:

Joseph Angelo, Remick's; Daniel Barry, Barry's Ship Haven; Bud Berlenbach, Curtain Call Theatre; Win Bettinson, WJDA; Henry Bosworth, The Quincy Sun.

David Coletti, Coletti Brothers Architects; Carter Caudle, Quincy Public Schools; Capt. Roy Cavicchi, Quincy Police; Remo DeNicola, South Shore Television & Appliance.

Denis Donoghue and Robert Galligan, Sherry's Restaurant; City Clerk John Gillis; Lt. Anthony Malvesti, Quincy Fire Dept.; Richard Koch, Park and Recreation Board.

As a result of the Nov. 7 referendum Massachusetts Judges will have to retire at age 70. And for the Quincy court, it means that Judge Gertrude Halloran will be stepping down in a few weeks, as soon as the election results are certified by Secretary of State John Davoren.

It seems that everyone with a law degree and who speaks English is looking for a judgeship. But the Speculation Corps has narrowed the field in Quincy to a possible four or five strong contenders.

The strongest, perhaps, is Dennis Ryan, present clerk of the Quincy court. Ryan has a lot of support.

He was recently honored at the Quincy Police Ball and presented a distinguished service award. During the presentation, a comment was made that the police hoped to be working with Ryan, as a judge.

In addition, the ad hoc citizens' group, formed to suggest a replacement for Justice Halloran looks favorably on Ryan.

Also looking favorably on Ryan's appointment, so they say, is Judge Robert Prince, presiding justice of the Quincy court. Prince would be a good friend to have. Ryan's biggest handicap is that he's a Democrat under a Republican governor. Prince is a Republican.

Also considered a strong possibility is a Republican, Quincy Atty. Stephen Keefe. Keefe has done his work on the Republican City Committee and was assistant city solicitor under Douglas Randall.

He was in the running for the presiding judgeship to fill former Justice Kenneth Nash's seat.

With 38 judgeships [plus specials] opening up, Governor Sargent could name Keefe to a judgeship outside the Quincy area, if he doesn't win Judge Halloran's job.

Two Democrats being mentioned for the post are former Mayor James McIntyre and Senator Arthur Tobin.

Both are considered long shots, but the Governor has been known to appoint Democrats. He certainly can't appoint 38 Republicans.

Another name being mentioned is attorney David Feinstein. He's from outside of Quincy though, and the unwritten rule is that while presiding justices may be from outside the area, an effort is made to try to find a special justice from within the area.

***

SPECIAL JUSTICES serve and are paid per diem [per day], but what makes the position especially attractive is the fact that they can maintain their private law practices [civil cases only]. Presiding justices on the other hand cannot keep their practice.

***

IF RYAN does move up to special justice, another scramble will take place for his job as clerk of the court. Possible contenders for the job are Edward Brady, second assistant clerk and Kathryn Sullivan, first assistant.

However, the clerk is also appointed by the Governor and it is possible he could pick somebody from anywhere to fill the post.

***

ANOTHER LEGAL position yet to be filled is that of assistant city solicitor. This is one case where even the Speculation Corps seems to be at a loss for candidates. New Solicitor Richard McCormick may be asked by Mayor Walter Hannon to pick the man he would most like to have as his aide.

***

IT'S NOT EXACTLY the Gallup poll, but you might be interested anyway. Inmates at the Norfolk County House of Correction were recently asked who would they vote for President if they could vote for any person of their choice. The results:

George McGovern [11], Senator Kennedy [7], President Nixon [6], George Wallace [4], Senator Muskie [3], Hubert Humphrey, Ralph Nader, Governor Rockefeller, Jane Fonda, Neil Simpson, John Costa and Superman, one each

***

TYPO TERROR DEPT: From the Nashville Tennessean: First Lady Pat Nixon applauded the vote. "My husband co-sponsored the bill in 1951," she said.

***

TWO QUINCY KNIGHTS honored: Michael Faherty of Merrymount, formerly of North Quincy, was recently honored at a banquet. He is former Grand Knight of the North Quincy Council and is presently State Deputy.

And an unexpected honor for Rep. Joseph Brett at the installation and dinner of the Cardinal Cushing Assembly, 4th Degree, Knights of Columbus, he was called from the audience and presented with a "Knight of the Year" pin by John Mahoney, chairman of the committee. The award was made in recognition of Brett's "devoted service to the community and fellow citizens as well as the Knights of Columbus."

***

OLD TIMERS WILL KNOW this one: The Welcome Young Playground in North Quincy was named after a city councillor.

Some residents had the idea that the playground was named Welcome Young, as an INVITATION to YOUNG people to use the facility.

***

Actually, WELCOME was Councillor Young's first name. Assistant City Clerk Thomas Burke points out that Welcome G. Young served as Ward Six councillor from 1922-1929.

***

***

SMILE DEPT: Jack Golden, the Quincy printer, tells about the first grader who came home one day and said he wasn't ever going back to school. "Why not?" asked his mother.

"Because," said he, "I can't read, I can't write, and the teacher won't let me talk. So, what's the use?"

● 'Project Find', Project Lost?

● Congressional Record Nonsense

● A Slap From Joe Louis.

WASHINGTON—One of the Nixon Administration's pet projects for senior citizens, "Project Find," is now apparently Project Lost.

The laudable program was initiated last August to locate older Americans who were not taking advantage of federal food programs. It was a co-operative effort on the part of five government agencies and the Red Cross.

Brochures were sent out in Social Security envelopes public service announcements were provided to radio and television stations, and 7,000 newspapers and magazines received press kits. As a result, thousands of letters poured in from old people around the country.

But many of the senior citizens who inquired about the program have so far received only a form letter stating that a Red Cross volunteer "should" visit them soon.

As for Project Find itself, its appeals to older Americans abruptly stopped November 15, just a week following President Nixon's landslide victory.

Project Find, obviously, was motivated more by presidential politics than by concern about federal food programs. The project, we have learned, was only part of the President's massive campaign blitz—funded in part by the federal government—to woo the nation's 20 million senior voters.

In addition, the Nixon Administration sent notes to 28 million Social Security recipients implying the President was responsible for their bigger checks. The truth, of course, is that Congress passed the Social Security increase over the President's opposition.

Also to court the older voters, six government agencies prepared reports of what President Nixon had done for the aged. The reports were then printed in the form of pamphlets and distributed at a cost to the public of over $250,000.

—Nonsense Book—

The Congressional Record which costs the taxpayers $3.5 million a year to print, is filled with nonsense.

Leafing through its pages daily we have found an essay on peanuts, a plea for needy bee keepers, a sermon, an obituary and a 30-year-old editorial criticizing the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Frequently, a congressman will submit material for the record that he personally knows nothing about. He relies on his staff to make sure the material is worthy of mention. Sometimes there are mix-ups.

During the last session of Congress, for example, Sen. Mike Gravel placed a statement in the Record praising a company called Holiday Magic. Gravel lauded the virtues of William Penn Patrick, the founder of Holiday Magic, and said its company employees are "determined that no critics can detract from the enormous success and integrity of Holiday Magic."

What Gravel was not told, however, was that the list of the critics include the Federal Trade Commission and nine different state governments, all of which have brought legal actions against Holiday Magic over the last five years.

One of the company's subsidiaries—Leadership Dynamics Institute—operates a bizarre success course which reportedly abuses people as part of a $1,000 weekend program. Some taking part in the course have claimed they were forced to strip naked, were beaten and locked in coffins for hours at a time. This supposedly was done to build character and help people overcome fears.

Senator Gravel was properly embarrassed when he found out what he had praised. Gravel called the snafu a major error on the part of the staff and fired the man who prepared the statement. Gravel has asked Holiday Magic not to circulate copies of his remarks.

Nevertheless, we received a copy from an outraged citizen just last week.

—Around the U.S.—

AN ANGRY CHAMP—Before federal sky marshals stopped routinely riding in airplanes to thwart hijackers, one agent had an embarrassing encounter with Joe Louis, the graying, ex-heavyweight champ who has been suffering from emotional problems. On a flight from Los Angeles to Honolulu, an official report states that Louis approached one of the sky marshals in the first-class lounge and slapped him across the face. "You...have been following me all over," he screamed, according to the report. "Get out of here. If I see you again, I'll knock your...head off." Louis was quoted as saying, "The report concludes: 'No action was taken and (the sky-marshall) retained his cover.'"

FLAG WAVER—When Ken Smith, former deputy director of the Federal Aviation Administration, retired from the FAA last spring, he was awarded flags, administration seals, a brass eagle and three gold-colored flagstands. The total cost of the retirement gift: $300. Smith promptly packed up his flags and headed for his new job in Dallas, Texas, as executive vice president of E-Systems Incorporated. Not surprisingly, the company is an FAA contractor.

ONE FOR THE ROAD—Some say you can't take it with you, but in Congress, apparently, you can. Over 60 lame duck congressmen are clearing out their offices this month and many are indulging in one last gratuity at the public's expense. It seems that each congressman before he leaves office is offered the chance to take his office desk and chair with him. The furniture can run as high as $900, but the congressmen are charged only a nominal fee of $25.00 each.

Congressman Burke Cited For 100% Roll Call

Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton] has been cited by the clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives W. Patrick Jennings, for maintaining a 100 per cent roll call record during the 1971 and 1972 sessions of congress.

Burke answered 934 consecutive calls on the house floor a record only held by three members of congress. In addition to his 100 percent roll call record Burke also maintained a perfect record of attendance on the powerful ways and means committee, the busiest committee of the United States Congress.

Burke is unopposed in the Nov. 7 election.

SORRY, MRS. BURKE, BUT IF I LET YOU GO HOME I'D HAVE TO DO "THE SAME IF ANY EMPLOYEE HAD A HEART ATTACK."

Economic Stabilization

Q. What is the IRS doing to make sure landlords don't illegally increase rents for tenants receiving higher Social Security benefits?

A. The Internal Revenue Service has begun compliance audits involving more than 50,000 rental units which house high percentages of older persons on Social Security. In addition, expedited service is being given to the inquiries and complaints of Social Security beneficiaries. Thus, a person contacting the IRS with a rent inquiry or complaint should identify himself, or herself, as a Social Security beneficiary.

At the same time the IRS has initiated this "rent watch", it has been granted new authority to administer sanctions and allocate penalties to landlords who illegally overcharge rent. Cases of flagrant violation of rent rules will be turned over to the Justice Department for litigation and possible prosecution. Finally, the IRS and Cost of Living Council are distributing materials designed to educate landlords and tenants about their rights and responsibilities under the Economic Stabilization Program. Free IRS rent publications are available from Internal Revenue district offices.

Q. Is all rental property covered by the rent regulations?

A. No. The regulations exempt many types of rental property. However, the regulations generally control most rented residences. Property exempt from the controls includes:

1. All nonresidential property, including property leased for industrial, farm or commercial purposes;
2. Rental units which were completed and first offered for rent after August 15, 1971;
3. Rehabilitated dwellings [where the cost of rehabilitation is more than one-half the fair market value of the pre-rehabilitated property or the cost of that property] offered for rent for the first time after August 15, 1971;
4. Rental units where the owner, and members of his family, do not own or control, directly or indirectly, more than four rental units; and
5. Units renting for $500 a month or more on January 19, 1972.

Q. If a Category II manufacturer wants to increase prices, what forms does it have to file and when?

A. Category II manufacturers—generally those with sales of $50 million to $100 million—must file a Form PC-1, "Report for Price Increases for Manufacturing, Service Industries and the Professions," with the Price Commission for the quarter in which a price increase has occurred. Along with the PC-1 form, a Form PC-51, "Report on Sales, Costs, and Profits," must be filed not more than 45 days after the end of a fiscal quarter or 90 days after the end of the firm's fiscal year. If a Form PC-50, "Base Period Income Statement," has not already been filed, it must be submitted at this time.

Smaller firms, which are not required to file with the Price Commission, may find these forms helpful in complying with Economic Stabilization regulations. Forms may be obtained at any IRS office.

Youth Speaks Out

- The Christmas Parade was postponed because of the weather; if it's postponed about two more weeks, it will go off on time.
- Santa Claus is coming to town, and Mayor Hannon has requested he park his sleigh at the new Parking "Plaza".
- The Mayor is making every effort to keep the city budget at the 1970 level. If only the taxes stayed at that level, we'd be all right.
- We suppose we're being cynical, but after each Thanksgiving there seems less and less to be thankful for.
- The rumor that President Nixon would like to run again for the Presidency is absurd - Kings don't do things like that.
- It has been over a month since we were told that peace was at hand - it appears that our reach is awfully short.

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

Tempting ads offering "gifts of elegance", "special holiday selections", and "trim-a-tree" values are now barraging consumers. Sensible shoppers should look beyond these advertising claims to find the real values under these promises.

Deceptive advertisement and ads that make false claims about products are against the law in Massachusetts. No ad may create a false impression of the grade, quality, make, value, date of model, size, color or usability of merchandise. In addition, product advertisements are unlawful if they do not represent a bona fide offer to sell the item advertised.

A common type of deceptive advertising is designed to lure customers to a store and into "bait and switch" traps. Bait and switch is a two-part illegal sales practice. A tempting ad is used to attract customers to a store so that the salesman can then attempt to sell a similar, but more expensive product.

Whenever you answer an ad that offers an unusual bargain, you should be alert for the five danger signals that indicate that the salesman is trying to play "bait and switch":

1. The salesman refuses to show you the product offered in the ad—and asks you to look at a similar, more expensive product instead.
2. The salesman attempts to discourage you from buying the advertised product by criticizing it—and praising a similar, more expensive product.
3. The salesman claims that the advertised product is out of stock—and offers to sell you a similar, more expensive model that he happens to have on hand.
4. The salesman shows you a product that is inferior to the product pictured or described in the ad—and offers to sell you a nicer, but more expensive similar product.
5. The salesman accepts your offer for the product but refuses to deliver it within a reasonable period of time—and then persuades you to buy a similar more expensive product that he says can be delivered promptly.

Whenever you answer an ad, you should give extra consideration to the product you are shopping for. Don't make hasty decisions. If the product turns out to be different from what you expected, take time to make up your mind about it. Don't buy in a hurry just because you want to have something to take home with you.

If you take the time to consider your purchases carefully, more of the holiday gifts you buy will turn out to be actual values.

Close Those Family Gaps

Mary went to Church every Sunday...observed all the rules...gave a weekly contribution...served on a committee...often "poured" at tea. However...she made her husband feel like a barbarian because he preferred to play golf on Sunday rather than going to Church. They quarrelled a lot about religious matters...a religious gap.

Listening to her children's pleas Jane had quit smoking...her husband John was still hooked...two packs a day...says he'd like to quit but really not enough to endure the four days of withdrawal discomfort. When they ride together in the car or sit close in a restaurant...or fly together John is totally inconsiderate of Jane because he is unaware of the offensiveness of his smoke to her. They have a smoking gap.

Marge is 31...Sol is a young attorney. She wanted to make love every night...Sol is under great pressure in his legal practice and his mind is more on his cases than on sex...contrary to what many people say about men. They have a sexual gap.

Mr. Jones says he's ashamed of his son Gerry because he hears his hair nearly to his shoulders. He makes critical remarks to him and about him to his friends. Gerry and his father have almost ceased to speak to each other. They have a length of hair gap.

Jim expects the children to care for their own rooms...mow the lawn...care for the horse and stall...clean the pool. Cheryl was permissive with the kids...tried to shelter them...protect them from any tough situations...did many of the chores for them. Jim got disgusted...said she was spoiling the kids and taking time that he and she should be spending together. They had a child-rearing gap.

Now we could multiply the examples of the various kinds of gaps that exist in family life. WHY won't people close these gaps? Here are these fine people fighting...often violently over these unclosed gaps in their attitudes toward life. Why?

One reason is that too many have refused to examine the values and attitudes which were indelibly stamped into us in childhood. What we observed...heard...felt in childhood sticks with us...unless it is examined and re-evaluated for present adult use. Too often ideas given us in childhood just do not work in our adult lives. They can create gaps between people who want to be close.

A second reason for the unclosed gaps...just plain ignorance. Many people don't know any better ways and naively refuse to listen to a partner who has learned better ways of life. So they stubbornly hold on to poor habits of behavior rather than seek improvement.

A third reason is the closed mind which prevents open communication. The religious gap...the smoking gap...sexual gap...length of hair gap...child discipline gap can all be closed when two people sit down and REASON TOGETHER with open minds...and open communication. That's where the problem really lies...the unwillingness...or the fear...or hostility which prevent two people from laying the gap problem on the table...examining it with the facts...reaching new knowledge...new decisions...new levels of behavior.

The gaps close under that kind of treatment. Give it a try...either by yourselves...or with your counselor.

How to manipulate your way to a free checking account. Even a cheaper loan.

Businessmen have been doing it for years.

"My company will give your bank more business if your bank will give my company a better deal."

Now you can make the same offer to South Shore National. But before we begin making deals, let's agree to do this, just to simplify things for both of us:

Let's take all your bank accounts, and put them together on one monthly statement.

Take that first step with us. And you're in a position to begin making deals.

So:

If you're willing to keep a monthly total of at least $400 between your checking account and up to as many as four savings accounts, we'll give you your checking account free of charge.

If that sounds complicated, let's look at a couple of examples:

Let's say you keep a low balance of, say, $180 in your checking account and $220 in a savings account. That comes to $400 and would earn you a free checking account.

Or suppose you keep a low balance of only $50 in your checking account, $200 in a joint savings account, and $75 in each of two trustee accounts. That also comes to $400 and earns you a free checking account.

The point is, you need at least $400 in checking and savings. How you spread it around is pretty much up to you.

In addition, as a Multistatement customer, we'll give you a 10% bonus refund of the paid finance charges on a new installment loan when it's satisfactorily repaid.*

The deals will save you money. The single-statement arrangement will save you confusion. Here's how:

Introducing Multistatement.

On one itemized list, Multistatement gives you the complete picture of all your banking transactions for the preceding month:

You'll get the whole rundown on what you've spent from your checking account, what you've deposited, balance, and so forth.

You'll see how much you've added or withdrawn from each savings account you have with us, how much interest has been paid to you, and how much you have in the account now.

If you have an installment loan with us, you'll see how much you've paid back, how much you still owe, and how many payments that amounts to.

If you have Check Credit (an account that allows you to make your own loans simply by writing out specially coded checks), you'll see how much of your cash reserve you've used up and how much you can still borrow.

*PRINCIPAL LOAN AMOUNT IS $1500 OR MORE, AND MUST BE REPAYED WITHIN 90 DAYS FROM THE DATE OF THE LOAN.

Some fancy financial moves.

To say that Multistatement simplifies the management of your money is an oversimplification.

The fact is, by putting so many banking services together on one statement, Multistatement goes beyond any of the other single-statement accounts you've probably heard about.

With South Shore National's Multistatement account, you're now in a position to maneuver your bank accounts in ways you've never been able to.

With one simple instruction to the bank, you can transfer money from virtually any account to any other. (And you can tell us exactly what day to transfer it.)

Or you can authorize the bank to set up an automatic monthly transfer of some fixed amount.

Money to cover a check.

An obvious advantage of the transfer feature is that, when your checking account is low, you can make a transfer from savings into checking.

But think of some of the other transfer possibilities: Checking to savings. Checking to check credit. Check credit to checking. Checking to 90-day notice account. 90-day notice account to checking. Daily-interest savings account to 90-day notice. 90-day notice account to daily-interest. (On 90-day account transfers, the required 90-day notice must be given.)

It's good for you because it's good for us.

Needless to say, the more of your banking business you bring to South Shore National Bank, the better for us.

This, of course, is why we're coming out with Multistatement banking in the first place.

It also explains why we're making Multistatement just as attractive a package as we possibly can.

What we require from you:

For you to qualify for a Multistatement account, we simply require that you have a checking account and at least one savings account with us.

If you have other types of accounts with us that you want included on Multistatement, we'll be delighted to do it. If you have other bank accounts with us that you don't want to appear on Multistatement (your own savings account on the side, for example), that's okay, too.

How to get Multistatement:

With 34 offices of South Shore National Bank all over the South Shore and west of Boston, chances are fairly good there's an office of South Shore National Bank that's not too far from you.

But even if there isn't, that shouldn't keep you from opening a Multistatement account if you want one.

After all, there's always the phone. (Our number in Quincy is 472-1000.)

And there's also our handy coupon.

There is a difference - one is the real thing!

You may not see it at first, even though it's right in front of you. But "look alikes" often have real differences — and those differences can be very important to you!

At first glance, one bank's services may seem pretty much like another's. But when you look into them none of them bear any solid resemblance to the real thing — Norfolk's exclusive All Purpose Bank Plan.

All Purpose Bank Plan gives all your accounts — checking, savings, notice, Reserve Credit, and Master Charge — one number — puts them all on one monthly statement, and provides a simple transfer form to move your money between accounts.

And a new provision in the Plan makes it easier than ever for you to enjoy free checking. By maintaining just a $250 balance in your All Purpose Savings Account, you may write any number of checks at no charge while receiving interest paid monthly at the highest legal rate permitted by Federal Reserve regulations. You can qualify for free checking in two other ways as well — keep a $100 balance in your APBP Checking Account — or a $500 balance in your APBP Notice Account. Any one of these things will do it!

Considering the ease with which unlimited free checks can be yours at Norfolk, the benefits of "Negotiable Orders of Withdrawal" which cost you 15¢ each may be more imaginary than real!

It pays to look closely. The All Purpose Bank Plan — the real thing — is available to you right now at our 32 banking offices. Stop in and get the whole wonderful story. There is a difference!

WE OPENED FOR BUSINESS THIS WEEK IN QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS

This week Kemper Insurance opened the doors of our attractive and efficiently planned New England headquarters adjacent to the State Street South complex in North Quincy.

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to Mayor Walter J. Hannon, his staff and the local business community who have assisted, and cooperated immeasurably, in making our move to Quincy a smooth and exciting event.

We're proud of our new facility and we look forward to the years ahead as a member of the Quincy business community. We are confident they will be productive and hope that in your eyes Kemper Insurance will always be a good corporate citizen.

Insurance is a people industry—a service industry. Our 650 employees who work in Quincy are the key to what Kemper Insurance has to offer—"service through people"—the key to our success. We pledge to continue the finest in service possible to our more than one quarter of a million policyholders and to the thousand independent agents and brokers who represent our companies throughout New England.

... Like the service and protection you can expect from these Kemper facilities:

Insurance Protection

Kemper's experienced underwriters have designed a variety of insurance programs with two principles in mind: to provide you with protection designed to meet your insurance needs; and to provide this protection at a fair price.

Claims

Our motto has always been: "Fast, fair claims service!" Approximately 80% of all Kemper claims are settled on that first phone call. Those involving larger loss amounts or more complicated loss situations will take more time, but only to assure equitable handling.

Loss Control

Our staff of loss control engineers works with commercial policyholders to help them prevent accidents in their businesses. With their training and experience, our engineers can spot many potential loss situations that might be overlooked and offer corrective solutions.

Data Processing

With our newly-installed automated equipment, we have initiated sophisticated systems which process automobile policies, policy endorsements, premium invoices and claims. These facilities eliminate much time consuming and expensive paperwork affording our agents more time to devote to you and your insurance needs. That's something to keep in mind when your Massachusetts automobile policy for 1973 comes up for renewal.

You can expect the finest in service from your independent insurance agent representing Kemper Insurance. Look for him in the Yellow Pages. He can help you with all your insurance problems—for your automobile, home, life or health—personal or business.

Sure we're proud of our new building, but we are even more proud of the successful history that made this move possible and the improved "service through people" which will guarantee our success in the future.

'Whom Shall We Kill' Sermon Topic At First Parish Church

"Whom Shall We Kill?" will be the topic of Rev. John Rushton Graham's sixth address on "Religious Values That Make Sense Today" at United First Parish Church at 10:45 a.m. Dec. 3.

Mr. Graham said the commandment "Thou shalt not kill" has "caused the world considerable confusion and pain. "It's been quoted by those who oppose war, capital punishment and bloodshed as well as by people who have given their support to these issues," he said.

He said the sixth commandment's meaning "has been stretched in so many directions that it's been rendered useless.

"Our efficiency in killing with bombs and napalm may be quite a minor matter when it comes to the really sophisticated murders that are committed by millions of us all the time," he said.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

West Germany Lifts Ban On Hitler Theme

NEVILLE BRAND does a character about face as a good guy rather than the customary heavy in the new JOHN WAYNE western "WEDNESDAY MORNING"... "THE VALACHI PAPERS" set an all-time company high for Columbia Pictures, the distributor of this excellent docu-Mafiosa motion picture. In its first week in national distribution the film took in $1,052,000... FRANK SINATRA received the State of Israel's Medal of Valor Nov. 1. BARON EDMOND de ROTHSCHILD said in offering him the distinguished Medal of Valor, "we are offering you our biggest title and our brotherhood"... For years SINATRA has been actively involved in raising money for Jewish programs both here and for Israel...

"ED SULLIVAN'S BROADWAY", a 90-minute special devoted to the Great White Way, Broadway musicals and vaudeville, has been purchased by CBS for showing this season... Also for CBS, ED SULLIVAN will host and produce "TV COMEDY YEARS" and the third annual AGVA "ENTERTAINER OF THE YEAR" spectacle... West Germany has lifted the ban on "Hitler Theme" films. Next years Oberhausen West German Documentary will unveil several pre-World War II Nazi era motion pictures...

"1776" is one magnificent picture. With its theme backdrop of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, "1776" analyzes the conflicting moods, characters, and attitudes which nearly destroyed the birth of this country... Lavishly produced by JACK L. WARNER, "1776" will find the same viewer appeal as "PATTON" because it deals honestly, and in three dimensional terms, the problems facing our founding fathers-reality, compromise and idealism...

The acting is top draw. WILLIAM DANIELS, HOWARD DA SILVA, KEN HOWARD, JOHN CULLUM, for lack of space, the entire cast are superb. Enthralling. Engrossing in their portrayals... They factually bring to life the great names of America's past... But "1776" is more than cinema at it's most enjoyable. This motion picture is a testament to this country's great heritage... A film which will rekindle pride in the rational humanistic sense of what it means to be an American...

In his directorial debut, GEORGE C. SCOTT directs with all the aplomb [as in "bomb"] of a tired, sluggish fighter entering the 15th round of a championship match. Strictly outclassed by a media he has no right delivering into, SCOTT'S "RAGE" is one of the more disappointing features of the year... For PRESLEY fanatics only: "ELVIS ON TOUR"... LOUISE STUBBS makes an auspicious film debut in "BLACK GIRL", the likes of which could make her a prominent character actress for years to come...

Rambling down Nostalgia Lane: It was in the mid-30's when a not so far-sighted exhibitor ran a full page ad in a trade paper labeling GRETA GARBO, MARLENE DIETRICH, KATHERINE HEPBURN, JOAN CRAWFORD, MAE WEST and FRED ASTAIRE "Box-Office Poison". The aforementioned six since went on to even greater fame and fortune, and are today legends in cinema circles... And in the same era, Women's Lib made it's first foothold on the film colony... DOROTHY ARZNER became Hollywood's first female director in the RKO motion picture, "CHRISTOPHER STRONG"...

AVA GARDNER makes a rare screen appearance as the star of "THE DEVIL'S WIDOW"... JOHN D. F. BLACK, writer-producer of "TROUBLE MAN", might be a big Hollywood writer now, but his beginning was anything but auspicious. As BLACK puts it, "...my first scenario was a god-awful monster movie titled 'THE EARTHLY'... LUIS BUNUEL'S 'THE DISCREET CHARM OF THE BOURGEOISIE' is as tasteless a production as this reviewer can recall seeing... Should have turned in my pass. What a waste of seat-squirrming time..."

Between the Covers

Jane Granstrom, Supervisor of Children's Services, suggests BOOKS for the children on your Christmas list as gifts that will be enjoyed and used over and over again.

Each day of the Yuletide can be celebrated with a familiar, well-loved carol and glowingly vibrant pictures in Brian Wildsmith's THE TWELVE DAYS OF CHRISTMAS [Watts, $3.95, all ages].

In another picture book, ARTHUR'S CHRISTMAS COOKIES by Lillian Hoban [Harper, $2.50, 4-8 years], a bad batch of cookies turns into a good batch of Christmas tree ornaments. Fun for young readers, young cooks, and even young decorators!

Send your children off to sleep with Arnold Lobel's MOUSE TALES [Harper, $2.50, 4-8 years], seven bedtime stories just right to read aloud or to read alone. The simple, but imaginative, vocabulary offers reassurance, humor, even silliness, and is perfectly complemented by subtly animated pink toned pictures.

THE SLY OLD CAT written and illustrated by Beatrix Potter [Warne, $2.50, 5-7 years] is a perfect stocking stuffer. It's the story of an unusual tea party given by a cat for a rat and is illustrated in the delicate colors reminiscent of PETER RABBIT.

It's the best of the best in THE FAIRY TALE TREASURY compiled by Virginia Haviland [Coward, $9.95, 8-11 years], a collection of tales from around the world. The tales, which are strikingly illustrated by Raymond Briggs, include favorites by Grimm, Jacobs, Andersen and Perrault as well as some unfamiliar but equally delightful stories.

Short, silly sayings provide fun for the whole family in A TWISTER OF TWISTS, A TANGLER OF TONGUES compiled by Alvin Schwartz [Lippincott, $4.95, 9-12 years], a varied and sprightly collection of tongue twisters cleverly illustrated by Glen Rounds.

Youngsters caught up in the current enthusiasm for American folkcrafts will enjoy Florence Pettit's HOW TO MAKE WHIRLIGIGS AND WHIMMY DIDDLES [Crowell, $6.95, 10 years up]. A touch of history accompanies the well illustrated instructions for making reproductions of corn husk dolls, whittled toys, pine-cone birds, colonial quilts and candles and several other objects.

Poems and more poems by 20th century poets fit every mood—funny, sad, sweet and sour, wise and witty—in William Cole's latest collection PICK ME UP [Macmillan, $4.95, 10 years up].

TUCK HOCKEY'S GREATEST ALL STARS by Howard Liss [Hawthorn, $4.95, 10 years up] under the tree along with that hockey stick this year. The line-ups include such favorites as Orr, Hull, Sawchuk and Howe, giving brief biographical information and commentary on the players' skill.

And don't forget old favorites like CHARLOTTE'S WEB by E. E. White [Harper, $3.95, 7-11 years], a touching and humorous fantasy about the special friendship between a pig and a spider.

A FRONT VIEW of the new headquarters of the New England Division of the Kemper Insurance Group located adjacent to the State Street Complex in North Quincy. The building was designed by the Architects Design Group, Inc. of Cambridge and built by Volper Construction Company of Malden.

Kemper Insurance Moves N.E. Headquarters To North Quincy

The relocation of the Kemper Insurance Group's New England Division headquarters to North Quincy from Boston, is announced by Richard R. DeMark, vice president and New England manager.

The move was made Monday. DeMark said: "Our new location and facilities are a symbol of Kemper's progressive posture in New England. Our location adjacent to the State Street South Complex was strategically selected so that employees, agents, brokers, policyholders and others could reach us easily by auto or by mass transportation.

The North Quincy MBTA station is about 250 feet from our office and the Southeast Expressway is just two minutes away."

The building has 130,000 square feet of office space. Designed for employee comfort and efficiency, it will house 650 employees and the operations of the largest of the six regional Kemper Divisions with approximately $110 million in sales expected this year.

Kemper, the first Massachusetts insurer to announce they would voluntarily refund 1971 no-fault premiums last month, has had offices in Boston and New England since 1927.

DeMark added, "Our move to Quincy enables us to provide agents and policyholders with better service through the installation of the latest office equipment and most modern automated IBM processing equipment tied into our mammoth Home Office computer operation.

Also, a Drive-In Claim Center is located adjacent to the building, which will allow damaged cars to be brought to a central location for prompt appraisal and immediate settlement of physical damage losses."

DeMark, in paying tribute to those responsible for the Kemper relocation to North Quincy, said, "Our architect, Architects Design Group, Inc. of Cambridge and general contractor, The Volpe Construction Co., Inc. of Malden, combined their talents to provide us with an especially attractive and efficient home."

"Special gratitude goes to Quincy Mayor Walter J. Hannon, his staff and the entire city government of Quincy, as well as to the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, for their able assistance and cooperation in making the move a smooth and exciting event. Also, thanks go to Jack Dwyer, executive vice president of the State Street South Corporation, for his assistance and advice over the past three years."

Mr. DeMark also expressed appreciation to, "The most loyal and professional legion of independent agents and brokers that any insurance company has had the opportunity to serve. Their confidence in our protection and service and their consistent support of our organization built our New England operation into the prestige position which we enjoy today. We place our future in their continuing ability to service the insurance buying public in an effective and professional manner."

The Architect's Design Group, Inc. of Cambridge chose an open office concept for the four story Kemper building with work areas shelved on spacious balconies overlooking a 60 foot square center courtyard of brick walkways, lily pond and sub-tropical trees and foliage. The concept is unique in office design, yet employee and service oriented.

Employees will all have new Steelcase furniture. DeMark noted, "We have donated the furniture from our Tremont Street location in Boston to the New England Medical Center Hospitals."

The Kemper Insurance Group consists of policyholder-owned companies providing every form of insurance worldwide and a publicly held company, Kemperco, Inc., with thirteen subsidiaries operating in such fields as insurance, reinsurance, mutual funds, consumer finance and safety consulting.

The shop is open from noon to 7 p.m. daily and features custom skate sharpening.

Grabill Executive Committee Chairman Multibank Corp.

Elliott V. Grabill of Lincoln has been named Chairman of the Executive Committee and Chief Executive Officer of Multibank Financial Corp., the statewide multi-bank holding company formerly called Shorebank Inc. Grabill will assume his new duties before the first of the year. He has been senior member of the Boston law firm of Grabill & Ley, Inc., and has been legal counsel for Shorebank and South Shore National Bank. He will resign from the law firm.

At the same directors meeting where the election of Grabill and the name change to Multibank Financial Corp. were approved, Francis H. Dewey III, was elected Chairman of the Board, and Gardner L. Brown, President.

Three new outside directors were elected to the board: Bruce Crane, President, Crane Co., Inc.; Robert Cushman, President, The Norton Company; and Daniel R. Shaughnessy, Executive Vice President, Howard Johnson Company.

At the special stockholders meeting Nov. 21, it was also voted to increase the authorized number of shares of the corporation from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000.

It was also announced that Multibank Financial Corp. will have its headquarters before the end of the year in the Keystone Building at 99 High St., Boston.

Grabill has been active in banking since the merger of the Randolph Trust Co. into South Shore National Bank in 1959. In 1964 he became a Director of the Quincy bank.

Since 1968 Grabill has worked closely in all phases of the affiliation of banks that saw Shorebank, now Multibank Financial Corp., become the sixth largest bank holding company in the Commonwealth. Banks now affiliated with Multibank are: Attleboro Trust Company, The Falmouth National Bank, First Agricultural National Bank of Berkshire County, The Mechanics National Bank of Worcester, and South Shore National Bank.

Three more banks are currently negotiating with Multibank to become affiliated with this statewide holding company. They are: R.M.C. Duffee Trust Company of Fall River; Chatham Trust Company and Northampton National Bank.

Total assets of Multibank, if the proposed affiliations are completed and approved by the supervisory authorities, would be in excess of $590 million with 72 banking locations across the Commonwealth.

Other Directors of Multibank Financial Corp. are:

Selwyn I. Atherton, President First Agricultural National Bank of Berkshire County; Donald P. Babson, Treasurer and Vice President United Business Service; Robert L. Blair, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of South Shore National Bank; Gardner L. Brown, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer First Agricultural National Bank of Berkshire County.

Wilfred J. Brown Jr., Executive Vice President The Mechanics National Bank of Worcester; John N. Cole, Attorney, Maguire, Cole Bentley & Babson, Stamford, Conn.; Francis H. Grabill, newly elected Chief Executive Officer of Multibank; and Gordon I. Miller, President The Falmouth National Bank.

NATURE'S GIFTS

If only people would take the time to look at the beauty of spring when gorgeous, colorful flowers bloom. It was hard to survive that long cold breezy winter but thanks to spring we have bright yellow flowers rising from the earth. We see the radiant sun beaming its light upon the spider's web showing the silky strands of string hanging from leaf to leaf on a small thin branch poking out from a large oak tree. When the moon comes out at the nocturnal hour, you can still see the silky web with tiny white drops of dew clinging to it, which makes it look like little tiny pearls.

BEAUTY IN MINIATURE

Beauty is found in many small things. If only people would take the time to look at the spider's web delicately spun into a lacy design, reiterating the same pattern over and over again. The thin web looks like a doily hanging between the limbs.

As the sun sets, a silhouette of the web appears and everything is quiet. Almost magically the web disappears into the dark, black, night.

NATURE'S GIFTS

I see the shiny flowers sparkling with the glitter of freshly fallen dew, and smell the lovely aroma scenting the breeze - the sweet enticing smell of spring. The gentle web spun so softly yet so strong; the dew drops landing and shining like diamonds; the soft petals of the violet swaying in the breeze; the fluffy little dandelions as soft as wee kittens; the tiny little burrs sticking to woolen sweaters of children playing; all these beautiful things given to us freely.

Do we appreciate them?

THE SPIDER'S WEB

Beauty is found in many small things. If only people would take time to look at the spider's web. When you look at it, some of these delicate strands look as if they were waves in the sea. In the morning, when fine mist covers it, it somehow looks like a lady's handkerchief. The cobweb can remind you of amiable things, frightening things, beautiful things, too. Some people like to eliminate the spider's web, but if they take time to look at these lovely, minute things people might learn to love them.

CITY MAGIC

Wherever I look I see...towering giants which are in reality, sky scrapers. They touch their majestically crowned tops to the sky. Under the city streets, subways slither about like huge rattle snakes hissing and steaming as they go. On the jet black streets buses move along like dinosaurs. The streets are almost deserted and occasionally a blast of music can be heard. Above the noisy streets, lights glitter like fireflies. Airplanes fly overhead like giant hawks, swooping and gliding. Then slowly the pink of a rising sun can be seen over a blue-grey horizon, and the magic of the city at night suddenly has vanished and the cold grey buildings return.

PUSSYWILLOWS

A NIGHT IN THE CITY

Wherever I look I see tall capacious buildings and blinking signs signifying movies or products. All night long you see radiant lights. You'll never be solitary even if you're a nocturnal worker. You can watch the lights talking in their own way; cars are beeping to each other saying, "Get out of the way," or having a friendly chat. As day comes, the lights play their own little game by eliminating themselves one by one. The radiant moon soon disappears, and the ugly, dreary day begins.

Where ever I look I see the magical beam of the city's neon lights. I can hear the loud whispers of car motors in the background and the incessant patter of people's feet. As I walk on, I can smell the clean fresh aroma of bread, coming from a bakery. But soon the wonderful fantasyland will be gone and once again day's dreary schedule will be born. All though that day I'll be waiting and wondering what magical things will happen as night falls.

A SPIDER WEB

Beauty is found in many small things. If only people would take the time to look at a spider web. It comes in beautiful shapes and sizes and reminds me of a lacy knitted blanket. At early morn you can see the radiant dew dripping from the delicate strands of the web.

A spider finds a capacious spot to alight, and starts working. It looks so funny to see a solitary spider diligently spinning his home.

NIGHT & DAY

At night the city is often quiet and still and seems so small you could almost put it in your pocket. But as the sun creeps over the horizon, it fills the air with golden sunshine. And once again the capaciousness of the city returns. The factories open and the evil fog fills the air eclipsing the sun from the city streets. The sidewalks and stores are flooded with people and the streets with cars and trucks. The incessant noise has come again. So once again the gloom of the daytime city has so faithfully returned.

NIGHT MAGIC

Wherever I look I see huge, monstrous skyscrapers radiant with light covering up the pitch black sky. On the over-crowded sidewalks, the six o'clock rush hour is teeming with business people hurrying to reach their homes and shoppers rushing to get to stores before they close for the night. Glittering buildings flash reflections of light on the dark wavy bay. Slowly the sidewalks become less crowded. One by one the lights modulate until the sidewalks are idle and the skyscrapers can't be seen in the black sky. As the lights go out, star constellations can be seen and brightest of all is the North Star. A few hours later the sun comes from the east rising over the curve of the earth to light up the day one more.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Do you have a friend who has fallen prey to one of those quickie, crash type diets? Better sit down and have a talk with that friend now.

This is the season when little germs lurk in the crevices of phone receivers, when stalking viruses float across crowded rooms, when bouncing bacteria invade blood streams. And the person who has decided that now is the time to restrict all food intake to one or two items is in danger.

The body needs good nutrition to keep it clickety-clacking along. Cut out any of the basics, and you are cutting down on the automotive power. Carbohydrate in particular is necessary at this time of the year when everyone needs the energy to do two or three things at once. Without this valuable food nutrient, instead of going clickety-clack, the human mechanism will soon go thunk! and come to a halt.

I believe in protein in a diet. I also believe in fruits and vegetables and bread. I know that everyone needs some of each daily. Now, if you can serve yourself a lunch like this BAKED STUFFED SHRIMP, why would you want to eat just eggs and grapefruit?

BAKED STUFFED SHRIMP

3 ounces fresh cooked shrimp (or canned)

¼ cup Albu non-fat skim milk powder

¼ cup water

Grated Parmesan cheese

Butter flavored salt

2 slices Arnold Dietslice Melba thin bread

1/8 teaspoon garlic powder

Dash pepper

Put shrimp in baking dish and sprinkle with grated cheese. Make crumbs out of bread and mix with powdered milk, onion powder, garlic powder and dash of pepper. Sprinkle all crumb mixture over shrimp. Spoon on water over crumbs. Bake at preheated 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until crumbs turn golden brown. When done sprinkle with butter salt.

This is the sort of food variety that should be available to anyone on a diet. I hope you know your dieting friend well enough to sit down and delineate the dangers involved in imbalance. That's what all these quick weight-loss plans are, an imbalance of the normal intake. Yes, they take off weight, but they also make changes in the body's metabolic system.

Early winter finds everyone with low resistance. The germ-of-the-season is strongest then before defenses have been built up against him. It's not the time to dabble in esoteric eating.

Instead increase your d.q. That's your daily quotient of nutrition with a sensible, sane diet that will take off weight gradually, steadily without weakening you at the same time.

I am always available with diet hints. Just write to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

Three Good Reasons Frazier Mr. Happy

By TOM SULLIVAN

A year ago North Quincy Football Coach Ralph Frazier was the happiest man in the city following his team's 30-12 win over Quincy.

The impressive victory gave Ralph his first win ever over the Presidents as a player and coach.

This year Frazier must once again be the happiest man around for three reasons.

Last Thursday the Raiders again defeated Quincy, 24-8, before another huge Veterans Memorial Stadium crowd.

The win evened Frazier's coaching record against Quincy at 2-2, gave him his best season in four years as Raider coach [7-2] and gave North a share of second place in the Greater Boston League. North and Medford finished 5-2 in the league to finish behind league champion Everett [6-1].

"It took us a while to get going but once the boys thawed out and became acclimated to the cold, they did a terrific job," Frazier said. "We fumbled three of the first four times we had the ball and Quincy recovered two of them but our defense was outstanding again and held them. After that we began to click and everyone did a great job."

Frazier had one word when asked for the key to the win: Morton.

"Our quarterback, Bobby Morton, had his best day of the season and was absolutely remarkable," the North coach lauded. "He did more passing than usual and completed five of 10 passes and also had another great ball carrying day, gaining about 100 yards himself. He definitely is college caliber and certainly was the big difference for us against Quincy."

Morton and junior John Flynn spearheaded the North attack, each scoring two touchdowns and they, together with End Billy Carroll, were hailed for their work on offense.

On defense Frazier singled out Burton Bray, Jack Pomerole and Billy Shea, each of whom had an interception, and the defensive ends, Bert Bertoni, Steve Fransoso and Bernie Holleran.

"I feel we had some catching up to do with Quincy and I think we have begun to do just that," Frazier said. Ralph has won two in a row after losing his first two against the Presidents, including the worst defeat in the series history, 53-0, in his first year as coach in 1969.

It was a disappointing end to a disappointing season for Quincy Coach Hank Conroy, who saw his record against North fall to 5-4.

"We had all the breaks early in the game and could have broken the game wide open but their defense was outstanding and after we failed to capitalize on those early fumbles, they just controlled the ball," he said. "But our boys did a good job and gave me 100 percent and I couldn't ask for more. We had a lot of problems this year but I used many underclassmen and we should do all right next year."

Paul Creedon didn't seem to be affected by his knee injury which made him a questionable starter but the senior quarterback was given more rest than usual and alternated with junior Robin Carrera, who saw his most extensive varsity action. The pair hit on only four of 14 passes, far below Quincy's average this year. Prior to the North game, Creedon had compiled a remarkable passing record.

Quincy ran more than usual and Conroy had words of praise for Rich Silva, who did another good job running, and for fullback, John Whitney.

Defensively Conroy hailed

John Ford, who blocked a punt and then scored the only touchdown, Dan McDermott, Billy Joyce, Dave Ferris, who filled in for Carrera, a defensive regular and captain of the defensive unit, when he was playing on offense; Bob O'Neil and Gerry Fanning. He also had good words for Frank Guido, Ed Sylva and Ron Smith.

Quincy, North Game Playback

North, for the third year in a row, fumbled on the first play and Quincy recovered on the Raider 20. The Presidents were held and a field goal attempt failed. Given another chance because of a penalty, the second attempt also went astray.

The Presidents a few minutes later recovered another fumble on the North 25 but again the great Raider defense held.

After stopping Quincy on its five, North moved. After Morton had picked up a key first down on the 20, he faked the same play, handed off to Flynn who went through the line untouched and galloped 80 yards for the first touchdown. Quincy was stunting on defense and this proved costly on this play.

Morton got things going in the third period when he hit North's brother ends, Billy and Joe Carroll, with passes and Morton scored his first touchdown from the 15.

North again held Quincy and Morton again took charge. He passed to Billy Carroll to the 50 and two plays later Morton scored on the best play of the game. He rolled left, got some fine blocking, faked a pass and broke loose for 43 yards and the score which put the game out of reach.

Later in the same period Quincy averted a shutout. The whole line broke through with Ford blocking a Morton punt [other Presidents also helped] and Quincy had the ball on the North four. Ford scored and Creedon passed to Wayne Ponder for the points.

Shea intercepted a pass in the final period and returned it to Quincy's 35. A few plays later, with the Quincy defense coming in hard, Morton handed off to Flynn on a perfectly-executed draw play and Flynn went 26 yards for the final score of the day.

North had 13 first downs to eight for Quincy, had an impressive 251 net yards rushing to 87, and picked up 79 yards passing to only 39, far below Quincy's average.

"This was a wonderful group to work with," Frazier said. "They really worked hard and are some of the best students in the school. We are mostly a senior group and today every senior had a starting position somewhere in the game."

In contrast, Conroy began early in the season to go with his younger players after a couple of nightmarish games with Revere and Everett.

"We just have to look forward to next year," said Conroy, whose ninth Quincy team finished with a 4-4-1 record [2-4-1 in the league]. "Seven starters on defense today will be back and we had a number of underclassmen on offense as well."

Good ENC Soccer Season

Although the Eastern Nazarene College soccer team failed to win its first Colonial Conference championship, the Crusaders had one of their finest seasons and last week, emulating last winter's basketball team, made their first appearance in the NAIA District 32 tournament.

They made an excellent showing in the tourney, being nipped by top-seeded Babson [12-1-2 for the season], 1-0, in the semifinals after erupting in the second period for a 5-1 win over Western Connecticut.

ENC, which ended its regular season with an 8-3-3 mark under new coach Neil Nichol, gave favored Babson all it could handle but couldn't penetrate the winners stiff defense.

Mark Sanford was outstanding in the ENC goal and the only score came off a rebound, which Pell Price drilled home. Sanford, praised by winning coach Bob Hartwell, had 12 saves, several on spectacular stops.

In the quarterfinal game the Crusaders scored all five of their goals in the second period to overcome an early 1-0 deficit and win going away.

Dell Beiber scored twice for Eastern Nazarene and also had two assists. The other goals were scored by Steve Davis, Abel Espada and North Quincy's Steve Shoff, the team's high scorer again this year.

Shoff holds several ENC scoring records including most goals scored in a game [six in 1970], most goals in a season [25 in 1970] and most assists [12 the same year]. This year Steve had 18 goals and nine assists.

Incidentally, among the Babson standouts this year was Jim McGuire, a former Quincy High star.

Quincy X-Country Winner

Quincy lost the big one on the holiday but the Presidents did gain some measure of satisfaction in the cross-country race staged between halves of the football game.

Tom Hall's Quincy runners, who had already topped Bob Gentry's North team during the Greater Boston League season, romped, 10-38, as the Presidents had the first three finishers.

This race was the climax to a full week of Homecoming Week activities in preparation for the annual football clash. The runners finished at the stadium and ran one lap around the track.

Our Small Business Loan department may have to kiss Harry Carlson goodbye.

Ten years ago, when we first met Harry Carlson, his tire business grossed about $100,000 a year. He needed funds for expansion. And we figured, if he could sell tires half as well as he could sell us on Harry Carlson, we had a sure winner.

So we gave Harry a loan...in fact, several loans. For more sales area, for warehousing facilities, for inventory, and for company vehicles. Now, Carlson Tire Company in Dorchester is doing over $1 1/2 million in sales, and it looks like its days as a "small business" are numbered.

If you're like Harry Carlson, a guy with a small business and big ideas, call Don Mitchell of our Small Business Loan department, at 434-4306. He'll go all out to help you outgrow his services. For a little help when it's a matter of money, we're the first people to talk to.

Goals by five different skaters led the Quincy Squirt A team to a 6-2 romp over Brockton and a tie for first place in the Old Colony Youth Hockey League.

Neil Shea led the attack with two goals and Scott Richardson, Mark Veasy, Tommy Gerry and Robbie Zanardelli chipped in one each.

THERMOMETER MERCURY SAFE

The mother called the doctor on the telephone to explain the symptoms of her child's illness. "What is his temperature?" asked the doctor. "I didn't take it," answered the mother. "I was afraid he might break it and swallow the mercury, then he'd really have a problem."

With all the talk of the danger of mercury in food, you might, like this mother, be worried about a child accidentally biting down on a thermometer, breaking the glass and swallowing the mercury.

Rest easy. The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that "accidental ingestion of metallic mercury from a home thermometer bulb is considered harmless."

Mercury is insoluble in digestive fluids and hence would not be expected to be absorbed in the gastrointestinal tract. The particles of glass are the chief hazard associated with broken mercury thermometers.

The float won the $500 Grand Marshal Trophy first prize in the Youth Division. Over 250,000 turned out for the parade sponsored by the Quincy Center Business & Professional Association.

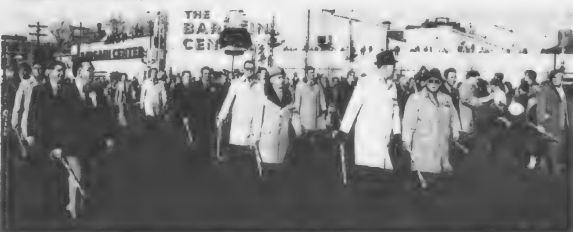

"NEVER NEVERLAND", replica of Captain Hook's ship created by St. Ann's, Wollaston, Pack 21 Cub Scouts, took the $1,000 grand prize and the Rev. Thomas J. Tierney Trophy named in memory of the late beloved St. John's Church curate and parade coordinator.

KING SIZED Santa, reaching 20 feet high, was one of the big hits of the 21st annual Quincy Christmas Parade. The Santa spectacular was sponsored by Barry's Ship Haven Restaurant and Barry's Deli.

THEIR FACES TELL you how wonderful it is to be a kid and watch a parade like the Quincy Christmas Parade sponsored by the Quincy Center Business & Professional Association. Adults found it something special, too.

THE COMMITTEE swings down Hancock St.-and apparently all in step. Leading group are Festival Chairman George Fay and Parade Coordinator Anthony Famiglietti. If you look close you can also pick out Richard Koch, Joseph Whiteman, David Coletti, Carter Caudle, Dan Barry, Henry Bosworth, George White, Win Bettinson, Richard Venna, Joseph Angelo, John Farmer.

Effective In January

Mayor's New Salary $25,000 City Council To Get $3,000

The City Council rolled its salaries back to what they were 15 years ago Monday -- by giving itself a raise.

At the same time, the Council recognized the mayor as a fulltime city employee and gave him a salary boost, too.

Effective in January, councilors will get $3,000 a year, up from $1,500; and the mayor will draw $25,000, up from $10,000.

Members of the City Council were paid $3,000 a year until 1957 when Plan A [strong mayor] replaced Plan E [strong council] and Council salaries were cut in half.

Quincy mayors have been getting $10,000 a year since the days of Plan E when the functions of the office were largely ceremonial.

Previous mayors, like James R. McIntyre, a state senator, and Amelio Della Chiesa, a state representative, were part-time officials, both of whom frowned on raises.

Mayor Hannon, however, gave up his seat in the state legislature to work fulltime at being Mayor.

Two years ago, a citizens' blue-ribbon salary survey committee, appointed by then-Mayor McIntyre, recommended $3,000 salaries for Councilors and a $22,500 salary for the mayor.

Santa, Dumbo, Peter Pan Star

Over 250,000 See Quincy's Biggest Christmas Parade

Santa Claus and Disney's Dumbo were out in force but it was Peter Pan and the Pack 21 Cub Scouts who stole the show at Quincy's 21st annual Christmas parade Sunday.

The Cub Scouts from St. Ann's Church won the Father Thomas Tierney Trophy and $1,000 grand prize for their float depicting Captain Hook's ship from Peter Pan.

More than 250,000 people, largest in the parade's history, lined Hancock St. from Wollaston to Quincy Square to watch the two-hour festivities in warm, sunny weather. The event was rained out the previous Sunday.

Prize-winning floats in the Youth Group were:

Quincy High School Band, the Grand Marshal Trophy and $500, for the float "Dumbo".

Spectrum Youth Group, $250 second prize, "Christmas in Disneyland".

South Shore Campfire Girls, $150 third prize, "Christmas Dollhouse".

Koch Club, $100 fourth prize, "Christmas in Animal Toyland".

St. John's CYO, honorable mention, "Toy Machine".

Milton Rainbow Girls, honorable mention, "Night Before Christmas".

Granite City Hardware, honorable mention, "Bedknobs and Broomsticks".

The Mayor's Trophy went to the Germantown Girl Scouts for their float presentation of "Christmas Dream".

The Mansfield High School band barely shaded the Quincy High band for the $200 first prize in the high school band competition. North Quincy band was a close third.

The St. Ann's CYO band from Neponset took first prize and $200 as the best marching band with the Holy Name CYO band from West Roxbury coming in second for $100.

Drum & Bugle Corps Class A honors went to the Imperials from Pembroke by a wide margin over the Fifth Maine Regimentals from Portland.

The Holy Family Defenders of Rockland were first in the Ward 3 Councillor Ted McLelland is confiding to friends he will run for the Quincy Point-South Quincy House seat in 1974.

Incumbent Clifford Marshall has been telling all that he will go after Sheriff Charles Hedges' badge that year. If he goes through with those plans, the House seat will be wide open for McLelland and/or other contenders.

***

MEANWHILE, Peter Gacicia, edged by McLelland in Ward 3 last year, is warming up for another bid next year. Gacicia, incidentally, was in the Quincy Christmas Parade driving the "Guppy In Toyland" float entered by the Quincy Young Republicans. The float was a winner—walking off with the $500 prize and Festival Committee Trophy for first place in the Adult Division competition.

***

COME TO THINK of it, Sunday was the "Day of the Elephant" in Quincy. The Quincy High School Band's float "Dumbo" won the $500 Youth Group prize and Grand Marshall Trophy. And the Young GOP won the Adult Division.

***

WORD FROM THE State House is that freshman Rep. Thomas Brownell of Merrymount, may be in line to fill the post of House chairman of the Committee on Insurance.

Unlike U.S. Congress, chairmanships in the Massachusetts legislature are not determined by seniority, but rather are designated by the Speaker.

***

QUINCY POSTAL carrier, Frank Bertoni, was featured in this month's edition of the POSTAL PATRIOT, the publication of the Boston postal district.

Bertoni, as you remember, was cited for his act of heroism in rescuing a child from a burning car on Temp's St. this summer.

He made the rescue while on duty and was presented a Postal Service Special Award and a check for $200.

***

QUINCY has lost a popular, long-time resident and family. County Treasurer Raymond C. Warrington who retires at the end of the year, and his wife, have moved from Alrick Rd, Quincy to Harwich Port on the Cape.

***

RESIDENTS OF ADAMS SHORE are scheduled to meet Dec. 12, to re-organize the Adams Shore Improvement Association. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Adams Shore Library on Sea St. All interested persons are invited to attend.

***

THE GUESSING GAME is still on over who will get the assistant city solicitor's job. Top three contenders reportedly are Attu, Robert Fleming of Wollaston, Atty. Philip Hooten of Merrymount and former Solicitor Douglas Randall. Insiders think Fleming has the inside track.

***

TWO QUINCY WOMEN, Kathleen O'Donnell of Quincy Point and Geraldine Pleshaw of Merrymount, have been invited to a breakfast with Secretary of the Army Robert Froehke at the Dorothy Quincy Suite in Boston. The impact of the all volunteer army will be discussed.

***

HISTORICAL FOOTNOTE: Everyone knows Quincy is the birthplace of John Adams, John Quincy Adams and John Hancock and that Quincy is the site of the first commercial iron works in the U.S. and first railroad, but Quincy is also home of another "first" the first race track in New England.

The track was set out by the Boston Jockey Club around 1812 and measured one mile in length. Beginning at the Neponset Hotel [at Hancock and Atlantic St.] it ran to the beach, turned to the south and came up through Bayfield to Squantum St. and back to Hancock.

The races were not just local affairs, but brought horses and spectators from around New England and the country. They were, however, according to reports, only for the "admiration and development" of horses, and not conducted for gambling.

***

FOUR of the gals in City Clerk John Gillis' office flew down to Bermuda for the weekend: Ruth Pabst, Edith Corey, Agnes Curry and Celia McPhillips. And before they left, Asst. City Clerk Thomas Burke and Jack Baker of the Election Department surprised them with going-away orchid corsages.

***

REP. ELECT William Delahunt was seen on TV this week being taken into the Norfolk State Prison. It was only for a visit though.

The corrections division had set up the tour to familiarize the freshmen legislators with the commonwealth's correction facilities and programs.

***

SMILE DEPT: Local democrats have been displaying a different type of bumper sticker lately: "Massachusetts - the one and only". "Don't blame me - I'm from Massachusetts" and a sticker with an American flag with only one star reads: "Massachusetts - love it or leave it".

On Oct. 21, 1879 the era of electric light was ushered in when Edison found that a partially burned strand of thread would glow for 40 hours when plugged in!

- Viet Cong Changing Spots
- The FBI'S Black Files
- Brezhnev White House Bound?

WASHINGTON—Secret. Intelligence reports from Vietnam indicate that the Viet Cong are preparing to change their spots during the political struggle for control of the Saigon government.

The Communists have suddenly started courting non-Communist leaders in Saigon who are opposed to President Thieu. The Viet Cong apparently want to adopt a more moderate front in order to win the non-Communist left over to their side.

Meanwhile, the true neutralists in South Vietnam—those who oppose both Saigon and Hanoi—are desperately trying to gain a voice in the peace settlement.

The proposed peace accord calls for a three-part national council to work out the peace terms. One third are supposed to be appointed by Saigon, one third by Hanoi. The remaining third are supposed to be neutral.

But the neutralists have no real base of power. So far, they have failed to get the United States—or anyone else—to recognize them. It now appears obvious that Saigon will choose half of the so-called neutralists and Hanoi the other half. They will be neutral, therefore, in name only.

The real neutralists in South Vietnam, who would like to rally round General Duang Van Minh, popularly known as "Big Minh," are privately appealing to the United States for help.

But Henry Kissinger, for one, hasn't had much time to consider the appeals of the neutralists. Negotiating with Hanoi by day and Saigon by night, the President's master negotiator has been too busy to worry about the neutralists.

—Public Relations—

Two years ago with great fanfare President Nixon ordered his chief lieutenants to curtail their public relations activities. But we have found that the public still pays a stiff price for the privilege of being told by the bureaucrats how good they are.

Instead of tooting their own horn, government agencies now farm out public relations work to private advertising agencies.

Under the Nixon Administration, we have learned, some 400 private public relations firms have gotten over a thousand contracts at a cost to the public of well over $77 million. Here are some highlights:

- $52 million, or about four-fifths of the total, was spent by the Pentagon. The biggest contract, for $47 million, went to N. W. Ayer & Son of Philadelphia for an Army recruiting program.

- The Environmental Protection Agency alone handed out 400 PR contracts. One of them called for an expenditure of $18,500 for "original paintings."

- The Commerce Department spent nearly $4 million with a New York firm to promote "tourism" in the United States.

All of this, of course, doesn't take into account the $116 million the government spends each year to keep its 6,000 "information specialists" on the payroll.

—Black Files—

The FBI keeps thousands of citizens under surveillance for the crime of speaking their own minds, but one group especially harassed are black civil rights leaders.

We have obtained the FBI file on a prominent black leader that is loaded with malicious and irrelevant details about his personal life. The file typifies the kind of information the FBI has collected on numerous black leaders, including the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Rev. Walter Fauntroy, Rev. Ralph Abernathy, Roy Innis and Floyd McKissick, among others.

By no stretch of the imagination can this man be called a revolutionary, yet here is the kind of information the FBI has collected on him:

- Much of the man's dossier concerns his alleged lack of leadership ability and the troubles he is having with his staff. One of his close associates is quoted as saying the man is suffering from "ego-mania."

- Other memos are concerned with the man's married life. He has "periodically experienced marital discord," says one document. "The black leader himself is quoted as saying his wife "treated him like a dog."

- The FBI has even taken note of the medicines the man takes. One agent wrote that the subject "utilizes a number of medications daily to get going, and other pills in order to sleep at night. At various times during the day he resorts to additional pills."

The FBI, of course, could spend the taxpayers' money more profitably investigating criminals rather than the personal life of a law-abiding black civil rights leader.

—Intelligence Items—

White House sources are hinting that Soviet Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev will come to the White House next year for a second summit meeting. The top item on the agenda: the Middle East...The Central Intelligence Agency, quoting a source inside the Black September Group, warns that another attempted coup against Jordan's King Hussein is likely. An attempt on Hussein's life last month failed...For months, we've been warning that anti-U.S. sentiment has been building up in Latin America. President Nixon, we have said, might go down in history as the President who lost Latin America. We are pleased, to report, therefore, that the President has ordered the National Security Council to take a fresh look at Latin American relations.

Quincy, North Journalism Students In New Sun Feature

Beginning with this issue, the Quincy Sun is turning one of its pages over to journalism students at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools.

Today, on Page 10, you will find articles written by Quincy High students—what's going on at Quincy and Vocational Technical High School, what the students [and teachers] think, etc.

Next week, North Quincy High School students take over.

The feature will continue weekly with the two schools alternating at the typewriters.

The Sun feels that this will enable the journalism students to put into practice what they are learning in class. And, to see their articles and by-lines in actual print.

At the same time, the articles will give fellow students, parents and other adults in the community not only interesting reading, but first hand reports on what is going in the three schools.

Economic Stabilization

[This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.]

Q. My landlord automatically raised my rent 2.5 percent last March. He says he can automatically raise rent another 2.5 percent in January. Is this true?

A. No. A landlord must wait until 12 months have elapsed since the last automatic 2.5 percent increase before raising rent another 2.5 percent. In your case, he will have to wait until March before making the automatic increase. However, in the case of a tenant on a month-to-month lease, a landlord may pass on increases in state and local real estate taxes, fees, levies, charges for municipal services and a portion of capital improvement costs as they occur. In the case of a longer lease, the landlord must generally wait until the lease expires before raising rent to reflect these items.

For more information, see IRS Publication S-3019, "Rent Guidelines." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. Are railroad retirees included in the IRS "rent watch" for illegal rent increases to social security recipients?

A. Yes. The Internal Revenue Service has begun checking for rent overcharges in units housing railroad retirees, as well as those rented by social security recipients.

Q. If a company does not increase its contribution to a qualified pension plan or other qualified employee fringe benefit plans by the permitted 0.7 percent, can it use it the following year without having it charged to the general wage and salary standard?

A. Yes. The 0.7 percent figure is cumulative if not used in a prior control year, and a company may accumulate credit for increasing its contribution to its qualified benefit plan in a future control year. Thus, if a company does not increase its contribution to qualified benefit plans this year, it may have a 1.4 percent increase next year without charging it against the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard.

Q. Are all lumber firms with $50 million or less in annual sales exempt from price control reporting requirements?

A. No. To counteract rising lumber prices, the Cost of Living Council recently extended quarterly reporting requirements to all firms with annual sales of lumber and wood products of over $5 million. Firms can obtain the necessary forms at Internal Revenue offices.

Q. What kinds of firms may take advantage of the Price Commission's special rules for low profit firms?

A. In order to qualify for relief under the low-profit regulations, a retail, wholesale or manufacturing firm must not have received, during its most recent fiscal year, more than ten percent of its income from the providing of services. A low profit firm may also be a service organization which received at least 90 percent of its income from the providing of services. Public utilities, milk producers, providers of health services, insurers, public benefit corporations, or cooperatives are not eligible firms.

For more information, drop a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication S-3032, "Low Profit Firms."

• Youth Speaks Out

• Massachusetts politicians are doing well in Washington - Elliott Richardson is the new Secretary of Defense, and it is rumored that John Volpe will be Ambassador to Italy [No, he wasn't deported!]

• A cheering thought - because of air pollution, it is nearly impossible to tell who smokes and who doesn't.

• Auto insurance rates are down 2%; with the holiday season coming up, a drunk driver can now cause more damage and pay less.

• It's amazing how little of the daily newspaper is news - most of it is ads. Although, with the news we're getting lately, that's not such a bad set-up.

• The Pentagon has asked for $5 billion more in its budget, which is like Zsa Zsa Gabor asking for another diamond.

• How come there are no children's toys which only cost $2 or $3. Everything seems to be $9.95 or ONLY $16.95, and to add insult to injury, batteries are never included.

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Quincy Council

A number of "fly-by-night" companies set up shop each holiday season and close as soon as the last trimmings are taken down.

The Consumer Protection Division warns Massachusetts shoppers to beware of the risks involved in doing business with such "merchants".

One common holiday phenomenon is the peddler selling jewelry or watches from the sidewalk or the back of his pick-up truck.

Shoppers often find that the merchandise bought from these peddlers is shoddy or overpriced. When these consumers return for a refund, they find that the salesman has disappeared leaving them stuck with inferior goods.

New toy stores frequently spring up during the Christmas season to take advantage of the demand for children's presents. Although some of these stores sell quality playthings, many deal in toys that have been poorly or carelessly made.

Shoddy toys sold at these stores may present two problems to parents who purchase them. In the first place, it is almost impossible to get service on these products. If the toy breaks right after Christmas and the parents go back to exchange it, they find that the store has closed and they have nowhere to take the complaint.

The greater problem with these cheap toys is that they are apt to be very dangerous. Cheaply constructed, they break or fall apart exposing sharp edges and rusty spikes. These toys represent a hazard in addition to being bad buys.

Shoppers should keep in mind the drawbacks of inferior merchandise. They should also remember that a seasonal seller offers no post-holiday service.

People Are Not For Hurting

Howard was quiet...calm...but angry as he spoke. "Mary doesn't know how much she hurts me...or how often. She makes these caustic...critical remarks...then goes silent refusing to talk things out. This spoils our whole relationship. She doesn't even seem to know...or care what she's doing." I said, "How about this, Mary...is there some truth to what Howard's saying?"

"He says things too" Mary replied. "besides if he's a man why can't he take a little criticism?" There was a pause. Mary wasn't very convincing even to herself. You see, Mary had been raised an only child...she had been doted upon by her mother...she had no father...three maiden aunts. She got...and said whatever she wanted to say...cut people with punishing silence...and no one ever brought her up short...nor helped her to see that this is why she had no friends. Now when she is about to lose her third husband. Cutting words...snide remarks...innuendos are simply unacceptable in a rational adult relationship. Sooner or later it will catch up with you. People are not for hurting.

Another way that we hurt people is by phoniness. "How are you?"...when you don't really care, is phony. Sending Christmas cards simple because we received from this person last year is phony. Talking about loving a husband/wife but withholding genuine affection is phony. "By their deeds shall ye know them"...Jesus told the phony religionists of his day. When we are living in pretense...we are not honest with ourselves...and others...we are phony. There's a lot of phoniness around us...and within us. Phoniness hurts people.

Rejection is another way of hurting. At least in rejection one knows where one stands. But it's cruel. Women who reject men who are not unreasonable in their sexual demands often do the man irreparable damage...as well as the relationship. Men who reject women can drive a woman into depths of despair. People are not for hurting.

Why do people hurt one another? Some people are not sensitive enough to realize that they are hurting other people with their words...or their silences...or their phoniness...or outright rejection. Some recognize they've hurt someone...regret it...apologize and establish a closer relationship as a result. Some people hurt by words...silence...phoniness...rejection because of a distorted attitude toward people coming out of childhood conditioning. I know a man who mistreats all women because he is angry at his mother who has dominated him since birth. Some women don't know how to treat men because they grew up without a father...or a poor substitute for a father. They've nursed feelings of anger at a parent for many years. Now they're hurting other people...retaliation for the hurts they've sustained from an erring parent.

How does one handle hurt? We all need to understand that we can't go through this world without some hurt. The more sensitive we are the more often we'll be hurt. It helps to understand the cause of a person's continual pattern of hurting by words...silence...phoniness or rejection. Try to forgive. If it continues after a partner or friend has been apprised of his/her hurting ways you may conclude that the person doesn't really care. You may need to withdraw yourself from that person...in order to protect yourself from more hurt.

Only the masochist continues to put up with being hurt. Only the sadist continues to deal out hurts to people he/she claims to love. People are not for hurting...they're for loving.

People Are For Loving...Dr. Knox' new book is available in local bookstores...or write him sending $3.00 to 320 Washington St., Norwell, Mass. 02061.

More Jobs At State Street South

250 Students In Popular Work-Study Program

By KRISTIN POOLE

The work-study program is alive and well and operating in the Quincy school system.

Some 250 students are involved under the direction of Robert Daniele, the city coordinator.

The program is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors with a minimum age limit of 16. Parental permission is required before enrollment. Presently, there is a waiting list of over 100 students.

Mr. Daniele and his assistants cannot adequately handle any more than the present number of participants. They hope that there will be enough money in the city or federal budget in the near future to hire another assistant. This would mean they could take in another 50 or 60 students.

There seems to be no real problem in finding enough jobs for the kids, as more often than not it is the employer who seeks out the employee. The trouble comes in placing the right student in the right job.

Many of the students are taken into the program because they lack interest in school. The program is used as a means of motivation, a reward for a job well done. If a student keeps up in his studies, he is allowed the privilege of working [at a job he might enjoy] on school time.

Most of the students take four classes daily and work four or five hours. The current unofficial work week runs from 15 to 32 hours. The students are employed by banks, restaurants and insurance agencies, among other places. A possible 75 jobs for students will come with the opening of the State Street South complex.

In an age of relatively non-stimulating education, the work-study program is a credit to our educational system. Continued support from all sources will help this valuable program to grow and expand.

Student Council, Union Work Together In Government Unity

By KEVIN FOLEY

Quincy High School has two separate student governments which work together to decide student matters - The Student Council and The Student Union.

The Student Council represents both Quincy High and Voc-Tech, and operates the bookstore. Meetings are held every Monday to discuss student problems.

The Student Union consists of six members from each of Quincy's high schools. Meetings are held the Monday before the School Committee meets.

One member from each school - Kevin Foley from Quincy High, Lisa McLaney from North and Steven Lawlor from Voc-Tech, represent their respective schools as associate members of the Quincy School Committee.

The Student Union is an example of the unity that can exist between two high schools that compete with each other in most everything else.

'New Math' - Now 'New English'

By LISA COOPER

The Language Arts [English] Department at Quincy High, headed by Bruce MacDonald, has gone through 18 major changes this year.

These changes are the 18 English electives offered to interested students, during the '72-'73 school year. This is the first time this has been done at Q.H.VTS and students seem quite responsive to the new, more up-to-date concept.

Each student is required to select two electives [courses], according to his own personal interests. Each course will be a semester, 20 weeks in length. Standardized sophomore and junior English classes are still offered for a full year [two semesters]. Next year's plans are for both junior and senior classes to be involved in the program.

The electives vary greatly to please each individual student. They cover all aspects of language arts, from a very traditional English course to an up-to-date Poetry of Rock class. The following is a list of the courses offered, and a brief explanation of each:

- Creative Writing: for those who wish to express themselves creatively in short story, poetry, etc.
- Film Studies: course examines film as a developing art
- Hooked on Books: student is allowed to follow his own interests in reading.
- Journalism: students are responsible for the publishing of the two school newspapers.
- Logic and Philosophy: An introductory course in critical thinking.
- Media: this course will examine the media and its effects on our lives.
- Myth and Fantasy: Mythology.
- Nature of Tragedy:

Theories of tragedy in reading.

- Play Production: provides a basic understanding of theater.
- Poetry of Rock: origins, types, changes, in the concept of rock 'n roll as poetry.
- Practical English: good course for the college bound student in preparation for the SATs.
- Satire and Nature of Comedy: study of humor, farce, wit, etc.
- Sci-Fi, Mystery and Horror: Reading study of themes and psychology behind them.
- Search for Identity: self identity.
- Shakespeare: in relation to modern times.
- Speech: designed to help student overcome shyness and poor speech habits.
- Sports Literature: Reading and discussions.
- Utopian Literature: Deals with Man's search for the perfect society.

Members of the Quincy High

Band, Color Guard and Baton Squad are working hard to make this trip possible. Please support them. Despite much hard work they are still in need of funds.

Vacations Mean Travel ( Maybe Even To Russia)

In the past, students from Quincy High School would sit home during vacations. However, now there is more opportunities for students to travel.

Last year several students from Quincy High went to Spain for a week, some spent four days in Canada, and others a week in Greece. These trips turned out very well, and more are planned for this year.

This April there are possibilities for a trip to England, and in the future Russia may be a vacation stop.

Santa On Hand, Too

Wollaston Christmas Lighting Ceremonies Set For Tonight

The Christmas season arrives officially in downtown Wollaston tonight [Thursday] with the lighting of the multi-colored lights on Hancock and Beale Sts. sponsored by the Wollaston Business and Professional Association.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon will throw the switch at 7 p.m. ceremonies in the Hancock Bank and Trust Co. parking lot on Beale St.

The lights will be strung out on 40 trees along Hancock and Beale and on center pieces hung over the streets. Utility poles will be decorated with candles.

In conjunction with the association's lights there will be more than 1,000 lights on shrubbery at the Wollaston Methodist Church and a Christmas tree on the lawn of the Wollaston branch library.

Santa Claus will be at the ceremonies to hand out candy canes to youngsters and the Sacred Heart Choral Group will sing carols, accompanied by Jay Nolan and organist Chet French from Sherry's.

Nolan and French also will lead a singalong of all those in attendance at the lighting ceremonies.

At the same time, Santa's World will open in the lobby of the Hancock Bank and Trust Co. and mail boxes to receive mail for Santa Claus will go into operation in five locations.

They are at the Capitol Supermarket and the Supreme Market on Hancock St.; the First National Store and Barry's Delicatessen on Beale St.; and Woolworth's at the corner of Hancock and Beale.

Santa himself will be at Santa's World from Dec. 11 through 21 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. so that children can whisper their toy orders in his ear and have their pictures taken with the old fellow.

Members of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association committee that planned the ceremonies included:

Dan Barry, Barry's Delicatessen, chairman; Al Hallberg, Purity Supreme Market; Dave Mercier, Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association; John Crawford, Airline Air Conditioning; Jack Pierce, Taleb Grotto; and association president Irving Boyes, of Schultz, Doyle and Stoddard.

"So Overwhelming You Can't Resist It"

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holfbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

Many people go through life without more than a vague notion of what they want out of it, successful men believe. Business, educational, and other types of organizations establish long-range objectives which are precisely stated and periodically reviewed. But the wisdom of such planning rarely occurs to the individual or family.

Where would you like to be five or ten years from now? This is a matter that deserves "thinking time" — which the average man seldom if ever schedules.

Several writers note the interesting phenomenon of great changes in the lives of men that came about when they were placed in situations — confined in prison or a hospital, for example — that forced them to think things through. As a result, patterns of life changed, books were written, new careers launched, the entire course of history altered.

Anyone who hopes to achieve success in life, the self-helpers testify, must take the time to decide what he really wants out of life. He must make this a formal matter, setting his specific goals down on paper and giving them deadlines for achievement.

Wanting things does not necessarily mean that you are worthy of them, these writers caution. How strongly do you want them? Enough to make yourself worthy of them? Can you sustain a burning desire that maintains a firm resolve, day in and day out?

Such desire must be accompanied by an affirmative, success-minded attitude toward everything you do (what multimillionaire Clement Stone calls "Positive Mental Attitude—PMA"). If you think positively, anything is possible. "More gold has been mined from the thoughts of men," comments Napoleon Hill in his popular book, Think and Grow Rich, "than has ever been taken from the earth."

We are living in an age that demonstrates the truth that practically anything is possible. Few people stop to realize the tremendous acceleration in all aspects of living since their grandfathers' day and the even greater acceleration that lies ahead.

There was a time, notes university professor Dan Q. Posin, when physicists observed basic laws that scientists earlier had discovered for them. "Nowadays," comments Posin, "about the only law that physicists will agree on is that 'anything that can happen will happen.'"

The only limitations to human achievement, the self-helpers maintain, are those we impose upon ourselves. If we decide that goals are impossible, then for us they are unachievable. If we venture new ideas and become discouraged when friends and relatives disparage them, we deny ourselves the opportunity to make them succeed. If Thomas Edison had quit after his first failure to develop an incandescent lamp, one writer observes, or if he had allowed friends to ridicule him into inaction after the ten-thousandth failure, the human race might still be deprived of his important discoveries.

A strong urge is needed to accomplish anything—"something so overwhelming you can't resist it," wealthy businessman William H. Danforth explains. If it is now only a spark, it must be fed until it becomes a white-hot flame.

Koch Club Christmas Activities In Gear

Christmas activities are shifting into high gear at the venerable Koch Club, which observes its 25th anniversary next year.

The club's annual Christmas Basket Fund Drive, collecting food and toys and children's clothing for needy families, already is underway for the 17th year.

Donations of canned goods or non-perishable foods and money to buy turkeys for each basket can be left with the officers of the various leagues or the executive or district directors.

Deadline for the drive, chaired by Thomas Nestor, is Thursday, Dec. 21.

The club's 16th annual Santa Claus visit to shut-in children throughout the South Shore will be made on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 16 and 17, between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Parents of children who are shut-ins the year 'round can arrange a visit from Santa by calling Richard J. Koch, 241

Newbury Ave., North Quincy [472-1599].

And the annual Children's Christmas Party, the club's 25th, will be held Saturday, Dec. 16, between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. in the cafeteria of Sacred Heart School, 360 Hancock St., North Quincy.

Santa Claus will be there to distribute candy and listen to the Christmas desires of the youngster up to 10 years of age. There will also be a singalong of Christmas songs and carols.

Cranch Pupils 'Adopt' Nursing Home Patients

Students of the Cranch Elementary School have undertaken a project for the Red Cross to benefit patients at the John Adams Nursing Home on Franklin St.

Children will make Christmas decorations, handmade gifts, and various artistic items.

They will also be sending letters and pictures. The students have received names of particular patients with whom they will correspond.

Mrs. Judith Gorin, the school's Red Cross representative is coordinating the project.

Friends Dance To Aid Quincy Band

'A New Day For Adultery' Sermon Topic At First Parish Church Sunday

"A New Day for Adultery" will be outlined by Rev. John Rushton Graham in his seventh address on "Religious Values That Make Sense Today" at United First Parish Church at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 10.

"For hundreds of years," said the Rev. Mr. Graham, "people have missed the point of the commandment, 'Thou shalt not commit adultery'."

"It raises a question that is almost totally ignored today: What is the relationship, if any, of the individual family unit in the society as a whole?"

"In other words, is what I decide to do just my personal business?"

India And Pakistan Topic For UN Council Dec. 14

India and Pakistan will be the subject of the third of the World Affairs Programs sponsored by the United Nations Council of the South Shore this year.

Francis G. Hutchins, assistant Professor of Government at Harvard will speak Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq.

Professor Hutchins will explain the background of the partition of Pakistan, why part of it became Bangladesh, and, as is usual at Council meetings, there will be a chance to ask questions after the talk.

Professor Hutchins' studies have taken him to India four times and he has written two books. The first was "The Illusion of Permanence", British Imperialism in India, and his latest one is on Gandhi, emphasizing the last years of the Indian leader's life during World War II. This research on the modern history of a very old civilization has given him an understanding of recent events in South Asia.

The meeting, which will end promptly at 9 p.m., is open to the public, and no reservations or tickets are necessary. However, reservations are needed for the supper which precedes it at 6:30 and for which there is a charge. Those who want reservations for the meal should call either Miss Lena Foster, 12 Francis Ave., or Miss Edith Coulman, 1000 Southern Artery, both of Quincy, before Dec. 11. Some places at supper are reserved for students at a reduced rate.

LaRaia Urges Administrative Offices Be Dropped From Ice Facility

City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia has urged Quincy school officials to drop plans to build administration offices in the proposed physical education facility on Coddington St. in order to save the rest of the complex.

The facility, which also includes a skating rink, was budgeted by the Council at $2,035,000 but fell into serious trouble when the lowest bid for construction turned out to be $3,090,000.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon said last week that the city will seek a new and less expensive design from the architect and then put the project up for new bids.

"It'll be a real task," the mayor added.

LaRaia said that the facility, including the school administration offices, cannot be built for the original estimate "without seriously detracting from the original concept of the youth complex."

The Councillor pointed out that the administration offices would have cost $500,000 in the original $2 million estimate and $700,000 in the $3 million bid, none of which is reimbursable by the state.

The physical education and skating rink parts of the complex are 65 per cent reimbursable.

Thus, said LaRaia, "the administration phase of the complex will be costly to Quincy taxpayers."

He said the school department's need for office space will be met at least partially by plans to renovate the old District Court House on Coddington Street at an estimated cost of $100,000.

Administration offices currently are housed in the Quincy High School and in a building to the rear of the school. New offices would open those locations for badly needed classroom space.

Shipbuilders Bank Pays Over $675,000 In Taxes

Shipbuilders Cooperative Bank paid more than $675,000 in real estate taxes to 29 communities in October.

President Francis X. McCauley said the figure represents an increase of more than $125,000 for the bank's 700 mortgagors.

The main reason for the increase, McCauley said, was the $13-million hike in assessments by the city of Quincy.

Shipbuilders bank pays all tax bills in full whether or not the mortgagor has paid the full amount to the bank, he said.

McCauley assailed critics who accuse banks of reaping large profits from the investment of tax escrow funds.

Those funds are real estate taxes collected monthly from mortgagors and turned over to the cities and towns on an annual basis.

Most of the 1972 escrow money, said McCauley, was invested in short term commercial bank certificates of deposit with return rates ranging from 4 to 5 3/4 per cent.

When salaries and other expenses were deducted, he said, the net rate of return on the average annual tax balance of $360,000 was only 1.26 per cent.

When payment of taxes goes on a semi-annual basis with the advent of the new July-to-June fiscal year, administrative costs will double, McCauley said.

He added that Shipbuilders is seriously considering abandoning the tax collection business after Nov. 1973, McCauley said.

350 Seniors Go Shopping By Bus

Some 350 residents of three Quincy senior citizens' housing projects went shopping together Tuesday and "everything went off beautifully."

The senior citizens were picked up by bus near their homes, taken to Stop & Shop Plaza on Southern Artery for an hour and a half of shopping, and then bused back to their starting points.

"We hope that this plan will serve as a model for other such endeavors around the city," said Putnam S. Borden, executive director of Quincy Council on Aging.

Residents of Oceanview were picked up at 9 a.m.; Sawyer Towers at 9:30 a.m.; and Pagnano Towers at 10 a.m.

Riders were charged 25 cents for the roundtrip, with half going to tip the bus drivers and the other half to help defray bus costs. Major part of the costs is picked up by Stop and Shop, the Hancock Bank and Old Colony Liquor store at the plaza.

The buses will run every Tuesday.

Central Champs Honored

The Central Junior High School football team, unofficial champions among the city's ninth graders, was feted Monday [Dec. 4] at a pizza and coke party at the school's learning center.

Informal speaker at the gathering was Tom Neville of the New England Patriots, who has been a spectator at many of the team's practice sessions and games.

Also congratulated for the successful season were the club's three coaches, Mario Casali, Joseph Ryan and Robert Louis

Raiders Again Will Be Seniors Dominated Team

North Quincy's football team, which finished with a fine 7-2 record, was mainly a senior squad as Coach Ralph Frazier's teams usually are.

Next year's team will be another dominated by seniors but this doesn't worry the Raider coach.

"Thanks to a fine program here, we have mostly seniors on the varsity each year but the juniors and sophomores get valuable experience playing junior varsity and sophomore ball and they are ready the following year."

Although most of the varsity squad will graduate, Frazier has a number of fine players coming back, including many who played regularly for Ted Sudowski's strong junior varsity squad which had a 6-2 record and walloped Quincy in the final game.

Carl Leone and Bruce Stephansky will be returning at quarterback and Leone, the junior varsity starter who also saw a good deal of varsity service, seems set to take over for Bob Morton. Stephansky was a defensive starter and also backed up Leone on offense.

Other returning backs will include John Flynn, one of the varsity's standout runners this year; Terry Egan. Steve Durkin, Gary Flanagan, Mike Dever, Ken Perrin, Mark Hurley, Rich Desmond and Phil Robinson, who alternated as the starting fullback; Paul Doherty, Harry Coolen, Bill Caudill, Bob Boussey and Steve Vickers.

Joe Carroll, a starter with his brother Billy this year, heads the ends coming back and others will be Dave Chartier, George Hill and Jeff Jenness.

Linemen due to return are Tom Donovan, Ron Frizzell, Mark Jago, Steve Paglierani, a junior varsity standout all year long, Dave Molansky, Steve Constant, Mike White, Brett

McGrath, Brian Faherty, Chris Costello, Paul Keeley, Doug Gentry and Dave Fick.

Sadowski's sophomores finished 4-3 but gave unbeaten Quincy its toughest game of the year, being nipped, 10-6, in the season's finale. Ted feels several of the sophs will make the varsity grade in 1973.

Others coming up will be Ends Bill Pitts, Tom Callahan, Walter Conley, Bill O'Toole and Joe Wilkinson; Tackles John Alleva, Bill Driscoll, Dick Moran, Paul Doherty and John Gallagher; Guards Bob McCullough, Dennis McGuire and Frank Chiacchieri and Center Dick Joyce.

In Cranberry League O'Brien Club Solid Contender For Crown

Quincy teams have won the championship of the Cranberry Basketball League the past two years [Quincy Alumni two years ago and Beau's Place last season] and the newly-organized O'Brien Club hopes to make it three titles in a row for the city.

Although the team, sponsored by Richard O'Brien, owner of Caradonna's News, lost its league opener last Sunday to the powerful Boston Stars, 94-84, it looms as a solid contender in the strong semi-pro league.

O'Brien's had won its non-league opener from Mass. Maritime Academy, 100-72, but was short-handed for the game with the Stars, rated the team to beat this year.

The Quincy quintet trailed, 78-76, with three minutes to play but a three-point play by the Stars made it 81-76, forcing the O'Brien Club to go for the ball and this resulted in several fouls.

Tom Cairns, 6-11 center, had 27 points, Ted Stephenson 20 and Ted Baker 14. Cairns and Leo Papile were outstanding on the boards.

The Quincy club is playing its home games at Weymouth North High school. Due to other commitments, the team was unable to secure the dates it wanted at Quincy or North Quincy High, although it is planned to play non-league games at one or both of these sites.

Tonight [Thursday] the team plays Brockton Stars at 8 p.m. at West Jr. High in Brockton and Sunday will host Plymouth A.A. at 8 p.m. at Weymouth North.

Beau's Place this year is playing as the Red Boot Club of Canton, and other returns are perennial powerhouses Plymouth and Easton Huskies, Weymouth Alphas and Weymouth Sports, formerly Rockland Legion. New entries this year are Brockton Stars, Boston Stars and the O'Brien Club.

The Quincy team includes: Cairns, a Greater Boston League all-star at North Quincy; Stephens [5-10], an outstanding guard at North Quincy; Baker, [6-4], former North Quincy captain who recently completed his Army service; Papil [6-4], another former North star; Sam Abraham [6-3], a an all-conference choice at Quincy Junior College.

Paul Beston [6-0], former Quincy High scoring ace and QJC star; Brian Buckley [6-0], former Abp. Williams stickout; Charley Dacey [6-2], former Weymouth High and Bridgewater State College star; Herm Donaldson [6-3], all-Boston Conference selection at Boston Tech; Gus Grazio [6-4], a key figure on North Quincy's Greater Boston League champions of 1965 and '66, and Rich Starziak [6-1], former North Quincy and U Mass. star. —TOM SULLIVAN

Break Ground For New Rink

680 Ready For Action In QYHA Loop

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a tough fight but, after overcoming many obstacles, the Quincy Youth Hockey Association finally broke ground last Saturday for its much-needed rink off Sea St.

"We have had a lot of trouble getting started but we now hope to have the rink finished by next July," Association President Bob Hayes said.

Rep. Clifford H. Marshall has filed legislation to obtain an easement over the land owned by the state. The state-owned land is the site of the proposed South Shore Community College.

Marshall said he would ask other Quincy legislators to sign the bill. Unless the easement is granted, the skating rink would have access only through the Naval Reserve Training Center's driveway.

The QYHA operates 12 months a year and at present has 34 teams playing in leagues at the three Hingham Arena rinks. All games are played at Hingham.

There are five divisions, midgets [15-16 years of age], Bantams [13-14], Pee Wees [11-12], Squirts [9-10] and Mites [7-8].

In each division there are house teams, playing intramural games among themselves, plus A and B teams which play in leagues against teams from other towns. The A teams play in the Bay Colony League and the B teams in the Alamo League.

There are four Midget house teams, six Bantam, six Pee Wee, four Squirt and four Mite.

In addition to about 580 boys playing on the teams, another 100 or more take part in the beginners' group for those of Pee Wee and Squirt age. These boys, according to Hayes, need more experience but when they are ready and there are openings, they are selected on one of the teams.

"We hope to soon have a Juvenile division for boys 17 and 18 to take care of many who do not make their high school teams," Hayes explained. "Right now, if a boy doesn't make the high school team, there is nothing for him."

Also, within a few weeks, a program will be started for five and six-year olds. Brothers of boys already in the program will be selected first and then, as openings develop, others will be chosen.

"We have a waiting list in the Bantam, Pee Wee and Squirt divisions," Hayes went on. "Right now we have about 700 boys involved and when our rink opens I expect more than 1,200 boys will be taking part in our program."

Among the features being planned at the new rink will be weekend tournaments with teams from Canada playing Quincy teams. "These should help the motels and other Quincy businesses considerable," the hard-working association president said.

The Midget house teams play Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. and Saturday at 8 a.m., the Bantams Saturday at 7 a.m., the Pee Wees Tuesday at 6 p.m., Squirts Friday at 6 p.m. and Mites Saturday at 6:30 a.m.

The Midget A team plays Monday and Wednesday and B team Friday, the Bantam A Thursday and Saturday and B Saturday, Pee Wee A Sunday and Wednesday and B Saturday, Squirt A Sunday and B Saturday, Mite A Sunday and B Saturday.

The sponsors for the house Midgets are Rich's South Shore Express, Quincy Firefighters, Tiffany Realty and C. A. Cox. For the A team Quincy Police Boys Club and for the B team Vissar Asphalt.

The Bantam house teams are sponsored by Derringer's, Blackwood Pharmacy, Bersani Brothers, Farina Kitchens, Johnson Motor Parts and The Quincy Sun. The association sponsors the A team and Noonan Press the B team.

The Pee Wee house sponsors are Crestview Nursing Home, Wollaston Theater, Shannonaire, Keohane's, Morrisette Post and UCT Council. The association sponsors the A team and the Forde Club the B team.

The sponsors for the Squirt house teams are Dee Dee's, Nardone Aluminum, Hannon Tire and North Quincy Professional Building. The association sponsors this A team and also the B team.

Sponsoring the Mite house teams are Premco, Barry's Deli and Village Food Mart with one sponsorship still open. Bay State Structural Specialists sponsor the A team and WILCO Sales and Service the B team.

"On the back of every jersey we have the name Quincy so when people drop in and see our

There is a commissioner for each division: Midgets, John Murphy; Bantams, Henry Previte; Pee Wee, Ken Forde; Squirt, Larry Richardson and Mite, Dan Gorman.

Coaching the Bantam house teams are Joe McBourne, George McLean, Jim Leberge and John Smith, Jim Kelly and Bill Monahan, Charlie Rane and Paul McDermott, Artie Boyle and Bill Flanders. A coach is Harry Messina and B coach Bob Watts.

The Pee Wee house teams are coached by Larry Higgins, Jim Deitsch and Jim Sullivan, Russ Erickson, Pat Quigg, Ken Halloran and Joe McConville. Bob Hayes and Dick Storella

Coaches for the Mite house teams haven't been picked [actually, this division doesn't start for another few weeks]. Joe Chase and Bob Craig coach the A team, Bill Rogers and Tom Heffernan the B team.

The UCT has offered a Stanley Cup-type trophy for the winner of the team in its division and similar trophies may be awarded in the other divisions as well.

Hayes explained that the Quincy Squirt A team won the Bay Colony League championship in the summer league at Hingham.

Other league officers are

Harry Messina, vice president; Bob Fitzpatrick, treasurer; Edward Mitchell, Henry Previte, Gerry McRath, Thomas Heffernan, John Murphy and John Lynch, directors.

"On behalf of our officers and directors, I want to express my appreciation to Henry Bosworth, publisher of the Quincy Sun, for his great interest," Hayes said. "In addition to giving our association excellent publicity, he is now sponsoring a team. And I want to thank all our other sponsors and the many adults, many of whom do not have any children in the program, who work hard without any compensation to make our program successful."

Quincy Grid Prospects Bright

Quincy's football team had only a 4-4-1 record this year [2-4-1 in the Greater Boston League], but the fact that Coach Hank Conroy used a number of underclassmen after the first few games, the school had another undefeated sophomore team and a powerful, once-beaten junior varsity squad, makes the 1973 prospects bright.

"We had problems this year but the way the underclassmen came through when we re-grouped after a couple of bad defeats, raises my hopes for next year," Conroy said. "On Thanksgiving I started seven juniors on defense and had a number of them playing offense. The experience they gained with the varsity this fall should make them that much stronger next year."

Robin Carrera appears ready to step into Paul Creedon's shoes at quarterback and Steve Burke is also coming back. Dave Burke had two excellent sophomore quarterbacks, Joe Tocchio and Jim Forrester.

Other varsity and junior varsity backs coming back are Kim Derbes, Dan McDermott, Pete Ramponi, Steve Oriola, Wayne Ponder, Bill Joyce, Bond Doucette and Preston Carroll, the only sophomore on the varsity squad.

There will be an opening at center with both Ron Smith and Joe Haefner graduating but there will be a number of capable linemen returning, including giants Mike Varrasso and Dave Sten, starters last year as sophomores and standouts this year; Gary Moore, Glen Prescott, Jim French, Vin Picardi, Paul Connors, Bob Oliver, Bob Pettiti, Dan Murphy and Bob O'Neil.

Paul Riggs, rated by Conroy as his best two-way player this year and one of the best in the state, will be back at end, as will Rick Folino and Bob Benn, who filled in for him against North Quincy after he tore knee ligaments, and Mike Donovan.

Burke, whose sophomores enjoyed their fifth undefeated season in the last seven years, feels several of his players will work into the varsity picture next fall.

"Tocchio is a very handy quarterback and Forrester is an excellent passer," Dave said. "Our number three man, Scott Mitchell, performed very well against B.C. High when both of the others were sidelined."

Other sophomore backs were Terry O'Day, an excellent blocker and pass receiver; Joe Cortese, called by Burke a "game breaker", Ted Wiedemann, a fine change of pace runner; Jack Kenney, very steady on defense; Dan DiBona, Pete Raymer, Rich Avery, Paul Coner, rated by his coach as the most valuable player both ways; Rich Hennessey, Rich Palumbo and Joe Megnia.

Ends were Don Venturelli, Bruce Berardinelli, Arnold Varrasso, Mick MacKenzie, a brilliant pass receiver; Rich Hebert, Jeff Little and Bill Dacey.

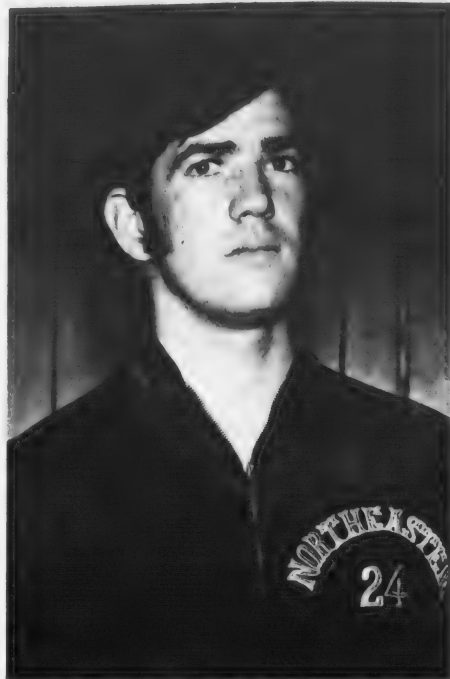

Tackles included Doug King, called "great" by Burke; Mark Barry, Terry Isleb and Bob Ross, all with excellent potential; Paul DiCristofaro, Jim Johnson, Bob Russo, John Columbus and Joe Bohan.

Guards were Mark Fanning, Bob Carella, George Condos, a versatile performer; Dave Gosselin, an excellent player; Bob Laneau, Jerry Durante and Mark Fanning.

At center were John Campbell, Ed Melia, Ed Tonello.

"This was a very cooperative group and did whatever I asked them to do," Burke said. "I doubt if we would have made it all the way without Coner, a tremendous two-way player. Palumbo is an outstanding punter and safety man."

Burke was assisted by veteran Jack Raymer and two of Quincy's former players, Rick Speranzo and Jim Rendle.

BILL RIGGS OF Quincy recently completed his career as a member of the track team at Northeastern University. Riggs was a member of the long and triple jump unit which accounted for a number of points in both outdoor and indoor track this year. Northeastern for the first time was unbeaten in both indoor and outdoor competition while capturing the Greater Boston and New England championships for the first time in both seasons as well.

Pee Wee All Stars Defeat Ontario Team 11-4, 8-1

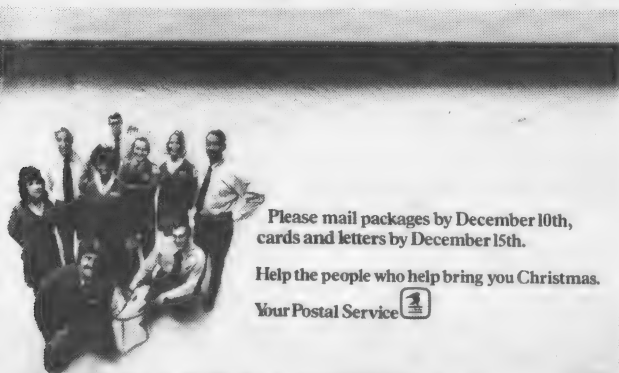

The Quincy Youth Hockey Pee Wee All Stars visited Kingston, Ont., which claims to be the birthplace of hockey, over the Thanksgiving weekend and returned with a pair of victories by scores of 11-4 and 8-1.

The boys, accompanied by Coaches Bob Hayes and Dick Storella and some parents, rode the bus all night to Kingston and then played their first game the following evening.

Members of the team were guests at the homes of the Kingston players, exchanged jacket patches with them, received shirts commemorating the 300th anniversary of Kingston and toured the International Hockey Hall of Fame.

Stars of the game awards were made to Mark Giordani, Bobby Hayes and John Kelly for the first game, and Brian Bertoni, Eddie Kane and Dave Lewis for the second.

Warning From ENC

Ron Bradley Back In Action

Opponents of the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team are hereby warned: Ron Bradley is back.

This is enough to throw fear into any coach whose team faces the Crusaders this season.

Two years ago the sensational Bradley led ENC to a 26-5 record and averaged 26 points, 13 rebounds and six assists a game.

After that brilliant season Ron had a knee operation and sat out last year. He is playing his final year of basketball this season and showed in an exhibition against Gordon College at Boston Garden (preliminary to the Celtics-Detroit game) that he is set for another outstanding year.

Bradley, an unselfish player despite his scoring records, did a lot of passing in the 79-71 ENC victory until Gordon led, 68-66, with two minutes remaining.

Here Ron took over and, according to Coach Jim Smith, "He put on quite a show." He took complete control of the game as he rebounded, drove, handled the ball and dribbled like a pro and he scored the final 11 points. He wound up with 34 points.

Ron followed up with 21 points, including two clutch foul shots in the final 30 seconds as ENC upset favored Pasadena, California, College, 73-71, in the opening round of the National Nazarene Tourney at Bethany, Okla. Bradley also had 10 assists.

The Crusaders, fifth seeded among the eight tourney entries, also upset host Bethany, Okla., before losing to Oklahoma Christian College, to place third in the tournament.

Rick Reyenger, 6-8 center and former Quincy High star, was named to the all-tourney team.

The Crusaders dropped an 85-84 heartbreaker to Western New England in their home opener at North Quincy High last weekend. ENC led, 45-40, at the half but the sharpshooting of Mary Stephens (34 points) and the board work of Ken Cain brought Western from behind for a thrilling win. Bradley scored 33 points and Dave Eads 24.

ENC will divide its home games between North Quincy and Quincy Vo-Tech gyms. Friday night the team will brace Barrington at 8:15 and the first game at Vo-Tech will be Saturday at 8:15 against Babson. The Crusaders will then rest up until after the holidays, the next game being at New Hampshire College on Jan. 5.

The 6-3, 185-pound Bradley was drafted last year by the New York Nets of the ABA despite not playing.

"He is better now than he was two years ago," Smith said. "His knee seems fully recovered and he is more mature physically and he is smarter."

"He played with the Venture for Victory team that traveled through the Orient during the summer and this helped make him a better player. It helped his all-around game but especially helped his defense."

The return of Bradley compensates for the loss of Don Eads, rated almost on a par with Bradley, who led the team in scoring last year.

Smith has instituted a "one guard" system this year because of Bradley's ability. Smith explained that he doesn't really use another guard but will use two smallish forwards, Dave Eads [6-2, 220] and North Quincy's Don Constantine [6-2, 180] to help out Bradley, a former all-scholastic at North Quincy High.

"Eads, who averaged 15 points a game and nine rebounds last year, gets his shot off quickly and is a good scorer and rebounder," Smith pointed out. [He scored 28 points in the Gordon exhibition.]

"Constantine [an all-scholastic at North the year after Bradley] is a fine ball handler and is deceptively quick under the basket. We'll be counting on him to help Bradley get the ball up the floor."

The Crusaders have two outstanding big men, Rick Reyenger and 6-6, 190-pound Howie Briggs underneath.

Reyenger averaged 10 points and led the team in rebounding with an average of 15 a game a year ago.

The Crusaders' sixth man is North Quincy's Steve Shoff, the high scorer and holder of several records for the school's soccer team. "Steve is only 5-8 but is the key man on the team," Smith explained. He is a great playmaker and ball handler and is one of our most vital cogs. Joining the club in January will be Reggie Henley of Hingham, a 6-2 guard, who transferred from Bethel, Minn., College and is ineligible until that time.

A year ago ENC finally made the District 32 NAIA Tourney and made an excellent showing after being by-passed two years ago despite its great record. Smith and his team are shooting for another NAIA berth this winter.

3 ENC Players On All-Stars

Three members of the Eastern Nazarene College soccer team have been named to the Colonial Conference all-star team.

They are Steve Shoff of North Quincy, all-time leading scorer for the Crusaders and a unanimous all-star choice; Abel Espada and Ron Mazza.

1973 School Expense Budget Lower Than 1972

The 1973 budget, exclusive of salaries, presented to the School Committee by Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon is $3,568 lower than the 1972 expense budget.

The 1972 budget was $3,571,799 while the amount being requested for 1973 is $3,568,236.

Due to collective bargaining and contract negotiations for salaries the School Committee is receiving the 1973 budget in several volumes this year. Volume I, presented Wednesday night included all expense items.

Volume II will be presented at a later date when contract talks have been completed with separate employee groups of the school system including custodians, secretaries, maintenance men and cafeteria workers. The contract with the teachers was settled in October.

Volume III, also to be presented at a later date, will include recommendations for new programs such as the elementary school lunch program which must be put into operation by September, 1973 in accordance with State law.

Dr. Creedon told the School Committee that the 1973 Expense Budget was at a lower figure than last year due to economies made as the result of program budgeting techniques, and a decrease in student enrollment over last year. He also told the Committee that in order to present the tightest budget possible he had not included an inflationary factor of 3 - 4 percent which if included would have increased the Expense Budget from between $100,000 to $140,000.

The Expense Budget consists of several separate budgets including: $317,000 for teaching supplies - down $6,400 over 1972; $261,900 for Textbook and Learning Materials, down $825 over 1972; $224,750 for Library and Media Services, up $14,050 over 1972.

The largest single increase in the 1973 Expense Budget comes in the area of fuel and electricity. The oil bill for the school system increased $50,000 over 1972 while the electric light bill increased by $59,000. The increase was attributed to increased rates and state mandated anti-pollution measures.

The largest single decrease in the 1973 budget came in the area of Plant Operation and Maintenance. This went down $169,525 due largely to a decrease of $75,000 in building renovations and the elimination of the cost of renovating the Nathaniel Hunting School after the two-alarm fire in the school last June.

The Athletic budget was also submitted to the School Committee showing an increase in expenses of $8,500 from $129,173 to $137,733.

The School Committee in the next several weeks will be holding budget sessions and each session is open to the public.

OVERWEIGHT AND OVER FORTY

Overweight and over forty is an American dilemma. The fact is that people tend to add weight as they grow older because their physical activity declines. We plop into a car rather than walk - even if shopping is only a couple of blocks away. We take an elevator rather than walk up over two flights. We watch sports rather than participate.

You don't need to be a doctor to know that the best way to trim fat is to eat fewer calories and burn up those you consume. A good way is through exercise - which, despite notions to the contrary, will not increase your appetite. Exercise need not be strenuous to help you lose weight.

How many calories will various activities burn up? One half hour of walking or bicycling equals 210 calories; one half hour of tennis equals 420 calories; and one half hour of running equals 900 calories. Take your choice.

Legislators Breakfast At S.S. Mental Health Center

A Continental Breakfast will be held for South Shore legislators Dec. 13 at 8:30 a.m. at the South Shore Mental Health Center, Quincy, announces Mrs. Kathleen Arnold, chairman of the associations Public Affairs Committee.

Also invited are Congressman

James A. Burke, 11th District, and Congressman-Elect Gerry Studds, 12th District.

Mrs. Arnold said the purpose of the breakfast is to have members of the Public Affairs and the Executive Committees of the Association meet with area legislators to share information and to thank them for past support, particularly for their help in the passage of two key bills during the 1972 session: the Special Education For Children bill which represents outstanding advances for emotionally, retarded and handicapped children and the creation of the Office For Children Services.

The football players received the headlines on Thanksgiving Day but plaudits are due the Tom Hall's Quincy runners, who had previously defeated the Raiders, defeated Bob Gentry's

Quincy and North Quincy cross country runners who braved the sub-freezing weather to stage a meet between the halves of the North team again, 19-36.

Quincy had the first three finishers, Mark MacLeod, Steve Player and Marty Swirko in that order. Dick Malloy in fourth place was North's first finisher, followed by Steve Nolan of Quincy, John Murphy of North, Mark Canavan of North, Fred Norkus of Quincy, Ken O'Brien and Paul Marin of North.

Renegades Seeking New Members

If you were once a drummer or a bugler and you'd like to do it again, the Renegades Senior Drum and Bugle Corps is looking for you.

The Renegades are inviting all former participants in drum & bugle, band and color guards to polish up their instruments and join them.

Practices are held on Thursdays at 8 p.m. in the Commonwealth Armory and Sundays at 10 a.m. at Quincy Vocational High School.

The group is sponsored by the Quincy Auxiliary Police.

At Schaefer Stadium it's a whole new ball game.

When you plug in a place like Schaefer Stadium, it's a whole lot different than flipping on the family television set. It takes a powerful lot of energy.

The new home of the New England Patriots professional football team in Foxboro, Massachusetts used 1.8 million kilowatt hours during its first year.

That's enough to run all the lights, refrigerators, ranges, washers, dryers and other appliances in 360 homes for a whole year!

New construction like this will mean new additions for us, too, if we are to provide the kind of facilities it will take to meet these growing demands and satisfy our mutual environmental concerns. Like we say, it's a whole new ball game... and it will take teamwork to win it.

People like you working to make life a little better.

Mrs. Eleanor Grange Receives S.S. National Bank Award

Robert L. Blair, Chairman of the Board and President of South Shore National Bank, announces the awarding of the 1972 William W. Grieves Award to Eleanor R. Grange of Quincy.

The Award, recognizing outstanding service to the bank, was originally established by the bank in 1966 in memory of retired Assistant Vice President William W. Grieves and is given annually to a non-officer employee who has demonstrated unselfish dedication and cooperation to the Bank.

Blair praised Mrs. Grange thusly:

"She has continually exemplified those characteristics necessary to be a recipient of the William W. Grieves Award: unselfish service to the bank through extra effort and an evident belief that a day's work is never done."

Mrs. Grange has been employed by the South Shore

National Bank since July of 1953, when she joined the Bank's Bookkeeping Department as a Unit Bookkeeper. In 1956 she was promoted to Assistant Supervisor and since then she has been promoted to Supervisor and to Head Supervisor, which is the position she currently holds.

Mrs. Grange will also receive an additional week's pay, a one-week all expense paid trip for two, and an inscribed Revere Bowl.

Servicemen Find

Independent TV servicemen find Zenith the brand of color television requiring the fewest repairs, according to a nationwide survey by a well-known research organization, Walter C. Fisher, president of Zenith Sales Company, a division of Zenith Radio Corporation, announces.

Servicemen were asked, "In general, of the brands you are familiar with, which one would you say requires the fewest repairs?"

More than twice as many servicemen [30 per cent] named Zenith as the second-place brand [11 per cent]. The TV servicemen polled also named Zenith color TV more often than any other brand as the easiest to repair. One-third [34 per cent] chose Zenith in this category, as against 25 per cent for the second-place brand and much smaller percentages for remaining brands.

To a third question, "If you were buying a new color TV set for yourself today, which brand would you buy?", Zenith was again on top with 35 per cent, versus 21 per cent for the second-place brand.

One of the best-known research firms in America conducted this study of independent TV servicemen's attitudes toward brands of color television.

Telephone interviews were conducted with servicemen in April 1972, in 175 cities from coast to coast.

To eliminate the factor of loyalty to a single brand, the study included only shops which serviced more than one brand of TV.

Survey details are available on request to Advertising Department, Zenith Radio Corporation, 1900 North Austin Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60639.

On The Screen

By Vincent Puleo

Mickey Rooney Now Leading Big Band

The legendary ADOLPH ZUKOR is fast approaching the century mark. Come Jan. 7 the pioneer filmmaker will celebrate his 100th birthday... It was bound to happen. TARZAN is being retailored to fit the Black image with a darker version of the tree swinging hero showing up in "ZUMAN"... A MARY PICKFORD film salute will be shown at the Authors' Film Festival [Spain] Nov. 18-26... "BANACEK" star GEORGE PEPPARD has been signed to star in "THE ISSUE OF THE BISHOP'S BLOOD". The picture is part of a feature commitment PEPPARD has with Universal Studios...

The way stateside film festivals are materializing, every city with a major population will soon be having their own. The latest city to adopt the film fest prestige route is the Jacksonville Film Festival [Rochester, N.Y.]... FAYE DUNAWAY'S performance in "THE DEADLY TRAP" is her finest acting stint since "BONNIE AND CLYDE"... GEORGE SEATON has been named the "writer-director of the year" by the National Assn. of Theatre Owners... According to a recent HARRIS poll, JUDITH CRIST is "the most influential film critic in America today"...

MICKEY ROONEY is in the band business. Based in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., ROONEY'S new 17-piece "LAWRENCE WELK" orchestra is playing night clubs in Florida and neighboring states to the tune of $2,500 per night... GEORGE SCOTT'S "RAGE" is scheduled for national release this month... And speaking of SCOTT, wouldn't you say "THE NEW CENTURIONS" rates him another nod for best actor of the year?...

After seeing "LIMBO" I came away from the screening with a deep ache wondering why it took them so long to make a motion picture dealing honestly and emotionally with the tragedy of the wives of prisoners of war... Starring KATE JACKSON, KATHLEEN NOLAN [of TV's "REAL McCOYS"] and STUART MARGOLIN, "LIMBO" pulls no punches, and lays it out on the line, coldly, and at times brutally, of the personal havoc which the wives of POWS endure... Their loneliness and frustration is smorgasbord throughout the picture with a tight script by JOAN SILVER and JAMES BRIDGES... See this one... You won't be the least disappointed...

It's been 25 years since former Postmaster General JAMES A. FARLEY appeared as the first guest on NBC's "MEET THE PRESS"... Since then "MEET THE PRESS" has aired 1,215 times and has had more than 1,500 personalities on its show ranging from DAVID FROST to HUBERT HUMPHREY... And during this span, moderator LAWRENCE SPIVAK has proven a catalyst of dignity, brevity and intelligence which has made this a unique showcase in the annals of American broadcasting... A superior product to ABC's "ISSUES AND ANSWERS"...

Good news, bad news: The "BOBBY DARIN AMUSEMENT CO.", a hit as a summer fill-in, will air fulltime the first of the year... On the other side of the ledger, "BONANZA" is being laid to rest after a 14 year stand on NBC. The network is dropping this once number one rated show because of its dismal 25 to 50 place rating in this years Nielsen's... Don't know about you, but the dropping of "BONANZA" comes as a jolt...

If "ASYLUM" conjures up a chill of "PSYCHO" it should. Both films were created as the brainchild of ROBERT BLOCH... The lovely child star in "YOU'LL LIKE MY MOTHER" is one LAURA ADAMS... For the curious, it took the producers of "LADY SINGS THE BLUES" five months culling over 200-odd BILLIE HOLIDAY tunes to arrive at the final 17 musical numbers which appear in the motion picture... The 18 investors of "SUPERFLY" included the potpourri social-pot of dentists, financiers, bankers, businessmen, pimps, madams, and drug dealers...

"SOUNDER" New England premiere's in Boston on Dec. 22. To be housed at the spacious Sack Savoy Theatre, the picture is a poignant drama of a black sharecropper family, their times and tribulations, living in the Deep South during the heart of the Depression Era... "SOUNDER" won critical acclaim at the recent Atlanta Film Festival, and stars potential Academy Award nominee CICELY TYSON...

And the New England premiere of a long awaited engagement will begin December 14. "MAN OF LA MANCHA" acclaimed the "best musical of the year" when it was on Broadway, stars PETER O'TOOLE, SOPHIA LOREN and JAMES COCO... If it packs as much film clout as it's theatre original, the ARTHUR HILLER production could prove to be one of the box office hits of '73... ANITA KERR strikes still another cord for Women's Lib. "LIMBO" has the first original music to be created and conducted by a woman in a major motion picture...

Legion Oratorical Contest

American Legion Posts of Norfolk County are seeking high school students with oratorical skills to participate in their 36th annual National Oratorical Contest.

County Oratorical Chairman Daniel M. Shea, of Quincy, announces that all public and private high schools in the county will soon receive complete details explaining the program. He urged all school administrators to encourage student participation in the program. Shea also pointed out that two Massachusetts youths in recent years had gone to the National Finals.

In 1973, the $44,000 National Scholarship Award Fund will be distributed as follows: $8,000 first place winner; $5,000 second place winner; $3,000 third place winner and $2,000 fourth place winner. In addition to the four top awards, each Department [State] winner who also participates in the Oratorical Contest at Regional Level will also be awarded a $500 Scholarship.

The subject used in The American Legion Oratorical Contest must concern itself with some phase of the Constitution of the United States. It must be the original effort of the contestant and must not take up less than eight - nor more than 10 minutes for delivery. Contestants must be bonafide students in secondary, public, private, military or parochial schools - enrolled in classes equivalent to the regular 9th, 10th, 11th, or 12th grades on Jan. 1 of the year when such National Contest is being conducted.

Chairman Shea pointed out that in addition to being an excellent opportunity to attain a greater understanding of the Constitution, the student develops poise, and the ability to think clearly on their feet. While each Legion Post is limited to sponsoring only one student from a school, it may sponsor students from any number of schools in the area, and every effort will be made to find sponsoring Posts for all interested students. Further information on this program may be obtained from Mr. Shea, 114 Bunker Hill Lane, Quincy, MA 02169, or from the Oratorical Chairman of local Legion Post. Closing date for school entries is tentatively set for Jan. 22, 1973.

McLelland Seeks Hearing Delay S. Quincy MBTA Meeting Monday

A public meeting on the proposed South Quincy MBTA station is still on for next Monday [Dec. 18], despite a bid for postponement by Ward 3 Councillor Theophilus McLelland.

McLelland termed the meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Sterling Junior High School, a public hearing and asked for the delay so that the people of Quincy can bone up on the subject.

A spokesman for the MBTA said it's not a public hearing but simply "a public informational meeting on the proposed South Quincy MBTA station, parking garage and related highway construction."

MDC Wollaston Golf Course, Squaw Rock Opposed By Smyth

City Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has opened a campaign to keep Squaw Rock and the Wollaston Golf Course out of the hands of the MDC.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy] has filed legislation that would enable the MDC to take over both pieces of property.

Smyth prefers current plans that call for Quincy to buy Squaw Rock from the City of Boston and Norfolk County to purchase the golf course from its private owners.

Smyth, in a letter to Brett, noted that Boston has offered to sell the piece of property in Squantum to Quincy for $130,000.

Quincy has six months to negotiate the sale after which the option to buy passes to the MDC.

"I feel," said Smyth, "that this valuable piece of land should be under the control of the City of Quincy for proper policing and for the development of open spaces and recreational use."

"It is my opinion that the MDC does not satisfactorily maintain the properties that they now have under their viewing by the residents so that, when the hearing is held, appropriate questions may be asked by the then informed citizens of Quincy.

"It is my suggestion that this hearing be set for mid-January."

The public hearing is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Sterling Junior High School.

Secretary Altschuler acknowledged last week that there is local opposition to the station. But, he added, it is a "priority project" and it will be built.

"We will work very closely with the community in developing plans for the station," he promised.

jurisdiction."

As to the Wollaston Golf Course, part of which is in Quincy and part in Milton, Smyth noted that the property is currently being appraised by the Norfolk County Commissioners.

"It is my personal opinion," he wrote to Commission Chairman James J. Collins, "that the Norfolk County commissioners are capable of negotiating the sale of this property and the proper development and maintenance of this area for a golf course and multi-recreational facility."

Despite Wage Control

Mayor, Council Pay Raises Ruled Legal

The Mayor gets a 150 per cent raise next month, from $10,000 to $25,000.

The City Council gets a 100 per cent raise, from $1,500 to $3,000.

How can this be when federal wage controls limit raises to 5.5 per cent?

Simple, says City Solicitor Richard J. McCormick.

"There are provisions in the wage control regulations under which application can be made to the Internal Revenue Service for a waiver of the 5.5 per cent ceiling under exceptional circumstances."

And what are the exceptional circumstances in this case?

"Well," says McCormick, "if you compare the salaries in Quincy to those in other cities of similar size and budget you'll find that we are well below the rest of them."

"It's like the rich man who does a job for nothing for many years; then he leaves and you have to replace him. If there are no more millionaires around then you've got to pay someone to do the job."

In the case of the Mayor, the job was considered part-time until this year when Mayor Hannon gave up his seat in the state legislature to devote his full time to being mayor.

Two preceding mayors retained their posts in the State House, James R. McIntyre as state senator and Amelio Della Chiesa as state representative.

The City Council used to get $3,000 a year but the salary was cut in half in 1957 when Plan A [strong mayor] replaced Plan E [strong council] as the city's form of government.

The new salary scale, voted by the Council a week ago, will go into effect in January.

Hannon Trims $28,184 Eyes Bigger Budget Cuts

Mayor Walter J. Hannon applied the scissors to city budget proposals for the first time last week and $28,184 was lopped off the requests of four small departments.

The building, wire and plumbing inspectors and the sealer of weights and measures asked for $235,225. The mayor let $207,041 go by.

Next in line for pruning: The Law and Personnel Departments, Civil Defense, the Fire Alarm Division, Civil Service and the Conservation Commission.

William Grindlay, a spokesman for the mayor's office, said the budget trimmers are trying to get the small requests out of the way early so they can take up the larger ones after the first of the year.

Despite a push by the mayor's office to get requests in early, some have yet to be filed.

"The new 18-month feature of the budget has complicated matters," said Grindlay. "If it were a normal annual budget we would be much farther along. Department heads are confused."

The mayor's office has 45 days after Jan. 1 to hold hearings on departmental requests. The largest of them are the School Department and the City Hospital which make up more than half the city budget.

127 Permits For $110,450 Wiring During November

The Department of Wire Inspection issued 127 permits for an estimated $110,450 in new wiring during November.

Inspector William H. Pitts and his staff conducted 189 inspections, issued 80 certificates of approval, noted 1" defects and collected $567.40 in fees.

Major projects include a physical education building for Eastern Nazarene College and a garage for President Chevrolet.

Brett Urges Increased Insurance For Retired City Employees

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has recommended increased life insurance benefits for retired city workers.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, Brett pointed out that the General Laws provide for such increases in Chapter 763 of the Acts of 1972.

"In behalf of the many deserving former city employees in Quincy, I respectfully request you to recommend acceptance of Chapter 763 of 1972 by the City Council," he said.

Brett Files Bill For Repeal Of Racial Imbalance Law

Rep. Joseph F. Brett has filed legislation to repeal the Racial Imbalance Law and to establish an MDC police station in Quincy.

Bills Brett has filed for the coming legislative session include:

- Authorizing the MDC and the Department of Natural Resources to acquire wetlands in the Neponset Valley region.

- Establishing a board of registration for automobile mechanics.

- Establishing tuition fees for out-of-state students attending Massachusetts state colleges.

All bills to be filed for the 1973 session must be in by 5 p.m. Dec. 6. Persons who would like to file legislation or make suggestions are urged to contact their legislators.

Raytheon Receives $229,793 Defense Contracts

Raytheon Co. has been awarded contracts totalling $229,793 by the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio. A $63,027 pact calls for 25,831 electron tubes on a fixed price supply contract and other agreements call for a total of 24,780 tubes of various types.

The center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services and other government agencies.

Federal Funds Possible For Seawalls

Federal funds may be available to assist in the construction of seawalls to protect the Quincy shoreline from erosion and floods.

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has released a letter from the Army Corps of Engineers indicating that the federal government can pay up to 70 per cent of the cost of construction along publicly owned or public-use beaches.

Brownell, through the offices of Congressman James A. Burke, is seeking to set up a meeting with the Army Engineers and Quincy city officials to discuss the possibility of such projects.

The Engineers told Brownell that the Chief of Engineers can authorize construction if the cost is less than a million dollars and a study shows the engineering feasibility and economic justification of the project.

If the cost is figured to exceed a million dollars, Congressional authority is needed.

The Corps of Engineers last studied the Quincy shore for erosion control in 1949 and the ensuing project, including sandfill, sea walls, bulkheads, culverts and drains, was completed in 1959.

Smyth Asks Reconsideration Of Library Closing

The proposed closing of the Atlantic branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library has come under the fire of City Councillor J. Vincent Smyth.

The branch is due to be replaced by a bookmobile as part of an attempt to save the city some money.

Smyth is asking Warren E. Watson, director of libraries, to take another look at the situation. Wrote Smyth:

"While I am cognizant of the fact that we are attempting to hold down the cost of city government during the next 18 months, I would appreciate your review of this recent action.

"At best, a bookmobile does not truly service either the reading needs or research needs of those using the library."

Smyth said he has gotten many telephone calls and letters from library users asking his help in having the situation re-evaluated.

HN Post Christmas Party For Youngsters On Sunday

Expedites Misdemeanor Appeals

Burke 'Extremely Pleased' Over Quincy 6-Member Jury Trials

Six-member juries sat on misdemeanor appeals in Quincy District Court for the first time in the just-completed three-week session and Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke says he is "extremely pleased" with the result.

"In fact," says Burke, "I appeal to all lawyers in the South Shore area to use the six-man jury as a matter of convenience. Instead of taking defendants, police and witnesses all the way to Dedham for trial they can now go right to the Quincy court."

Before the coming of the six-man jury, appeals from convictions in misdemeanor cases had to go directly to the Superior Court for hearing by a 12-man jury.

Now the defendant has a choice of going before the 12-man jury in Superior Court or the 6-man jury in the District Court.

As a result of the success of the six-man jury in Quincy and elsewhere in Massachusetts, Chief Justice of the District Courts Franklin Flachsenr has asked for legislation so that all misdemeanors can be handled by them.

The new courthouse at Chestnut St. and McGrath Highway has two courtrooms designed for six-man juries. The old one on Coddington Street had none.

Judge Andrew Geishecker, who normally presides in Dedham District Court, sat on the cases in Quincy since appeals require the presence of an outside judge.

Burke praised Judge Robert S. Prince, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, and Clerk Dennis F. Ryan for their cooperation in making the six-man jury experiment in Quincy a success.

He said more six-man jury trials are planned for the session of Quincy District Court in April and May, 1973.

S S Hospital Appoints Two Quincy Physicians

Two Quincy physicians are among six doctors appointed to the courtesy and consultant staffs of South Shore Hospital.

Dr. Frederick S. Ayers, a native of Quincy, is completing residency in orthopedic surgery at Boston City Hospital.

He is a graduate of Holy Cross College and Tufts Medical School and resides in Norwell with his wife and two children.

Dr. Michael R. Sherwood is acting director of the Professional Counselling Clinic in Quincy.

Appointees include Dr. James J. Campbell, Dr. James W. Cox, Dr. Glenn A. DoBecki and Dr. Ernest Fortin.

DEAR SANTA, I WANT . . . Sean Galligan, 5, of 645 Sea St., doesn't know whether to drop his letter into Santa's Mail Box on Hancock Street or give it to the old fellow himself. ## Brownell Asks Traffic Survey Of Merrymount Speeding Epidemic

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has requested a traffic survey "to help combat a current epidemic of speeding cars" in sections of Merrymount.

In a letter to Police Capt. Roy Cavicchi, Brownell said members of the Merrymount Association complained to him about cars speeding and reckless driving on several Merrymount streets.

"The residents of Merrymount do not mind automobile traffic," he said. "But when that traffic disregards the law, public safety, private property and the lives of many small children in the area, they believe something should be done."

Inmates Thank Quincy Residents For Gifts

Nine Quincy residents have been cited by Sheriff Charles W. Hedges and the inmates of Dedham House of Correction for contributions to the inmates.

In their publication "The Insider", inmates expressed gratitude to Mrs. Edna Nicoll, Guy Faiella, Mrs. Edna Canter, Mrs. Dorothy McAdam.

Also Mrs. Dorothy Bartlett, Mrs. Grace Settemelli, Mrs. Russell Johnson, A. C. Habeeb and Mrs. Evelyn Faunce.

Brett Labels MBTA Station Worthless

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has labeled plans for a third Quincy MBTA station as "a worthless proposal".

Brett urged Mayor Walter J. Hannon to register objection to a South Quincy station which, he felt, would benefit other communities more than Quincy.

"Let us not forget that a large portion of Quincy's share of the annual MBTA deficit is based on the number of riders who enter the system in Quincy," he said.

"A station at the so-called dump area in Braintree center will be just as convenient for 'T' riders coming from the south, east and west," he said.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett, dean of the Quincy delegation in the legislature, has taken the initiative in organizing a meeting among Quincy colleagues, Clifford Marshall, Thomas Brownell and William Delahunt, and Rep. George Keverian, chairman of the House re-districting committee.

Purpose of the session is to settle any problems or questions concerning the upcoming re-districting.

***

MEANWHILE: latest word from State House observers is that Quincy will keep its four representative seats. One plan being discussed, however, would have two Braintree precincts combined with one of the Quincy districts.

***

FORMER MAYOR James McIntyre and family will be spending Christmas in their new home. McIntyre has sold his long time Kemper St., Wollaston home from where he launched his political career and bought a Sturtevant Rd. house in Quincy Center.

***

INCIDENTALLY, McIntyre and Thomas Burgin are Quincy's only two former mayors still living in the city. Amelio Della Chiesa Quincy's only other former living mayor is now a Pembroke resident.

***

STATE HOUSE observers expect Senator Arthur Tobin to move up in leadership standing in the next session. The record number of new senators has created somewhat of a leadership vacuum in the Senate and President Kevin Harrington will be certain to depend on experienced senators to help keep things moving while the newer members are getting used to the upper chamber.

NICK MALVESTI, former Quincy fire lieutenant who retired recently and moved to Florida, returned home last week to receive an award at the Morrisette Post in West Quincy.

The award was given by the Massachusetts American Legion Baseball organization to Malvesti for his many years involved in the Morrisette baseball program.

***

SPEAKING of Malvesti, did you know that his brother, John, a Quincy police sergeant, keeps in trim jogging five miles every morning.

QUINCY Legion officials hope to bring the New England regional playoffs of American Legion Baseball to Quincy in 1974. If they are successful, it would be the first time in the history of Legion baseball that the playoffs were held in Eastern Massachusetts.

Until recently there was no facility in Eastern Massachusetts to handle the playoffs, but with the newly lighted Adams Field, Quincy has a good chance of playing host in 1974.

WILLIAM O'BRIEN of Montclair, recently elected president of the Quincy Citizens Association, is the son of Norton O'Brien, former state representative from Dorchester's Ward 15.

HERE'S ONE: The United First Parish Church's NEWSLETTER this week commented on its new wayside pulpit [glassed-in outdoor bulletin board] set up on the church lawn, directly across from city hall. And one person is reported to have suggested that it might be an excellent way to communicate with Mayor Hannon since it faces his office window.

It took ex-mayor Thomas Burgin, however, to catch the humor of a recent sermon announcement: "Whom Shall We Kill?", Rev. John Rushton Graham, minister.

[Burgin took a picture of the wording and sent a copy to Readers Digest. He promises to split the money with the minister if he wins a prize.]

SMILE DEPT. [via Prague]: The Czechoslovakia government released an edict at Christmas time last year that people have been trying to make sense out of ever since:

"Because Christmas Eve falls on a Thursday, the day has been designated a Saturday for work purposes. Factories will close all day, with stores open a half day only. Friday December 25 has been designated a Sunday, with both factories and stores open all day. Monday, December 28, will be a Wednesday, December 30, will be a business Friday. Saturday, January 2, will be a Sunday, and January 3, will be a Monday." [Sounds like Massachusetts, don't you think?]

- My Lai Massacre Haunting
- Cooling The Mid East
- That's Not Really Henry.

WASHINGTON — Nearly five years after the tragic My Lai massacre, our military judicial system is still agonizing over the fate of Lt. William Calley. He is the only man the military has convicted for the slaughter of villagers at My Lai in March of 1968.

Lieutenant Calley's sentence to life imprisonment has already been reduced to 20 years and his defense attorneys are now arguing in court that the conviction should be overturned entirely. They are saying that the Vietnamese villagers slain were "fair game," that Calley did not know they were noncombatants.

Lost in all the legal maneuvering is the possibility that Calley may have been mentally disturbed on the day of the killings. Calley has steadfastly refused to consider an insanity plea and government psychiatrists who examined him have called him normal.

Yet two psychologists, working independently, have tested Calley. Their findings—which are remarkably similar—raise serious questions about the state of Calley's mind on the day of the killings.

We have obtained the confidential results of Calley's psychological tests. These suppressed documents apparently will never be presented as evidence to a military jury.

Dr. Eugene Stammeyer of Washington, D.C., found, after testing Calley, that the lieutenant had "a potential for anxiety attacks of near panic proportions when under limited stress."

Dr. Stammeyer wrote that it would be difficult to describe Calley's exact condition on the day of the massacre, but added: "it is improbable that Lt. Calley was able to maintain...objective, rational control, being surrounded with horror, cruelty and violent death."

Professor Arthur Weider of New York also tested Calley and concluded: "The possibility of a psychotic or pre-psychotic condition must be considered....This patient's test results are suggestive of a serious psychotic condition."

Confronted with these findings, Calley's chief counsel, dignified old George Latimer, considered an insanity defense. Would Calley want to risk being branded a murderer or a madman? The lieutenant and Latimer decided irrevocably against claiming insanity.

KISSINGER'S PLAN

Henry Kissinger, the White House foreign policy expert, has secretly started work on a plan for settling the Middle East crisis. The key to his plan is to work out a deal with the Kremlin to reduce tensions and encourage both sides to negotiate. President Nixon will take up the plan with Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev next year—at a White House summit meeting.

It will take Soviet intervention, in Kissinger's view, to keep the Syrians from setting off the powder keg. Secret reports from Damascus have warned for many months that Syria's president, Hafez al-Assad, has been militant in his private conversations. One CIA account says that Assad told his subordinates that the Syrians will fight no matter whether Egypt or Israel starts it.

The Syrian army chief, Gen. Mustafa Talas, is also quoted in the secret reports as telling his military colleagues tersely, "There is no other choice. We must fight and we will fight."

General Talas acknowledged, "All the Arabs combined are weaker than Israel." But he vowed the Syrians would fight anyway, "if not to gain a victory, at least to keep the war case hot between Syria and Israel."

General Talas contended that, if the Arabs had continued to fight Israel after their defeats in 1948, 1956 and 1967, rather than turn their backs, many world leaders might have changed their policies toward the Arab-Israeli dispute.

The Soviets, meanwhile, have extended their influence with Syria by increasing military shipments. Kissinger is counting on them to check-rein the Syrians. But full scale fighting is still very much a possibility in the Middle East.

—AROUND THE U.S.—

NUDE KISSINGER—Washington is all aflutter over "Harvard Lampoon's" full-length, fold-out picture of what looks like Henry Kissinger—in the nude. The picture is not of Kissinger, of course, but the resemblance is so close it has turned an otherwise ho-hum parody into a spectacular best seller.

Harvard's undergraduate editors expect to rake in hundreds of thousands of dollars on the issue. The trouble is: The Harvard Lampoon is non-profit. The students can't pocket the money they make. It's Harvard University that's cashing in on "Kissinger's" naked body.

EYES RIGHT—The Marine's top brass have spread the word that they want more pictures of women in the ranks. A recent directive makes it mandatory for women NCOs to submit pictures with each promotion from lance corporal to master sergeant. The pictures will be used to help determine which young lady gets a top secretarial job. The Marines explain hastily that their top brass are not looking for knockouts as secretaries. The brass, we're told, just want to give the more hefty women NCOs an incentive to trim their waists.

ILLEGAL DRAFT?—Disturbing reports from Bethel, Alaska, indicate that the National Guard may be illegally drafting Eskimos into its ranks. Local recruiters, we've learned, have compiled a list of young Eskimos "eligible" for the Guard. The recruiters, we're told, have flown several Eskimos to Bethel, examined them and signed them into the Guard without first informing the recruits that the Guard can only accept volunteers. Affidavits have been filed with Alaska Legal Services protesting the practice.

Economic Stabilization

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. If I increase my employees' wages this year by less than 5.5 percent, can I carry over the difference and add it to next year's pay increase?

A. No. The difference between a current wage increase and 5.5 percent can not be added on to next year's increase, because the general wage and salary standard of 5.5 percent is the maximum permissible annual aggregate increase for any given control year.

Q. I'm thinking of subleasing my apartment. Can I charge whatever I want as rent without regard to Economic Stabilization regulations?

A. No. If you sublease your apartment, you may only charge the rent allowed under Economic Stabilization regulations.

Q. My firm will probably have a profit margin for the fiscal year that exceeds its base period profit margin. Can I increase the firm's expenditures for advertising and marketing, executive travel and entertainment, charitable contributions and other discretionary costs to insure no violation of the profit margin limitations?

A. No. Only costs of sales and normal and generally recurring costs of business operations are includable as part of the profit margin calculation. To the extent that these increased discretionary costs have a definite and measurable future value, they must be capitalized and not expensed for Price Commission purposes and their cost spread over the period benefited.

Q. Are sales of used cars subject to price controls?

A. No. Sales of used products are exempt from controls.

Q. My employer increased my work clothing allowance. Is this increase included in wages and salaries subject to the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard?

A. Yes. Uniform and other work clothing allowances are included under the Pay Board's definition of wages and salaries, unless the work clothing or uniform is employer required. For more examples of indirect pay subject to the 5.5 percent standard, see IRS Publication S-3039, "Wage and Salary Controls." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. Are health clubs and massage parlors considered health providers under the Economic Stabilization program?

A. No. Health clubs and massage parlors are considered service organizations and not health providers under Economic Stabilization regulations, because they serve a limited health function.

In Maryland, He Likes To Keep Up With News Of Quincy Friends

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Just a short note to tell you how much I enjoy the Quincy Sun. Even though it's been twelve years since I lived in Quincy, reading the Sun makes me feel as if I never left my wonderful home town.

It is particularly enjoyable to read about my contemporaries in Quincy government. Walter Hannon, Francis McCauley and I were alter boys together at Blessed Sacrament Church. Police Chief Francis Finn lived around the corner from me on Darrow St. Three Houghs Neck boys who made good! Joseph LaRaia and I were classmates at Boston College. I could go on and on.

You have a fine newspaper, it's so delightful to read. Keep up the good work.

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

Exchanges, returns and cancellations of unsatisfactory products have been the bane of many Christmas shoppers' existence through the years.

In order to protect both shoppers and sellers, a regulation became effective last year requiring full disclosure of a store's return policies to the buyer before a product is purchased.

Under this regulation it is considered an unfair and deceptive business practice for a store to fail to disclose these policies. In addition, it is unfair for the store to misrepresent the nature and terms of the store's refund, return or cancellation policy.

If the seller fails to keep any promises made to a buyer in connection with refund, return or cancellation privileges, it is also considered a violation of the Consumer Protection Act.

While sellers have the responsibility to make their return policies clear, buyers are obligated each time they make purchases to be certain they are aware of the store's particular policy.

Before paying for or charging a purchase, customers should look for a notice of return policy—this may be a sign posted near the cash register or a warning printed on a sales slip.

Many post-holiday frustrations and disappointments can be avoided if both sellers and shoppers take care to clarify the terms for exchanges and returns before the purchases have been made.

'People Are For Loving'

I have often been asked... "Why don't you publish a book of your newspaper columns?" NOW I HAVE... People Are For Loving is off the press this week and is available in bookstores...or by writing me directly. I have selected some of my best columns...took pictures of some of my most loving friends and put it all together...48 beautiful pages... People Are For Loving. The content of the book has come largely from my counselees who have shared their deep feelings with me...and from my readers who have written me many letters giving their ideas of what it means to love people. I think you'll like People Are For Loving. You may want to give it for a Christmas gift.

I'm well aware that many people do not feel loved. No one can be a full person who isn't. And often the feeling of not being loved, is so devastating to one that he/she is rendered helpless to do anything about finding a way to be loved. This is why many people need assistance in getting their lives "straightened out". When one doesn't feel loved one feels dead inside.

Instead of feeling loved some people feel used. John felt used...because as he said... "I work two jobs to provide for my family...two cars...two new color TV sets...wall to wall carpeting...swimming pool. But my wife belittles me...makes fun of me...says 'all he ever does is work'...by-passes me in family decisions. I don't like it...I can't accept it...I feel lonely...I do not feel loved...I feel used." These people had a problem...she was a selfish spoiled brat...a taker...he was too weak to stand up on his hind legs and stop indulging his family. Often we maneuver ourselves into the position of being used...then we don't feel loved.

Instead of feeling loved some people feel they are pitied. Marian said... "I just feel like Roy is my third child...I can't respect him as a man...he's so weak...he lets people run all over him...the children are disgusted with him...pay no attention to him. I really pity him" Roy's weakness only earned pity for him.

Instead of feeling loved some people feel they are hated. Hate is at the bottom of much of our social unrest...much of the violence in homes. I usually like to see a couple together for counseling the first visit...then individually. Often in that first visit the sparks fly...the hostility is so great...there's shouting...crying...even hitting. All this is hate which has been building up perhaps for a long period of time. Now in the safe presence of the counselor it's gushing out. Often we love the people we hate too...but thwarted...rejected love leads to hostile attitudes.

People are for loving...not for using...not for pitying...not for hating. But if we're going to love people we must start by loving ourselves. If I hate myself...I can't love you. If I'm feeling self pity...feeling used...then my attitude toward myself must change to love of myself before I can love another. Not to love myself limits my powers to love you.

In my book...we see people as equals...all needing to be loved...all with the power to love. I hope when you read it you'll find some ideas that will make your life...and your partner's life more loving.

For your copy of People Are For Loving send $3.00 to Dr. Knox, 320 Washington St., Norwell, Mass. 02061.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

You're running out of tomorrows...as far as 1972 is concerned. There's a year full of them in 1973. Here's the key to seventy-three—good nutrition.

Did you think I'd transmit a sparkling new message for a sparkling New Year? Not when the old one's as good as new. Good nutrition is really the key to everything. It opens doors to physical health; it unlocks mental well-being. It lifts the lid for energy. What is more—it unshackles the fetters of fat.

Maybe good nutrition would be used more as a diet aid if it came masked as esoteric, exotic discovery of the smoldering jungles of the far east. Perhaps people would attend to it if it were sold to them as an ancient secret devined from a recently excavated stone from the submerged Continent of Atlantis. Try telling the desperate fatter that all she requires in life is good nutrition, and she figures you for a fake. Introduce her to a fakir full of fads, and she'll nibble everytime. [She'll keep on nibbling, too, on the fad, the fiction, and her usual food.]

Good nutrition, before we're through with seventy-two, will reduce you because you will be well-fed. You will be nourishing your body with proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins—something for every part of you. You're a complex mechanism with complex needs, any one of which can suffer from neglect.

Now, especially, with the holiday season, there is the tendency to emphasize the fun food rather than the fulfilling food. Why not combine the two with this prize-winning vegetable delicacy complete with vitamin A, protein and carbohydrate?

BROCCOLI SOUFFLE

1 pkg frozen broccoli
1 ounce hard cheese, cut into small pieces salt & pepper to taste
2 eggs, beaten
4 slices Arnold Diet Slice Melba thin [crumbed]

Cook frozen broccoli and place in small baking dish. Add beaten eggs. Spread small pieces of cheese over the top. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Sorry that I can't offer you something obscure and miraculous as the key to your Seventy-three. Just listen to Lois sing the same old song with new vigor. Name that tune? It's good nutrition.

Don't go searching far and wide for miracles. You can find them in any supermarket. Meat, poultry, dairy products, fruits, vegetables, and enriched breads—they're miracles. They build the most miraculous machine of all, the human body.

Jewish Community Center Plans Children's Winter Program

The South Area Extension of the Associated Jewish Community Centers announces it will sponsor a diversified winter vacation program for children ages 6-12.

Activities are open to children from anywhere in the South Area. It is not necessary to be a member of the AJCC to participate in the programs.

On Dec. 26, two hours of ice skating will be sponsored, followed by hot drinks and bag lunches at the Quincy Jewish Community Center. New films about Israel will be viewed, and folksinging will wind up the day's program.

On Dec. 27, South Area children, grades 1-6, will travel to Brookline to participate in a fun day of sports, arts and crafts, skits, plus other activities. The unique inter-center program, called the "Junior Maccabiah", will provide a chance for South Area children to share enjoyable activities with youth of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center.

On Dec. 28, the children will see a matinee showing of "The Proposition Circus For Children", Boston's most innovative theatre program for youngsters. Children of grades 1-6 are eligible.

All programs will be fully supervised by professional staff and advisors of the clubs which are regularly held in the South Area communities of Randolph, Norwood, Canton and Quincy.

Transportation for all three days has been arranged by chartered bus for children living in these communities.

January Money Deadline

$23,000 Still Needed To Send North Band To Ireland

By MARY BUCKLEY

Everyone is probably aware of the March trip to Ireland being planned by the N.Q.H.S. band, but exactly what this trip will encompass may be a mystery to many.

In an interview with Marsha Burnhauser, band secretary, the extent of their plans was learned.

Once having arrived in Dublin the band will room in twos, and practice for their participation in the St. Patrick's Day parade. While in Dublin they will be granted two days to themselves to sightsee or other activities of interest to them.

Then the band will pack up once again and move on to Limerick for a marching competition. Officials in Limerick have been very cooperative by reserving a hotel parking lot for the band's use in practicing.

Finance has become a major roadblock for the progression of these plans. With a deadline of January, and an estimated expense of $30,000 roundtrip, only $7,000 has so far been collected. Many area banks have donated sums of money, and there have been personal contributions by people of the community.

Other fund-raising activities include the sale of ties, school pens, and bumper stickers; cake sales, collection of newspapers, a Country Fair (held on Dec. 1), and the raffling of a red and black Chevrolet Vega.

Because of the recent terrorism in Ireland [now having reached Dublin], the Quincy School Committee debated the possibility of retracting permission for the band to attend, but decided to leave the trip intact.

If the $30,000 is not raised by the January deadline, the band members have considered paying the balance themselves.

The cooperation of students and other contributors has been greatly appreciated, and it is hoped it will continue.

NORTH QUINCY band steps smartly along Hancock St. in recent parade. The band hopes to do the same in Ireland on St. Patrick's Day—if $30,000 is raised.

Student Union Moves Toward Bridging Gap

By LISA MCELEANEY

The Student Union was formed in 1971 with the intent of bettering communications between students and the Quincy School Committee.

After a year of observation and participation at School Committee meeting, the student associate members have begun to attract and demand the attention we deserve.

While we are not always familiar with political tactics, employed sometimes necessarily by the School Committee, we have succeeded in moving increasingly toward our ultimate goal: maximum student participation in all aspects of education that directly concern them.

Already this year we have acquired a seat at the School Committee's table. Previously we sat at a separate table, sometimes situated even farther away from the main table than the audience.

Also this year, the school committee in accordance with state law has set aside an evening every other month to discuss student affairs. The Student Representatives at these meetings will be the President, Vice President and the three associate school committee members.

While the Student Union of the Quincy Public Schools has not nearly reached an ideal status, we have tried to bridge the omni-present "communication gap".

Proceeds To Survival

North Faculty Edges Quincy In Benefit

By KEN SHINE

North Quincy again proved to arch-rival Quincy, just who dominates the sports scene in Quincy.

This time it came in a benefit basketball game, Nov. 28 at North's gym.

No, it wasn't Knobby Nolan's undefeated GBL champs, but none other than the faculty members of both North and Quincy.

A disappointing crowd of about 200 turned out for the clash. The small numbers can be accredited to lack of promotion and the miserable weather.

Throughout the encounter the North faculty trailed. But midway through the fourth period the youthful Raiders put on an impressive surge and overtook the Presidents. Inspired by North Quincy's Finest [varsity cheerleaders], North Quincy kept its momentum and iced the victory 65 to 63.

The evening was highlighted by the appearance of Boston Celtic's star Don Chaney. Don auctioned off autographed pictures of the Celtics and an autographed basketball. The latter of the two went to a Quincy coed for $18.50.

Although a small crowd turned out for the game, those who did attend saw without a doubt one fine basketball game. Both the faculties of Quincy and North deserve to be commended for their participating in the game and thus the fans for their enthusiastic support. I'm sure that if the weather had permitted and the game had received more publicity, both North and Quincy could have given much more support.

All proceeds from the game aided Survival Inc. of Quincy.

Teachers, Students Stage Hit Show

You Could Even See A Cell Reproduce Itself At North Science Open House

By PAUL GOSLIN

How often do you get to see a cell reproduce itself? Or see a chemical reaction? Or measure the carbon monoxide in a cigarette?

At North Quincy High School any student gets the chance. The Science Department at North displayed how it happens at their open house Dec. 7.

Peter Chrisom, acting principal, and Miss Wilma Shields, Science Department Head, greeted the many interested parents and residents of the North Quincy area as they came to see the many projects on display.

The teachers and many of the students in the Science classes guided the guests through the rooms to see projects being worked on as they would in any daily science class.

Charles Gliniewicz showed off his tools for earth science. Earth science is brand new this year and ninth grade students get to work with the tools every day. They have a brand new diamond saw used to cut rocks in geology.

Mrs. Hope Jahn's biology class was working on projects which included viewing cells while they divide under the microscope.

The other classes were all working on the projects they do daily.

Refreshments were served for all at 9. Everyone who attended found the visit interesting and informative.

The following teachers and students were responsible for the success of the Open House:

Miss Andrea Grant, General Science Grade 9: Kenny O'Brien, Joanne Finnell, Sheila McKenna, Diane McNulty, Eddie Beaudin, Larry Tobin, James Douglas, Brian O'Rourke, Barbara Pagliaro, Kathy McDonald.

All members of Miss Grant's classes have helped to prepare materials.

Miss Marjorie Bollen, Anthropology: Barbara Thornley, Sheila Doyle.

Bachelor Foods Course One Of Most Popular

By KEVIN VERONNEAU

One of the newest and most popular courses offered at N.Q.H.S. is the Bachelor Foods course. Bachelor Foods increased from one class last year of approximately 15 students to seven classes this year of 109 students.

This course is aimed at acquainting male students with kitchens and their uses. The students are eager to learn and show a great willingness to eat what they cook. When one class was asked what they would enjoy making, one student replied, "I'll eat anything that's eatable, ANYTHING!" On hearing this the teacher replied, "Sir, you are leaving yourself quite vulnerable." Many of the students are experiencing foods that they never knew existed.

Bachelor Foods includes much more than just cooking and eating. Most anyone can follow a simple recipe and eat well enough. However, in Bachelor Foods, the students learn background information which helps them to be more knowledgeable, especially about the foods they actually work with.

When I asked a student his opinion of the course he replied, "The class is informal and I feel that I am receiving knowledge that will benefit me later. If you take real pride in your work and make good use of your time, you get a real feeling of accomplishment. I enjoy this class and wish it had been offered earlier and on a larger scale."

It's true, students do take pride in their work, but the most recent question seems to be, will there be a Bachelor Foods II next year?

Classes Set To Start At Teal Building

By JIM MCCARTHY

In an interview with acting Principal Peter Chrisom, I was able to obtain the following information in regard to the newly constructed Teal building.

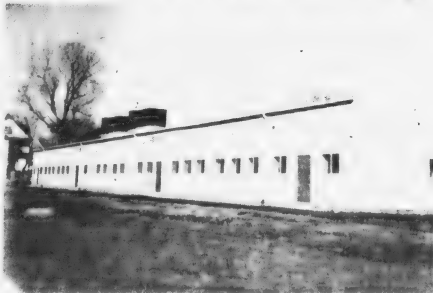

According to its original conception, the Teal building was constructed for the use of ninth grade classes, exclusively. The way in which this system of programming would have been enacted was to assign half the ninth grade to classes in the structure in the morning, and the remaining half of the class in the afternoon.

The flaw in this proposal was that the Teal building wouldn't have been utilized to its full potential of student capacity and, moreover, it would alienate ninth graders who, unlike any other class, would have to commute between the Little Building, North, and the Teal building. Obviously there would be justifiable resistance to such unfairness.

In addition to the above stated reasons, it seemed most logical to place the social studies department in the building, for not only were they in need of such facilities, but they would best use the building to its full potential.

Further, it would be much more convenient for specific materials to remain in the building at all times, rather than to expect the individual teachers to transport their own materials.

The general structure of the Teal building consists of two spacious learning areas divided by an area for lavatories and teacher conference rooms. Each wing is one and one half times the size of the Little building and unobstructed by partitions. Like the Little building, the Teal structure has no bell system.

CLASSES will soon be held in new Teal Building to help alleviate crowded conditions at North Quincy High School.

Mr. Chrisom contended that in accordance with the structure of variable flexible scheduling, the bell system wouldn't be necessary anyway. Besides that, North's bell system activates only to signal the conclusion of a period.

We also discussed the possibility of students commuting by route of the corner store and, consequently, stopping in on the way. Mr. Chrisom indicated that if done in moderation there would be no serious harm from this. Of course, the school boundaries will obviously be altered somewhat, but within reasonable limitations.

In conclusion, the principal expressed great confidence in the workability of this system. Obviously, there will be a certain amount of confusion, such as from the six-day cycle change, and we did manage to survive that.

The new scheduling is expected to commence shortly before Christmas.

Remember how you thought it would be... the big executive sitting on top? Well, you've made it big. But have you made it big the way you imagined it would be. Or has your waist grown bigger than your job? At SICKROOM SERVICE we've developed a new program to help big executives lose extra inches, that's practical, healthful and fun. A way to help you "reduce your inventory" right at home... and get you back into shape fast. Because at our pharmacy SICKROOM SERVICE department, we have an entire line of health and exercise equipment, that you can rent or buy.

A line of exercise bicycles and other special items, that rent for just $10 to $25 a month—so an executive can flatten his stomach without flattening his wallet as well. But that's not all. Because at SICKROOM SERVICE our personnel are specially trained to help you select the proper equipment for your needs, and to show you exactly how to use it. So, if you might have grown too big for your britches... stop in and see us today. We cut big executives down to size.

CANCER PREVENTION ADVANCES

Cited by the American Medical Association were two new developments in the area of cancer detection and prevention. First, was the new evidence of the presence of a virus in some human cancers. This is considered important since the eventual identification of the virus could lead to tests for earlier detection of cancer. It would also help in the investigation of the disease's origin and, hopefully, in vaccines to prevent it.

One of the important advances in the virus theory is the research findings in Hodgkin's disease, a cancer of the lymph glands which killed an estimated 3,700 Americans last year. Researchers believe they have found "tumor-associated antigens" which may signal the presence of the disease in the body even before symptoms develop.

Also among newly-announced developments has been a new breast cancer drug, now in the testing stage.

In Basketball Openers North At Weymouth S Quincy Hosts B.C.. High

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy Basketball Coach Bob Nolan has a tough act to follow as he prepares his Raiders for their opener Friday night at Weymouth South.

Last season Nolan piloted his team to a 17-0 record, winning his third Greater Boston League title with a 14-0 mark, and went to the finals of Southern Division play in the state tourney.

Despite the loss of three standouts, Dave Nelson [Middlebury College], Bob McKay [Kimball Union] and Jim Driscoll [Cushing Academy], Nolan has high hopes for another good season with four returning varsity regulars and several members of last year's strong junior varsity team.

Following Friday's non-league opener at Weymouth, North hosts Chelsea in its league opener Tuesday, then plays in the holiday tourney at Brockton High on Dec. 26 and 27. The Raiders face New Bedford, which they eliminated in the state tourney last year, at 7:30 on the 26th and Brockton meets defending state champion Lexington at 9. The winners meet for the title at 9 on the 17th while the losers clash in a consolation game at 7:30.

Meanwhile, Marty Finnegan's Quincy quintet, which owned an 11-7 record a year ago and was in the running for the state tourney until the final week, opens tonight [Thursday] against B.C. High in a non-league game at Vo-Tech gym.

The Presidents play at Weymouth North Saturday and open their league season at Malden Tuesday. Malden was the team which eliminated Quincy from the state tourney last season.

North, co-favorite with Somerville with most experts, looked good in last week's GBL jamboree as it topped Somerville, 23-12. Although losing to Everett, 25-22, Quincy also showed a good deal of promise.

Nolan is fairly certain of four starters, Co-Capt. Jamie Doherty [6-2½] and Pete Quinn [6-2] at forward, John Stevens [5-11] at center and Co-Capt. Ken Marsters [5-11] at guard. All are experienced and fine two-way performers.

Battling for the fifth starting spot are Billy Shea [5-9], Don Small [5-10], Pete Bellotti [5-11], John Orlando [5-10], Bernie Holleran [5-10] and Bob Morton [5-11], playing basketball for the first time.

All are seniors and there are several juniors who hope to make the varsity squad. Those who don't make the varsity will play on the junior varsity under new coach Eddie Miller, a former Raider captain himself.

They are Steve Miller, John Flynn, Frank Schuler, Steve Orlando, John's brother, Steve McLaughlin, Carl Leone, Steve Maloney, Joe Keaneally, Jet Phelan, Billy Berberan and Rich Coughlin.

"We'll use many different combinations and you will seldom see the same five boys playing," Nolan said. "I'll make changes according to the opposition's style of play. All the boys are good scorers and also play good defense. I expect to have a well-balanced team which will again play really tough defense. We don't have much height but will be fast and aggressive."

Nolan sees a stronger Greater Boston League this year with Somerville, Quincy, Medford and Everett especially strong and even Chelsea, the league doormat for years, being tough on everyone. The Red Devils played together as a unit during the summer and gained valuable experience.

North has a good sophomore group who will play on the jayvees. These include Ed Donovan, Jack Rabel, Joe Wilkinson, Mark Reale, John Powell, Walt Melton, Steve Martinelli, Bill Driscoll, Bill Sanga, Tim Clifford, Mike Bray, Bruce Shea and Dave Corbin.

Miller, who succeeds Joe Amoroso, now at Quincy, captained Boston State's team which made the regional finals and is now playing semi-pro ball with Weymouth Sports of the Cranberry League. He also has coached at Boston State.

Quincy's hopes ride to a good extent on the availability of 6-5 Bill Kiggen. Last year he was brought along slowly, made the starting lineup but after a few good games suffered a torn knee ligament sidelining him for the rest of the year. So far his knee has held up and if he can stay healthy, the veteran Presidents could be a GBL contender.

"Billy means a lot to us with his size," Finnegan said. "He is our only real tall player and is an excellent shooter and rebounder. If he stays in there we could be tough but we could be in trouble if he is hurt again."

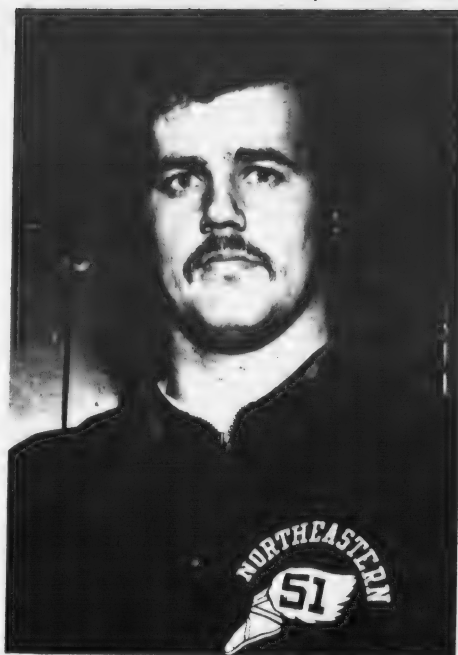

Finnegan has several veterans headed by Co-Capt. John Reggiani [5-7], a sparkplug and last year's top scorer; Co-Capt. Ken Furfur [6-2], a center last year who will be at forward this season; Co-Capt. Mike Marvelle [6-1], a fine forward who will miss several games because of a broken ankle; Mark MacLeod [5-10] who plays guard with Reggiani and Kiggen.

Other varsity returnees are Phil Iovanna [6-3], Jim McKinnon [6-3], Mike Long [6-0] and Ray Papile [6-0]. Rounding out the varsity squad are Bill Joyce and John McFarland.

"With nine varsity returnees, we have good experience and I anticipate a good year," the veteran coach said. "Everyone is working hard and has a lot of desire, which means a lot."

Joining Marty is Amoroso, who had four successful years as North jayvee coach. He succeeds Mike Greenlaw, who is no longer in the school system.

"I feel very fortunate in having Joe with me, as he is a dedicated coach who proved himself at North," Finnegan said.

ROGER CONBOY, former North Quincy High star, has completed his second season of varsity track at Northeastern University. The junior weightman was a consistent performer in the javelin and set a new Northeastern outdoor mark in the event with a throw of 218 feet, 7 inches, in helping the Huskies to their first unbeaten season in track history. Conboy has another season of eligibility and should continue his string of fine performances which saw him score in every meet this year.

O'Brien Club Seeks 1st League Win

The O'Brien Club of Quincy will seek its first Cranberry League basketball win Sunday night when it plays the Easton Huskies at Easton Junior High School. Tapoff is 8 p.m.

Next Thursday the Quincy quintet will play Brockton Stars at 8 at West Jr. High in Brockton in a game postponed last week.

The O'Brien Club, hurt by turnovers, dropped its second straight league decision last Sunday, a 90-87 squeaker to the Plymouth A.A., one of the league powerhouses, at Weymouth North H.S.

Quincy led by seven points with 3:58 left but turned the ball over several times and was hit with many fouls. Quincy outscored Plymouth from the floor, 38 baskets to 31, but Plymouth had a 28-11 bulge from the foul line.

The Quincy scoring was well-balanced with Rich Starziak, Gus Grazio, Ken Baker and Tom Cairns scoring 13 points apiece, Ted Stevenson 12, Herm Donaldson 11 and Leo Papile eight.

Doc Tavares, Plymouth veteran, had a big night with 33 points.

ENC Defeats Strong Babson Barrington

The Eastern Nazarene College basketball team, back on the beam following two wins over strong opponents, rests up until Jan. 5 when it visits New Hampshire College.

ENC last week defeated Barrington, 78-70, paced by Ron Bradley's 29 points and eight assists, Dave Eads scored 15 and Rick Reyenger, 6-7 center from Quincy, had 10 and it was Reyenger's last minute heroics which saved the game.

With three minutes left and ENC leading by only four points, Reyenger scored two quick layups and blocked two Barrington shots to insure the win.

The following night the Crusaders, again sparked by Bradley, edged Babson, 73-71, to make their record 3-2 going into the holiday layoff.

The win over Barrington, incidentally, was ENC's first Seaboard Conference game.

In GBL Action At Boston Arena

Quincy, North Icemen Open Friday

The Quincy and North Quincy hockey teams open their Greater Boston League seasons Friday night at Boston Arena with both coaches hoping to rebound from what they consider disappointing seasons.

Although Quincy's Bob Sylvia admits he was disappointed last year, his Presidents did finish 9-9-2 and missed the state tourney for only the second time in six years.

North Coach Ron Erikson had a right to be disappointed as his Raiders had only a 2-15-3 season and he feels confident his present team will do far better this year and provide some surprises.

Quincy opens against title favorite and defending champion Revere Friday at 9 p.m. while North faces Somerville at 6:30. Monday North will meet Malden at 6:30 and Wednesday Quincy will take on Medford at 6:30. The two local rivals clash for the first time on Dec. 22 at 6:30.

"Our main objective this year is to have a winning season and to get back where we belong - in the state tourney," Bob said. "We are going to find out right at the start where we stand as I feel Revere is the class of the league this season."

"I expect to be strong again on defense and we should be strong in goal despite the graduation of Artie Boyle, one of the league's outstanding goalies last year. As usual, our big job is to find some scoring punch. We just weren't able to put the puck into the goal last year."

Trying to fill the shoes of the brilliant Boyle are Glen Prescott, John Salvatore and John Scott. Prescott, with some experience, looks like the number one goalie at present.

Leading the defensemen are John Prescott and Russ Corner, both of whom have experience, but they are being pushed by Bob Boyle, Sean Polley, Ron Butts, Leo Kearney and Bob Ahola.

A key man among the forwards is Ted Wiedemann, a sophomore who is one of the finest athletic prospects in the school. The standout performer last year for the freshman-junior high team's GBL champs, he starred this fall for the unbeaten sophomore football team. He and veteran Jim Starkey are two of the best looking forwards.

Sylvia who refers to his lines by colors instead of numbers because he doesn't like to rank one above the other, hadn't decided on his combinations at this writing.

Wiedemann leads the center hopefuls and others include Bob Costello, Dick Schaefer, John Sweeney, Al Lancione and Pete Raymer.

Joining Starkey as left wings are Jim Crowley, Peter McNally, Pete DiBona and Rick Avery.

Veterans Paul Campbell, Pete Janis and Chuck Crews are being pushed by Steve Ryder, Bob McDonald, Mark Walker and Bill Carullo for right wing slots.

"If we can just find some players who can score, we should do all right," Sylvia said. "The league looks balanced this year with Revere the favorite and Malden a very strong club."

Bob explained that the Friends of Quincy Hockey, with Paul Campbell as president, are organizing for the year and are interested in adding members. Anyone wishing to join is asked to contact Campbell.

Sylvia is again being assisted by Jack Scanlan, who will coach the junior varsity squad.

Erikson, who has a new assistant and jayvee coach in Bob Troup, explains he has "no superstars but a fine group of solid players who want to play hockey."

"We are going to do a lot better than last year, I can promise that," Ron said. "These kids really want to play and have shown a lot of desire in practice. I don't have any line which I rate number one but have three well-balanced lines, all of which will see a lot of action."

The line includes veterans Co-Capt. Ken Graham and Andy Collieran at wing and Jim Mullane center. Another is also made up of veterans, Co-Capt. Steve McKay and Rob Henderson wings and Joe Lannin center. A third line is comprised of veteran Ken Jago and former junior varsity star Mark Hurley wings and veteran Brian McIsaac center.

Other forwards include Steve Tracy, Tom Donovan, Jim Connolly and Mike Kelly.

There is a great battle for the goalie job between Dave Messina, who saw some varsity action, and Jim Fatseas, up from the jayvees. Both have real potential and are making Erikson's job of picking a starter a hard one.

Four returnees head the defense corps, Mike O'Hanley, Doug Connors, Dave Noonan and Bob Morse. Two fine sophomore prospects, Paul O'Donnell and Walter Connolly, also look good.

"A big reason for my confidence is the spirit and determination of my co-captains who, with Dave Messina's father, Harry, a Quincy Youth Hockey Association officer, kept the team together and played during the spring and summer," Erikson said. This should help us a lot as the players gained much valuable experience."

Like Sylvia, Erikson also sees Revere as the top team and feels Medford is another outstanding team.

Youth Hockey Teams Flood Nets

Goals flooded enemy nets in Quincy Youth Hockey games Sunday.

The Mite "A" team trounced Hull, 10-0, with Richie Stevens and Kevin Craig notching three-goal hat tricks and Paul McCabe collecting a pair and Kevin Chase and John Cummings one each.

Jimmy Campbell racked up his second and third shut-outs in a row as the Squirt "A" team beat Milton, 6-0, and Hull, 7-0, Tommy Gerry and John Furey had two goals each and Scott Richardson and Robbie Craig one apiece in the Milton game. Mark Veasey scored twice against Hull while Richardson, Craig, Furey, Gerry and Tommy Mullen had one goal each.

Panico and Tom Doherty.

Leone Commends Coaches

Quincy Junior Sports Programs Among Finest In State

Quincy has one of the finest junior high athletic programs in the state and Athletic Director Carl Leone is proud of it.

The football program, in which more than 500 boys, 100 from each of five schools, participate, recently finished its season and the basketball and hockey teams are now working out for their openers.

"We are proud of our basketball program and also feel our hockey program, which became formal only two years ago, is coming along well," Leone said. "In basketball each school has seventh, eighth and ninth grade teams with more than 50 boys playing varsity ball in each school."

Twice a week three games are played on each hoop program and, in addition to the interscholastic teams, some coaches have intramural leagues in the morning for the seventh graders to give them experience and to utilize gym facilities.

"We have outstanding coaches at every school with most having had a good deal of experience and some having coached at the high school level," Leone continued.

"The coaches do not employ trick defenses or offenses but stick to a basic man-to-man defense and stick to all the basic rules. This makes the games more interesting for the fans and brings out the best in the players."

Mike Casali of Central is the dean of league coaches and is currently in his 16th year. In that time has never had a losing season in any of the three grades.

Other coaches are Ron LaQuaglia, North ninth grade; Bill Willoughby, Atlantic seventh and eighth grades; Dave Meehan, Sterling; Fran Conroy, Point, and a newcomer this year, Wayne Hamilton, Broad Meadows. Atlantic and North are the only schools operating separately, the seventh and eighth grades being located at Atlantic and the ninth grade in the high school building.

The high school coaches keep a close watch on the games and they appreciate the fine work being done on the junior high level.

A year ago Casali's Central ninth graders won another city championship with a 10-2 record. They were undefeated until the final two games with North and Broad Meadows.

Willoughby's Atlantic seventh and eighth graders were the other city titlists, the eighth grade with a 12-0 record and the seventh grade with an 11-1 mark.

A big reason for Central's amazing success is Casali's "early bird" league for seventh graders.

"All boys who come out for basketball here make the team," Mike said. "I do not cut anyone from the squad. Ten years ago we initiated what we call 'early bird' basketball for the seventh graders. Six teams were put together with about 10 boys to a team.

"They play before school each day from 7:15 to 8:45 and all boys play the same amount of time. Early bird proved so popular that the eighth and ninth grades play after the seventh grade season is over."

Apparently the experience gained by the seventh graders in the early bird league is paying off for Casali, whose ninth grade teams in particular have made a habit of winning the city crown.

"Basketball has been very successful here because of good players and plenty of hard work," the veteran coach said. "Tradition is probably the key word as each new team wants to win the city championship the team before them did."

Casali is proud of the sportsmanship displayed by his boys and the same is true at all other schools.

The junior high hockey coaches are Ken Hayes at Quincy and Ed Grogan at North. There is only one team at each end of the city and the competition has been keen since the sport became formal two years ago.

The teams play in the Greater Boston Freshman League and last year Quincy won with a 6-0 record but bowed to Medford in the finals of the playoffs. North wound up with a 2-4 record, but lost some close games.

Seventh, eighth and ninth graders are eligible for the squads and Hayes has a much broader field from which to choose his team. Each team draws from Central but Quincy also has players from Broad Meadows, Sterling and Point, while North draws only from North-Atlantic in addition to Central.

In the past the teams played only on Saturdays at Boston Arena but this year will play on Wednesday and Saturday.

Boys Gymnastic Program Starts

The Quincy Recreation Department announces its new evening gymnasium programs for boys and girls are being offered.

The schedules:
For Junior and Senior high school age boys from 6 - 10 p.m.:

Mondays at the Sterling School, Mondays and Thursdays at the Snug Harbor School, Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Atherton Hough and Squantum Schools, Fridays at the Beechwood Knoll School.

For elementary school age boys from 6 - 9 p.m.

Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Montclair School.

For Junior and Senior high school age girls the program is from 6 to 9 p.m. on the following days at these locations:

Mondays at the Squantum and Wollaston Schools, Tuesdays at the Beechwood Knoll School and Snug Harbor School, Wednesdays at the Atherton Hough School, Fridays at the Montclair School.

The programs are free and open to all Junior and Senior high school age girls of Quincy.

Central Hosts

The Quincy Junior High winter schedule starts today [Thursday] when Central hosts Broad Meadows and Point plays at Atlantic-North in basketball openers.

Meadows Point At Atlantic

Tuesday Central plays at Atlantic-North and Sterling visits Point in the final games until Jan. 4.

In hockey, Quincy's defending Greater Boston League junior high-freshman champions open Friday against Medford at the Revere rink in a 5 p.m. game. Wednesday at 5 p.m. North Quincy meets Revere, also at Revere.

This year the junior varsity teams play on the same night as the junior high-freshman teams. Quincy jayves play Medford at 6 p.m. Friday and North takes on Revere at 6 p.m. on Wednesday.

Meyer, Lane End Grid Careers

When the Lafayette College football team completed its season with a 14-6 loss to Lehigh in the 108th meeting of college football's most-played series, it marked the end of their college careers for Don Meyer and Joe Lane, former North Quincy stars.

Meyer, who missed nearly all of the 1971 season due to an injury following a sensational sophomore year, had another outstanding season this fall with more than 80 tackles. In his sophomore year he won many individual awards for the Leopards.

His brother, Dick, is an assistant coach at North and another brother, John, is a freshman at the U. of Pennsylvania.

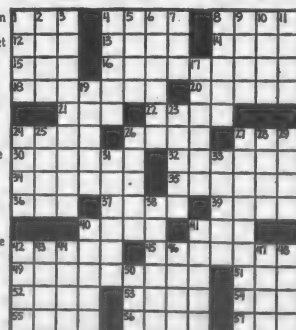

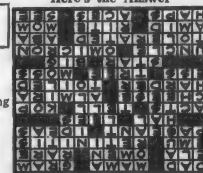

Lane, a defensive back, led Lafayette in pass interceptions and also had more than 80 tackles.

Quincy, North Track Teams Debut In GBL Saturday

The Quincy and North Quincy winter track teams, members of the defunct Met League for many years, make their bows in the newly-formed Greater Boston League Saturday at the new Medford High cage, where all league meets will be held.

In Saturday's 9:30 a.m. openers Quincy, with Tom Hall at the helm for the first time, takes on Malden while Bob Gentry's North team meets Somerville.

Hall, assistant to Gene Macomber the past two years, has succeeded Gene, who gave up the reins due to his administrative duties. Tom, who also coaches the cross country and spring track teams, has Joe Wessling as his assistant.

Quincy was 3-4 in the Met League a year ago and Hall, with an excellent turnout, hopes to better that mark this winter.

"Interest is picking up in winter track and we have a large number of veterans," Hall said. "We have experienced boys in nearly every event in addition to an outstanding crop of sophomores."

The Presidents will be strong in the running events. In the 50-yard dash veterans Ray Lawyer, Kevin Cox and Pete Ramponi are excellent performers.

In the 300-yard run veterans Dave DiBona and Steve Oriola are joined by newcomer Mark Austin, while Mark MacLeod, one of the better runners at Quincy, is joined by newcomer Mike DePaulo in the 600.

Marty Swirko and Fred Norkus are experienced in the 1000 but there is a lack of experience in the mile and two-mile. Gary DeLorito, who was on the spring team, and Arnie Vorosso are the top hopes in the mile with Steve Nolan and Steve Player the top two-milers.

In the high jump John Johnson has a lot of experience and is being pushed by Art DiLoreto, Tim Kane and DePaulo.

Johnson is also the top hurdler with Dan McDermott and DiLoreto also strong in this event. Four football strongmen comprise the shot put corps with Mike Varrasso the only experienced entry. Dave Sten, Frank Guido and Ed Sylva are battling him.

The relay team is undecided and Hall has several fine runners from whom to choose.

Among the other hopes are Matt Healey, Ed Colletti, Ed Malnati, Rich Poole, Joe Robichaud and Lane Watkins, whose brother Lee is a North Quincy runner.

North had only a 1-6 record last year but Gentry feels his current team will definitely improve on that mark and sees his Raiders strong in every event with the possible exception of the 600 and 1000, which are still questionable but these two events could also be strong with some promising boys.

"This is my best team in several years and I think we will make a good showing," the veteran coach explained. "We will be especially strong in the hurdles, dash, 300 and relay."

The dashmen are veterans Dave Ashmanskas and Paul Doherty who are being pushed hard by sophomore Paul O'Donnell, rated by Gentry as one of North's fastest runners.

In the 300 Lee Watkins and Jack Pomerole are veterans and Steve Grant also looks good. Bob Crowell and Ed Ahern are the best hopes in the 600 backed up by Mark Canavan, a sophomore, and Dennis Maguire, and Bill Welch, John Murphy and Joe Psota are promising 1000-yarders. Ed Yee also is running in this event.

Gentry has one outstanding miler and two-miler with several other good prospects. Dick Malloy is a top miler with Art Barrett, who came along well in cross country, a good prospect. Bob McCormack is an excellent two-miler and is getting good competition from Bob Mackey, Gary Cuniff and Paul Morin.

Jack Reynolds and Steve Fransoso are experienced hurdlers and George Hennessey is a good prospect. Fransoso and Burt Bray are the best hopes in the shot put and Reynolds and Canavan lead the high jumpers.

A year ago Gentry used mostly juniors in the relay and he feels his number one quartet of Watkins, Pomerole, McCormack and Reynolds will be one of the best in the league. O'Donnell, Ashmanskas and Ahern are also being groomed for the relay.

Gentry has a junior varsity 600-yard group comprising Ken O'Brien, Tom Reddington, Don Martineau, Jim Cooney and Dave Gorrill.

Louise Forsyth Featured Speaker In Leominster

Featured speaker at a meeting of the North Central Guidance Association held in Leominster recently was Miss Louise B. Forsyth of the guidance staff of the Quincy Public Schools and executive secretary of the Massachusetts School Counselors Association.

Miss Forsyth coordinates guidance information services for the Quincy schools and has developed unique presentations in the area of career awareness for elementary schools.

The efforts to relate school work to the world of work and to alert children to the many kinds of work have long been a focus of the guidance information services in Quincy, well before the current emphasis being promoted and urged by the United States Office of Education.

Quincy's programs were highlighted at the fall conference of the Massachusetts School Counselors Association at Westfield State College and at a Workshop for Junior High/Middle School Counselors which Miss Forsyth conducted at Northeastern University recently.

Silent Paging System For Norfolk Superior Court

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke announces that the Governor's Committee on Law Enforcement and Administration of Criminal Justice has awarded a grant to implement a silent paging system in Norfolk Superior Court.

The new paging system will help alleviate many of the communication problems now confronting the District Attorney's Office, he said.

"With this system members of the District Attorney's staff will be able to quickly locate other staff members, attorneys, police officers and witnesses when necessary without having to leave their desks and having to search throughout the corridors and courtrooms of the Superior Court House in order to locate the individual they are seeking.

"The current practice results in a waste of manpower, delays and in some instances a complete halt in court proceedings."

"Installation of the system will correct many of these problems.

Quincy Woman's Brother Elected Portland Mayor

The brother of a Quincy woman has been sworn in as the new mayor of Portland, Me.

He is Edward I. Bernstein, brother of Mrs. Helen Cook of 87 Ames St., whose husband, Burton, is the owner of Tags Sleep and Lounge Shop of Quincy and Tags Furniture of Cambridge.

Mayor Bernstein, who was elected by the City Council under Portland's Plan E government, is also clerk of Portland District Court.

The new mayor, who is 49, was elected to the city council from the city's District 4 and was a unanimous choice of his fellow council members for the top job.

Bernstein called his selection "the proudest moment of my life" and promised to be an active mayor.

"I would like to say to those who do not know me that I am available," he said in his inaugural. "I am available to accept ideas, I am available to moderate disputes, I am available to lend my assistance."

Three Quincy Men Named To County Development Council

Three Quincy men are among 16 persons named to the 30-member steering committee for the new Norfolk County Development and Tourist Council.

They are Eric Swider, executive vice-president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; Charles Peterson, president of the Quincy Cooperative Bank; and John Dwyer, vice president of the State Street Bank in charge of State Street South Complex in North Quincy.

Fourteen others will be appointed later on.

The Norfolk County Development and Tourist Council was formed Nov. 28 by 46 county businessmen to promote business and tourism on a regional basis. It is authorized to spend up to $50,000 annually on promotion.

Norfolk County is the 10th of the 14 counties in Massachusetts to give financial aid to development and tourism under the authorization, which was enacted Feb. 10, 1972.

VACUUM CLEANER-like bag filter to reduce smoke stack pollution was the idea of Eric Stone, fourth grader at Montclair School, shown here with his guidance counselor, Miss Florabel Stevens, looking over similar plans devised by Arthur D. Little Co.

Bag Filter For Stacks

Montclair Fourth Grader, Experts Think Alike On Anti-Pollution Device

A fourth grade pupil at the Montclair School has come up with an idea to combat air pollution.

But Eric Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Stone of 243 Holbrook Rd, was just a little too late.

Somebody already thought of it and the device, called a bag filter, is now being tested on factory smoke stacks.

Eric thought of it and shared the idea with his guidance counsellor, Florabel Stevens.

Miss Stevens suggested that he write to Arthur D. Little, Inc., a Cambridge development firm. She helped him compose the letter.

Back came a note from Thomas J. Lamb, an Arthur D. Little executive.

"Actually," wrote Lamb, "your idea, which is a very clever one, is now being tested on big smoke stacks."

"The device is called a bag filter, and it works much like the filter on your mother's vacuum cleaner.

"The dirty air enters one side of the bag, and as it passes through the bag, all the pollutants are removed."

But, added Lamb, "I would like to encourage you to continue to think about inventions of this type and would be pleased to look at any other ideas you might have."

Eric is thinking.

State Trooper James Toomey Commended For Arrest

Public Safety Commissioner John F. Kehoe Jr. has commended Trooper James M. Toomey of Quincy in Departmental Orders for his apprehension of a man in Wakefield for assault with intent to murder, and numerous other offenses.

Toomey, assigned to the Lynnfield Barracks, was given two days off with pay.

While on routine patrol on Nov. 6, Trooper Toomey observed a vehicle at the side of the roadway on Route 128, Wakefield. When he approached the vehicle to advise the operator of a defective

During the chase, the pursued vehicle lost control and struck a pole. The operator was captured by Toomey after a chase on foot.

Further investigation revealed automobile master keys, gaming materials, and a .25 caliber pistol and ammunition in the vehicle. After the apprehension it was ascertained that numerous warrants were outstanding on him, including one for assault with intent to murder.

S. Quincy Civic Assn. Vows 'Surprises' In MBTA Battle

The South Quincy Civic Association has promised "several surprise measures which have not as yet been mentioned" in its fight against the proposed South Quincy MBTA Station.

Pat DiStefano, president of the association, promised the surprises in a statement read to a public informational hearing Monday [Dec. 18] at Sterling Junior High School.

"We are forming a massive alliance of elected officials, civic, community and social groups in opposition to the MBTA facility," said DiStefano.

"We are investigating legal considerations regarding conservational and ecological aspects of the plan.

"We have requested that the Quincy Conservation Commission make a complete and in depth study of the proposed site and give us a copy of the findings.

"We are planning several surprise measures which have not as yet been mentioned."

Robert Fleming Named Assistant City Solicitor

Robert J. Fleming, 34, of 230 Fenno St., Wollaston, as assistant district attorney for Norfolk County, has been appointed assistant city solicitor by Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

A graduate of Cathedral High School in Boston and Suffolk University and Law School, he also served a term as assistant attorney general. His law office is at 1354 Hancock St.

He is married to the former Janice C. Dobson and they have three children, Edward 6, Robert Jr. 4, and Christopher, 1.

Richard J. McCormick, former assistant solicitor, was recently named solicitor, succeeding the late Harry Pavan.

Food, Toys, Gifts Donated

Salvation Army, Elks, Koch Club, Jaycees Aid Needy At Christmas

Service agencies such as the Salvation Army, the Elks, the Quincy Jaycees and the Koch Club are gearing up to Christmas a little merrier with food and toys for needy families in the Quincy area.

Major Robert Frye of the Salvation Army estimates that more than 1,600 people will be affected in some way by the activities of his salvationists.

The Army will provide 143 complete food orders for families totaling about 715 people. Some 500 toys will be distributed and the Army will hold a dinner for people who live alone on Tuesday [Dec. 26] at 6 p.m. Around 100 are expected.

Already, the Salvation Army has visited 677 patients at nursing homes, leaving gifts for each, and Saturday [Dec. 16] about 185 youngsters attended an Army Christmas party.

There'll be another party for children on Tuesday [Dec. 26] and Sunday [Dec. 24] the Salvation Army's band and singers will visit nursing homes to sing carols.

The Elks plan to deliver food

SANTA'S HELPER, otherwise known as Mayor Walter J. Hannon, diligently writes down a youngster's desires as the Boss himself officiates at the 25th annual Koch Club Christmas party at the Sacred Heart School hall Saturday [Dec. 16]. Santa was brought to the party by his old friend, Richard [Dee Dee] Morrissey.

baskets to approximately 130 families, the same figure as the previous year. John Gorman is in charge of the program.

Charles Leonard, president of the Quincy Jaycees, says his group has 100 turkeys for delivery to needy families. They were purchased with the money from the raffling of a basket of assorted liquors.

The Koch Club is planning to donate 25 Christmas baskets of food to needy families and about 200 gifts, mostly toys collected by club members, will be distributed in poorer sections of Dorchester.

Robbery Squad Beefed Up For Holiday Season

A number of Quincy police officers have been taken off administrative duties to beef up the robbery squad for the holiday season and probably for longer.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon and Police Chief Francis X. Finn said the augmented squad also will be armed with shotguns and carbines in an effort to halt the armed robberies that have been plaguing merchants lately.

Several squad cars have been added to the detail and placed at strategic locations throughout the city to enable them to reach a robbery scene in a matter of seconds.

Quincy Parking Plaza A Hit With Shoppers

The 600-space Quincy Center Parking Plaza has apparently gained widespread acceptance from downtown shoppers.

"It was a refreshing sight," said John Murray, executive director of the Quincy Center

Business and Professional Association, "to see shoppers using all three floors Monday night."

The first three floors of the structure are metered parking [10 cents an hour] while the roof is reserved for all-day parking by those who work in the downtown area. It costs $3 a week.

Murray said the roof is 99 per cent sold out.

All of those candidates champing at the bit waiting to make a bid for Sheriff Charles Hedges' badge may be in for somewhat of a jolt. Latest report is that Hedges who some months ago said he would not seek re-election in 1974, has reconsidered and will run again.

Insiders say Republican wheels have been talking to him and have finally convinced him to run again for "the good of the party". The sheriff's office is the last GOP stronghold in Norfolk County. Democrats have won everything else.

Hedges, who has held the badge since 1961, still has plenty of county-wide strength. Any Democrat who hopes to unseat him, will know he's been in a battle.

P.S. Hedges also is telling everyone he's "feeling great".

***

SPEAKING OF SHERIFF [we seem to a lot lately], Ward 1 Councillor Edward Graham is another Democrat warming up for a bid. Graham ran against Hedges several years ago. He knows the route very well.

GRAHAM, incidentally, spikes rumors that he will not seek re-election to his Ward 1 seat next year. "I'm positively a candidate for re-election," he says. "And you can quote me."

MAYOR HANNON spent a busy afternoon Saturday, as Santa's helper. He started out at the Koch Club party at Sacred Heart Hall in North Quincy, where he sat next to Santa, recording what each child wanted for Christmas.

From there he went to Wollaston to take a party for more than 600 of the city's needy children at the Wollaston Theatre. And he finished up the day at the children's ward of the Quincy City Hospital, helping Santa distribute candy and gifts.

AND ACCORDING to reports, the man Mayor Hannon was assisting all afternoon had a striking resemblance to Wollaston businessman, Richard [Dee Dee] Morrissey.

***

PARK DEPARTMENT workers took time out Sunday night to flood the natural ice skating areas throughout the city. If the present cold spell continues, youngsters will be able to try out their new Christmas skates on schedule.

***

WELL, THE FOUR YEAR term for statewide office holders has had its effect on state government administration and state politics, but its latest effect has been, believe it or not, on Christmas.

Local politicians report that Christmas cards from statewide officials and candidates has dropped off sharply this off election year. Statewide elections won't be held until 1974 and as a result, most candidates seem to be waiting for next year to send their "season's greetings".

ONE EXCEPTION, however, is Atty. Gen. Robert Quinn. Considered a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, he has sent cards to most local Democratic leaders [and two to a few].

***

SCHOOL Committeeman Harold Davis was recently named legal counsel for the Weymouth-Braintree Regional Recreation and Conservation District.

The project is designed to eliminate the constant flooding problems in the Weymouth Landing area as well as preserve open space for conservation and recreation purposes.

The Speculation Corps hears Dist. Atty. George Burke will make a move for Attorney General in 1974.

THERE'S TALK at the Quincy army that unless the Quincy National Guard unit can come up to required manpower strength, it could be disbanded or combined with a unit at Commonwealth Army in Boston.

With the end of the draft, recruitments have fallen off in recent months. And as a result, the Quincy unit has been involved in a recruiting drive of its own.

REV. THOMAS CROKE of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Merrymount has received an early Christmas present for the parish, from the Merrymount Senior Citizens Club: a movie screen.

The senior citizens club, one of the newest in the city, is made up of persons from the Merrymount, Adams Shore area and meets regularly in the parish hall of the church.

ROBERT DENVIR of Houghs Neck, fund raiser for the Quincy High School Band, informs us that the campaign fund billboard which was located next to City Hall, has been removed to the Q.H.S. band room for this last week of the campaign. Reason for the move: Vandals.

Those who saw the billboard in the square commented on its unique design. Instead of the usual fund raising chart of a thermometer, measured out in dollar amounts, this billboard showed a plane flying between Quincy and Dallas, with distances measured in dollars. The plane on the top of the billboard was set on a track and as the band got closer to its goal of $30,000, the plane would move closer to Dallas.

- Military Supplies To Laos
- Cuba-U.S. Hijacking Agreement
- Mourning Day For High Taxpayers

WASHINGTON — While the world spotlight has been on Vietnam, the United States has quietly rushed military supplies into neighboring Laos and Cambodia.

The sudden shipments are intended to make sure the anti-Communist elements have plenty of arms and ammunition to defend themselves after the Americans pull out of Indochina.

The action may also increase the pressure on the Communists to include Laos and Cambodia in the Vietnam settlement. The United States is willing to halt its secret CIA operations in Laos, for example, in exchange for an agreement from Hanoi to withdraw all North Vietnamese troops from the country.

From Thailand, meanwhile, Ambassador Leonard Unger has urged in secret cables that the United States consider bombing the Chinese-built road which runs through northwestern Laos from the Chinese border to the Mekong River. The Thais are getting edgy about the road which points straight for the Thailand border. The Chinese have heavily fortified their road construction with some 20,000 men, anti-aircraft guns and radar.

The White House apparently is ignoring Unger's cables. One official assures us the road currently presents no military threat to Thailand. He called the Chinese along the road "a benevolent and invisible presence."

The Chinese do little mixing with the Laotian villagers along the road, our sources tell us. The build-up of Chinese men and equipment is regarded in Washington simply as a Chinese security measure.

Silver Spoon Schools

Thousands of youngsters attending the nation's prestigious private schools not only have silver spoons in their mouths but also, thanks to the taxpayers, food to fill them.

Turkeys, flour, shortening, rolled oats, raisins and more peanut butter than the students can consume are lavished on those schools which register with the Agriculture Department as nonprofit and tax-exempt.

A typical school, knowing which side of its bread is buttered, is the Bemint School of Deerfield, Mass. Bemint has only 121 students from families which must be well-to-do in order to afford the $4,100-a-year tuition. Last year, the Bemint School collected $2,247.25 worth of food relief at a cost of only $100 for its delivery.

John F. Downing, the business director of the National Association of Independent Schools, says he's not sure just how many of the nation's silver-spoon schools indulge in the free food. But he doesn't blame them. They're merely trying, he says, "to get everything they can."

Intelligence Items —

THREE-YEAR-DELAY — Secret White House papers indicate that the United States could have obtained a hijacking agreement with Cuba three years ago. The same terms, which the United States is now negotiating, were offered by Cuba early in the Nixon Administration. Dictator Fidel Castro said he would return skyjacks to the United States if the United States would return boat hijackers to Cuba. President Nixon then turned down the deal, but now has changed his mind.

MILITANT THIEU — President Thieu has admitted to U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker privately that he is more worried about peace than war. A secret cable from the ambassador quotes Thieu as saying he knows how to cope with the Communists on the battlefield, but he doesn't know how to deal with them politically. Thieu is worried that the disciplined Communist cadres might win the political struggle in the countryside. His own cadres, Thieu complained, are amateurs compared to the Communists.

WILL CAIRO NEGOTIATE? — Every recent attempt by Washington to reopen negotiations over a Middle East settlement has been rebuffed by Cairo. Nevertheless, the chief American negotiator, Joseph Sisco, is going ahead with the arrangements for another diplomatic overture after the first of the year. This time, the United States expects the Egyptians to respond cautiously but favorably. One possible result: The reopening of the Suez Canal next year.

— Around the U.S. —

IS FAMINE POSSIBLE? — Government experts are quietly expressing concern that the United States may run short of grain sometime in the 1970s. American bins have been loaded with so much surplus grain that the idea of famine may seem remote. However, foreign nations — most notably India and Russia — have come to rely on the United States for their grain. The expected run on U.S. grain in the next few years could leave this country dangerously short. To prevent this, the government may soon start to bring millions of reserve acreage back into production.

INCOME TAX DAY — Outgoing Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma is now beginning to organize a National Day of Mourning for all Americans who pay high income taxes. The day of protest is tentatively scheduled for April 15th. Harris intends to make Income Tax Day 1973 as dramatic as Easter Day in 1970.

You Can Still Make Contributions To Fund For Indochina Victims

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Many people have told us that they would have attended the Ecumenical Christmas Candlelight Service at Bethany Congregational Church on December 12 but the roads were just too treacherous to travel.

The service was offered as a memorial for the victims of the war in Indochina and it was sponsored by the South Shore Chapter of Clergy and Laity Concerned. It was held in connection with the national "For The Victims" program announced December 6 in Dallas at the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

The money collected at this service was intended to be used to help relieve the suffering of war victims in Indochina through the work of Medical Aid for Indochina, the Quaker Rehabilitation Center in Quang Ngai, and the School of Youth for Social Service [Buddhist].

Since so many did have to miss the service because of the weather, I would like to inform your readers that they can still make a contribution to help. Checks should be made out to the South Shore Chapter of Clergy and Laity Concerned, clearly marked "For The Victims" in a corner of the check, and mailed to me at 53 Woodbine St., Quincy, Mass., 02170. A return address should be included so that we can acknowledge the gift.

In a season celebrating the birth of One who was sent to be the Prince of Peace, some individuals, churches or other groups may want to make a contribution to help those who are suffering because of the war.

Rev. Gene Langevin

A Commendation

From Dr. Lawrence Creedon

Editor, Quincy Sun:

On behalf of all of us affiliated with the Quincy Public Schools may I express to you and the staff of the Quincy Sun our deep appreciation for your constant interest in the activities of the young people attending our public schools.

Your coverage of our athletic, PTA, music and special event activities is excellent.

During the past few years the elementary page in The Quincy Sun has been used by scores of our elementary school teachers as a motivating factor in composition and creative writing. Obviously the young writers delight in seeing their work printed in The Sun.

In addition, I would like to thank you for extending the column of the Quincy Sun to the English and journalism classes of North Quincy High School and Quincy High School.

All of us who live and learn in Quincy are fortunate in having a newspaper such as The Quincy Sun that has such a positive and meaningful attitude toward the activities, efforts and thoughts of our young people.

A 'Thank You'

From Social Security Office

Editor, Quincy Sun:

On behalf of the Social Security Administration, I wish to thank you for your wholehearted cooperation in helping us to inform the public of the various benefits provided by our programs. We appreciate your efforts, sincerely.

Your public service is to be commended. May we take this opportunity to extend to you and the staff of The Quincy Sun, our very best wishes for a joyous holiday season.

District Manager

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

More toys are purchased during the holiday season than any other time of year, and the Consumer Protection Division warns every holiday buyer to choose toys carefully.

Those which are the most dangerous have been cheaply and carelessly slapped together. Model car wheels may fall off to expose sharp metal axles. Stuffed animal eyes may be stuck on with pins which pull out easily. Protective tips of tops or other toys may come off or wear through, exposing a sharp metal spine.

Other toys have been constructed from materials that can cut and scratch. Doll dishes or furniture made of glass or brittle plastic may shatter or splinter. Magnetic puzzles may break uncovering jagged metal edges. Flexi-toys may shed their rubber coating to expose a metal "skeleton".

Toys sold with inadequate tags or instructions may harm unknowing children. Parents should not only read the directions but should also test the toys. Play ovens and irons should be checked to see that they do not heat up to excessively high temperatures. Battery-operated toys, which are preferable to those using electric currents, should be checked for battery leakage. Dolls should carry tags verifying that none of their parts—hair, clothing, body or stuffing—is composed of flammable material.

Toys that encourage violence or bad habits may present a special type of hazard. War games and weapons, including air rifles and exploding "bombs" are examples of possibly dangerous toys.

Many blatantly dangerous toys have been removed from the market, but others presenting less obvious hazards, are still on sale in local stores.

Although no plaything can be 100 per cent safe, parents must learn to look for the potential dangers of toys and to ensure that harmful toys do not find their way into the playroom.

All Post Offices

In Alien

Registration

All post offices will cooperate in the annual alien address reporting program next January, the U.S. Postal Service announces.

The Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 requires aliens resident in the U.S. on Jan. 1 to report their addresses to the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

As in past years, all post offices will participate in the program to the extent of distributing address reporting cards [Form I-531] to aliens and forwarding the cards after completion to Immigration and Naturalization Service offices.

The form — a manila punch card similar to the one used for 1972 alien reporting — will be available for distribution at post offices on the first business day of January 1973. Completed forms must be turned in before the end of January.

The cards are being supplied to post offices during November by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, but the forms cannot be handed out to the public until January.

'Christmas Comes But Once A Year'

"Christmas comes but once a year...and when it comes it brings good cheer"...but not for everyone. Counselors are busier at this time of the year because...Christmas for many people is one of the saddest times of the year. People who are lonely are more lonely at the holiday season. People who are separated feel the pain of separation all the more when they see families together. For many people Christmas does not bring good cheer.

The real message of Christmas is peace and love in relationship. I think the reality of peace and love has been badly despoiled. While the bombers that are bought with our tax money still drop bombs which kill people...the peace of Christmas in my heart is disturbed. When a tender...loving young woman sits in my office and sobs because the man she loves...her husband...says he no longer loves her...the love of the Christmas message is disturbed in me. When a man comes to me having been forced out of his house by the court because "my wife no longer loves me"...my soul is deeply troubled. All this is contrary to the real spirit of Christmas. Christmas simply accentuates the pain of loneliness...rejection...separation for many people.

I want to make these suggestions where Christmas is not bringing good cheer. First...be willing to reconsider the recent actions which you have taken which have thrust upon another person the state of loneliness...rejection...separation. If you are trying to get peace and love I cannot fault you. But in the process are you depriving another of his/her peace and love? Reconsider. Don't move too fast. Maybe the gaps can be closed between you...so you can both have peace and love this Christmas.

Secondly...Be willing to change. Whatever behavior is learned can be changed. You don't have to keep on criticizing...or nagging...or coming home late...or emasculating...or remaining silent...or still acting like a spoiled brat demanding your own way. You can change any behavior that you want to change. Such changes would be great Christmas gifts for some people...might even restore the spirit of peace and love...relieve some loneliness...rejection...separation. Be willing to change.

Thirdly...Be willing to talk. To refuse to talk and listen and feel what the other person is saying shows that you are insincere...insecure...not certain of your position. To walk away from a dialogue is cowardly...immature...weak. Talk through. No relationship problem can be solved without communication. The Christian faith asserts that God communicated to man in the Person of Jesus Christ. Personally I like what He said...about peace and love...and personally mean to answer back affirmatively to the message...by living in peace and love with my fellow man. The point is that no relationship will work without communication...between man and man...between God and man.

I received a Christmas card from a young family this week which really impressed me. On the front was a pretty picture of the dove of peace. Inside were these words: "Dear Friends, instead of giving gifts to our family and friends this Christmas we are making a contribution to the United Nations' Children's Fund [UNICEF]. We hope you share with us the belief that this is a gift of love in keeping with the Christmas spirit." I felt I had received a great gift when I received that card. Lonely...rejected...children will benefit from their gift.

One more suggestion to you...make a phone call to someone you know who is lonely...rejected...separated. It might be his/her greatest gift. Could be their only message of peace and love.

MONEY TALKS

How to Become Wealthy—2

"So Overwhelming You Can't Resist It"

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 9-7:30 Thursdays

The crucial test to the self-helpers on whether you are content with phantasms of success or propose to do something about them is your willingness to get started — right now.

Procrastination is the formidable foe of achievement. All of us have experienced emotional excitement at some stage of our lives over a cause or personal goal that gripped us. We recall, too often, that the good intentions surrounding this inspiration were eventually lost because we didn't act upon them immediately.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men," wrote Shakespeare, "which taken at the flood leads on to fortune; omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries."

It is not necessary at this moment that you see through to the end of the enterprise lurking in the back of your mind. Without burning present bridges behind you (since you may not now be aware of your destination) you can nevertheless take initial steps toward refining your plan of action.

One thing every self-help book will tell you is to save something of what you earn. Noting that wealth can be acquired on a modest salary, George S. Clason in his book The Richest Man in Babylon proposes this formula:

- 1) Just save one dime out of every dollar you earn.
- 2) Each six months invest your savings and interest returns from these savings.
- 3) When you invest, seek expert advice on safe investments and thus you won't rashly lose your principal.

Napoleon Hill reports that one 50-year-old man told him he had read his book Think and Grow Rich but had not yet become wealthy—in fact, he was still in debt. Hill replied that the reason was he had not applied the lessons he had learned. He still lacked "a positive mental attitude."

Five years later the man reported that he had taken the advice, was out of debt, and felt he was now on the road to wealth.

The authors find various and good reasons for suggesting saving. However expressed, they can be summarized along these lines:

—Saving will alter your thinking from purposeless, day-to-day expenditure of all your resources to the realization that your employment should provide for your future as well as the present.

—It will afford tangible evidence that you are making progress toward your financial goal.

—It will provide the initial investment for whatever projects your new life goals may encourage.

Many successful men attest that the first few thousand dollars they saved were the most difficult. After that, with their accumulated capital, a sense of purpose, and the ability to recognize opportunity when it came, they found the going easier.

Getting started on the road to wealth may be likened to launching an expedition to the moon. The biggest problem was getting men and equipment out of the confines of the earth's atmosphere. That accomplished, the rest was smoother sailing.

'Without Christ In Christmas There Can Be No Real Happiness'

Following is the essay of Catriona McGregor, seventh grade student at St. Mary's School, who won first prize in her category in the contest sponsored by the North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

By CATRIONA MCGREGOR

Many people have not forgotten the religious significance of Christmas.

For these people Christmas day is a happy occasion, because they are celebrating the birth of Christ which took place almost 2,000 years ago.

The reason Christ was born was to forgive the world for the sins men had committed. He worked miracles. He cured people from diseases. He made the blind see, and the lame walk. He also brought the dead back to life. And in the end he suffered and died for us on a cross.

Unfortunately, these days some people push all religion and all stories of Christ's life to one side. They ignore the fact that God chose the Savior to be born in a stable in Bethlehem, on Dec. 25th, the first Christmas day.

The three kings gave Christ gifts when he was born and that is where the tradition comes from of our giving gifts to friends and relatives on His birthday. Without Christ in Christmas there can be no real happiness.

There will be no meaning anymore in Christmas if we take Christ out of it, if we do, what would Christmas be? If Christ had not been born in Bethlehem that day we would not even have a Christmas. No one with any sense would think of taking Christ out of Christmas.

If we keep Christ in Christmas we will all obtain the real spirit meaning and love of the Christmas Season. By bringing Christ into everyone's home and offering everything we do to Christ; if we do this Christ will fulfill His promise, "Peace I leave with you. My own peace I give to you, a peace the world cannot give. This is My gift to you."

Student Probers Find :

Laughing Gas In Whipped Cream; Talcum Powder In Aspirin

By NORMAN GOTLIEB

Did you know that a can of whipped cream contains laughing gas, or that aspirin contains talcum powder?

Investigations like these have been and are still being done by students of Charles MacLaughlin, a science teacher at Quincy High.

The purpose of these investigations is to find out more about the normal, average everyday things to prove they are not as great as they seem. In the case of the whipped cream, John McCourt, one of Mr. MacLaughlin's past students, now a senior has found that an average can of whipped cream contains about 1/2 gallon of laughing gas [Nitrous Oxide].

This is done because the can is pressurized, and therefore needs some kind of gas to push the whipped cream out. However only a very small amount will get in your system, unless taken in vast quantities.

Another investigation in common products, was that of throat lozenges. Laurie Cook, another of Mr. MacLaughlin's past students, found that the product contains hexoexorsenal, and that both the children's dosage and the adult dosage contains the exact same amount of ingredients, except for the flavor. The dosage itself was found to be ridiculously low.

This year Mr. MacLaughlin's students are working on the investigation of such products as toothpaste which contains hexocolorophine; Vapor Rub, an analysis of hamburgers of various chains [to find out the meat content and the hamburgers' nutritional value]. As well as these investigations, aspirin is being researched to show possible relationship between aspirin and stomach disorders.

Other research the students have done, has shown that brand name products are more expensive for the same amount and content than unknown names.

The research work is done in the manner of writing letters to the companies to get information [which many companies don't like to reveal]; research papers and experiments and demonstrations. Through this manner students hopefully will become more aware of the ingredients in products.

Orr, Espo Clown Around

Bruins Practice Session Three Ring Circus On Ice

By BRIAN SULLIVAN

Two puppies frolic in the sand at the beach, pulling each others tender, small, ears, every once in a while nipping one another's leg as they both vie for the chewed-up old bone that lies nestled in the red hot, white beach powder.

Sounds like a familiar scene? Well it is to anyone who has ever attended a Bruins practice. The Bruins in practice are like a bunch of young kids playing shinny on the river, yelling and screaming, tripping each other, holding sticks and playing without a care in the world.

Bobby Orr gets caught down ice and low and behold what does he do trying to get back and cover up? He trips each player of the line in front of him!

Phil Esposito as he forechecks Orr in front of the net mocks him kiddingly by putting his hand on his waist and changing the expression on his face. Don Awrey smashes Mike Walton into the boards so he can hear the ou-ou-ou's of an appreciative audience.

Nick Beverly trips Espo as he starts a rush down ice, Espo later inserts his stick into Beverly's skate and with this escorts his raised leg a quarter of the way down the ice.

All these capers, thought about collectively by someone who has never seen the Boston team play a game, would have him wondering if what they say about the Bruins record and accomplishments are nothing but propaganda!

Alas, our beloved brutes are not misleading, but instead probably the most talented and most adaptable team in the National Hockey League. Show me another team that could survive the losses of Sanderson, Cheevers, McKenzie, Plumb, Westfall, Green, Peters, and a prospect in Bouchard and yet be almost at the top of the heap in their respective division at this point in the season.

As Carol Vadnais said in an exclusive Quincy interview after the "exercise" why should great players such as we have on the Bruins work hard when they don't need it. Sure, I need to practice more than someone like Bobby [Orr], but that's just me alone. Why should the ones who don't need it go out and do it?

Well, if the Bruins continue to win games and Stanley Cups like they have the past few years, maybe, just maybe, they'll patent their formula for team harmony and practice and sell it to the rest of the National Hockey League!

•• CHECKMATE ••

By WILLIAM DUNN

Now that the World Championship is over and an American, Bobby Fischer, wears the crown, there seems to be a great chess boom arising in the U.S.

Here in Quincy it is most apparent in the high school.

On a normal day at Quincy High you can't walk through the library without noticing at least six games going on at once.

People that once considered chess a game for old stuffy scholars are now picking up the pieces and learning the moves. Beginners are participating all over. This brings me to my reason for this article.

You see, teaching someone the pieces and how they move and dropping it there, is like taking a one-year-old child, turning it out on the streets and saying "go to it kid, its your show." Learning the pieces and how they move is not learning the game of Chess.

The true game involves, knowing what pieces to move at a specific time or in a specific situation, knowing why specific moves are made and how to counter them, and planning your game. [Does a general send his troops to war without a battle plan?]

What I intend to do is to discuss and show all these things in this section regularly. I will try to present my views and ideas on the game in a clear, concise manner and in a way that even the beginner will understand.

I will use as my examples games which are played by beginners and intermediates and they will come straight from the average high school students.

I invite you to take out your own chess set and follow along as I bring you these examples and my analysis of the world of the 64 squares.

My topic next week: Simple Chess Openings and Chess Notation.

See you then.

Their Pay: Experience

Job Internships Start In January

By KEVIN FOLEY

For the second year, Quincy High is taking part in an independent study program which allows students to leave school to pursue something that may interest them more than the usual school curriculum.

There are about 30 students at Quincy High who will start their internships in January. Internships are strictly volunteer

- the only payment the student receives is experience.

After interviewing some of the students who will be starting their internships in January, all seem to like the program.

Two students will be working at an educational television station, helping to plan children's shows. Some students will be working at different theatres in Boston. Some girls will be working at day care centers and still other students will be working in photography studios and art studios.

The opportunities in the independent study project are endless, and most students see the program as something worthwhile enough to substitute for regular school on occasion.

Now, Co-Ed Gym Classes If You Don't Feel Uncomfortable

By NANCY SIDDENS

One of the many programs new to Quincy High - Vocational Technical School this year is the gym elective program.

Instead of being forced into playing certain sports, the student may choose which gym class he or she would like to attend. Each class requires a different uniform suitable to the type of activity the student will be doing.

The classes are also held as a double period so there is plenty of time to really get involved in the class. Previously, with only one period, most of the class time was used in getting changed into and out of uniforms and taking attendance.

Another new aspect of gym classes is that most of them are co-ed. This proves to be very valuable in most situations. In a gymnastics class girls have the aid of a boy's strength if they need help in executing certain stunts. In health and fitness students become familiar with physical fitness of both sexes.

If a student feels he or she would be uncomfortable in a co-ed gym class he or she can always choose a non-co-educational class. The two non-co-ed classes are boy's and girl's team sports.

These are the seven different gym class choices:

- Water Sports - This is only offered first and second periods of the day and takes place in the YMCA. It includes various types of swimming activities. Uniform: Bathing suit and cap for those with long hair.

- Movement Education - This involves gymnastics and various types of dance. Students have access to trampoline, even and uneven parallel bars, balance beam, horse, still rings, high bar, and mini-tramp. Uniform: Leotard or regulation uniform.

- Girl's Team Sports - Students play the various sports of the season. Examples are field hockey, volleyball, basketball, and softball. Uniform: Regulation uniform.

- Boy's Team Sports - Students again play various sports of the season. Examples are football, volleyball, basketball, and baseball.

Uniform: Regulation uniform.

- Health and Fitness - Jogging and exercising are done during each class. Mental fitness and diet are discussed. Uniform: Sweat pants and sweatshirt in cold weather. Option of regulation uniform or shorts and T-shirt in warm weather.

- Social Sports and Games - This class covers the most variety of activity. Chess, checkers, ping pong and other various less active games are played. More active things also take place in the forms of bike hikes, ice skating, and horse back riding, etc. Uniform: School clothes, preferably slacks for girls.

- Lifetime Sports - This involves the three individual sports, tennis, golf, and archery. They are done at the most appropriate time for each during the year. Uniform: Regulation uniform.

Regulation uniform for the boys consists of gym shorts and T-shirt with socks and sneakers. For the girls it is a one piece suit with short sleeves and shorts and sneakers and socks.

What's Your Pet Peeve?

Quincy High and Vocational Technical students and faculty were asked in a poll, "What is your pet peeve?" Following are some of the responses:

"People taking me for granted."

The Christmas Story

Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. This first census took place while Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And all were going, each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also sent from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem -- because he was of the house and family of David -- to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a Manger, because there was no room for them in the Inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round about them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Clergymen Organize To Help Woodward School Development

At the December meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Woodward School for Girls, clergymen of Quincy organized to work on the continual improvement of the school.

"It's most gratifying to have this support for Woodward," said Mrs. Eunice Gilford, the school's new principal. She reported that there are 65 girls enrolled at the present time and she is interviewing prospective students.

Members of the Board accepted responsibilities in various areas of the life of the school. Working in the field of guidance and placement will be the Rev. Alicia Corea, Hough's Neck Congregational Church; while the Rev. William Heinrich Jr. of The First Church in Quantum will be the Board's liaison with the Student Government.

Assisting with plans for the Chapel services will be Rev. William McPherson of Glad Tidings Church. The recruitment of new students will be under the guidance of Atlantic Methodist minister, Rev. Robert Bossdorf. Responsible for personnel will be Rev. John R. Graham of the United First Parish Church, who is also chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Responsible for working with the Principal and faculty in the field of curriculum is Rev. William Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, Wollaston.

50 Youngsters Attend S. Quincy Christmas Party

A visit by Mrs. Santa Claus, as well as old Santa himself, highlighted the first annual Christmas party of the South Quincy Civic Association Sunday at Walter Scott Hall.

Santa, a close friend of William F. Walsh, arrived at the party by way of a rear chimney, much to the delight of some 50 children, while the band played "Santa Claus is Coming to Town".

Mrs. Santa arrived in a more sedate manner, by way of the door, explaining that this was one party she did not want to miss. She assisted Santa in making out his list.

Ice cream, Christmas candy, cookies, soda pop and Christmas surprises were served and distributed to the children, ranging in age from 5 to 10 years, by more than 30 committee members.

The party was financed by the proceeds of the association's recent Flea Market. The use of the hall was donated by Ruth Miller of the Quincy Beauty Academy.

Mrs. Jennie Beatrice, the association's projects chairman, and Mr. Walsh, who is vice president, served as co-chairmen of the party.

Poet's Corner

NATIVITY

A Bit of Earthly Heaven.
Is Christmas, ever old and ever new...

And the greatest festival
Of the year, accompanied with Love sprays of Yule cheer.

Here and there, we spot
The manger scene...

An inspiring statue reproduction:
Where the Child-Jesus in a Stable was born, resting in A straw crib; while His Holy Mother Mary, and Saint Joseph

The Father, watched their Son.

The World's King ...
Beam with Light Divine.

Came from the far East
Three wise men, offering
Their precious unique gifts.
While shepherds and animals Kneel in adoration and wonderment.

And Herald Angels singing
Songs of Peace and Joy.

Open the Inn of your Hearts,
And make room to welcome
Jesus' Love to dwell within you.

For the Message of this Day
Is giving and sharing each Other's "love and affection".

Anna T. Anderson, Quincy

In Basketball Action

Quincy, North Look Good In GBLOpeners

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy basketball teams opened their Greater Boston League seasons Tuesday night with the Raiders' defending champs off and running again and the Presidents, despite two non-league defeats last week, showing promise and Coach Marty Finnegan warning, "watch out for us."

Bob Nolan's North quintet started defense of its league crown at home against Chelsea, while Quincy opened at Malden. These were the last regularly scheduled games until Dec. 29 but North will play in the Brockton holiday tournament next Tuesday and Wednesday with Brockton, Lexington and New Bedford.

The Raiders, 17-0 in regular season play last year, got off on the right foot last week with an easy 62-43 win at Weymouth South, their 20th straight regular season win.

"This was a pretty good game for the opener," Nolan said. "Both teams made mistakes but we forced them into several turnovers and that pleased me, as did our defense. I was disappointed in our shooting and rebounding but these should come along."

North led, 30-19, at halftime and stretched this to 46-33 going into the last period.

The Raiders had 16 offensive rebounds, 13 defensive rebounds, forced 17 turnovers and made 22 recoveries. They hit on 33 percent from the floor.

Ken Marsters scored 12 points, Jamie Doherty and John Stevens 10 apiece.

Eddie Miler, a former North captain himself, made a fine debut as junior varsity coach as his team romped, 53-38. Steve Maloney had 10 points and Carl Leone was outstanding off the boards.

Quincy dropped a 63-60 heartbreaker to B.C. High in its opener after taking a 13-point lead into the final period, then lost to a good Weymouth North team, 72-60.

Finnegan was naturally disappointed at losing a 13-point lead in the final period to B.C. but was pleased with the Presidents' efforts against Weymouth North, playing for the first time under Steve Gregg, a former Weymouth star under Bill Kearns, whom he succeeded as coach.

The Presidents, who sorely miss veteran Mike Marvelle, who broke his ankle in a scrimmage against Wellesley, appeared to be home free against B.C. High but in the last period the Eaglets confounded the Quincy offense with a 2-3 zone. Turnovers and poor shooting both from the floor and foul line were costly to the Presidents, who scored only eight points in the last quarter while B.C. High exploded for 24.

John Reggiannini, last year's top scorer, started out with a 26-point effort, while Ken Furfari scored 12.

Against Weymouth North, Quincy was down by 20 points at the half and Finnegan was extremely pleased with the team's refusal to quit. "The boys could have given up but they refused to do so and the way they continued to fight back was very satisfying to me," the veteran coach said.

"Weymouth has a fine club and Steve Gregg is going to be a fine coach, believe me, who will carry on the tradition of his predecessor, Bill Kearns. He is a welcome addition to the South Shore scene."

"I think a lot of our kids grew up in this game and will be tough from here in. These boys are going to do all right in our league this year."

"We really miss Marvelle, who is an outstanding shooter and rebounder but the way some of the boys looked at Weymouth, I think we will be able to fill his shoes, at least partially."

Reggiannini had another big night with 22 points, while Furfari again played a fine game. Finnegan also hailed the play of Jim McKinnon, Ray Papile and Phil Iovanna.

"Mark MacLeod played his best offensive game ever filling in for Marvelle and he is going to help us considerably," Finnegan added.

Q-N Girls' Basketball Underway

The high school girls' basketball season got underway Tuesday with North Quincy hosting Chelsea and Quincy going to Malden for Greater Boston League games.

Friday, Dec. 29 Everett plays at North Quincy and Tuesday, July 2, Quincy will be home to Revere.

Last year Gale Palmer's Quincy girls finished second and Barbara Webster's North girls fourth in the GBL and Miss Webster has high hopes of doing better this winter.

"We have a lot of veterans and the varsity has good depth, unlike last year," Barbara said. "We now have people on the bench who can come in and do the job. We have some good height and what we might lack on offense we will make up on defense."

"We have some excellent foul shooters and may be able to win some of our games from the foul line. The junior varsity team has a lot of beginners but I think they will do well if they just remember to keep calm and not get too excited."

All but two of the varsity squad are veterans, giving the team more experience than last year.

The returnees are Denise Beresnewitz, Dianne Smith, Lynn Tabor, Leslie Runge, Nancy Laing, Debbie Matson, Terry Fitzgerald, Donna Zenker and Cathy Conroy. The newcomers are Nancy Willard and Terry Conroy.

Jayves who played a year ago are Dianne Dunn, Jane Demars, Helen Blaney, Doris Aiken, Jonlyn Riley, Jean Riley and Charlene Lewis.

Playing for the first time are Helen Langley, Ellen Monihan, Maryanne Byk, Maryanne Dunn, Beth Lagodemus, Cheryl Walsh, Saralee Cobban, Helen Thompson, Susan Whitehouse, Cathy Sheehan, Donna DiCarlo, Brenda Kelly and Jackie Adams.

The North coach hopes more fans will turnout for the games this year.

"Last year about 25 faithful followers came to the games but it is hard for the kids to understand why more people won't come," she explained. "Let's back the girls this year and really get girls' sports off the ground."

First Of Three Games

Quincy, North Hockey Teams Clash Friday

Quincy and North hockey teams will clash for the first time Friday night at 6:30 p.m. at Boston Arena.

This will be the first of three games this season between the two rivals.

Next Tuesday, North plays Chelsea at 12:30 p.m. and Quincy takes on Everett at 2 p.m.

Monday night North was walloped by Malden, 7-0. Wednesday night Quincy played Medford.

In their opening games last week Quincy bowed to defending champion and title favorite Revere, 4-1, and North dropped a 3-2 decision in the last four and a half minutes to Somerville.

Sylvia rates Revere as the team to beat again this year and the Patriots showed why they are highly rated as Dave Gagliardi scored three goals to spark the impressive win.

Dave scored two unassisted goals in the first period and scored the other in the final session.

The lone Quincy goal was scored by outstanding sophomore Ted Wiedemann, who converted Paul Campbell's pass.

"Revere is very strong and our big problem, as usual, is scoring," Sylvia said. "If we can just develop some scoring punch, we should give a good account of ourselves."

Somerville squeezed by a much improved North squad on John Tammaro's rebound shot at 5:26 of the final period.

Somerville's Andy Vivian had put his team ahead, 2-0, with two first period goals. Ken Graham scored for North at 5:50, with Andy Collier assisting, and there was no more scoring until the third period.

Steve McKay tied it up for the Raiders on a pass from Joe Lannin, but then Tammaro banged home a short rebound for the clincher.

"We are much improved over last year and I think we will do all right," Erikson said. "This was a tough game to lose but all the boys played their hearts out."

Quincy Youth Hockey

Farina, Blackwood, Bersani Win Bantam Openers

Farina Kitchens, Blackwood Pharmacy and Bersani Brothers emerged as victors in the opening round of the Quincy Youth Hockey's Bantam House League at Hingham Arena Saturday.

Cummings scored for Johnson's. Blackwood Pharmacy defeated The Quincy Sun, 6-3, on two goals apiece by Dave Hurley and Dick Danner and singletons by Peter Jabaily and Jim Connors. Bobby Fitzpatrick got two and Paul Flanders one for The Sun.

Bersani Brothers got single goals from Gerry Smith, John McAuliffe and John Chiavari to squeeze by Derringer's, 3-2.

Bruce Brennan and Paul Barry were the scorers for Derringer's.

Saturday's [Dec. 23] schedule for the Bantams at Hingham Arena:

Bersani Brothers vs. Quincy Sun, 7 a.m., Rink A.

Johnson Motor Parts vs. Blackwood Pharmacy, 7:15 a.m., Rink C.

Marshall Asks MDC To Repair Shea Rink Roof

Rep. Clifford H. Marshall [D-Quincy] has asked MDC Commissioner John Sears to "see to it personally" that repairs are made to the Shea Skating Rink's roof before it is converted into a 10-month skating facility.

"The other day," Marshall wrote to Sears, "my son had a game there, along with his youth hockey team, and when we went to the rink we found that we could not use the ice because the roof was leaking so badly during the rain that the ice was flooded. "I am under the impression that one of the reasons that the roof is leaking is because workmen working on the enclosure of the rink had to walk on the tin roof."

"Will you please see to it personally that before the contract is finished and the rink completely enclosed that all maintenance in conjunction with the rink manager be reviewed and workmen have repairs made in the contract."

Red Team Dominates St. Joseph's Hockey

The Red Team continued its domination of the St. Joseph's Hockey League last week as the defending champions trounced the Gold Team, last year's runnersup, by a score of 7-2.

Mike McNalley, Hal McLarnon and Jim Steen each had two goals for the Red Team while Rick Brunstrum had one.

Paul Veneziano had four goals as the Blue Team rolled over the Green Team, 11-0. Bill Driscoll had two goals and Paul Erickson, Ed DeGizzi, Dick Kelly, Mark Walker and Rick Della Barba had one each.

O'Brien Club Bows

The O'Brien Club of Quincy, a new entry in the strong Cranberry Basketball League, continues to have troubles late in the game and suffered its third straight league defeat, 85-78, at the hands of the Easton Huskies Sunday at Easton.

The Quincy quintet again sought league win number one last night against the Weymouth Alphas at Weymouth. Tonight [Thursday] it faces the Brockton Stars at Brockton's West Junior High school. This is a makeup of a postponed game.

The O'Briens will then be idle until Jan. 4 when they face the Red Boot Club of Canton, which, as Beau's Place of Quincy, won the league title last year.

The Quincy club and Easton were tied, 22-22, after one period, 40-40, at the half and 58-58, after three periods. Down by two points with two minutes remaining, the Quincy players went for the ball and costly fouls resulted.

"This is a well-balanced league this year with every team having lost at least once," Manager Leo Papile said. "We have lost three in a row but all games have been close and we have just faded at the end. We are a new club and are getting used to playing together now and should start winning soon."

The O'Brien club played without starter Brian Buckley, who injured his knee in a practice last week.

Tom Cairns, 6-10 center, scored 23 points and dominated the boards, Gus Grazio had 14, Herm Donaldson 14 and Rick Starziak 10.

In Track

Quincy, North Both Win 46 - 30

Last Saturday saw a rarity in Quincy and North Quincy high school sports.

The two winter track teams came through with wins on the same day.

Quincy, with Tom Hall at the helm for the first time, opened its season in the newly formed Greater Boston League with a 46-30 win over Malden.

North, under the veteran Bob Gentry, topped highly rated Somerville by the same score at the Medford High cage, where all league meets will be held.

Saturday morning at 9:30 Quincy will face Revere, one of the top-rated teams, while North has a bye.

John Johnson was a double winner for Quincy, taking the hurdles and tying teammate Art DiLoreto in the high jump. DiLoreto, only a sophomore, also took third in the hurdles.

Marty Swirko won the 1000-yard run with Fred Norkus second [it was Norkus' best effort ever], while Steve Nolan was first and Gary Delorio second in the mile. The other winner for the Presidents was Ray Lawyer in the 50-yard dash.

"I was pleased with our opening performance, but we must strengthen ourselves in some events," Hall, who succeeded Gene Macomber as winter coach said.

Somerville was one of the league favorites but North, its best looking team in years, turned in a tremendous performance.

The Raiders' top scorer was Jack Reynolds, who won the high jump and hurdles and anchored the winning relay team. But Bray won the shot put, Lee Watkins the 300 and Bob McCormack the mile. Steve Fransoso took second in the shot and hurdles and the winning relay team comprised Watkins, McCormack, Jack Pomerole and Reynolds.

"I am tremendously pleased and I think we should do well this year," Gentry said. "It was an excellent way to start our season."

The GBL was organized when the 24-school Met League disbanded after many years due to unavailability of sites.

Between the Covers

This week we will give our attention to books we think men would enjoy receiving as Christmas gifts.

A very interesting book for transportation buffs would be Brian J. Cudahy's CHANGE AT PARK STREET UNDER (Stephen Greene Press, $4.95). This was written in conjunction with the 75th anniversary of the Boston subway system, the first in the United States. It is so timely that the Quincy line is included! It is illustrated with many interesting old photographs.

For those who are of Canadian extraction THE HISTORY OF CANADA: from Discovery to Present Day, by William Kaye Lamb (American Heritage, $17.50) would have appeal. It is a major reference work, lavishly illustrated, which conveys the flavor and excitement of Canadian history from the Viking discoverers to Trudeau.

Any young tycoons or entrepreneurs on your list? An eye-appealing HISTORY OF AMERICAN BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY, by Alex Groner and the editors of American Heritage and Business Week [American Heritage Pub. Co. $20] has just been issued. It is expensive but would be well received by anyone interested in our economic history.

The success stories of many business leaders appear in inserts throughout, for example, J. C. Penney, James B. Duke, Joseph P. Kennedy and William Colgate. The impact and influence of technological advances on our life style, the gains of organized labor, the chain store, the greedy monopolies, and the changes brought about by the great wars and depressions are told in concise prose and through an excellent collection of historical pictures and cartoons, many in color. A browser's delight!

For the man of the house there is a very useful new book: HOW TO PAINT ANYTHING, by Hubbard H. Cobb. [Macmillan, $5.95] It is a complete guide to painting and refinishing, including how to paint metals, boats, swimming pools, driveways, automobiles, pianos and other odd items as well as interior and exterior house painting.

The premise that any book is a new book until you have read it leads us to include three books which were popular last Christmas as gifts. One is William H. Bunting's PORTRAIT OF A PORT: BOSTON, 1852-1914. [Belknap Press, $20.] This is a well designed book which will appeal to people familiar with the Boston Harbor area. There are 234 photographs of ships, wharves, shipbuilding, and the Navy. Also, if you missed OLD NANTASKET, by Dr. William M. Bergan [Christopher, $6.] now is the time to buy it, read it, and wrap it up for a friend, man or woman. It is full of chuckles for those who remember, and surprises for those whose innocence protected them from knowing there was more going on than the merry-go-round.

And, last but not least, of the oldies for today is Edward Rowe Snow's most successful ISLANDS OF BOSTON HARBOR [Dodd, $5.95] which was re-issued last year after being out-of-print for many years. The demand for this book never slackened and it was a great relief to libraries to have a new edition made available. A good buy!

City Purchases New $59,999 Pumper

Quincy has purchased a new pumper truck for the Wollaston Fire Station - but don't expect to see it rushing off to the next fire.

It won't be delivered until next summer at the earliest.

The winning bid on the deisel operated, automatic transmission, thousand gallon-a-minute pumper was submitted by Maxim Motors of Middleboro. It was $59,999.

The only other bid came from Ward LaFrance Truck Co. of Elmira Heights, N.Y. It was $64,499.

Work on the truck, which is hand made, began after bids were recently opened and is expected to take 165 working days, an average of about 20 working days a month.

It's the second pumper Quincy has purchased in two years.

"I think we got a better deal than we got a year ago," said Richard Newcomb, purchasing agent. "Last year the bid was $47,000 but it cost us $17,000 to equip it. This one comes fully equipped."

The full equipment includes a chrome-plated deck gun, a 24-foot extension ladder, a 14-foot ladder, 900 feet of inch and a half hose, 1,500 feet of three inch hose and two pick axes.

But, like we said, don't expect it soon.

"The one we ordered last year hasn't been delivered yet," says Newcomb.

And recently the town of Danvers had to wait two and a half years after the order was placed.

MEDICARE- WHEN TO ENROLL

When should you enroll for Medicare? You should contact your local social security office by letter or phone three months before you turn 65. Then you'll be sure to get Part A [the free hospital insurance protection] without delay - even if you intend to keep on working. If you are already receiving social security - having retired with a reduced benefit at 62 - you will automatically become entitled to Part A at age 65.

Timing is especially important for Part B [voluntary medical insurance plan]. Your first chance to sign up is sometime from 3-months before to 3-months after you reach 65. Your protection won't start until one to three months after you enroll, so sign as early as you can. If you miss out on this initial opportunity, you'll have to wait until the next general enrollment period. That runs from January through March of every year. After 3 years, your eligibility lapses permanently.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

The Godfather Dies Hard

Film stalwarts JOHN WAYNE, JAMES STEWART, and HENRY FONDA will appear in cameo roles in JOHN FORD'S story of West Point's first Black graduate "THE STORY OF GEORGE CLAYTON". Gaining valued experience alongside the above mentioned cinema giants is athlete-turned-actor JIM O'VINGSTON... If the movie version is as thrilling as the book, I can see myself viewing "THE DAY OF THE JACKAL" at least four times around...

According to a survey taken by the Doxa Public Opinion Poll, 40% of Italy's 54 million inhabitants go to the show on a regular week in and week out basis. Being the case, this would make Italians the world's "most loyal fans"... And also explains in part how CLINT EASTWOOD vaulted to international fame via his spaghetti westerns. If the Italians liked him, could the rest of the world do otherwise... LORNE GREENE will host the Highlights of RINGLING BROS. & BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCUS for NBC-TV on Feb. 18...

Don't ask me how or why, but MARLON BRANDO figures prominently in "THE GODFATHER II". I can't understand how the producers have resurrected his character, considering BRANDO'S Don Corleone died at the end of the original... Resurrections aside, BRANDO is "asking" $500,000 plus 10% of the gross for his efforts... Wouldn't you say the BURT REYNOLDS show-all in the December issue of Playboy was, to shudder the least, "hairy"... And for the curious, yup, REYNOLDS is the first male actor to climb the sanctums of stardom via the bare, sex symbol route...

DENNIS HOPPER's next is "DIME BOX, TEXAS". With a supporting cast including WARREN OATES, PETER BOYLE and BEN JOHNSON, HOPPER, for all his ineptness as an actor, should have a solid impact at the box office... HOPPER is not an actor to attract long queuing lines with his name on the marquee alone. Like others before him, he needs all the "support" at his command... And at this stage of his career HOPPER needs a winner, or as a lead actor his lifespan can be considered caput. He can't continue to live on his "EASY RIDER" fame forever...

For the curious, brilliant French character actor JEAN GABIN is considered that country's counterpart to the late SPENCER TRACY... "WINTER SOLDIERS" shouldn't be seen by the weak of heart, or those who cling to the vision of the American combat soldier in Homeric terms... Rather "WINTER SOLDIER" is a devastating documentary of some 28 interviews by Vietnam veterans who paint a picture of war, not of glory or honor, but rather the pageant of atrocities that has become the Vietnam Conflict...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: Filmmaker LUIS BRUNEL commenting on the good life: "What I like best of all is to have a glass of red wine with a few good friends and to laugh and joke and chat with them"... Veteran ARTHUR O'CONNELL holds his profession in the same esteem it so glorifies him. As a character actor he is one of the best of our contemporary times as best supporting nominee performances in "PICNIC" and "ANATOMY OF A MURDER" reaffirm...

The western adventure "JEREMIAH JOHNSON" reunites the team of director SYDNEY POLLACK and actor ROBERT REDFORD... Years ago both appeared, as actors together, in a long forgotten production, "WARHUNT". Later on, POLLACK, as a director, directed REDFORD in "THIS PROPERTY IS CONDEMNED"... Since that picture each has gone his own way until "JEREMIAH JOHNSON"; REDFORD, an established box office superstar, and POLLACK, the same in his own right, as the 1970 motion picture "THEY SHOOT HORSES, DON'T THEY", so vaulted him...

And naturally the sequel to "TOM SAWYER" will be none other than "HUCKLEBERRY FINN"... WALT DISNEY'S "THE WORLD'S GREATEST ATHLETE" will be the 15th DISNEY picture to play the 6,000 seat Music Hall Theatre [N.Y.C.] when it opens the first of the year. The first DISNEY production to play this prestigious establishment was "SNOW WHITE" when it opened away back in Jan. 13, 1938...

Memo on ED McMAHON'S new nightclub act: Reviews ran from "He's America's MAURICE CHEVALIER" to "ED, your act is a bitch", the latter compliments of COUNT BASIE... For law and order enthusiasts, Paramount's "LAW AND ORDER" The film is a flip side takeoff of "THE GODFATHER", depicting the lives of Irish-American, father-son New York cops... Possible leads are WILLIAM HOLDEN and RYAN O'NEAL...

The 19th Asian Film Festival, scheduled to open Jan. 6, is slated to show films from the People's Republic of China, a first in that Festival's history... RITA HAYWORTH and GLENN FORD are reunited cast for roles in "MIA" with IDA LUPINO set as director of the flick... TERENCE YOUNG'S "THE AMAZONS" may not set well with die-hard Women Libbers. The theme of the $2.5 million spectacle is to illustrate that women can't live without men, and vice versa. And to that I say Amen...

FRANK YERBY'S historical novel "GOAT SONG" smacks of a possible film epic, when and if some erstwhile producer sees fit to bring this majestic book to the screen... Tip of the month for enjoyable holiday fare: "TRAVELS WITH MY AUNT". The GRAHAM GREENE novel is transformed to celluloid form with gusto, bravura, charm, warmth, and light-hearted sophistication... And unless my finer instincts tell me differently, awards galore for star MAGGIE SMITH...

Brownell Asks Pedestrian Light At Upland Rd

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked the State Department of Public Works to install a pedestrian light at the intersection of Upland Rd and Dimmock St.

In a letter to DPW Commissioner Bruce Campbell, Brownell said it is "not uncommon for 5 or 6 car accidents to occur in a week at this location."

Brownell said he hopes "we can take immediate steps to eliminate this serious community hazard before someone is seriously injured."

COTTON BOWL-BOUND Quincy High School band, color guard and majorettes flash their best traveling smiles for the home folks before boarding their flight for Dallas, Texas, where they will march in the Cotton Bowl parade on New Year's Day. Watch for them on Channel 7 starting at 10:30 a.m. [Quincy time].

It's Off To Dallas

122-Member QHS Band Leaves For Cotton Bowl

By TOM HENSHAW

A mighty effort by young and old that began last summer reaches fruition this weekend when the Quincy High School band, 122 strong, marches on national TV in the Cotton Bowl parade in Dallas, Tex.

The band, majorettes, and color guard, along with 11 chaperones and 23 paying companions, leave Logan Airport this morning [Thursday] at 10:38 a.m., on American Airlines Charter Flight 911 for five days in Texas.

Left behind, but feeling mighty good about it nevertheless, are several hundred people who helped to make it possible by raising upwards of $31,000 in six months to finance the trip.

In fact, the Band Parents' Committee and its friends did so well in the fund-raising department that they were able to pay for flight insurance and give each member of the band $10 for spending money.

Itinerary for the band's Texas adventure goes like this:

- Thursday, Dec. 28 - Leave Quincy High School shortly after 8 a.m. on six buses loaned from the School Department [two for luggage, four for people].

- Leave Logan at 10:38 a.m. on American Airlines Charter Flight 911, lunch [steak] aboard the plane, and arrive in Dallas at 1:28 p.m. [2:28 p.m. Quincy time].

- Headquarters for the band will be the Ramada Inn in suburban Irving, Texas. Practice sessions will be held on Dec. 29-30-31 in the inn's big parking lot.

- Sunday, Dec. 31 - New Year's Eve dance, hosted by the Cotton Bowl Council, for members of the visiting bands.

- Monday, Jan. 1 - The Cotton Bowl Parade, beginning at 9:30 a.m. [10:30 a.m. Quincy time], televised over the CBS network [that's Channel 7 in these parts].

On the afternoon of New Year's Day, the band will attend the Texas-Alabama football game in the Cotton Bowl as guests of the Cotton Bowl Council.

- Tuesday, Jan. 2 - A half day of sightseeing in Dallas.

- Wednesday, Jan. 3 - Leave Dallas at 10 a.m., arriving at Logan at 2:08 p.m.

One member of the color guard, Paula Bielefeldt, will be a little busier than the rest. She has several aunts and uncles living in the Dallas area and they plan a "homecoming" party for her.

Much of the work in raising money was done by the members of the band themselves, although countless parents, friends and businessmen chipped in their time and money to the cause.

Last summer, each member of the band, the majorettes and the color guard was assigned to raise $150 in the various activities sponsored by the Band Parents Committee, a total of $18,300.

Sixty seven of them raised the $150 or more, says committee member Robert F. Denvir, 23 came within $20 or $25 of making it, and 32 had to ante up money of their own for the trip.

Final accounting has not yet been made, said Denvir, but the drive netted $31,000, expenses totaled about $2,700 and checks are still dribbling in. Money in excess of expenses will go into a special account for future band activities.

Some of the more popular and lucrative money-raising events included:

Bumper stickers, more than 2,500 sold at $1 apiece.

Quincy Bazaar Days booths, $1,100.

Cocktail party, Oct. 11, $800.

Dance at the Armory, Nov. 17, $6,300.

Tag Days, Dec. 2-9, $3,800.

Auction, Dec. 10, $2,600.

[The auctioneer, Rod Morrison of Braintree, donated his services which totaled nine hours.]

Cake sales, Tuesdays and Thursdays in October and November and a big one Dec. 9, more than $700.

Buffet supper and band concert at the Vocational-Technical High School, Dec. 16, $700. [The School Department donated the food.]

The 11 chaperones who will accompany the band, chosen for their work in the fund-raising drive, are:

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ferrante, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cahill [he's the band director], Mr. and Mrs. William Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Priscilla, Joseph Pearson, William Morrill Jr., and Miss Linda Perry.

Also accompanying the band will be Joe Comer and Don Prescott, two members of last year's band which won the invitation to Dallas with their performance in last St. Patrick's Day parade in Lawrence.

Officers of the Band Parents Committee that organized the drive were:

William Donovan, president; Dino DiCenzo, vice president; Mrs. Robert F. Denvir, treasurer; Mrs. Michael Priscilla, assistant treasurer; Mrs. George McManus, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lawrence Christian, corresponding secretary.

The band presented Robert F. Denvir with an inscribed Paul Revere Bowl for his work with the committee.

Word from the State House is that the long awaited re-districting plans for Massachusetts House of Representatives are about ready to be sent to the printers next week. But one city is holding things up - Quincy.

State House sources say that one of Quincy's representatives refuses to accept the plan presented by committee Chairman George Keveian.

And it's reported that the dissatisfied individual will try to hold up final adoption of the plans until they meet his approval.

***

WHILE ALL THE talk has been about the House re-districting, don't forget that the state Senate will also be re-districted.

It may seem a little far-fetched, but some observers think that the Sixth Suffolk District [Dorchester] in order to have the necessary population may take in a Quincy ward, either Ward Four or Ward Six. Presently, the Suffolk district is made up of Wards 15, 16 and 17 in Boston and the suburban towns of Milton and Randolph.

***

WHAT DOES A candidate who has been defeated for President send for Christmas cards? A local Democrat who received one from George McGovern said the card contained a simple quotation from Yeats: "Count where man's glory most begins and ends, and say my glory was I had such friends."

***

QUINCY IS WELL represented in the American Bar Association, Law student division this year. Out of Boston's six law school representatives, two are from Quincy: Al Morrocco of Canton Rd, North Quincy, a student at New England School of Law and Kevin O'Donnell of Dimmock St., Quincy Center, a student at Northeastern Law School.

***

DOROTHY KELLY, secretary of the Wollaston Park Association has sent out fliers asking neighbors of the Sailor's Home Pond to help keep the pond clean.

She points out that thousands of folks, both young and old, have enjoyed ice skating on the pond with one young lady who practiced on the pond making it to the Olympic Team.

***

THE QUINCY HISTORICAL SOCIETY begins the new year with a new headquarters, the Adams Academy. Plans are already being mapped for renovations and a new wing to be added to the former boys' school.

***

MABEL CAMPBELL of Merrymount, director of the state civil service, has announced her retirement, effective in April. Appointed in 1968, she was the first woman in Massachusetts to hold the post.

***

RALPH NADER'S recently published profile of Congressman James Burke begins with a comment to the effect that Burke is unbeatable. And the reason: "Burke's years in Congress have been spent in working hard for the interests of the people he represents."

So what's new? The people of Quincy have known that fact since they first elected Burke in 1958 to succeed retired Congressman Richard Wigglesworth.

The profile goes on to report that among the Democrats waiting for Burke's seat are State Senator Joseph Timilty of Mattapan and former Mayor James McIntyre. [The report, incidentally, misspells the former Quincy Mayor's name "McIntire".]

***

THE MAIN REASON parochial schools are in trouble is the fast growing shortage of teaching nuns. As shown by this note in the St. John's Church, Quincy, calendar from Rev. John J. Tierney, pastor:

"Here at St. John's we were told we could finish out this year with our staff of Sisters. Next year, they [Sisters of St. Joseph] told us, we could only be sure of four Sisters. When we finished in June, 1974, we could not be assured of any more. The reason for this drastic move - within the last six years, 542 Sisters were lost by death, retirement or withdrawal - only 20 new Sisters have been added."

***

AT AGE 88, you might think that Harry Truman was our longest living President, but his death this week still leaves Quincy's John Adams holder of the longevity record.

The second President died in Quincy on July 4, 1826 [the same day as Thomas Jefferson and on the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence] just 15 days short of his 91st birthday.

The next longest living President was Herbert Hoover who died in 1964 at age 90 also, but 9 months short of the Adams record.

***

QUINCY'S WOMEN'S DAY committee is at it again. As a result of the response to the Oct. 15 Women's Day, a South Shore Women's Caucus has been recently organized to plan future events.

Quincy women on the steering committee include: Virginia Dindy of Grand View Ave., Rose Devore of Victoria Rd, Linda Lurie of Quarry St., Ruth Martell of Wilson St., Kathleen O'Donnell of Massachusetts Ave., Geraldine Pleshaw of Shore Ave., and Jean Sullivan of Davis St.

- Thieu Gloating Over Setback
- Alka Seltzer And Congress
- Admirals In Quiet Rebellion

WASHINGTON - A special report from Saigon indicates that President Thieu is gloating over the latest setback in the Vietnam peace talks.

According to the report, filed from the American embassy in Saigon, Thieu is telling intimates the setback confirms his view that Kissinger does not understand how to deal with the Asian Communists.

Thieu, in the past, has complained that Kissinger treats Hanoi's negotiators as if they were Europeans. As a result, Thieu has claimed that Kissinger underestimates the North Vietnamese and overestimates his own ability to get solid concessions out of the Communists.

Now, Thieu is saying Kissinger failed to read Hanoi's diplomatic signals properly. The North Vietnamese are experts in hot-and-cold diplomacy, says Thieu. They become most intransigent just when they appear to be most reasonable. A setback, according to Thieu, was inevitable when Kissinger announced "peace is at hand."

Kissinger, in contrast, has battled hard for Thieu in the long negotiations in Paris. Before the most recent stalemate, Kissinger had persuaded Hanoi to back off from their demands for a coalition government and for the ouster of Thieu.

President Nixon, who is doubtless aware of Thieu's sentiments, still shows full confidence in Kissinger's ability to negotiate a ceasefire.

The North Vietnamese made only a small concession at the latest truce session. A secret summary of the meeting says they are willing to put in writing that both South Vietnamese and Communist forces would demobilize after the ceasefire and that the demobilized troops would be free to live where they wished.

Thieu insists that this is unacceptable and the talks remain deadlocked.

Fizzling Out

Dozens of congressmen may be feeling a little queasy when they return to the Capitol next month. The reason: Miles Laboratories, the huge drug firm, has stopped providing bushels of Alka-Seltzer to 24 senators and 44 congressmen who are on the firm's official gratuity list.

Confidential interoffice memos in our possession reveal that, for years, Miles Laboratories took care of the sneezes, wheezes and vitamin deficiencies of important congressmen and other Washington VIPs.

The Capitol Hill care packages which contained Alka-Seltzer, vitamins and bactine were all personally wrapped for the congressmen and their staffs.

According to the memos, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott got a double allotment, which he requested as his rightful due after he was elevated above the rank of an ordinary senator.

Last March, however, Miles Laboratories abruptly cut off the flow of free pills and powders. The gifts were stopped, according to Miles spokesman C. N. Jolly, for a combination of reasons. The most compelling was the new campaign financial disclosure act which requires disclosure of any gift or combination of gifts which total $10 in value.

The company was afraid all the free medicine, if disclosed, might appear improper.

Setting An Example

The admirals are stirring up a quiet rebellion against their civilian bosses over their favorite fighter plane - the F-14 Tomcat.

Some time ago, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, tired of cost overruns, decided to make an example of the next defense contractor that tried to saddle the taxpayers with a big cost overrun.

This turned out to be Grumman Aerospace Corporation, which claims mournfully that it has already lost $85 million on the 86 Tomcats it is now building for the Navy and that it would lose an additional $105 million if it goes ahead with the contract to build another 48 Tomcats. Grumman wants more money, but Laird is demanding the 48 planes at the contract price.

We spoke to Laird, who told us he is determined not to allow another huge cost overrun. But he still has to reckon with the admirals who are leaking stories around town about how great a plane the Tomcat is and how unfair Laird is to Grumman.

For the Navy, the stakes are high. Many military strategists are questioning the value of aircraft carriers, which are highly vulnerable to air and missile attack.

Without carriers, there would be little need for the Navy's air arm. The development of the Tomcat, therefore, is part of the Navy's campaign to save the aircraft carriers.

Behind the Scenes

SINO-SOVIET LEAK - The press recently reported a border clash between the Chinese and Russians in remote central Asia. The report was leaked to Western diplomats by Soviet officials in Moscow. We have now seen the secret intelligence reports on the incident. As nearly as our intelligence agencies can determine what happened, it was a minor incident. There are no signs of new military activity along the border, although the Russians added three new divisions earlier this fall. The reinforcements bring the total Soviet force along the border to 49 divisions or more than a million men. The war of words between the two Communist giants, meanwhile, has become increasingly hostile. But astonishingly, trade has been increasing across the tense border. An intelligence report from Moscow, however, says the Soviets may withhold strategic shipments from China.

WESTWOOD WELCHED - Former Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood welched on a deal that would have left her in a top party post. She had agreed to resign as national chairman and to accept another position. Her successor, Robert Strauss, had agreed in turn, to give her a face-saving job. But at the last minute, Mrs. Westwood not only reneged but made an attack on Strauss. Now she is out in the cold.

CIA ON GRASS - The Central Intelligence Agency has quietly joined the environmental movement. As part of an experiment, the CIA has taken its excess classified documents, mulched them into a grey mass and handed the mulch over to a West Virginia firm to be converted into fertilizer. What used to be secret documents have been poured over the strip-mined land of West Virginia to revitalize the earth. The program appears to be successful. If the CIA keeps churning out its secret documents, it may help the grass grow in West Virginia.

● Youth Speaks Out

We cannot find the right phrase to describe the horror and disgust which we feel over the U.S. government's recent policies in Southeast Asia.

The United States in carrying out the largest and most devastating bombing in the history of the world is rivaling the most horrendous atrocities ever committed on this earth.

One fourth of all casualties in Vietnam over the last four years have been children under twelve.

It is enough to make us physically sick when we think of a country with the potential of the United States allowing itself to engage in the slaughter of millions of innocent people as well as the destruction of homes, hospitals and farmlands, and all in the name of peace and honor.

Mr. Nixon told us he would end the war - he hasn't. Dr. Kissinger told us that peace was at hand - it wasn't. Either these two men told calculated political lies or they misjudged the attitude of "the enemy".

In either case their behavior is dangerous. If they are liars, they have no business running the United States, if they misjudged, they have caused undue anxiety, death and destruction among millions of people and also have no business running the United States.

How either of these men can sleep at night knowing what they have done is beyond comprehension, especially in view of the fact that the United States was never attacked and we continue to keep in power a dictator [Gen. Thieu] who is far worse than any Communist regime could be.

It must be noted that increased bombing has never brought "the enemy" to the negotiating table; it has only increased his desire to fight while more people are killed, more prisoners are taken, and the U.S. continues to lose favorable world opinion, the respect of all humanity, and most important any concept of humanness and morality.

Our leadership is making us "a sick society" and all in the name of patriotism and honor. How can the killing of millions of innocent people, one quarter of them children, who never attacked us have anything to do with patriotism and honor?

Consumer Corner

By ROBERT H. QUINN
Attorney General

"Unnecessary repairs" is a yearly complaint of Massachusetts residents taking their cars to garages for winter tune-ups.

Many of the complaints received by the Consumer Protection Division of my office come from citizens who feel they have been charged for unnecessary repairs, that their cars were poorly repaired or that their warranties should have covered the repairs.

When an owner leaves his car at a garage for any auto service, his agreement with the repair man is a contract, however informal, and it is subject to the same laws as other contracts.

According to state law, a contract cannot be changed by either party unless both parties know of and agree to it. If a car owner returns to pick up his car and finds that the garage did some work he did not ask them to do, the garage may be guilty of making an unauthorized change in the "contract". If a garage intentionally makes unnecessary repairs, the act may be termed a deceptive practice under the Massachusetts Consumer Protection Act.

Most garages and service stations are in business to give their customers good, reliable service. To prevent misunderstandings, both the mechanic and the customer have a responsibility to state their terms clearly - to make the contract carefully and to put it in writing.

The owner and the service man should agree on what work is going to be done. The owner should be present when the mechanic writes out the work authorization sheet. This insures that they have a written statement of their terms.

The owner should leave his telephone number and the garage should agree to call him if the mechanics discover that they must do any work on the car that is not specified on the work authorization slip.

All of these procedures take time. It is much faster to drop the car at a garage and say "I'll be back this afternoon." But the extra time spent in clarifying the work instructions may help avoid complicated misunderstandings later.

CHILDREN AND POISON

What is the first thing a mother should do when her child swallows something that may be poisonous? "Keep the remains of the contents of the bottle or box in order to identify the poison and estimate the dosage - as you call your doctor immediately," advise poison control authorities.

Too often, parents do not react fast enough when an emergency occurs because they panic. They may omit vital details which could later quickly identify the item swallowed and dosage and thus delay help.

Where can a parent go for help? First, try to reach your doctor. If that fails, call your local Poison Control Center, hospital or the police. It's a good idea to keep these numbers by the phone.

A good precautionary move is to keep at home an ounce bottle of syrup of ipecac to induce vomiting in case that's what's recommended over the phone.

We All Need A Model

When you took golf lessons the pro frequently showed you how he swings the club... you watch and try to emulate his pattern. When I was in the sixth grade I had an excellent penmanship teacher. Mr. Williams would sit down with each student and write a line of "Palmer System" letters which became the model at the top of the page. Same thing with my dancing lessons. Miss Ramona did it so easily...so gracefully and I tried to emulate her. These were great "models".

But where do we get these kinds of professional models for being husbands...wives...mothers...fathers? We often assume that with a beautiful wedding "Ned and Freida can't help but be happy together...they make such a beautiful couple." Unfortunately neither the size nor the beauty of the wedding has anything to do with how happy a couple is going to be. Nor does the amount of money spent by the bride's father...nor the gown worn by the bride's mother. What is important is what lingers in the beautiful bride's mind concerning what happened when she was growing up...how her father treated her mother...how her mother treated her father...her early life models.

Freida's father was a rigid man...he had his strong opinions on everything: war...guns...sex...right is right...wrong is wrong...a man is to be served in his home...obedience is more important than being taught to think...women were to be kept in their place. Freida's mother simply knuckled under...was treated by her father as one of the children. She accepted it. This was the "model" which Freida grew up with.

Ned on the other hand had a domineering mother...possessive...indulging...unfeeling. His mother had such a strangle hold on him that he couldn't even select his own clothes...make decisions about the use of his money...who his friends were to be. He couldn't learn to think. Of course Ned's mother opposed his marrying Freida...she didn't like Freida's father. But then, she didn't really like any man. His father's role with his mother was one of taking orders from her...suffering emasculating criticism...being a pitiful, cowering man. Poor Ned had these parents for his "models".

It must be obvious that no amount of money spent on the wedding...the most modulated voice of the clergyman in reading the ritual...the most elegant of receptions can now prepare these two young people for a happy marriage. Ned had had a weak "model" for a man in his father. Freida had had a domineering "model" for a woman in her mother. Neither had a "model" for the husband-wife relationship which could be fulfilling. Neither of these young people were prepared to meet each other's needs. They had not had good models.

My new book, People Are For Loving, has in it pictures of carefully selected "models"...people who express the ideas of the book...designed to show feeling...warmth...love. [You may send $3 for your copy]. The chapter on "How To Treat A Wife" shows the picture of a young husband leaning over the sink watching his wife peel potatoes...tells how to talk with a wife...how to keep romance alive...the importance of a stability-giving husband.

Many people grow up with a poor "model" of the husband-wife relationship in their parents. But this doesn't mean we should follow that poor "model". Read books...talk with people...get into a therapy group. Whatever we have learned we can unlearn. Don't go on emulating a poor "model".

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counsel write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, or call 326-5990 or 659-7595.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

"If it is to be, it is up to me in '73...."

Is that you talking?
—And are you talking about your desire to reach your weight or any other goal?

Well, you can do it—I know you can. Any goal within reason can be reached by pursuing equally reasonable steps to get there.

Steps—not hops, not jumps, not leaps. Ends never occur all-at-once. They are achieved gradually step by step. Walk slowly and carry a big supply of reality and levelheadedness. That helps, too.

Anxiety and desperation about any problem almost guarantee failure. Ever think about that? Worry about something; think that you can't do it—you are thinking positively in a negative way. You know you won't, you know you can't, and you prove yourself right—you don't!

If weight control is your goal, start off by cooking up a storm of nourishing, non-fattening goodies. Begin with a diet desert as a first sweet reward for a day of successful dieting.

STRAWBERRY YOGURT DESSERT

2 packages diet cherry gelatin
2 cups crushed pineapple canned in own juice
2 cups black cherry No Cal soda
2 mashed bananas

Heat Black Cherry No Cal to boiling. Dissolve diet gelatin in liquid and add fruits. Chill until jelled.

TOPPING

Sweeten 6 ounces plain yogurt with 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 package Sweet 'N Low. Chill before serving.

The proverb is right, the longest journey begins with the first step. Take that first step now. And good luck. I did it and so have thousands of others. So can you.

If you have questions along the way, just write to me at The Quincy Sun or at The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

LaLeche League Fathers, Mothers Meeting

LaLeche League of Quincy will hold its fourth meeting of the fall-winter series on Jan. 2, at the home of Mrs. Eugene Steeves of 91 Farrington St., Wollaston.

Fathers and mothers will hold separate sessions. Fathers will discuss such topics as difficulties and changes involved with the advent of the first child and the advantages of breastfeeding for the family.

In a separate room, mothers will discuss nutrition for the breastfed baby, the nursing mother, and for the entire family. Weaning will also be discussed. These sessions are very informal. Refreshments will be served.

Having a joint session for both parents has proved to be both beneficial and successful in the past. It is now included at the January meeting of each year.

The league is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization of women which gives encouragement to women who wish to breastfeed their babies.

Further information may be obtained from the moderator, Mrs. Donald A. Wilkinson, 17 Dale Ave., South Quincy or from Mrs. Steeves.

Quincy Citizens Assn. Reiterates Opposition To Revaluation

The Quincy Citizens Association has reiterated its opposition to 100 per cent Revaluation of property in Quincy, announces Miss Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary.

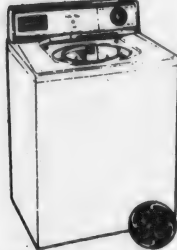

The association has strongly opposed Revaluation since 1967 "because of the disastrous affect 100 per cent assessment would have on small homeowners, particularly the elderly, widows and veterans."

The Association said it hopes that the City will speedily and fairly consider the recent applications for abatement based on increased assessments on some homes this year — rather than implement 100 per cent revaluation.

Child Growth Development

A GREAT SUCCESS AT NORTH

By MARY BUCKLEY

Last year at North Quincy High a new course was originated by Mrs. Alice McLaughlin, Home Economics teacher, in which junior and senior girls who had "genuine interest" in children were given a chance to work with them as teacher aides.

Now there is a Child Growth and Development I & II. Some of the activities contained in the first year course include visits to kindergartens at Squantum, Francis X. Parker, Montclair, and Quincy elementary schools.

The schools were attended from October to December, on Thursday and Friday mornings from 8-11:30. Then from February until June, last year, the girls [originally numbering 15 in the first year] visited nursery schools and day-care centers, including the South Shore Day-Care Center, and Jewish Community Center, and the Alice Burke Day-Care Center.

The main objective of Child Growth and Development I is to study the aspects of social, emotional, intellectual, and physical development of children between conception and 12 years.

One special project that each girl was required to do was keep a log on the development of one particular child in their neighborhood who was under the age of two. Another special activity was the workshop held at the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain. Here the girls were shown games and different activities used to benefit children of kindergarten age.

Child Growth and Development II is devoted to the study of exceptional children. In talking with Mrs. McLaughlin, the extent of their studies was learned.

"Students have been interning at the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton three mornings out of the six-day cycle. We hope after the first of the year to have the girls intern at various autistic centers."

I also had the opportunity to talk with three seniors, now in their second year of the course, and asked them why they chose the course.

Karen Estabrooks: "I was very interested in small children, wanted to learn more about them and help them to develop their own personality."

Judi Barrett: "I had always been fascinated by the growth of children and wanted to be a part of it."

Diane Gustafson: "Children have always been intriguing to me. I wanted to contribute to their growth in any way I could."

North Quincy High is one of thirty-three high schools in the state where Child Growth and Development is offered. It is a very popular course at North.

Mrs. McLaughlin and the girls [33 in course one, and 8 who continued on to a second-year course] hold their studies in a friendly and informal atmosphere. The program is a great success and it is hoped that each year many more girls will decide to elect Child Growth and Development as one of their courses.

Room 201

'In These Chambers, I Stand To Learn.'

By JACKIE BANGS

In the hallowed halls of North Quincy High School, there exists one oasis of student-teacher interaction and complete understanding.

Room 201 was originally intended to be the English Department Center yet due to the presence of such student activities as the North Star, the Polaris Journal and Student Union and the Debate Team, students and teachers here have developed relationships outside of the conventional student-teacher role.

Somehow, the formality of a Department Center has diminished as students and teachers gather here each day to exchange ideas and opinions. The atmosphere that prevails here cannot be found anywhere else throughout the school.

The quality and amount of dedication, genuine interest, and innovation that takes place are obvious in the outcome of various projects undertaken by students. Learning occurs in many places, but not all are as pleasant and stimulating as 201.

I Stand Resolved. . .

By PAUL GOSLIN

The New Year brings to mind the many resolutions we've made year after year. They are always the same ones. The only problem is that between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, they are lost and receded.

Perhaps the problem is that we set goals that are too high to reach without a little practice. Trying to give up smoking or drinking or end our procrastination is a bit difficult to take on all at once. One must build up a tolerance to clean living and decency.

Perhaps one could start small in order to get used to the change. Pick an easy resolution such as "I resolve to keep the lint out of my navel." Ridiculous you say! Ah, but that's the beauty of it. It's so simple that it's deceptive.

Imagine that for one entire year you kept the lint out of your navel. You would have for the first time in your life kept a resolution for an entire year.

At your New Year's Eve party you could announce to all your friends that you kept a resolution all year. They'd all have reason to celebrate that one among them was able to keep a resolution. The good cheer will be passed around by the gallon.

Which brings you to the next goal. Oh, no you can't stop yet. You could perhaps, decide to cut down on your drinking. An old hand at keeping resolutions you should have no trouble keeping this one.

Keep going. You may one day become perfect, though I doubt that anyone has that many years in one life.

If everyone would adopt this plan we might one day clean up the entire world ... and the tobacco manufacturers and the distilleries and the lint pickers.

Telephone Pioneers Hold Christmas Party

One of the happiest Christmas parties this year was held at the Wrentham State School by the South Council of the New England Telephone Pioneers and their friends from 159 Upland Road, Quincy.

This group, which goes each month to the school to provide birthday parties for the students, braved stormy weather to escort Santa Claus from Quincy to the school. Each of the children was the recipient of a beautifully wrapped gift which contained his or her own special request.

Following the distribution of gifts and refreshments the Pioneers were entertained by the children of the school.

Quincy, North Off To Fast GBL Start

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy basketball teams started their Greater Boston League seasons with victories last week and North's defending champions will seek their second straight GBL win Friday when they host Everett.

Tuesday the Raiders will travel to Somerville's "snake pit" for a vital league game.

Tuesday and Wednesday North played in the holiday tournament at Brockton facing Brockton, New Bedford and Lexington.

Quincy Friday will play its annual Alumni game at 7:30 with the Presidents taking on players from the past five years. Tuesday Quincy hosts Revere in a league game.

Quincy Coach Marty Finnegan, whose team rebounded from two non-league defeats to top Malden, 58-48, at Malden, was extremely pleased with the Presidents' defense but was less pleased with the offense.

"We have been stressing defense and have been satisfied with this department so far," Finnegan said. "I just hope our offense will begin to click better."

"We are going to try to equal the amazing defense shown by the 1912 Quincy team but won't be trying to equal the tremendous offensive output. Before our game at Malden I was handed an envelope which held a clipping from the Jan. 27, 1912 Boston Post.

"The headline read 'Quincy High School Piles up 115-0 win over Worcester North!' The story explained that Quincy piled up a record score on Worcester, which was never in the game. Finlay led the record attack with 32 baskets and the other Quincy players were MacDonald, Chapman, Trask, Holmes, Baini and Johnson.

"We certainly will not be out to pile up a score like that against anyone, but we will be trying to equal that amazing defense. We have looked very good on defense."

The win at Malden was especially satisfying to Finnegan and his players, as it was the Golden Tornado which eliminated the Presidents from last year's state tourney.

"The defense was great and Bill Kigen was super on the boards all night," Finnegan said. "John Reggiannini had another big night with 20 points, and Kigen had 11, but we still need more scoring if we hope to make a run for the league championship."

Both teams had trouble in the first period, each scoring 12 points, but Quincy scored 20 points for a halftime lead of 32-25 and the defense carried the club the rest of the way.

Finnegan explained that junior varsity coach Joe Amorino, whose team romped to its third straight win, 58-24, spotted something he didn't think was right in practice the day before the Malden game. He and Finnegan made a change and it paid off handsomely.

Meanwhile, Bob Nolan's North team, following an easy non-league win over Weymouth South, exploded in the third period for a 67-47 win over Chelsea in its league opener.

"The key to the game was turnovers," Nolan said. "We caused 12 turnovers and made 20 recoveries and it proved the real key." Most of the turnovers occurred in the third period when North outscored the Red Devils, 20-5, to clinch the win.

The score was tied at 6-6 in the first period and North took a 23-18 edge into the second half.

"We came to life in the third period," Bob continued. "We had better all-around defense and offense then and you can see the difference in the statistics. We shot 9 for 30 in the first half and 19 for 41 in the second half, quite an improvement."

Each team scored 24 points in the final period so, without the big third period, it could have been quite a game. Chelsea, a vastly improved team this year, had two non-league wins going into the North game.

Ken Marsters paced the scorers with 17 points, followed by Jamie Doherty with 12.

In GBL Hockey Action

Quincy, North Face Chelsea, Everett

Quincy's hockey team will face Chelsea and North Quincy will meet Everett in Greater Boston League games Friday at Boston Arena.

The North game starts at 12:15, dovetailing with the Quincy game. Next Wednesday Quincy plays Somerville and North meets Revere's defending champs, starting at 6:30. Last Tuesday the Presidents played Everett and the Raiders met Chelsea.

Last week Ron Erikson's North skaters, rebounding from a 7-0 shellacking at the hands of Malden, came within two seconds of upsetting Bob Sylvia's Quincy team.

Outplaying the Presidents most of the way, the Raiders led, 1-0, on Ken Graham's second period goal [Andy Collieran and Dave Noonan assisted], and appeared to have a cherished win sewed up.

However, Quincy spoiled what might have been the best period [the third] played by North in many years, when Russ Corner dove in front of an open net to stop a seemingly sure North bid and goalie Glen Prescott made a sensational save on Graham. Sylvia lifted Prescott with 30 seconds to play for an extra skater and the Presidents put on its only sustained pressure of the night.

Sophomore Ted Wiedemann won a vital face-off to the left of North goalie Jim Fatses' left. The puck went to Pete McNally in the slot and he rifled a quick shot off the right post. Corner got possession at the right point and passed to the left where John Prescott raced the clock and won as he slammed at the puck and put it past a defenseman and under the screened Fatses. Two seconds remained on the clock.

Needless to say, Erikson and the Raiders were heartbroken. "I only wish we could forget those

Red, Gold Teams Winners

The Red team continued to dominate in St. Joseph's Hockey League action as they defeated the winless and yet to score Green team 11 to 0.

Scoring for the Red team were Mike McAlley with 3 goals and an assist, Hal McLarnon, 2 goals and 2 assists, Paul Galligan, 2 goals, James Crowley 1 goal and an assist, Rick Brunstrum 1 goal and 3 assists, Jim Steen 1 goal and 2 assists and John Ford last two seconds," Ron said. "I thought the kids deserved better and I really thought Quincy was lucky. The kids worked their hearts out for this one. They rebounded from the Malden defeat in fine style and were a credit to themselves tonight. I'm extremely proud of them."

"I'm happy our boys kept their poise out there as time ticked away," said Sylvia. "They kept digging and coming back although North was throwing that solid defense against us. We saved the tie but we just have to start getting the puck in the net. I thought we were going to snap out of our scoring slump when we scored five times against Medford but then tonight we had our troubles again."

Sylvia feels the Presidents have the potential to be the best in the league and they showed it against Medford. But he admittedly is worried by the fact they couldn't get up for a rivalry like North's.

Earlier in the week Quincy, after losing a 3-0 lead, edged Medford, 5-4, as Jim Starkey scored twice and Wiedemann, Paul Campbell and Sean Polley had one goal each.

Wiedemann opened the scoring with a first period goal, converting Campbell's pass. In the middle period Campbell scored unassisted and Starkey made it 3-0 with Wiedemann assisting.

Medford came back with three goals before Starkey put Quincy ahead with his second goal in the final minute of the second period, Campbell and Wiedemann assisting. Polley converted passes from John Prescott and Starkey to score the clincher early in the final period.

Glen Prescott was outstanding in Quincy's goal with 23 saves and was particularly brilliant in the opening period.

—TOM SULLIVAN

1 goal and two assists.

In the second game the Gold team got off to a quick 5 goal lead and was never headed as they defeated the Blue team 7 to 3. Scoring 5 goals for the Gold team was Dean Gambino, single goals by Robert O'Shaughnessy and Ron Butts Jr. Blue goal scorers were Paul Veneziano with 2 goals and Dick Kelley with one.

Over 200 Register For Ski Instructions

More than 200 Quincy residents have registered for indoor classes of the Quincy Recreation Department's Instructional Ski Program in the gymnasium of the Wollaston School.

William O. [Bill] Ellis, who is supervising the program for the 17th year, said registrations are still being accepted as additional indoor sessions will be held.

Outdoor sessions for the various groups, ranging in age from 6 years to adults, will be held later on Heavenly Hill at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Recreation Director William F. Ryan, said it is important to attend the indoor sessions first since matters of safety and ski etiquette are discussed.

Raiders Meet Chelsea Saturday

North Quincy's track team, which upset favored Somerville in its opening meet two weeks ago, Tuesday tried to repeat this impressive performance against unbeaten Revere, which last week topped Quincy for its second win. Quincy met Somerville Tuesday.

Saturday, while Quincy has a bye, North will take on Chelsea at 9:30 a.m. at Medford's cage, site of all Greater Boston League meets.

While Bob Gentry's North team had a bye last Saturday, Tom Hall's Quincy club was defeated by Revere, 48-38, to even its record at 1-1.

The Presidents had three individual winners and the relay team also won but, in Hall's opinion, the key to the defeat was the high jump, one of Quincy's strongest events.

"We got only a third place, against John Johnson jumped six feet and Art DiLoreto did 5-11 and failed to score," Hall said. "They won with a fine jump of 6-2 [by Kerry Leppo]. I had figured on scoring points in this event and this was a big reason for our loss."

Quincy's Ray Lawyer won the 50-yard dash, Mark MacLeod the 600 and Marty Swirko the 1000, posting the fastest time in league competition, 2:29. The relay team of Pete Ramponi, Dave DiBona, MacLeod and Steve Oriola won with MacLeod running an outstanding leg. He trailed by 15 yards when he took the baton but gave Oriola a 15-yard lead which he held on the anchor leg.

Johnson finished second to Leppo in the 45-yard hurdles, Ramponi took second and Oriola third in the 300, Steve Nolan second and Gary Delorio third in the mile, Steve Player second in the two-mile and Mike Varrasso second in the shot put.

O'Brien Club Meets Brockton Tonight

The hard-luck O'Brien Club of Quincy, still without a win in the Cranberry Basketball League, tonight [Thursday] makes another try at the elusive first win when it plays the Brockton Stars at Brockton West Junior High in a makeup of a postponed game.

Red Boot, led by player-coach Mike Greenlaw, former North Quincy star and junior varsity coach at Quincy the past two years, won the title a year ago when playing at Beau's Place.

The O'Brien Club's main trouble has been getting its full squad together. Last week it had only seven men available as it bowed to the Weymouth Alphas, 91-79, at Weymouth. It was the fourth league defeat in a row for the Quincy Club, which opened the season with a non-league win over Mass. Maritime Academy. Bob Carrington, former Abp. Williams all-scholastic, paced the Alphas, now in their 38th season and boasting one of their best squads, with 31 points and some fine rebounding.

Quincy stayed in contention for three periods on the scoring of Tom Cairns with 22 points, Brian Buckley with 16, Rich Starsiak with 14, Ken Baker with 12 and Gus Grazio with nine. Cairns, Starsiak and Leo Papile excelled on the boards.

Veterans News

Editors Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - Does VA's loan guaranty of $12,500 or 60 percent of the loan limit the price a veteran or serviceman may pay for a home?
A - No. Only the amount the lender agrees to lend determines that. No matter what the amount of the loan, however, VA will guarantee only 60 percent, not to exceed $12,500.

Q - Option one of a government life insurance policy, I understand, provides for a lump sum payment of benefits. Does this mean the beneficiary must take the proceeds in a lump sum?
A - No. Even though lump sum payment is available, if desired, the beneficiary may take part of the proceeds in cash, and the balance in monthly installments. Or, all payments may be taken on a monthly basis.

Q - Are people who participate in six month active duty training programs offered by some branches of service eligible for GI Bill educational benefits?
A - No. Active duty for training purposes only does not entitle a participant to GI Bill benefits.

South Shore Women's Caucus

A South Shore Women's Caucus has been formed to arrange and promote events of interest to South Shore women. Quincy women named to the steering committee include:

Rose Devore, 70 Victoria Rd; Virginia Dindly, 140 Grand View Ave.; Linda Lurie, 270 Quarry St.; Ruth Martell, 205 Wilson Ave.; Kathy O'Donnell, 26 Massachusetts Ave.; Gerry Pleshaw, 128 Shore Ave.; and Jean Sullivan, 61 Davis St.

The caucus is an outgrowth of what its sponsors call "the enthusiastic response" to Quincy Women's Day held last Oct. 15. A program is being planned for Sunday, Jan. 21.

On The Screen

By Vincent Puleo

Once Controversial Chaplin Movie Qualifies For Award

HAL WALLIS returns to the screen as director of the gangster yarn, "THE DON IS DEAD"... According to a recent poll of national theatre exhibitors, ALI MACGRAW is the "only" femme tapped as a top box office attraction... ED SULLIVAN was feted as the Catholic Actors Guild "Man of the Year" at a New York bash... CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER and KAREN BLACK are topbilled in the suspense drama "THE PYX". The picture is now being shot on location in Canada, and is scheduled for Easter release...

And speaking of Canada, English speaking natives rarely support a Canadian production, whereas audience support in the French provinces has always been of the strongest... "THE LIFE AND TIMES OF JUDGE ROY BEAN" world premiered in the three city sites of San Antonio, Houston and Dallas. Rather an unusual procedure, for world premieres always have a one city opening... CLINT EASTWOOD'S second directing stint will be "THE NAKED APE"...

Better late than never dept: CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S "LIMELIGHT", originally released in 1952 amidst a howl of protest from such groups as the American Legion, qualifies as a nominee for best picture of the year. This year!... "LIMELIGHT" met entry qualifications by being screened on Dec. 13 at the UA Cinema Center Theatre in Los Angeles... In order to qualify as a best picture entry, all films have to be screened at this site before years end. In 1952 CHAPLIN'S film never made it to but a scantful of eastcoast theatres, such was the negative reaction of so called "patriotic" groups...

Agents of this year's Miss America TERRY ANNE MEEUWSEN are negotiating with a major TV network for her appearance on a number of television specials following her reign, which ends Sept. 9, 1973... "THE BOYS OF SUMMER", a ROGER KAHN book of JACKIE ROBINSON and the Brooklyn Dodgers, is being prepped as a made-for-TV movie... HORST BUCHHOLZ scores handily in "THE GREAT WALTZ"...

PETER O'TOOLE, after a recent burst of appearing in three motion pictures ["MAN OF LA MANCHA"] and two plays in 14 months, is taking a year off from his craft to reflect and relax, "I'd like some time for an overhaul of my attitudes. It isn't so much a rest I need as a chance, at 40, to re-examine my whole life. Acting keeps you distracted from looking very seriously at your own values - you're always dealing in other people's," said the Irish-born actor...

ROBERT REDFORD'S big concern is ecology and specifically his respect for nature as is-mimus the 20th century trappings of steel-concrete monuments... Director BILLY WILDER was born in Austria, but his mother was so passionate for things American she named him Billy rather than William... Strictly a family affair: Actor ROBERT HOOKS can justifiably be proud of his two offspring, KEVIN, age 11, and ERIC, 8, who perform so marvelously in "SOUNDER"...

For director MARTIN RITT the comedy-drama "PETE 'N TILLIE" is a switch in routine. Before this picture RITT has been identified with such heavy, serious films as "THE LONG HOT SUMMER", "HUD", "THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD", and "THE GREAT WHITE HOPE"... A star to keep your eyes on is one JAN-MICHAEL VINCENT. With the looks to match his talent, VINCENT packs enough charisma to assure him being a hot property at the box office for years and years to come...

Return Income Questionnaires Promptly To Veterans Services

William L. Villone, Director of Veterans' Services in Quincy, has a suggestion for veterans, widows and parents who received income questionnaires with their Nov. 1 pension checks.

Complete and return the questionnaires promptly, Villone advises, even though the deadline for returning them is not until Jan. 15.

Villone explained that past experience shows many questionnaires are lost, misplaced, forgotten or otherwise delayed if they are not returned promptly.

When this happens, VA's determination of amounts due pensioners during the upcoming year is hampered, since the questionnaires provide information essential for this computation. If the questionnaires are returned late or not at all, some pensioners may receive later checks, smaller checks, or no checks at all, Villone noted.

The VA questionnaires were mailed to veterans and widows drawing pension under the "old" and "new" pension laws, as well as to parents on dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC). DIC payments are based on service-connected deaths of veterans on or after Jan. 1, 1957.

The annual questionnaires also went to veterans drawing disability compensation for service-connected injuries rates 50 percent or more disabling, who claim parents as dependents. In addition, parents who receive death compensation benefits as a result of service-connected deaths of veterans before Jan. 1, 1957 received questionnaires, Mr. Villone pointed out.

Mothers March For Dimes Jan. 21

Today's mothers can take steps on Jan. 21 to protect the health of tomorrow's children, says Mrs. Kenneth B. Hammerle, Quincy Mothers' March Chairman for the annual March of Dimes appeal.

Her appointment was announced by Arthur W. Trott, M.D., Campaign Director for the voluntary health organization.

In the weeks ahead, Mrs. Hammerle and fellow volunteers will plan and put together the numerous tasks necessary for a successful community effort against birth defects in Quincy. Mrs. Hammerle said:

"No one realized even a decade ago that such swift scientific progress would come in meeting the challenge of handicaps that threaten some 250,000 babies every year," she reports. "We have made gains against life-damaging defects caused by rubella and Rh blood factor disease, but this is only the beginning and every parent has an investment in our battle for quality of life at birth."

Contributions from the Mothers' March aid medical care, research and education conducted by the March of Dimes. Anyone interested in helping the March of Dimes should call 783-4180.

Brownell Would Tie Property Taxes

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy] has filed a bill that would tie real estate taxes to the income of the home owner.

The bill would limit the tax levied on a "residential real estate taxpayer of moderate means" to no more than 5 per cent of his gross income.

"A family of three," said Rep. Brownell, "earning $10,000, to my mind, should not be paying any more than 5 per cent or $500 of their gross income in real estate taxes. My bill will prevent this from happening."

His proposal would entitle a family earning less than $16,000 a year to a state tax refund for real estate taxes paid in excess of 5 per cent of the gross family income.

The limit would go up to 6 per cent for a family with a gross income of up to $18,000 and 7 per cent for a family with a gross income of up to $20,000.

"This legislation is an attempt to make the regressive property tax fairer in relation to the family's ability to pay," said Brownell.

"In the last six years property taxes on the average have more than doubled so that now Massachusetts has the second highest property tax in the nation.

"Something must be done now before it becomes impossible for low and moderate income groups to retain their own homes."
